CAPPING CEREMONY

On Tuesday evening, April 1, a capping ceremony for Nurses Aides was held at the Nurses Home on Fairmount street. Mr. Lewis Moore, chairman of the Red Cross, introduced Dr. Richard W. Sheehy, the speaker, and Miss Mary Virginia Loftus, R. N., the teacher. Miss Laura Rogers, Supervisor, welcomed them to the hospital.

This class was made up of girls from Winchester and surrounding towns and was organized by Mrs. William Hickey, Chairman of Nurses Aides.

HENRY J. MOYNIHAN

Henry J. Moynihan of 184 Washington street, died suddenly on Sunday, March 30th.

Mr. Moynihan was born in Winchester on June 17, 1900 the son of the late John H. and Bridget Mawn Moynihan. He attended the local schools and was well liked by all those who came in contact with him. He was a member of the Winchester Lodge of Elks.

He was sales manager for the Moody Motor Sales Inc., and previously had been employed by Charles H. Ungerman Inc., automobile dealers in Winchester, and also was for a great many years chauffeur for the late Walter E. Chamberlin of Wildwood street.

Surviving is a sister, Mrs. Lillian McMullen, with whom he made his home, and a brother, John C. Moynihan of 7 Cutting street.

The funeral services took place from the Moffett Funeral Home on Wednesday morning, April 2 at 8:15 o'clock with a Solemn Requiem High Mass in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. Rev. Fr. Charles Anadore was celebrant of the Mass with Rev. Fr. William Walsh as deacon and Rev. Fr. John J. Grant sub-deacon. Interment was in Calvary cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Fr. Walsh.

MRS. THERESA FABRIZIO

Mrs. Theresa Fabrizio, widow of Ralph Fabrizio, died Saturday, March 29 at her home 9 Emerson court after a long illness.

Mrs. Fabrizio was born in Italy March 3, 1861, but came to this country when a young girl and had made her home in this town for the past fifty years.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Stella Charlotte of East Boston, two nieces, Mrs. Nellie Carpenter of Revere and Mrs. Carmela Naples of Dorchester.

Funeral services were held from the Lane Funeral Home on Tuesday morning, April 1st, at 8 o'clock with a Solemn High Mass of Requiem in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock, with the Rev. Fr. Charles Anadore, celebrant, Rev. Fr. William Walsh, deacon and Rev. Fr. John Grant, sub-deacon.

Interment was in Calvary cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Fr. Anadore.

TORNADO DISASTER

The Winchester Chapter of the American Red Cross received word from Washington that their portion of the recent tornado disaster was $12,200. This amount has been added to the 1952 Campaign Fund.

Thousands are homeless in this devastated area and the rehabilitation work will go on for several months.

If any have not contributed to the campaign, Red Cross will be glad to receive your donation.

CANCER SOCIETY CAMPAIGN

On April first, the national campaign for funds for the American Cancer Society gets under way, and with it the Massachusetts and Winchester fund raising drives. The national goal is $16,000,000; the Massachusetts goal, $590,000; Admiral Buracker, chairman of the Winchester Committee, has his committee poised to surpass last year's figure of more than $5,000 for Winchester.

The month of April has been officially designated by Congress as Cancer Control Month throughout the United States. The chairman of the National Campaign is Maj. Gen. William J. (Will Bill) Donovan of New York, the nation's wartime head of the Office of Strategic Services (OSS). The Massachusetts Campaign Chairman is Henry J. Nichols of Boston, vice-president of the National Shawmut Bank, former president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

Cancer is the second ranking cause of death in the United States. It will kill some 215,000 Americans during 1952—one every 2½ minutes. It will strike at 400,000 others. Cancer strikes in the prime of life—when people are needed most. Last year 50,000 men and 52,000 women between the ages of 30 and 65 died of cancer. Here in Massachusetts, some 8,700 residents will die of cancer this year.

As knowledge of cancer increases, the cancer death rate drops. For instance, the cancer death rate among surgeons has dropped because cancer is highly curable when detected and treated early—it is only two-thirds that of adult males in the general population.

Fully one-third of the annual death rate among men and women is getting closer to finding the cause and cure of the disease. Most physicians now feel that the eventual control of cancer is not far off. Never in the history of mankind has the cancer problem been so well understood and so well equipped to fight it.

Although no representative of the Star was in attendance, Boston papers hailed the event with great enthusiasm and photos and stated that Miss Hill, 17, "swam" the river. Some doubting Thomases claim one could wade the river at this point, but others say the center of the brook is deep enough to cover one's head. At any rate Miss Hill is reported to have "dived" in and undoubtedly got wet all over.

According to report, Miss Hill performed the stunt on a dare by some of her classmates, who made up a purse of $6 for presentation from the water she collected cash upon its completion. It proved to be so popular that a similar purse, reportedly largely comprised of I. O. U.'s, was hastily made up for the swimmer, and Miss Hill obligingly "swam" back again to the starting point.

Miss Hill performed the feat fully clothed with the exception of her moccasins. Upon emerging from the water she collected cash upon its completion. It proved to be so popular that a similar purse, reportedly largely comprised of I. O. U.'s, was hastily made up for the swimmer, and Miss Hill obligingly "swam" back again to the starting point.

It is reported that Miss Hill's feat created a new record for high school swimming at this season of the year.

NEW GAS RATES

New gas rates for customers of Arlington Gas Light Company, which will result in reductions in excess of $50,000 annually when compared to present rates, have been filed by the company with the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities.

The lower rates are scheduled to go into effect for natural gas users March 28, subject to approval by the Massachusetts regulatory body.

Everett C. Bryant, Vice President of the company, said the low rate schedules were made possible by the arrival of natural gas in this area.

On the basis of customer applications, the territory served by the Arlington Company should be completed within two months. As each customer's appliances are converted to natural gas, the rate will automatically go into effect for all future usage," he said.

AT NATIONAL MEDICAL MEETING

Dr. A. L. Maletta, 408 Main street, is attending the Annual Congress of the American College of Allergists currently being held in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dr. Maletta will address the College on a subject in the field of allergy upon which he has conducted clinical observation for a period of more than two years.

In addition to membership in the staff of the Winchester Hospital and local medical societies, Dr. Maletta is a Fellow of the American College of Allergists and is Chief of the Allergy Clinic at the Carney Hospital, Boston.

EPHANY MUSIC

At the 7:45 evening service on Palm Sunday, April 6, the Choir of the Epiphany Church will sing DuBois' "Seven Last Words of Christ". Mr. Enos Held, choir-master, will conduct. Mrs. Robert Loring of Swampscott will be at the piano, and Mrs. Kenneth Hiscoe of this town will be at the organ. At the Good Friday service, also held at 7:45 p. m. the Choir will sing Stainer's "Crucifixion."

MISS LOIS HOTTEL MARRIED

A reception at the Winchester home of her parents, Prof. and Mrs. Hoyt Clarke Hottel of Cambridge street, followed the marriage Saturday afternoon of Miss Lois Hottel and Mr. William Myrick Wood, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Myrick Wood of Granby, Colo. The ceremony was performed in the Unitarian Church by Rev. Robert A. Storer.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of pale ivory satin covered with tulle and trimmed with Chantilly lace appliqued around the portrait neckline and skirt. Hand-applied lace also trimmed her finger-tip veil of ivory silk. She carried a bouquet of white lilies.

Miss Mary Etta Phillips of Shaker Heights, Ohio, as maid of honor, wore a ballerina-length gown of French blue tulle and aqua marquette, with a flower headress to match, and carried a bouquet of violets and double white snapdragons.

The bridesmaids were Miss Joyce B. Peterson of New Canaan, Ct., and Miss Nancy F. Oakes of Rochester, N. Y., and the junior bridesmaids were the bride's sisters, Mrs. Barbara H. Hottel and Miss Elizabeth L. Hottel. Their gowns were of aqua taffeta and French blue marquette, and their flowers were blue iris and white kosta.

Mrs. Hottel wore a dinner gown of pale blue shantung, and a corsage of sweetheart roses, for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother was unable to be present.

Best man was Mr. Thomas P. Wood, brother of the bridegroom, and the ushers included the bride's brothers, Mr. H. Clarke Hottel, Jr., Mr. William S. Elsworth, Jr., Mr. Simsbury, Ct., and Mr. Ralph A. Williams of Quincy.

The bride is a senior at Smith College, and was prepared at Colorado Military School for the University of Colorado, and will be graduated from Tufts College in June. He served three years during World War II with the Navy Hospital Corps, and they plan to complete their studies.

EDINGTON — MEGOWAN

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Megowan of Belmont announce the marriage of their daughter, Nancy Lee, to Frederick Richard Edington, U. S. Air Force, on Thursday, March 6, in Cheyenne, Wyoming.

Given in marriage by her father, Nancy Lee was gowned in ice-blue tulle, and her bridesmaids, Mrs. E. L. Hastings, and Mrs. J. E. Hastings, wore seed pearls and snug-fitting long lace sleeves.

The bride was of white Chantilly lace and was graduated from Tufts College in June. He served three years during World War II with the Navy Hospital Corps, and they plan to complete their studies.

The bride attended Concord Academy and was graduated from Smith Hall's School in Pittsfield, and attended Stephens College, Columbia, Mo.

Mr. Edington is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Edington of 10 Pine street. He was graduated from Berkshire Academy and attended Clarkson College. He is now stationed at the Air Force Base, Fort Warren, Cheyenne, Wyoming.

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

A large and interested audience, looking most attractive for this first spring affair, attended the dinner lecture sponsored by the Winchester Women's Republican Club, held in the Unitarian Church parish hall last Friday afternoon, March 28th.

The program featured a talk and demonstration by two representatives from the State Board of Education, former State Commander of the American Legion, will be guest speaker Sunday, April 6th at the Mass. Name meeting to be held in the Waterfield Hall following 8 o'clock.

Mr. Cashman, with his broad experience in the educational field, is well informed on his subject—"Education is the Life of Democracy".

HOLY WEEK SERVICES AT SECOND CHURCH

Holy Week services at Second Congregational Church, Washington street at Kenwin road, will include Maundy Thursday and Good Friday services, beginning with an announcement made by the Rev. John W. Cook. The Maundy Thursday service will include Holy Communion in candlelight and the observance of Tenebrae, an ancient service of extinguishing of lights.

The Membership Training Class will also be received on Thursday. The Good Friday service will consist of dramatic monologues portraying the characters of the crucifixion scene. The characters portrayed will be Simon Peter, Judas Iscariot, Caiaphas, Pilate, Simon of Cyrene, the Roman Centurion, and John. Slides of the various characters will be shown on a screen as the monologues are read.

Both of these Holy Week services will be held at eight o'clock. Mr. Austin Nanny will be the soloist for both services. The church will be open daily and evenings for prayer throughout the week.

PHILIP G. CASHMAN TO SPEAK

Eric W. Johnson, President of St. Mary's Holy Name Society, has announced Mr. Philip G. Cashman of the State Board of Education, former State Commander of the American Legion, will be guest speaker Sunday, April 6th at the Mass. Name meeting to be held in the Waterfield Hall following 8 o'clock.

Mr. Cashman, with his broad experience in the educational field, is well informed on his subject—"Education is the Life of Democracy".

PETITION FILED

Opponents to Raising Railroad Track Will Have Ballot Vote

Opponents to raising of the B. & M. railroad tracks through Winchester have filed a petition with the Selectmen asking for a ballot vote on the disputed project.

This petition asks for a vote on the article passed in Town Meeting supporting the Selectmen in their action favoring the elevation.

The required number of names—over 200—were easily obtained and the Selectmen will announce the date of the ballot vote within ten days.

TO SPEAK IN BOSTON

Forbes H. Norris, Superintendent of Schools, is scheduled to speak at one of 36 discussion groups sponsored by the American Association of School Administrators during its regional convention in Boston April 5-9. Superintendent Norris will speak on "Values and Dangers in School Athletics" at a session jointly sponsored by the NEA Department of Classroom Teachers.

MRS. ALBERT BERRY BENT

Mrs. Harriet Hamilton Bent, wife of Albert Berry Bent of Winchester, died Sunday evening, March 30, at the Arnold House in Stoneham, following a long illness. Mrs. Bent was born in Norwich, New York, July 18, 1865, the daughter of William D. and Mary Marsh Hamilton. On October 23, 1889, she and Mr. Bent were married at Brooklyn, New York. Later they moved to Somerville, Mass., but since 1919 had made their home in Winchester.

Mrs. Bent was formerly actively connected with the Park Avenue (now College Avenue) Methodist Church, the Heptecore Club and the Y. M. C. A. Auxiliary, all of Somerville, also serving on the State Y. M. C. A. Auxiliary Board for many years. After moving to Winchester she became an active member of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church, where she served as president of the Women's Society for several years. She also held membership in The Fortnightly and the Florence Crittenton League.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Bent is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Alonzo D. Nicholas of Arlington and Mrs. Charles E. Howe of Winchester; two grandchildren, Robert H. Howe of Wellesley Hills and Mrs. Erland S. Wentzell of Calcutta, India; and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon, April 2, at the Kimball Chapel. Officiating at the service were Reverend John Snook, Jr., pastor of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church, and Reverend Alliston B. Gifford, a former pastor. Interment was in the Wildwood Cemetery.

THE STATE OF THE UNION

Central figure in the preparation of the "State of the Union," the Lindsay-Cross country hit to be given on May 16 and 17, is the versatile minister of the Unitarian Church, the Rev. Robert A. Storer, formerly a professional actor, who is directing the cast. Mr. Storer, who provided the spark which revived the Players last year, directed the annual Blackfriars' Show for four years while a student at the University of Chicago. He began his professional career as an actor at the Old St. James Theater in Boston and played juvenile roles in many cities. In Freeport, Long Island, he appeared in "The Shanghai Gesture" with Ralph Bellamy, who later starred as the not-so-naive Republican candidate in "State of the Union" on Broadway.

Co-Chairman of the Production Committee for the up-to-the-minute comedy are Mrs. Bradford Darling and Mrs. Ganson P. Taggart. Mrs. Darling worked on the brilliant and dramatic costume design and construction is the play's perennial artist, George W. Hayden, who was responsible for the scenery in the last two Unitarian plays.

Virginia Wallace, who appeared on stage last fall, is in charge of costumes, with Philip Wadsworth, Mrs. Fred Parsons and Mrs. George A. Blair, Jr., are arranging for costumes. W. H. D. Townley-Gladys is in charge of sound effects. Mr. Allan Mowatt and Mrs. Percy Hill of publicity.

Both of these Holy Week services will be held at eight o'clock. Mr. Austin Nanny will be the soloist for both services. The church will be open daily and evenings for prayer throughout the week.

CARL NELSON TO SING WITH WINCHESTER CHOIR
PALM SUNDAY

The Choir of the Winchester First Congregational Church will perform "The Seven Last Words" by Dubois under the direction of J. Albert Wilson at 4:30 p. m. Sunday afternoon, April 6th in a special Lenten service.

Carl Nelson, noted artist will sing the tenor solo passages. A suitable background for this splendid voice will be Mr. Wilson's well drilled regular choir of 35 voices. This choir has demonstrated many times that it is able to perform Oratorios and great choral pieces along with the best church choirs in Boston and greater Boston, and this without necessarily employing outside singers to bolster a section. The Choir has developed over the years under Mr. Wilson's direction to an unusually considerably better than average artistic achievement.

Mr. Wilson, as usual, will conduct from his seat at the organ, where, undoubtedly, he not only plays the difficult score, but artfully leads his group.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

PALM SUNDAY SERVICE AT METHODIST CHURCH

Reception of members and baptismal service will be conducted at Palm Sunday services this Sunday at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church.

The pastor, Rev. John Snook, Jr., will speak on the subject, "Palm Sunday, Then and Now". Members and friends of the Community are invited to attend.

BLANCHARD PROMOTED

Sgt. Dean Blanchard, Jr., has been assigned to the Ordnance Officer Candidate School at Aberdeen, Maryland. As a result of the assignment he was promoted to the grade of sergeant.

Sgt. Blanchard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Blanchard of 10 Mt. Pleasant street. Prior to entering the service he attended Winchester High School and Amherst College.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON LUNCHEON BRIDGE

One of this spring's most interesting and enjoyable parties will be the luncheon bridge party to be given by the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League of Compassion on Thursday, April 10.

Mrs. Willard J. Hodge and Mrs. Crosby B. Kelley are co-chairmen for the day. They guarantee a delicious luncheon.

With the help and cooperation of the Winchester Conservatories the hall will be decorated with greens and spring flowers.

Those who attend will have the opportunity of taking part in two drawings: one drawing will be for an original oil painting and one is for an original hand made figurine. Both of these works of art have been executed by Mrs. Jacob Van Vloten who has so generously donated them in the interest of Florence Crittenton.

Mrs. Frederick W. Aseltine will hold her annual food sale at the time of the luncheon. Her wares are solicited from some of the best cooks in Winchester thus making the event one that is always eagerly anticipated. Thursday, April the tenth is the day. One o'clock is the time.

Social Hall of the Unitarian Church is the place.
Call Mrs. Virgil L. Rankin, Winchester 6-3338 for tickets.
Be sure to be there!

REPUBLICAN SPRING FINANCE DRIVE

James M. Joslin and Mrs. Robert W. Reynolds have been appointed Finance Chairman and Deputy Finance Chairman respectively for the Winchester Republican spring finance drive to be held in conjunction with "Operation Spearhead," a United Republican Canvass throughout Massachusetts from April 15 to May 15, it was announced this week by Richard Preston of Hamilton, general chairman of the Massachusetts Republican Finance Committee.

Chairman Joslin, who resides at 2 Wildwood Terrace, and Deputy Chairman Reynolds, 58 Swan road, will stress neighbor-to-neighbor solicitation in meeting the Winchester quota of the $750,000 minimum canvass target. This 1952 spring campaign will be the first time in party history that state Republicans have put on such an early finance drive. Funds raised will be used to support the campaigns of national, state and local Grand New Party candidates during this election year.

The United Republican leaders in Winchester will be assisted by a local committee of sufficient numbers to insure a visit to every home where a Republican or Independent voter resides.

MISS FOLAN JOINS NURSING STAFF

Miss Elizabeth Ann Folan of Woburn has been appointed to the Winchester District Nursing Association staff, to complete the three-nurse staff under Mrs. Doris Wiklund, Executive Director.

Miss Folan, who was introduced to the Association on last week Friday at the March meeting held in the office, 540 Main street, comes to this Red Feather Agency after a two-year period of service in the U. S. Navy as Ensign, serving in the Philadelphia and Chelsea Naval Hospitals. She then served on the staff at the Bedford Hospital for a year and a half as psychiatric nurse.

She is a graduate of St. Charles High School in Woburn, attended Lowell Teachers' College, and was graduated from the Mt. Auburn School of Nursing in Cambridge. She received her training in public health work with the Cambridge District Nursing Association.

Miss Folan is now the third nurse of the staff which also comprises Mrs. Wiklund and Miss Alice Peterson.

The March meeting, held in the office so that new members might see the equipment and its uses and the system used by the nurses, was highlighted by a report from Mrs. Wiklund showing 360 visits made in February — this in spite of the shortage of nurses, and with Mrs. Wiklund and Miss Peterson carrying the entire case load.

A number of new cases were reported, including seven new babies under care. With the addition of the third nurse, Miss Folan, the staff will be able to care for more calls from patients.

Mr. Vincent Farnsworth, President, Mr. Raymond Merrill, Vice-President and Mr. Edward Duncan, Assistant Treasurer of the Winchester Co-operative Bank attended the Massachusetts Taxpayers Annual Dinner at the Hotel Statler on Saturday, March 29th.

ANNUAL MEETING OF BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN'S GUILD

"Bonnets", an inspirational talk built around the theme of women's hats from old Quaker bonnets to the nurse's cap and Aviator's helmet, will feature the annual meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Guild on Tuesday evening, April 8, at 8 o'clock in the Ladies' Parlor, First Congregational Church. The speaker will be Mrs. Eleanor C. Forman of Danvers, and she will use as models for her hats several of the Guild members, with musical background played by Miss Ruth Hayden. The meeting is open to all women.

The business portion of the evening will be presided over by Miss Helen Monroe, director, with a report from Mrs. Winifred Fay, chairman of the nominating committee. Mrs. Ruth Hilton is in charge of the coffee hour.

DATE DANCE ANNOUNCED

The robins and daffodils are not the only signs of spring in evidence. Plans for the spring dance of the Junior Circle of the Florence Crittenton, to be held on the evening of May 10th, are well under way. Because of the popularity of the dance and size of the Town Hall, tickets must be limited. Get your reservations in early by calling Mrs. Richard Chase, Winchester 6-2542 or Mrs. John K. Colony, Winchester 6-3429. Don't miss the fun!

TOASTMISTRESS CLUB

Eliminations in the Speech Contest will highlight the program of the Winchester Toastmistress Club's meeting to be held in the Spanish War Veterans' Hall in Woburn on Tuesday evening, April 8. Speakers entering the Club finals are:

Mrs. Edna Crede of Winchester
Miss Hilda Hope of Winchester
Miss Lillian Last of Medford
Mrs. Pearl Macaulay of Medford
Miss Alice Clarke of Arlington
Alternate speakers are:
Mrs. Paula Bennett and Mrs. Olive Anderson, both of Winchester

The highest scoring speaker in the evening's competition will represent the Winchester club as a contestant with representatives of other Toastmistress Clubs in Northeast Council No. 5 at a joint meeting to be held in May. The toastmistress for Tuesday evening will be Mrs. Pearl Grauel of Medford.

WINCHESTER PROMINENT IN WIDENER SKIING

At the fourth annual Widener Memorial Trophy race for Class C and unclassified skiers at Waterville Valley, N. H., on Saturday, March 23, Alison Hersey posted a time of 2 minutes 40 seconds down a forty-four gate giant slalom course of varied snow conditions. It was the fourth fastest time for the 27 girls and women racing the course and second in the junior group. It is interesting to note that among the five best times three were made by juniors.

Other Winchester girls competing were: Mary Ann Damon, fourth in the women's division with a time of 2 minutes and 57 seconds, and Carolyn Edgar, both representing Middlebury College and Virginia Dyer from Cornell.

Two Dartmouth men from Winchester have been appointed to serve as Class Agents for the 1952 Dartmouth Alumni Fund. They are: Charles I. Lampee, 9 Foxcroft road, a graduate of the Class of 1904 at Dartmouth College; and George B. Redding, 10 Cranston road, a graduate of the Class of 1929.

KINDERGARTEN ASSEMBLY AT MYSTIC SCHOOL

"Wind" was the theme of an assembly presented by the children in Miss Doherty's kindergarten on March 28. To illustrate their subject the youngsters showed pictures, recited favorite poems, and sang songs about the wind.

Poems about wind included Kate Greenaway's "Little Wind", recited by Dorothy Ware; "The Wind" by Christine Rossetti, which was presented by Kit Hopkins; "Windy Wash Day" by Dorothy Aldis, recited by Ingrid Michelsen; and "A Kite", recited by Kevin Kiley. A. A. Milne's lovely poem, "Wind in the Hill", was presented by a group composed of Jane Littleton, Harrison Moore, Pamela Sibby, Terry Doherty, and Lance Grenzback.

Further illustrating the theme of the assembly were the songs "Cold Wind", "Lullaby", "The Wind", "My Kite", "The Sailboat", and "The Windmill". These were sung by Sandy Blaisdell, "Deedee" Stakel, Jane Littleton, Laurie McLean, Sammy Hooker, Terry Doherty, Kit Hopkins, Dorothy Ware, Ingrid Michelsen, Anne Fulgoni, and Tommy LaPointe. Closing numbers on the program were a game, "If I Had a Windmill", which was played by the entire class, and "The Little Half Chick", presented by Gerry Hills, Laurie McLean, Sammy Hooker, and Trudy Todd.

WHS VAUDEVILLE SHOW MOST COLORFUL YET

The big show is here! More colorful and varied than any of its nineteen predecessors. At the special children's matinee this afternoon and again at the evening performances tonight and tomorrow the more than 200 students actively participating in the show will be doing their darndest to give Winchester folk the best vaudeville show yet.

Certainly it will be the most colorful ever presented as far as the costumes are concerned. Two months ago Gloria Mucera, one of the most talented art students in the school, began designing costumes for the dance numbers. Originality and beauty were the keynotes of her sketches, from which patterns were prepared. Then the services of several models were enlisted in the actual making of the costumes, and the results were more than satisfying to everyone concerned in the project.

Those who enjoyed George Johnson's soft shoe dance last year (and who didn't?) will like the opening number in the 1952 show. George and his faithful group of followers have prepared an elaborate and ambitious presentation of soft shoe steps that will delight everyone.

All of us remember the boys' pony chorus in the '51 show and the thunderous applause which greeted its dainty light-footed steps. However, Jean Neiley and Phyllis O'Neil, who are coaching this year's group, have declared that the latest crop of masculine devotee of the art of terpsichore are "out of this world."

Less hilarious but undoubtedly more rhythmic and glamorous will be the Cossacks and the Carrousel, two brand new dance numbers full of whirling skirts and dancing feet.

If you enjoyed the harmonies of the Faculty Quartet and the sweet singing of the Girls' Octette last year, imagine your pleasure when you hear these two groups together. Old-timers in the audience will enjoy the touch of nostalgia in their numbers.

Without listing each separate act, we can confidently say that this year's production offers a well-balanced program, two hours of well entertainment. Today's matinee begins at 3:30 p. m. Both evening shows begin promptly at 8:00 p. m., and all seats for evening performances are reserved.

Pvt. Robert D. McGrail, 21 of 18 Elmwood avenue, has been assigned to the 5th Infantry Division here for 16 weeks of basic training. His training at Indian Point, Ga. with the "Red Diamond" division will include the care and use of light and heavy infantry weapons, living in the field, strenuous day and night marches, and combat tactics.

LITTLE LEAGUE BENEFITS FROM "HARVEY"

It isn't quite Easter yet—but a certain six-foot tall rabbit is going to help a good many boys here in Winchester, especially baseball-minded boys from 8 to 12 years old! The rabbit happens to be "Harvey"—and the boys are members of Winchester's "Little League". And this is the story:

The Thursday evening performance of "Harvey" by the Parish Players in Parish Hall, First Congregational Church, on April 24th, 8:30 p. m. will benefit the Rotary Club's fund for its Little League Baseball team. Tickets may be secured from Charlie Koch at the Sport Shop (Winchester 6-1931) or from Curtis Ware, Christie's, Winchester 6-2572. Every penny of the tickets sold by Rotary for this performance will be used for its Little League. Rotarians will "take over" Thursday night—with their own members and wives serving as ushers, and as hostesses and pourers. The coffee hour, royalty fee, hall expenses and costumes, watchman are all contributed by the Parish Players, along with the performance of "Harvey".

Rotary started the ball rolling here in Winchester for the Little League, and secured permission to use the field on Shore road, and to put it in condition for the players. There will be four Little League teams here in all, the Rotary team, and the teams of Mr. Bonnell, Mr. Moody, and the Kiwanis Club.

AMERICAN LEGION HOLDS "VISITATION NIGHT"

Commander Arthur W. Collins, Winchester Post No. 97, The American Legion, has announced plans for the annual Visitation Night to be held this year on Thursday, April 24, 1952. Commander Collins states that Legionnaires from many Posts throughout the state will be in attendance, and the guest speaker for the evening will be Dept. Vice-Commander Joseph L. Walsh of Newton Post No. 48.

COLLEGE CLUB

The final meeting of the College Clubs' Daytime Study Group on "Thrifty Time-Saving Tactics" will be held on April 10 at the home of Mrs. William Kugler, 26 Winslow road.

The speaker will be Miss Mary Bell of the Middlesex County Agricultural Extension Service, who will discuss "Party Food." Mrs. John Harrison will be in charge of refreshments.

JOHNNY THE CLOWN
AT MYSTIC SCHOOL

Spring Vacation brings the children a real treat. On Tuesday, April 15, at the Mystic School Auditorium, the Mystic School Mothers' Association presents John S. Sisson, better known as "Johnny the Clown", in his hilarious stunts and magic tricks. Johnny is in constant demand to entertain the younger set and recently appeared at the Children's Museum in Jamaica Plain.

Two performances will be given: The first (1:30 - 2:30 p. m.) will be especially for pre-school children through third grade—a show at their level. The second show (3:00 - 4:00 p. m.) will be geared to delight the fourth, fifth and sixth graders. Parents welcome. For further information call Mrs. Andrew Tindle, Winchester 6-3080-M.

NOONAN SCHOOL ASSEMBLY ON DESERT LIFE

As an outgrowth of their study of Life in a Hot, Dry Region, Miss Sullivan's fourth grade pupils presented an assembly, with life in the Sahara Desert, as the theme, on March 20. The varied program included the presentation of slides and reports, original limericks, riddles, and songs.

Reports accompanied the showing of slides on the following subjects: location of important places in Africa, oases, Arabian food, Arabian clothing, the useful camel, and Arabian Schools. The pupils who participated in these reports were Arthur Collins, Paul DelRossi, Ronald Chabot, Barbara Gregory, Peter Branch, Bill Haggerty, and Carole Nelson.

Limericks written by the pupils during their language period were recited by Larry O'Keefe, Judy Crowley, Shirley Morrell, and Barbara Gregory. Riddles were presented by Holly Ann MacLean, Carmen Colella, Nancy Moran, Billy Joyce, Jim Farnsworth, Frank Phinney, and John Dewar.

For another part of their program the youngsters sang four songs—"The Train Ride", "Indian Lullaby", "Spring Messengers", and "Laughing Lisa". In the group were: Shirley Morrell, Nancy Moran, Barbara Gregory, Beatrice Meehan, Eileen O'Malley, Holly Ann MacLean, Barbara Saraco, Carole Nelson, Judy Crowley, Thelma Plante, Jimmie Farnsworth, Carmen Colella, John Dewar, Arthur Collins, George Thompson, Billy Haggerty, Frank Phinney, Peter Belisle, Larry O'Keefe, Ronald Chabot, Paul DelRossi, Billy Joyce, Henry Cogan.

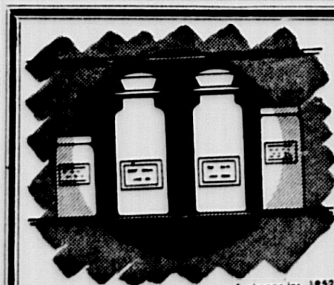

Violin selections by Billy Haggerty included "The Train Ride", "Largo", and "The Star Spangled Banner". Carol Chute announced the program and Henry Cogan was stage manager.

TROOP 3 NEWS

The Boy Scouts of Troop 3 of the First Congregational Church enjoyed a successful "Dads' Night" at their regular meeting March 27th. Included in the program were official movies of Camp Fellsland shown by Boy Scout District Commissioner Carleton H. Spinney of Medford.

At this same meeting the boys had the satisfaction of showing their dads new tents purchased with the money they earned from the sale of Christmas wreaths and recent paper drives.

On the weekend of April 5th and 6th about 25 of the scouts are looking forward to an overnight camping trip to Camp Fellsland. They will be under the supervision of Scoutmasters Edgar D. Hinton and Thomas M. Hill, and Troop Committeeman Edward W. Little. While enjoying this outdoor weekend, the boys will have a chance to pass tests in camping, tracking, hiking and first aid.

The evidence keeps piling up: the war against cancer is moving forward toward an eventual victory at an excitingly quickened pace.

The latest hint that there are great goings-on in cancer research came early in March, when the American Cancer Society joined with the National Cancer Institute and the Association for Cancer Research to conduct a three-day conference in Cincinnati among the nation's foremost cancer authorities.

The point is not that the conference was held, but when it was held. This was the second such meeting; the first was held in 1949 to survey the cancer research and clinical progress of the previous five years. At that time it was indicated that a second conference would be held in another five years — that is in 1954.

But cancer research has been moving too fast to wait.

Said Dr. Charles S. Cameron of the American Cancer Society: "It was imperative to conduct the conference at this time in order to evaluate the tremendous accomplishment of the past three years. In no similar period of history has there been so great an accumulation of new facts, many of which stand in direct relation to our understanding of the causes of cancer."

What accounted for the speed-up? Accidental discoveries? Brainier scientists?

Certainly not — few if any research discoveries are accidental, and scientists are no smarter than they ever were, though surely they are more knowledgeable.

The answer is money — money for laboratories, for experiments, for test tubes, for microscopes, for cancer beds in hospitals, for training of physicians, for research fellowships.

The money comes from you, the public. It's got to keep coming.

for now is the time to push the battle harder than ever. Remember that, when you are asked to contribute to the Cancer Crusade of the American Cancer Society this month, this is your chance to fight back against cancer. Be generous.

WINCHESTER COUNCIL No. 210 K. of C. 55th ANNUAL COMMUNION BREAKFAST

Winchester Council No. 210 Knights of Columbus conducted its 55th Annual Communion Breakfast on Sunday March 30th at Waterfield Hall. The main speaker of the morning was Mr. Thomas F. McLaughlin, Jr., Special Agent in Charge of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, who described some of the investigating duties which the agency is required to perform by law. Mr. McLaughlin also explained that the F. B. I. is not a law enforcement agency, but merely investigates all kinds of crimes against the Federal Government ranging from kidnapping on one hand to the draft dodgers on the other. The talk was of considerable interest to all who attended and Mr. Lauglin received the plaudits of his audience.

The breakfast was preceded by a parade from the center to St. Mary's Church where the members of Winchester Council and friends attended the 8 o'clock Mass and received Holy Communion. Following the Mass, the Council paraded back to Waterfield Hall for breakfast.

The parade was led by a police escort which was followed by a color guard and drummers. A delegation of 4th Degree Knights headed the general group of members who paraded.

Guests at the head table included Council Chaplain Fr. John P. O'Riordan; T. K. Lynch, only living member of the Council; Frank E. Rogers, oldest living Past Grand Knight; James A. Cullen, County Commissioner, and a member of the Council; Walter W. Prue, President of the 4th Degree Club; James E. McCabe, a District Deputy; and Joseph E. Boothroyd, State Auditor who brought greetings from the State Council. Harrison F. Lyman, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, congratulated the Council on 55 years of service in the town; he was seated with his fellow selectmen, Harry E. Chelaflo, Charles T. Main, 2nd, and J. Joseph Tansey.

At 10:15, Miss Elizabeth Russell, Children's Librarian, will be the story teller. Promptly at 10:15 Miss Russell will hold a candle lighting ceremony in which some of the boys and girls will take part. This ceremony was a well-liked part of the story hours given last spring.

Boys and girls of elementary school age will enjoy these programs. No tickets will be required for admission.

If you are coming to story hour, it is necessary for you to be on time. You will not want to miss the candle lighting ceremony which is first on the program.

NOONAN SCHOOL MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

Close to 300 people, members of the Association, families and friends of the children of the Noonan School were present in the school auditorium last Thursday evening March 27th to see the children demonstrate their work in Music and Physical Education.

The program, sponsored by the Mothers' Association and arranged by Miss Fitch, Miss Davenport, Mr. Felmet, Mr. Meurling and the teachers of the Noonan School was enjoyed by everyone, and it was obvious that the children were happy to have this opportunity to show us what they could do. Each grade I through VI contributed a part of the program. The square-dancers were costumed in accordance with their own ideas of the proper outfit for square dancing.

A shortage of girls made it necessary for a few boys to fill in. These boys were volunteers and were very good looking "ladies".

Program:
1. Selections by Band
a. Billy Boy
b. Now the Day Is Over
c. Skaters' Waltz
d. Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground
e. Marine Hymn

Members of the Band: Maureen Haggerty, Richard Russo, Ronald MacArthur, Nicholas Orgettas, Arthur Collins, William Saurman, George Thompson, Ronald Chabot, Lawrence O'Keefe.

2. Selections by Violin Students
a. Santa Lucia
b. Long, Long Ago
c. Duet
d. Evening Prayer and Susy, Little Susy (from the Operetta Hansel and Gretel by Humperdinck)

Students: William Haggerty and Paul Stevenson

3. Songs by Grades 4-5-6
Grade 4
a. The Friendly Road
b. The Tram Ride
Grade 5
a. Smile Again — 2 part song
b. The Peddler — 2 part song

LEGION AUXILIARY

The regular monthly meeting of the Auxiliary will be held on next Monday evening, April 7, at the Legion Home. Every member is urged to attend as there is important business to be discussed and voted on. There are only three business meetings before the close of this year so make an effort to be with us and show your interest in the events our President, Frances Burr is planning.

There is an interesting Hospital Party to be held at Bedford this month and the cooperation of everyone is needed for its success. Come down Monday night and hear all the details.

It's what you keep that counts

It's an old axiom that anyone can make money, but it takes a special kind of ability to put a few dollars away regularly for the future. A well-known business leader once said, "If you want to know whether or not you are likely to succeed in life, ask yourself this question, 'Can I save money?' If you can't, the seed of success is not in you." The reason is simple. Money management calls for good judgment, discipline, wisdom, thrift and determination — the qualities that help a man to succeed at any task. If you haven't a savings account with us, we invite you to open one. If you already have an account here, come in and make a deposit every pay day.

Winchester firemen have had a busy week answering numerous alarms, both telephone and box, for brush and grass fires. The following list includes alarms up to yesterday.

March 27, 11:20 a. m., grass fire at 37 Emerson road. 11:53 a. m.,

grass fire in vacant lot at 18 Glenwood avenue. 1:22 p. m., grass fire on former Ginn estate.

Telephone call at 3:17 p. m. from

Chief Kane of Woburn Fire Department requesting apparatus to cover in at headquarters. Engine 2 and Capt. Noonan arriving and Firemen Galuffo and Welch responding.

Still alarm at 7:30 p. m. for a chimney fire at residence of Mr.

Waldo Bond, 14 Mason street. No damage. Box 144 was sounded at 8:03 p. m. for a brush fire near the Arlington-Winchester line on the

March 28, 1:25 p. m., grass fire

at 505 Washington street. 2:55

p. m., Box 77-146 was rung in from central fire station following a telephone call from 53 Hutchinson road for a woods fire. At 8:30 another telephone call was received for a brush fire on Hutchinson road.

March 29, 7:28 a. m., telephone call from Mr. Buzzotta, 57 Oak street, for an explosion in the heater of the house. No damage resulted beyond blowing a smoke pipe

The department had nine runs on Sunday for grass and brush fires.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Mr. Jellison at Assembly

Representing the Massachusetts

Bar Association, Mr. Charles Jellison, Chairman of the Winchester

School Committee, spoke to the student body on March 30. Mr. Jel-lison's interesting and informative talk stressed the important place which our legal system plays in preserving our society and our individual liberties. He stressed the importance of each person's actions in maintaining and enforcing legal processes.

WHS Debate Team at Emerson

Tourney

Winchester High School's newly organized debate team journeyed to Emerson College on March 29 for a debate tourney in which teams from Lowell, Saugus, and Winchester competed. The Winchester team, which had only about two weeks' training consisted of Deborah French, Harold R. Quigley,

Doug Hawkins, Sona Norian, Janet

Archibald, and Carl Zimmerman.

The issue to be debated was

"Should the United States Adopt a Policy of Universal Military Training?" Debbie French, Harold

Quigley, and alternate Janet Archibald upheld the affirmative, while the negative was supported by Sona

Norian, Doug Hawkins, and alternate Carl Zimmerman. In the contests with Lowell and Saugus, Winchester won the most points, but

Lowell received the trophy because it won the most debates. Awards for the best negative and best affirmative speaker also went to Lowell, with Winchester ranking second.

Team members and their coaches

Mr. Thomas Morse and Mr. Michael

Marge, student teacher, deserved

congratulations for their fine showing against an experienced Lowell

Student Council Convention

A delegation of students is attending the convention of the Eastern Massachusetts Student Council

Association on April 5 at the Medford High School. Bill Carleton,

Phil Ives, John Morgan, Janet

Graves, and Mr. Meredith Cooper will attend the morning and afternoon sessions.

AMERICAN FOLKLORE THEME OF WASHINGTON SCHOOL ASSEMBLY

The sixth grade of the George Washington School had its spring assembly on Wednesday, March 19th. It had as its theme the folklore of our own country.

Much of the program was made up of folk songs, ranging from cowboy songs to Negro spirituals. The entire group was in the chorus and many of the songs were sung in two parts. The following songs were included in the program:

"The Lone Star Trail"
Roundup Lullaby
Down in the Valley
Sourwood Mountain
Prairie Schooner
Old Sayings
Gum Tree Canoe
Cape Cod Chanty
Reuben and Rachel Old Black Joe
Oh Susannah
Steal Away

Stories about the songs added to the program. Paul Haggerty told about prairie schooners, while Jackie Coakley told some of the fabulous yarns of Paul Bunyan, the mighty logger. Billy Morton told about the life of Stephen Foster, and Alfred Magliozzi had a story about Negro spirituals. James Wakefield was the announcer.

SMITH-MOBILE DAY

Many Winchester women who are Smith College alumnae will "go back to college" for a day on Tuesday, April 15, when the Smith-Mobile, a day of lectures by Smith faculty members, will be presented at the Longwood Cricket Club.

Mrs. D. Reid Weedon, Jr., of 4 Overlook Way, Winchester, is in charge of the Smith-Mobile, which is sponsored by the Boston Smith College Club and is open to all Smith alumnae and their friends.

WYMAN SCHOOL NOTES

Second Grade Visits Bakery

On the afternoon of March 19 the second graders in Miss Patricia Doherty's class visited the Hathaway Bakery in Allston. The youngsters have been studying about Community Helpers, and this interesting trip showed the children the many steps which the baker takes in making bread — all the way from the dough-mixing to the shipping room. Mrs. Clifton McNeill and Mrs. Herbert Ross were the drivers who helped in transporting the class to the bakery.

Junior Red Cross Meeting

Safety Rules for Spring were emphasized at the monthly meeting of the Wyman School Junior Red Cross on March 21. After the reports of the secretary and treasurer were read, President Larry Longworth talked to his classmates on safety rules, particularly those for bicycles. Reminders about the care for lawns and people's property were also given.

Thank you notes from Bedford Veterans' Hospital were read for the tray favors and Valentine favors made by the pupils during their February project. Remembering the sick and shut-in at Easter will be the next project.

MYSTIC PUPILS AT SARGENT SCHOOL

A demonstration lesson in physical education was presented recently to sophomore students at Boston University's Sargent School of Physical Education by a group of second grade pupils from the Mystic School under the direction of Miss Gale Davenport, assistant supervisor of physical education in Winchester schools. The lesson came as the result of a recent visit to Winchester by Miss Emilie Hartman, supervisor of student practice teachers at Sargent.

Miss Davenport's demonstration lesson, which was typical of those she teaches in her elementary classes, consisted of four parts:

1. Story Play — The Fireman.
2. Rhythmic Activity Period — Shoemaker's Dance.
3. Singing Games — "Pussy Cat" and "How Do You Do, My Partner".
4. Games — "Jump the Ditch", "Cat and Mice", "A Hunting We Will Go".

The following children in Miss Littlefield's class made the trip:

Marcia Colpas
Alice Dyson
Carolyn Geiger
Thea Kirk
Kathleen Lopez
Karen McNeill
Martha Preston
Leslie Sanger
Eleanor Smith
Betty Thebaud
Elizabeth Carley
Dale Watson
John Ballard
Richard Bond
Richard Canty
Donald Gross
Brian Heard
Paul Johnian
Bruce Miller
Thomas Nahigian
Jack O'Leary
Robert Peterson
Russell Taylor
Kenneth Varian

Transportation was provided by five mothers: Mrs. Charles Nichols, Mrs. Joseph Canty, Mrs. Carleton Heard, Mrs. Edward Miller, Mrs. Stanley Ballard.

Lincoln School Square Dance
On Friday evening, March 21st, the Lincoln School Auditorium was the scene of a square dance sponsored by the Lincoln School Mothers' Association.
The 4th, 5th and 6th grade pupils, under the direction of Mr. Meurling, instructor of Physical Education, demonstrated several difficult and delightful square dances.
Fourth Grade:
1. Skellan Circle
2. Round the Town
3. Two Head Ladies
Fifth and Sixth Grades:
1. Grapevine Twist
2. Red River Valley
3. New Hampshire Swing-aroo
4. Lady of the Lake
5. Texas Star
Everyone present was very impressed with the ability of the youngsters in their performances and the obvious pleasure with which both boys and girls alike entered into the spirit of the dance. At the close of the program, the parents took their turn at square dancing. Under the expert "calling" of Mr. Meurling, the young ladies of Lincoln School guided the daddies through a dance, and the young men guided the mothers through a similar number. Both performances were equally hilarious and greatly enjoyed by all present.

During intermission, punch and cookies were served. Mrs. John Munro and Mrs. Lawrence Palmer were in charge of refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Eugene Pollard, Mrs. Charles Russo, Mrs. Vincent Carroll, Mrs. George Carter, Mrs. Barbara Clark and Mrs. Ralph Webster.
On March 17th, at the Lincoln School Auditorium, the 5th and 6th grade students of Mr. Raymond of the Russell Curry Studio of dancing, held their annual dancing party with their parents as guests.

TOWN MEETING VOTES AND VOTERS

The vote at the adjourned Town Meeting session of Thursday, March 20, has little to boast of, as reported.

Out of 233 elected Town Meeting members 164 attended the meeting, 69 were absent, 13 did not vote, 82 failed to represent the citizens who elected them for this purpose — and that for the consideration of a 4,000,000 question.

The meeting also voted not to ask for information on this tremendous project — practically advising the taxpayers to buy a pig in a poke.
Mr. Lyman criticized the post-card ballot conducted by Mr. Mott, intimating that "a vote of slightly less than half of those who got cards did not prove much of anything." Mr. Lyman suggested that questions of this nature are difficult to frame. Mr. Mott is not a lawyer, just a sincere, straightforward man, with an excellent command of English, and his questions were simple enough for a child to understand. At least the postcard vote was independent and without pressure. Those who signed the card and the petitions included many of the finest citizens of Winchester.

Mr. Lyman also stated that no one at all had come to the Selectmen for information. This is an error. Early in February 1952 I called the chairman of the Selectmen asking for information, and was told that the Selectmen were now out of it and it was up to the State. I recall no reports being made to the people of the Town and no announcements of hearings after 1941.

My first information about the approach of this project was at a hearing before the Selectmen on another matter. The chairman criticized the B. & W. for being uncooperative and said the work should have started long ago, adding "But it will be started in four or five weeks now." Winchester people don't realize what an upheaval it will mean to the Town, with bulldozers and trucks and steamshovels and the dirt flying in every direction for two years or more.

I was completely surprised and aroused and wondered how this thing could approach so near and no one know anything about it. That was the start of the questionnaire which we circulated to make people think and investigate and ask questions, although the answers were never alike nor are they today. The group that adopted the name "Friends of Winchester" feel keenly that on a question so terribly vital and far-reaching to the community, every citizen has a right to the information and also the right to express his or her wishes freely without pressure. That is why we insisted on the referendum as the only way to give voters who are not at Town Meetings a chance to vote.

It is surprising how much opposition was encountered through propaganda in an effort to prevent the referendum. Now that these opponents cannot avoid it, they are taking it over with all the political machinery available through the Town Hall Union. Those who signed the petition for information or for an alternative plan rather than the overhead, will be approached by doctors, and bakers, and candlestick-makers urging them to change their vote and if they were incapable of making their own decisions. Hold your ground — vote for what you believe best for the Town of Winchester. The right of decision is yours.

PALM SUNDAY VESPERS

In the impressive setting of the church chancel, the choir of the First Congregational Church performed the sacred Oratorio, "The Seven Last Words of Christ," by Dubois on Palm Sunday afternoon, April 6. Under the direction of J. Albert Wilson, organist and choir-master, Mr. Nelson was a guest artist engaged for the occasion, whereas Mrs. Whennan and Mr. Hiatt are regular members of the choir. All of the soloists gave excellent renditions and interpretations of their parts.

Mr. Nelson, as expected, was outstanding in all of his solos. His voice was particularly pleasing, strong and interpretive, yet he blended well with the choral group. Seldom has this town had the occasion to hear an artist of Mr. Nelson's quality.
The choir consisting of 35 voices presented an adequate background for these soloists and showed evidence of having been well drilled in their attacks and releases and in the fine quality of tone in all their parts. The choir also amply demonstrated on this occasion why they are rated with the foremost choirs in Greater Boston.

Mr. Wilson is to be highly commended for his direction of the choir as well as for his organ accompaniment. His playing of the passages depicting the storm during the crucifixion was thrilling and real artistic.

The prayer, "Thee We Adore, O Christ," was beautifully sung by the choir and furnished a fitting climax to this great oratorio. The chorists' finely sustained soft tone was of real beauty, and the pause that preceded the final chord with its low C of the basses was particularly effective.

A large audience attended the performance and thoroughly enjoyed the sacred choral work which was in keeping with the Lenten Season Holy Week.

SENATOR ROBERT TAFT HERE APRIL 19th

The public are cordially invited to the Winchester Town Hall on Saturday, April 19 at 2 p. m., to hear Senator Robert Taft. He will speak on Current National issues.

ON TAFT STATE COMMITTEE

Mr. Edward J. McGrath of 175 Highland avenue was on Wednesday of this week appointed a member of the State Committee for Taft for President.

FREDERICK N. KERR

Frederick Nixon Kerr, a resident of Winchester for the past 55 years and prominently identified with Winchester's civic and social life, died at his home, 42 Rangeley, Thursday night, April 3rd. He was 83 years of age and had been in failing health for some time.

Mr. Kerr was born in Somerville. During his residence in Winchester he was prominent in both social and civic affairs, having served as a Selectman both as a member and chairman of the board and as a member and president of the former Calumet Club. He was prominent in Masonry, being a former member of William Parkman Lodge of this town, Woburn Royal Arch Chapter, Hugh dePavens Commandery of Melrose and Aleppo Temple. He was formerly prominently identified in banking circles, but since his retirement some years ago he had been inactive.

He is survived by his wife, Lillian (Baldwin) Kerr, and one son, Mr. Morris B. Kerr a former Selectman and national advertising manager of the Boston Post.

The funeral services were private and were held at the Bennett Funeral Chapel Saturday afternoon, with the Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, officiating. The burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

GRADE CROSSING ELIMINATION APPEAL FOR VOLUNTEERS

A group of citizens, interested in the Elimination of the Grade Crossing, organized a Committee to support the State project to raise the tracks.

The general subject of the Elimination of the Grade Crossing has been before the Town since the railroad was built in 1834. The present State plan has been under discussion since 1945. Engineering work, begun in 1950, is practically complete. The March Town Meeting of this year endorsed the plan almost unanimously (151-1).

We understand that the Selectmen will distribute with the Warrant for the Referendum a complete report of the Crossing Situation.

The Committee is in complete accord with the Selectmen and their endorsement of the State Plan to eliminate the Grade Crossing. We feel strongly that the Town should accept this opportunity.

A Referendum Vote on the Plan will be held on April 22, 1952. Our sole purpose is to urge voters to vote in favor of the Plan.

To help us we need volunteers who will offer their services to get out the vote. The following have agreed to help organize various Precincts:

- Precinct 1
Richard C. Cunningham, 31 Fells Road, W1 6-1971
Roland H. Parker, 118 Forest Street, W1 6-3256

YOUR PUBLIC LIBRARY

Builders, architects, and anyone interested in planning homes will be glad to learn the Winchester Public Library is now subscribing to the Magazine of Building, House and Home. This monthly magazine is published by Time Incorporated and contains articles of interest concerning developments in the architectural and building fields. There are illustrations throughout, emphasizing especially the modern trend in building, which are a wonderful source of inspiration for those looking for new ideas. Colorful pictures of house interiors will appeal to the casual reader. The current issue is kept in the Reference Room and we suggest that you look through "House and Home" next time you are at the library. Copies other than the current issue are now ready for circulation.

Two other magazines already subscribed to by the Public Library should also be kept in mind by those interested in planning and building. "Architectural Record" is published especially for architects and deals not only with houses, but also present plans and suggestions in office buildings, schools and the like. Again, the illustrations make this magazine interesting to the layman as well as to the professional architect.

"American City" deals with town and city problems, planning, and progress. If you would like to learn what other communities are doing to solve the problems we may be facing in our own town, this is a good periodical to become acquainted with and read.

HOT FIRE IN CENTER

A hot fire in the annex of the Winchester News Company on Thompson street was the cause for an alarm from box 23 Thursday night at nine o'clock. The one story metal building, used for storage and collection of papers, is thought to have been set on fire.

The blaze was discovered by fire fighters James Nolan and Hugh Skerry, who were out selling tickets for the fire fighters ball. They were crossing the Commons and saw the red hot metal roof across the railroad tracks. Owing to the passage of a freight train, they were delayed in reaching the scene. After the train passed they ran to the fire, notifying officer John Reardon on their way. He in turn called the department. For a time the blaze was the hottest the fire fighters have encountered in a long time, as the flames were confined in the metal building and the fire evidently had a good start before discovery.

When water was turned on the building, hot steam enveloped everything, making it difficult to even approach the structure. Several thousand dollars damage was done to goods stored in the one story building and to the counter fittings.

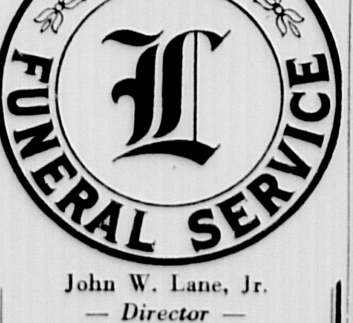

Last Friday afternoon the Fire Department was called to put out a dump fire off Loring avenue. The heavy rain of Sunday cut down the fire-fighters activity, but Monday afternoon at 4:18 there was a grass fire on Methodist Church land at School and Dix streets. Box 7-55 was put on for this fire.

THE SENIOR FORUM

The Annual Spring Trip of the Senior Forum will take place on April 14, 15 and 16. This year the trip will consist of three separate day tours to interesting and historical places in Boston.

On Monday, April 14, the Forum will visit the Christian Science Publishing House, the famous Mapparium, and will view the Christian Science Mother Church. The rest of that day will be spent in Chinatown attending a Chinese Fair, banquet and a tour of the new Chinese Merchant Building. On Tuesday, April 15, the agenda includes a trip to the John Hancock Building, to the New Court House to visit the trial courts in session, a stop at King's Chapel, lunch at Durgin Park, and an afternoon at the Boston Navy Yard. Wednesday morning, April 16, will be spent at the Science Museum and Planetarium, followed by lunch at the Old Oyster House. The afternoon will be spent at the State House where, under the guidance of Representative Harrison Chadwick, the Forum will witness the Senate and House of Representatives in session. A visit to the beautiful Boston University Chapel will conclude the day.

The number of Forum members who will participate in these trips will be thirty-three for each day. They will be accompanied on Monday by Mrs. Richard M. Rush, Mrs. Ross Cunningham, and Mrs. Harvey Macaulay; on Tuesday by Mrs. Thomas M. Hill, Mr. Richard M. Rush and Rev. Lawrence Smith; and on Wednesday by Mrs. Paul Nason, Mrs. Dana Sawyer and Mrs. Ralph Swan.

HONORARY CHAIRMAN OF ANNUAL COMMUNION BREAKFAST

Mrs. John Falla, of 306 Washington street, as President of the Alumnae of Girls Catholic High School, Malden, is serving as Honorary Chairman of the annual Communion Breakfast to be held on Sunday morning, April 20th, in Columbus Hall, following the nine o'clock Mass at the Immaculate Conception Church, Malden.

The Reverend Leo E. Conlin, C. S. B. of St. Ann's Church, Back Bay, will be speaker. Friends and relatives of the Alumnae have been invited to the traditional gathering by Mrs. John Treanor and Mrs. Robert J. Lee, both of Medford, who are serving as Co-Chairmen.

MAURICE L. HATCH

NEW MANAGER OF ARLINGTON GAS COMPANY

At a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Arlington Gas Light Company, Mr. Newell A. Clark resigned as president and will devote full time as principal officer of various electric companies in the New England Electric System north of Boston.

This change is in line with the recent announcement that Edward G. Twohey would head the new division recently established within the System for the operation of their 14 Massachusetts gas companies.

Mr. Twohey has announced that: Robert H. Patterson and W. King Murray, who have been assistants to Mr. Clark, become assistants to the president of all gas companies in the gas division. They will have their headquarters in Malden.

Everett C. Bryant, former Vice President and Manager of the Arlington Gas Company, becomes Vice President and Manager of the Malden and Melrose Company and Vice President of the Arlington Gas Light Company and the Suburban Gas and Electric Company.

As such, Mr. Bryant will have general supervision of all gas operations of these companies. Maurice L. Hatch becomes Manager of the Arlington Gas Light Company, which serves gas to the communities of Arlington, Belmont, Lexington, Winchester and Woburn. Mr. Hatch's headquarters will be in Arlington.

Mr. Hatch first became associated with the Arlington Company in 1911. He served in various capacities until 1928 when he was appointed Office Manager, which is the position he held until his recent promotion to Manager. He is also a director of the company, having first been elected in 1942.

He has always been active in civic affairs and is at present Treasurer of Symmes Arlington Hospital, a member of Selective Service Board No. 16, Arlington Kiwanis Club, Arlington Chamber of Commerce, New England Gas Association and a incorporator of the Arlington Five Cent Savings Bank.

He is married and he and Mrs. Hatch make their home at 20 Davenport avenue, Arlington. Of their six children, three sons and one daughter are married and two sons are presently attending the University of Massachusetts.

MARVCLIFF GUILD

The regular meeting of the Marvcliff Guild will be held at the Academy in Winchester on Tuesday evening, April 15th at 8:00 p. m. Mrs. Laura Cochran, President, Director of the John Robert Power School will be the distinguished guest speaker and her topic will be "Secrets of the Powers Girls". The Plummer Sisters of Medford will render many lovely selections and readings.

Chairman of the evening will be Mrs. Joseph O'Marah of Malden assisted by Miss Ann Connor and Mesdames Thomas Ryan, Joseph Welch, Arthur Murphy, Robert Luick, James Hagan, John Bennett, Ernest Vogle, William Arsenault and Harry L. Campbell. Refreshments will be served and an evening of entertainment is on hand for all who attend.

Mrs. William Moynihan, President, will preside over entire program.

"HARVEY" HERE APRIL 24, 25 and 26

"Harvey" written by Mary Chase, will be presented by The Parish Players on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, April 24, 25 and 26, at 8:30 o'clock promptly, in the Little Theatre Beneath a Spire, First Congregational Church. Mr. Harlan F. Grant, Director of the Drama Department, Boston Conservatory of Music, will direct the play.

Whether you are easily bewitched or not, whether you believe in fantasy still, you will find yourself actually on friendly terms with "Harvey" as this play. He's a great white rabbit, over six feet tall with enormous pink ears, and he wears a bow tie. Just look for Dr. F. Milne Blanchard — and you'll find Harvey there too. Why? Oh, because "Doc" is playing the part of Elwood P. Dowd (the Frank Fay role) and of course, there couldn't be an Elwood without Harvey there too! makes a delightfully gay and charming comedy for audiences of all ages.

The performance on Thursday night will benefit the Rotary Club's "Little League Baseball team". If you have any questions about Little League or getting to Rotary Night at the Parish Players, call any Rotarian, or Al Elliott himself.

Mrs. Simmons, Elwood's erratic sister, is played by Marian T. Blake (this is the Josephine Hull role), and her daughter, Myrtle Mae, is Constance Bond Hessler. Mrs. John B. Willis enacts the dowager Mrs. Chauvenet, and Henry Pitts is Dr. Sanderson; George E. Connor is Judge Omar Gaffney.

Finn Bockmann, who was with the Players two years ago, takes the comedy role of Wilson; a newcomer to the Players, Kendall H. Johnson of Woburn, has the part of Dr. Chumley. Judy Brown is Miss Kelly, Miss Gail Davenport is Mrs. Chumley; and R. Ashley Lewis is the taxi driver, Lofgren. Mrs. Otis Hammett is chairman of production.

SERVICEMEN AT HOME

The Star had a visit Monday from three servicemen home on brief leave from their duties with the armed services.

Heading the trio was Sgt. Major Frank Maraballa, former Winchester High School football tackle who has been in the service since 1947. Frank or "Mara", as he was better known in his football days, is attached to the Medical Corps and has been stationed at the Portsmouth Naval Hospital, Portsmouth, Va., and more recently at Valley Forge Army Hospital, Phoenixville, Pa. He has now been assigned to four months temporary duty in Greenland and will leave soon for that far northern base.

With Frank at the Star office Monday were his brother, Pfc. Dominic Maraballa, and Pfc. Dominic Suppa, both attached to the United States Air Force.

Pfc. Maraballa has been in the service for six months and recently completed a tech school course at Oklahoma A. & M. at Stillwater, Oklahoma. He has received a foreign duty assignment and leaves soon for duty in Europe.

Pfc. Suppa, like the older Maraballa, played in the line on the football team while at high school, returning for a post graduate course after completing his regular work, during which time he helped coach the freshman eleven and held the sticks at all the varsity football games. He and his famous cigar were well known to local fans.

Suppa, after completing five months at technical school at Bowling Green State University in Ohio, has been assigned to Headquarters of the 12th Air Rescue Squadron. His luck still holds, apparently, for the 12th Air Rescue Squadron is presently located at Palm Beach, Florida, and Suppa claims it is very nice indeed at Palm Beach right now!

SNOW TIRES STOLEN

Police Headquarters was notified last Friday morning that two snow-tires had been stolen from the rear trunk of an automobile at the home of Mr. Thomas M. Vinson, 195 High street.

Mrs. Vinson told the police that the tires had been removed from the car by an Arlington man, who had put them in the trunk of the machine. Police found no signs of jimmying the car trunk, but the glove compartment of the machine had been forced open and the contents strewn about the front seat of the car.

TRUCK TIPPED OVER

Vincent Vigliotte of 16 Hooper street, Chelsea, had a narrow escape from serious injury last Friday afternoon when the truck he was driving on Lockland road running from High to Ridge streets, sank in the soft earth around a newly installed manhole and tipped over.

The truck, owned by A. V. Tauasi of Somerville, was loaded with approximately 700 gallons of gasoline and 900 gallons of fuel oil.

Robert Costello of the Water Department notified the Fire Headquarters of the accident and a pump was sent to Lockland road, the crew laying a line of hose in the event of fire.

Fortunately no fire developed from the accident and workers succeeded in righting the truck. Vigliotte miraculously escaped injury.

COUNTRY CLUB NOTES

Last year's success with the tennis week for children during the spring vacation has prompted the Winchester Country Club to repeat this event this year, commencing Saturday, April 12 and continuing through Saturday, April 19.

Cory Wynn, Harvard freshman tennis coach, has been engaged to handle this year's sessions as he did a year ago when an average of 35 boys and girls were at the club courts each morning.

Coach Wynn will be at the club courts Saturday morning April 12, and all youngsters interested should be on hand at nine o'clock to register. Groups will then be arranged for each morning of the following week, with both group and individual instruction being available.

Coach Wynn will be at the courts each Saturday morning until the middle of June for group and individual instruction and it is expected that women members who would like group instruction on week-day mornings can make arrangements to get it by contacting Mr. Wynn.

The Club's Spring Formal will be held Saturday evening, April 19, with dancing from 9 p. m. to one o'clock. Ruby Newman's Orchestra will play and the dining room will be open for those wishing dinner. Reservations must be made early both for dinner and dancing.

SPORTS ASSEMBLY
HONORS BASKETBALL TEAM

Winchester High School's undefeated basketball team was honored by the student body at an A. A. assembly on March 28. Introducing Coach Bartlett as the man who had done the most to build a championship team, A. A. president Earl Carrier reminded his audience that our basketball victories were part of a tremendous athletic record being compiled by the class of '52.

In awarding the letters, Coach Bartlett paid a special tribute to each of the eight seniors who composed his team — Captain John Dilorio, John Farrell, Doug Hawkins, Stowell Symmes, Rodney Long, Peter Coon, Charlie Murphy and Bob Forester. Stu Thomson also received a varsity award. Bart then expressed his appreciation to all those who helped make the season a success — to Coach Knowlton for his invaluable assistance, to Trainer Goddard, to the loyal cheerleaders, to Fred Felmet and the band, and to many others.

When the strapping big team of Jayvees stepped up to receive its letters, Coach Bartlett remarked that its size and speed augured well for the future. The junior varsity, which was undefeated throughout the regular season, lost only to Portsmouth when it was without the services of Stu Thomson and Norm Howard.

In accepting the plaque emblematic of the Class B Championship, Mr. John Stevens spoke for Mr. Grindle, who was unable to be present. Mr. Stevens expressed the deep pride of the entire school in the accomplishments of this year's team. Another presentation, eagerly awaited by the student body, was of the trophy given by Jack Chitel for the player voted most outstanding by his teammates. Bart finally ended the suspense by announcing the winner was Doug Hawkins. Following this came the announcement by John Dilorio that the team had elected Stu Thomson and Frank Carleton as co-captains for next season.

Though the "famous eight" were the center of attention, as they rightly deserved, other school athletes received their share of recognition. Coach Knowlton awarded letters to a good Freshman team. A newcomer to WHS coaching ranks was Bob Mills who this year coached the hockey team through an undefeated season. Though Bob stated the only other time when he had appeared on the stage was in a vaudeville show, he gave a good account of himself and his team. Next year's hockey captain will be Curt Ryan.

LITTLE LEAGUE RECEIVES LARGE GIFT

Bill Roop, owner of the Genbill Toy Stores in Winchester and Melrose, presenting over $400.00 worth of official Little League baseballs and bats for use of the four Winchester Little League teams to Little League Directors Lew Wansky and Ed Cullen at the Genbill Toy Store, 282 Washington street (near Winchester Arms Apartments). This generous gift of enough baseballs and bats for the whole league for the entire season is the largest single contribution for the Little League boys received to date. Mr. Roop is aware that healthy, busy boys are one of the best assets of a fine community like Winchester, consequently, he volunteered this unsolicited gift for the benefit of the boys and Winchester.

The Little League Board of Directors is extremely grateful for this philanthropic support of their efforts to make Winchester Little League outstanding. There will be a meeting of the Little League Directors and Managers Monday evening, April 14, at the home of Edward C. Cullen, 233 M. V. Parkway at 8 o'clock.

FORMER WINCHESTER COACH HAD UNBEATEN SEASON

Winchester's unbeaten basketball season, which ran to 25 straight games, was almost equalled by Lake Forest Academy, Lake Forest, Ill., a team coached by a former assistant coach at Winchester High School back in the days when Wendell Mansfield was Director of Athletics here and head coach of football, basketball and baseball. Along around 1933, if memory serves, at least it was before the eventful day during the middle of that year when Ted Bartlett came to Winchester. Coach Mansfield was being assisted by one Robert Friery, an Arlington boy and graduate of the Stroudsburg Teachers' College.

Bob was known familiarly as "Shadow" and was well liked while in Winchester, but like many another well liked young coach, he absorbed a lot of "know-how" from Coach Mansfield and moved along to new fields.

For some time now he has been coaching football and basketball at Lake Forest Academy, and for the past three years, like Ted Bartlett at Winchester, he had been building for this past season, when he, like Coach Bartlett, hit the jackpot.

Coach Friery's team won 24 straight games this past season, including the prep-school invitation tourney out in his neck of woods. "Shadow" writes that he has heard all about Coach Bartlett's great team at Winchester this year, and feels it must indeed have been a super-team to have won from a neighboring State Class A Championship Team with four regulars missing. He modestly admits his team could have done nothing like that.

However, winning twenty-four straight isn't too dusty going, and Winchester sports followers who remember Coach Friery will be glad to extend him their heartiest congratulations.

As for Coach Mansfield, he is commencing to wonder what is wrong with a system that lets a head coach worry along through the years with an occasional winning season, let alone an unbeaten year, and at the same time permits that head coach's late assistants to win 24 and 25 straight games respectively. One thing, of which we are sure, is that nowhere is there anyone happier over the success of his erstwhile assistants than that same Mansfield. We are also inclined to think that none of his assistants would pick "Manny" as a particularly soft touch to compete against, at least from the coaching angle. No one works with, or for Mansfield without imbibing a most wholesome respect for his profound athletic savvy. Nor is that respect, we might add, at all misplaced.

A number of churches this coming Sunday are presenting an Easter play written by Mrs. George E. Connor of Winchester, (E. Harriett Donlevy), "The Other Cross", among them the Prospect Congregational Church in Cambridge. The play, published by Baker's, is the story of John, the man on the other cross, as seen through the eyes of his widow, his mother, and his neighbors.

CONFLICTING STORIES

Shortly before 6 o'clock last Saturday evening the police were called to the Esso Filling Station at the corner of Main and Park streets.

Officers Henry Dempsey and Winthrop Palmer found at the filling station two sailors attached to the Naval Shore Patrol in Boston. They told the police their car had been almost driven from the road by another automobile while on the way here from Medford, and that the occupants of the second car had threatened the sailors with bodily harm.

The number of the car had been secured and it was found to be registered to a Stoneham man. The Stoneham police were contacted and as a result of their activity the owner of the car came to local headquarters.

His story was that his car had narrowly missed a collision in Medford with another automobile in which two girls were riding with two sailors. One of the sailors had words with the Stoneham man, and he had followed their car to Winchester. The police contemplated no further action in the matter.

IT'S FIRE FIGHTERS NOW

According to recent orders from the high command, members of the Fire Department, always known as "firemen," will bear that title no longer. Henceforth they will be known as "fire fighters." And make no mistake about that!

GOOD LUCK, SGT. BOYSON!

The Star is sure it speaks for all the boys of military age and for their parents, as well as for the members of the Winchester Military Manpower Committee when it extends congratulations and best wishes to Sgt. Edward Boyson, station commander of the Medford Recruiting Station, who is leaving to attend Officer Candidate School at Fort Benning, Ga. During the time Sgt. Boyson has been associated with local recruiting he has been instrumental in sending many Winchester boys to find the place in the armed services best suited to them, offering invariably advice that has been sound and motivated by a genuine desire to do the best thing for the boy, for his family and for the service. Many in Winchester have appreciated Sgt. Boyson's help, which, we are told by the Chairman of the local Military Manpower Committee, has been invaluable, alike to the boys and the town. All interested in the boys who are facing the difficult days of adjustment to duty with the armed services learn of Sgt. Boyson's leaving the local recruiting office with real regret. Good luck, Sgt. Boyson!

Few who attend affairs at which high school pupils perform before the public have the faintest conception of the actual labor on the part of some coach or teacher that goes to make the finished product possible. A case in point is the school Vaudeville Show held last Friday and Saturday evenings, in which perhaps half of the student body participated in one way or another. Those sitting in the audience as the show is run may have realized vaguely, some of them, that it must be "quite a job" to direct a production of such magnitude and run it at all, let alone run it as smoothly as it is run year after year! The efforts of a lot of people go into the Vaudeville Show, which the school people themselves consider the biggest single student activity of each and every year. Everyone who helps deserves his or her meed of praise for the success of the show, but the real palm must go to the show director, that genius of organization and judge of potential success, Ray V. Hayward. How he has produced any one show and preserved his sanity, those close to the multi-tudinous details and unpredictable young people involved find it hard to understand! How he has managed to produce twenty consecutive vaudeville shows, only he knows and yet that is exactly what he has done. This year's show marked his twentieth anniversary as Vaudeville Show director. His memories of those 20 years would be something, though probably all you would get, if you were to ask "Raymie" about them, would be the word "terrific", once repeated. He wouldn't have the energy left to repeat it twice! What we are trying to say in all this is that when you are recalling the outstanding jobs done by high school faculty members during the past twenty years, don't forget the Vaudeville Show and "Raymie" Hayward. His job with this particular activity has been by no means the least of the excellent extra-curricular jobs done by the teaching staff. As a matter of fact, it comes pretty near topping the entire list. Congratulations, "Ray", on your twentieth anniversary, for a wonderful job done this year and every year. Really, only you know how wonderful! And may you once again next year reconsider and run the show "once more!" After all, no one can do it like you!

MUSICAL QUIZ!

Editor of the Star:
Do you qualify for one of the following categories?

Are you appreciative of good music?
Do you enjoy a fine concert given by youthful and enthusiastic musicians?

Are you a supporter of the unusual opportunities offered our Winchester School children by the gifted and devoted staff of our Winchester music department?

Do you keep abreast of the unusual musical development that has been taking place in the past six years in the Winchester Schools?

Then you won't want to miss the Spring Concert by the Orchestra, Glee Club and the Winchester High School on Friday evening, April 25 at 8:00 p. m.

This fine concert and its recent predecessors are no mushroom growth. Rather they are the result of years of work, foresighted planning, and musical training on the part of our present music department. Those who have attended this concert for the past few years will be favorably impressed by the high musical quality of the performances as well as by the fine spirit and enthusiasm of the boys and girls.

Members of the vocal and instrumental groups from Winchester High School who have participated in the State Music Festivals sponsored by the Massachusetts Music Educators' Association each year have consistently won the highest ratings offered and have received considerable praise from the judges in these festivals. Their playing and singing as well as their fine singing have been a source of credit to the town as well as to the schools.

Every school district in Winchester is represented in the orchestra, band, and glee clubs. The aim of the music department has been to offer membership in these groups to all students in the school system who have talent and interest. Each year two or three instruments are being added to those already owned by the school department. The money for these is provided for from various sources: school funds, the generosity of En Ka, the children's Music Group, the Friends of the Winchester Bands and Orchestras, and from various other civic-minded citizens and organizations. This combined interest will mean that eventually every Winchester child who is interested in music will have an opportunity to participate in one of the instrumental groups.

The proceeds from this concert will be used to replenish the High School Music Fund. This fund is used to pay the expenses of the groups from the High School and Junior High School who will take part in the Northeastern Massachusetts Music Festival in Everett on May 3.

Two factors are necessary for a good concert: well-trained performers, plus an enthusiastic audience. These boys and girls deserve your support. Why not show them how you feel about their fine work by being present at the High School Auditorium on April 25?

Editor of the Star:
While away from Winchester for almost four years, I have had many enjoyable moments reading the Star, and I have obtained most of my general town information therein. However, during this time the news has been blighted by stupidly prejudiced letters on the railroad crossing under such misguided headings as "The True Friends of Winchester," etc.

I have not been in a position to study many of the problem's facets completely, but after reading letter after letter, I am convinced that few people in Winchester have studied the problem sincerely enough to offer an opinion. After reading Mr. Fletcher's letter, "A Few Points to Consider," I was prompted to write the Star commending him on the first sensible letter written to date on the subject of the railroad crossing. His was the first letter I can recall (and there have been many) which has been written on this subject from a sane and experienced point of view. I think that if the town of Winchester threw away everything that has been written on this subject prior to Mr. Fletcher's letter, we would have a firm, intelligent and unbiased foundation on which to base all future considerations.

The problem for the people of Winchester to solve is not, and should not be an engineering one. Most of us are not qualified, and there are a great many competent firms with experience in this field with the ability to design the proper scheme once a clear decision is reached. The people's job is to clearly state the problem, and study it with an eye to the future, so that once a solution is reached it will need no further alterations. The statement of the problem is simple: "To Alleviate the Congestion in Winchester Center." All other problems, such as deaths due to the crossing, long waits at the railroad gates, traffic lights and parking are all dependent upon the problem stated above and will be solved when the congestion is alleviated.

From the few facts I have gleaned by reading the Star, none of the proposed plans successfully solve the problem. I do feel that a plan involving the revamping of Washington street as a main route is worthy of serious consideration. The junction of Mount Vernon and Washington streets represents a neat intersection, and the old Skillings Estate and the condemned Wadleigh Building are fine prospective building locations. There have been rumors that the town hall is to be revised or rebuilt, which would give the town a good chance to alter the entire area into a model intersection incorporating the "main route" north.

Possibly I never should have stepped into this discussion, but I did want to write and commend Mr. Fletcher on his very sensible letter. If I have a case that is to rest, it is only that I hope the people of Winchester will think clearly, deeply and futuristically before reaching a decision.

We have made too many mistakes in the past due to jobs half done. I only hope that we are not laying the foundation for another mistake that we will be forced to live with.

Sincerely,
Ken Wright

OPEN HOUSE FOR SGT. AND MRS. EDWARD BOYSON

Editor of the Star:

It is with personal regret that the Military Manpower Committee learns we are about to lose Sgt. Edward Boyson, Station Commander of the Medford Recruiting Station. Sgt. Boyson leaves to attend Officer Candidate School at Ft. Benning, Ga. The writer is not only losing her right arm, but the town as a whole is losing a loyal friend. We are in a position to know of the endless patience shown our young men, the careful supervision of their enlistments and the many extra hours of work put in by Sgt. Boyson.

In order that the parents of men who have gone through the Medford Station may show their appreciation to Sgt. Boyson, the Military Manpower Committee, assisted by parents who are members of the Homefronters, will hold Open House on Tuesday, April 15th from 8-9 p. m. at the home of the writer, 91 Mystic Valley Parkway. You are most cordially invited to come in and meet Sgt. Boyson and his commanding officers and wish him good luck. He certainly deserves it and we feel sure the town will cooperate.

It is always a pleasure to be able to say to the taxpayers, most sincerely, "here is where your dollars are receiving 100% return." In my four years experience with Sgt. Boyson I have found this to be very true and certainly this is important in the Armed Forces.

The Military Manpower Committee and the Medford Recruiting Station work as a team. If you feel our work has been satisfactory please demonstrate it by joining us on the evening of April 15th.

Cordially yours,
G. Toye, Chairman
Military Manpower Committee

NO, NO, RAY!

Editor of the Star:

Having been actively associated with the Winchester High School Vaudeville Show for the past twenty years, many of them as director, I feel that I can say with some authority that this project has become a worthwhile one in many ways. Perhaps most important of all, it provides an opportunity for boys and girls from all parts of the town to work together toward a common goal. During the past three months of rehearsals and planning they discover qualities to admire in school mates with whom they may have had little contact before. The importance of working together to work hard, to accept criticism and suggestion cheerfully are qualities which are emphasized as over one hundred students work with many of their teachers toward developing a show each year that will be "the best yet." It also provides an opportunity for self expression to many students whose talents might otherwise remain hidden or undeveloped.

It is with both regret and relief that I am giving up the directing of the Vaudeville Show, and I cannot do so without publicly acknowledging the loyal and constant support of Henry Knowlton, Helen Carroll, Eleanor Anfantis, Margaret Derro, Tom Morse, Dan O'Donnell, Louise Conner, Paul Goodrich, Ricky Ives, many fine stage crews, and countless others among the students and alumni who have done so much to make the shows successful. I am grateful to all of them and I am very much embarrassed that so much of the public credit for the show has been given to me and so little to the way they really do the work.

Finally, I want to say that in my opinion there is no other town in the United States where you can find a finer and more cooperative group of boys and girls to work with than we have here in Winchester High School. In spite of real handicaps this year, they all pulled together and produced a good show. I am proud to be identified with them.

NEW MEMBERS OF MILITARY MANPOWER COMMITTEE

Editor of the Star:

The Winchester Military Manpower Committee takes great pleasure in announcing the appointment of Mr. James H. Fenaligan and Mr. Charles A. Murphy as members of the Committee.

The writer has been informed that the Board of Selectmen has appointed Mr. Charles T. Main, 2nd to represent the Selectmen on the Military Manpower Committee as an ex-officio member. We welcome Mr. Main and the cooperation of the Board of Selectmen.

The writer wishes to repeat to these new members, and the townspeople as a whole, a point brought out at a recent meeting of the Committee. After conferences with several hundred young men in our area, we are convinced that the future of our country will be safe in the hands of the fine young men coming before us. Once the confused situations facing them are explained, these young men listen to advice and then resolutely set about making their own decisions. The writer is extremely proud of them.

Very truly yours,
G. Toye, Chairman

Military Manpower Committee

WINCHESTER — WAKE UP!

Editor of the Star:

If we have a bridge through our center there will be a mile upgrade approach on each end of the bridge for trains to whistle, puff and groan on to get up to the bridge.

It will be heard two miles away. I lived in Arlington when the bridge in Belmont was built and we could always hear the trains as plainly as though we lived right beside the track.

I am a newcomer to this lovely town and I like trains. We choose to live near them. Everybody so and so has an opinion when the ballot is ready.

What do the railroad men in our town say?

$5,000 LOCAL CANCER GOAL

The Winchester committee for the 1952 Cancer Crusade of the Massachusetts Division of the American Cancer Society was reminded today by Henry J. Nichols, state chairman, that the community campaign goal of $5,000 is vitally essential to the success of the drive.

This goal represents the community's proportional share in the $500,000 state campaign goal being sought during April to continue education and research in the fight to conquer cancer.

Already, contributions are being sought from local residents in the effort to reduce cancer's death toll and eventually to discover the disease's cause and cure.

In a general statement to all chairmen of local committees, Henry J. Nichols, state chairman of this year's Cancer Crusade urged that every effort be made to meet community campaign goals. "Here in Massachusetts we have particular reason to feel a personal responsibility for the success of the cancer campaign aside from its obvious life and saving appeal. For, as one of the research centers of the United States, our Commonwealth annually is allotted almost as much money as is raised here for cancer research in our hospitals and laboratories."

WASHINGTON TRIP ASSURED

Looked-For Late Contributions to Put Fund Over

Though the fund being raised to send the Winchester High School championship basketball team to Washington next Tuesday is still shy of the $1,500 goal, the committee was optimistic yesterday that late contributions would swell the sum to the necessary amount.

Contributions are still necessary and may be sent to the Trip Fund Treasurer, President Leslie J. Scott of the Winchester National Bank. Plans are also being made by the committee for private solicitation which it is expected, with the contributions that are still coming in to raise the fund to the wanted $1,500.

All persons who have delayed contributing to the fund, are urged to do so at once so that all doubts of raising the sum necessary can be removed at the earliest moment possible.

HEADS CIVIL DEFENSE

The Selectmen have appointed Lester C. Gustin, Jr., deputy director of Civil Defense, to serve as interim director, filling the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Director James W. Blackham. Active in the local defense organization, Mr. Gustin was reluctant to accept an appointment as our right director because of being in the Army active reserve. The Selectmen have also appointed Miss Ruth M. Leland as clerk in the Civil Defense office.

MISS RUSSELL HEADS HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Miss Clara R. Russell was re-elected president of the Winchester Historical Society at the annual meeting held Saturday afternoon in the Gallery, Winchester Public Library. Frank E. Crawford was named first vice-president; Charles E. Gallagher, second vice-president; Mrs. George E. Connor, secretary; Miss Jean MacLellan, curator; Miss Laura B. Tolman, treasurer.

Directors for one year were elected as follows: Miss Louise Bancroft, Mrs. Arthur A. Belville, Arthur Noyes, James Nowell, Leon Sargent, Francis E. Smith, Roland Simonds, Marshall W. Symmes, and Mrs. John B. Wills. The report of the nominating committee, which included Mrs. T. T. Greenwood, Mrs. Rony Snyder and Miss Eleanor Bancroft, was accepted.

In the absence of Miss Russell, who is in the Winchester Hospital after a serious operation, Mr. Crawford presided on Saturday. Annual reports from the secretary, Mrs. George E. Connor; the treasurer, Miss Laura B. Tolman; and Miss Jean MacLellan, curator; notice of the Bay State League meeting on May 17 was announced by Miss Bancroft, who also presented the report of the nominating committee, in the absence of Mrs. Greenwood.

Miss Lillian Pattinson, a Dorchester school teacher, was the speaker of the afternoon, and gave a most informal and delightful talk on "History Through Glass," showing some of the examples from her own large collection. She gave a brief outline of history through glass, showing how the first glass that we know of is dated some 70,000 years ago when the first volcano erupted — glass that looks much like quartz. Down through the ages, true glass has been made, and excavations in India and in the Holy Land have brought forth some interesting specimens. After 300 B. C., man discovered how to make glass by means of the blow pipe.

Miss Pattinson brought her history near to our own time and locale by speaking of the early Salem glass (bottles and window glass mostly), the Cambridge, Somerville and Sandwich glass works. She spoke of the many types of glass, and laid special stress on her favorite glass, the iridescent glass. From there, she explained the pieces she had brought with her, some outstanding ones of Tiffany, Premium, and other iridescent glass, as well as amberina, pomona, burmese, peach-blow, and other familiar but rather costly pieces.

Her exhibit of fine old bottles, of many ages, many types, and all good pieces for a collector, was of keen interest to her audience, as was the table covered with the Victorian glass. She was a good speaker, and one who generously shared with others on Saturday her splendid hobby of glass collecting.

Wednesday evening's alarm from Box 28 was for what was believed to be a fire at the old Bacon Farm Mill on Grove place. Smoke was seen issuing from the closed building, and the police were notified. They in turn notified the Fire Department, who put on the Box at the Station. The firemen found that the smoke was coming from a chimney and from rubbish that had been burning in a heater during the day by the watchman.

COLONEL WOOLLEY HONORED

A recent clipping from the Wiesbaden, Germany, American paper contains an interesting article in praise of a former well known Winchester man, now a Colonel with the American forces. Colonel Charles H. Woolley and his wife have many friends here, made during their long term of residence. Until last year Col. Woolley was stationed in Washington, and Mrs. Woolley has recently left to join him in Paris.

The article follows: WIESBADEN, March 26 (Special). Two USAFCE colonels were honored here today, one for his efforts in an atomic test and the other for his work in behalf of military housing.

A first Oak Leaf Cluster to a Legion of Merit went to Col. Charles H. Woolley, currently a housing expediter in Paris, and a commendation ribbon went to Col. Charles A. Thorpe, a communications chief in Wiesbaden. The honors were presented by Maj. Gen. Truman H. Landon, USAFCE deputy CG.

Col. Woolley, 56, of Washington, is credited with unifying the Armed Forces behind housing proposals which ultimately resulted in the Wherry Housing Act.

He initiated a privately financed housing program for the Air Force as chief of the realty requirements and utilization division at USAF Headquarters.

His original Legion of Merit was for his work as liaison officer in establishing the South Atlantic air ferry route early in World War II. Thorpe, 39, of Montgomery, Ala., obtained his award for his work as head of AF communications, in 1950 and 1951, on "Operation Greenhouse," an atomic test at Eniwetok.

MOTORISTS TO SAVE BY PROPOSED BILL

Representative Henry E. Keenan of Arlington, after consultation with Registrar of Motor Vehicles, Rudolph King, has filed legislation to correct the charge of a double registration fee being charged on early registrations as the result of legislation passed last year.

Automobiles who filed their applications early in 1951 and then either moved or changed their car were charged a dollar and a half for the transfer and then were charged a dollar and a half on the transfer of their 1952 blank that they filed early. If this new law goes into effect, early registrants in 1952 will not be charged this extra transfer fee on their 1953 applications. This will result in a saving to those who have filed early in order to protect their low numbers, and those who wish to avoid the last minute rush at the Registry.

Serving the "Little Customer"

The oft-heard criticism that banks are not interested in providing service for the "little customer, the one who can't afford to maintain more than a small deposit balance, is answered effectively by data developed by the Country Bank Operations Commission of the American Bankers Association in a cost analysis study of over 4000 small and medium-sized banks. This study discloses that about one-third of the checking accounts in these banks have balances less than $100, while almost one-fourth of these accounts have balances of less than $50. Bank service is for every member of the community who can use it to advantage. Large or small we shall be glad to welcome your account at our bank. Start one now.

Taft Will Win!

There is general agreement that our country is in serious danger both from Soviet Communism and from weakness within the Government. This makes the coming election one of extreme importance.

The Presidential Primary will be held on Tuesday, April 29th, in Winchester. At that time we will elect the delegates who, in turn, will nominate our Republican choice at Chicago.

It is important to get all the information you can on each candidate.

Make your decision for the MAN BEST QUALIFIED by BACKGROUND, by EXPERIENCE in GOVERNMENT and VOTE GETTING ABILITY.

I sincerely believe Senator Robert A. Taft meets these qualifications and respectfully request your vote for the Taft slate.

EASTER SUNRISE SERVICE
There is nothing quite as inspiring or uplifting as the glorious spectacle of a new day breaking in magnificent silence upon the world! In such a stirring atmosphere on Easter morn, the young people and adults of the community will have the opportunity this year of celebrating the resurrection of Christ. Through the interdenominational efforts of the youth of Winchester aided by the fine cooperation of certain citizens, an Easter Sunrise Service has been planned to be held at 6 o'clock on the grounds of the Winchester Country Club on a site selected both for its vantage and its proximity to the parking facilities of the Club.

If, by chance, the weather is not as beautiful as the occasion we are meeting to celebrate, the exercises will be held at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church.

A fine and refreshing service has been planned, with Dr. Forbes Norris delivering the message of the morning. It is sincerely urged that everyone who is able attend to stimulate exercise, for it is felt that those who come will find themselves repaid ten-fold; while those who neglect to participate will regret their negligence.

MRS. LUCY A. FOX
Mrs. Lucy A. Fox of 49 Vine street, widow of Walter Fox and retired cashier of the Winchester Theatre, died Wednesday night, April 9, at the Winchester Hospital after a brief illness. She was admitted to the hospital on the Saturday preceding her death.

Mrs. Fox was the daughter of Thomas and Annie Smythe. She was born in Cambridge, March 4, 1877, and spent most of her life in that city and in Boston, coming to Winchester in 1942. She was cashier of the Winchester Theatre for 10 years until her retirement last July. Her husband died in Boston in 1927, and she leaves no immediate family.

Christian Science funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Lane Funeral Home by Mr. Edward R. Simpson of this town. Burial will be in the Lowell Cemetery.

Visiting hours at the Funeral Home on Friday will be from 3 to 5 and from 7 to 9 p. m.

MRS. WILLIAM HENRY FOSS
Mrs. Lillian Gray Foss, wife of William Henry Foss of Winchester, died Tuesday evening, April 18, at the Arnold Home in Stoneham, following a long illness.

Mrs. Foss was born in South Boston March 9, 1871, the daughter of Hollis R. and Mary (Stubbins) Gray. On September 25, 1899, she and Mr. Foss were married in Malden and came to Winchester in 1909, living for some years on Symmes road, and later on Lewis road and at the Winchester Arms.

Mrs. Foss was formerly active in the Unitarian Church and was for many years a member of the Fortnightly Women's Club.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Foss is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Evan A. Kibbe of Winchester; a son, William C. Foss of Chicago, Ill.; and four grandchildren.

Private funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon, April 12, at the Bennett Chapel by the Rev. Robert A. Storer, minister of the Unitarian Church. Interment will be in Forest Dale Cemetery, Malden.

MISS AGNES G. O'HARA

Miss Agnes Genevieve O'Hara of 34 Mystic avenue, a member of one of Winchester's prominent old families, died early Tuesday morning, April 8, at the Lawrence Memorial Hospital in Medford following a long illness.

Miss O'Hara was the daughter of Francis J. and Jane Josephine (Donohue) O'Hara. Her father, a prominent Catholic layman, served the town as a Selectman and as a member of the old appropriations committee and was also vice president of the Winchester National Bank. The bell now hanging in St. Mary's tower was one of his many gifts to the church.

Miss O'Hara was born August 15, 1884, in East Boston and came to Winchester as a girl of six years, her father having bought the estate at 34 Mystic avenue at the corner of the Parkway, which was the family home for more than half a century. Miss O'Hara, who lived to live in the old homestead, made her home there for 62 years until failing health made it necessary for her to be hospitalized. For more than 20 years she was a bookkeeper at the wholesale fish establishment of her father at the Fish Pier in Boston.

Miss O'Hara leaves a sister, Mrs. Edna M. Dan of Brookline, Va., and three brothers, Francis J. of Cumberland Foreside, Maine, William P. of Washington, D. C., and John D. O'Hara of Medford. The funeral will take place from the Lane Funeral Home, the remains being blessed at St. Mary's Church Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Interment was in the family plot in St. Paul's Cemetery, Arlington.

A solemn high pro-burial mass will be celebrated at St. Mary's Church on Wednesday morning, April 16, at 9 o'clock.

LEAVES SONS IN WINCHESTER

Dr. John A. McLean, veteran Somerville physician who died Tuesday, April 8, at the Somerville Hospital, was the father of two well-known Winchester physicians, Dr. John D. McLean and Dr. Donald McLean.

The deceased, a native of Glasgow, made his home at 16 Curtis street, West Somerville. He completed his medical studies at Harvard in 1904 and had practiced in Somerville ever since.

Dr. McLean was a member of the American Medical Society, a member of the board of the Censors of Middlesex South, and a counselor of the American Medical Society. He was on the staffs of the Somerville Hospital, Mr. Auburn Hospital, Cambridge, and the Lawrence Memorial Hospital, Medford.

He was also a member of the Somerville A. M. E. & A. M. E. and the Somerville Royal Arch Chapter, and the Orient Council, Royal and Select Masters, and the Kiwanis. Besides his sons in Winchester, Dr. McLean leaves his wife, Beulah Chaffee, and a son, Dr. E. Allan McLean of Portland, Maine.

Services will be held this Friday afternoon at 2:30 at the West Somerville Baptist Church. Burial will be in Oak Grove Cemetery, Medford.

WOMEN'S COMMITTEE MEETS

A meeting of the Women's Committee for Eisenhower will be held April 16th at 10 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Howard J. Chidley, Fernway, Myopia Hill, Winchester. The speakers will be Representative Christian A. Hertz, Jr., and Delegates from the 5th Congressional District, former Senator Harris S. Richardson, Winchester; General Otis M. Whitney, Concord; Senator Paul R. Achin, Lowell; and Mrs. Mabel S. Barnes. Poursers are — Mrs. William C. Casack, Director of Women's Activities Eisenhower for President; Mrs. James L. Jenks, and Mrs. Robert Prichard. Hostesses are — Mesdames Jonathan N. Mitchell, Martha Porter, George G. Brayley, assisted by the following Precinct Chairmen — Mesdames Albert Thompson, Barbara Clark, George Saltmarsh, Roland Patrick, Harry Easton, Charles Blanchard and Earl Jordan.

KIWANIS MILK FUND BENEFITS

The Kiwanis Milk Fund will benefit when motorists take their cars to Master Motors to obtain inspection stickers, for Saul Garshman, man, owner, has promised to donate every fifty cent inspection fee to the Kiwanis Club for its milk fund.

The fund, which was established during the past year when a survey of public schools in Winchester indicated its need, is under the chairmanship of Joseph Peel. Supplying milk for needy children in local schools will be a permanent Kiwanis project, according to Mr. Peel, who urges all to aid this worthy cause.

MRS. MARGUERITE F. BARTLETT

Mrs. Marguerite Faulkner Bartlett, wife of Ernest W. Bartlett, a former resident of Winchester, died March 10, at her home in Orlando, Fla. She had been ill for a century, but her death was quite sudden and unexpected.

Mrs. Bartlett was the daughter of Sidney Charles, and Caroline (Wright) Faulkner. She was born in 1885 in Winchester, Mass. She came with her parents to Winchester as a girl of four years, and grew up in town, graduating from the old Wadleigh Grammar School in 1909, and from Winchester High School in the class of 1913. While in high school she was a member of the girls' basketball team. The family home in those days was at 310 Main street.

After her graduation Mrs. Bartlett's family moved to Detroit, Mich., and she was married there, spending the greater part of her life in that city and in Florida. She had been living in Orlando for the past five years.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Bartlett leaves two daughters, Mrs. R. W. Boswinkle of Hampton, Va., and Mrs. J. R. Cobb of Brooksville, Fla.; a son, Ernest W. Bartlett, Jr., of Orlando, Fla.; four grandchildren and two brothers, Sydney W. Bartlett of Detroit, Mich., and Winthrop Faulkner of Grosse Pointe, Mich.

Funeral services were held March 12 at the Carey Hand Funeral Chapel in Orlando with interment also in Orlando at Woodlawn Memorial Park.

GIRLS' SOFT BALL PROSPECTS GOOD
Winchester High School's girls soft ball team opened what looks like a most successful season yesterday afternoon with a practice session on Ginn Field. Practice sessions have been called for vacation week on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday mornings, commencing at 10 o'clock and also to be held at Ginn's.

This year's team is strictly a veteran one, with most of the girls available for all positions. Five of this year's candidates played on the 1950 team, giving them two year's experience.

Only one thing seems to stand in the way of a great season and that is the lack of a coach for the team. Helen Carroll, girls' coach at high school, has been handling tennis in the spring, as well as working with the intramural program. As a consequence she has not sufficient time to devote to varsity softball, and would very much like to sign some veteran or older girl with experience to take over the coaching duties.

Such a person would have four practice sessions weekly, which includes games, and will of course be paid for her coaching. Miss Carroll believes there must be in Winchester some one who would like the fun of working with this year's fine group, and urges any interested to contact her, either at high school or at her home on Lincoln street.

WHS, 4; BROWNE AND NICHOLS, 0
Winchester High opened its baseball season with a 4-0 victory over Browne and Nichols at Manchester Field on Wednesday afternoon. The locals did not look impressive, chiefly because they were not hitting, but did get good pitching and played well defensively. Browne and Nichols filled the bases with nobody out in the fourth and again with one out in the eighth but were unable to push their tally.

Charlie Murphy worked four innings on the mound for the Indians, Milton Brown hurled the next three frames, while Charlie DiSilva pitched the eighth.

Next Monday afternoon the Indians open their Middlesex League schedule, playing Wakefield High at Manchester Field. Coach Bartlett is expected to assign the pitching chores to Charlie Murphy, and doubtless will be hoping that his hitters find the range.

FOOD, THEME OF NOONAN SCHOOL ASSEMBLY

As an outgrowth of their social studies work, third grade pupils at the Noonan School recently presented an interesting assembly to their classmates on the subject of "Food."

A group of songs by the entire class opened the program. For their next number a choral speaking group composed of Patricia Abbott, Joan Bolivar, Stuart Poole, Lee Ellen Manzie, Helen Plante, Richard Saurman, Mary Donovan, Marion Nolan, Mary Mortensen, Jean Longiro, and Marcia Ayer recited a poem entitled "Eating."

This was followed by a series of original poems and stories about food. Karen McHugh and Joyce Walden told how the early peoples got their food, while the story of wheat was recounted by Donald Nadeau, Michael Sullivan, Marcia Martell, and Gail Trotton. James Flaherty and Thomas Russo gave reports on corn.

Next a visit to a dairy farm was described by Carolyn Doherty, Victor Cotrone, and Marie Gregory. The story of how maple sugar is secured and prepared was well told by Terence Collins. Among the pupils who recited their original poems were Thomas Treney, Sandra Chamberland, Marie Gregory, Carolyn Doherty, and Donald Nadeau. Interesting descriptions of fruit growing, fishing, and the preparation of frozen foods were presented by Catherine Lizotte, Ralph Marchesi, Lawrence Donlin, and Richard Franson.

To conclude their interesting program, the entire group participated in the dancing of a Virginia Reel.

BOAT CLUB NEWS

The Winchester Boat Club officially opens its 1952 season on Saturday, April 19. Since April 1, however, there has been unusual activity about the clubhouse and grounds. The directors held a meeting April 3, to meet the new steward and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hunt, and were unanimously enthusiastic. The Hunts come to Winchester highly recommended by one of the finest clubs in Vermont, and are obviously well qualified in experience and personality to please the most exacting members.

Commodore Ned Morse and the house committee deserve praise for their efforts in securing such a desirable couple.

Last Saturday, a work crew was organized to remove the boats stored in the playground, and to thread new halyards through the top of the flagpole. The boats came out with comparatively few scratches, those owners who were present getting a little the best of the deal. Reaching the masthead presented a problem at first. George Samuels' forty foot ladder mounted by steeple jack Anderson failing to reach the top. However, some of the brainy members solved this by backing a truck up to the pole, and placing the ladder in the truck. Two boats were also launched, in spite of the rain, one new speed boat and one alleged sloop of questionable ancestry.

The house committee has arranged for improvements to the building, the larger jobs of painting and remodeling to be done by professional contractors. The grounds committee has started preparations for a new bathing beach, improvement of the lawn at Newman's Point, and the addition of new shrubbery. The entertainment committee has interesting plans for the opening party of the season, details of which will be given out next week.

The morning of April 19 has been chosen as the best time to get the floats and diving raft into the water. A small crew of volunteer workers has already been signed up, but more are needed. Members interested in swimming or boating are urged to show up and lend a hand.

NOONAN SCHOOL ASSEMBLY

For their assembly on April 1, the pupils of the second grade at the Noonan School presented a program on fairyland. During the program, which was announced by Grace Lizotte, the class sang three songs: "Peter Pan", "The Sleeping Princess", and "Fairies Music". Original poems were recited by Mary Doherty, Richard Tansey, and Leslie Innis. "The Little Elf" was recited by Frederick Sullivan.

After these poems the story of "The Elves and the Shoemaker" was told by a group of children, including William King, Patricia Wilberger, Thomas Callahan, Donald Migliacchio, Richard Guiliani, Patricia Pacino, and Mary Doherty. The pupils also showed their pictures which illustrated the story. The story of "Brownie and the Cook" was then told by Catherine McLeod.

MASTERS PICKS "BART"

More honors were bestowed upon the championship Winchester High basketball team when Len Masters, sportscaster of WCOP, on his program Saturday night March 29 selected Coach Ted Bartlett as the "Coach of the Year in Basketball" and Doug Hawkins and Stowell Symmes as his all-scholastic choices. Masters has been loud in his praise of the Indians all winter and was among the first to establish them as favorites to win the Class B title.

From a technical standpoint Masters praised Coach Bartlett for developing a well drilled, well poised, spirited, speedy ball club that plays the type of game that is sound but which has spectator appeal because of its well organized attack. He stated that Winchester was one of the smoothest clubs to appear in the Tournament in years, Class A or B, and one which set up plays from a tricky offense that would do credit to a well-coached college team. Masters further praised Coach Bartlett for the sportsmanlike and gentlemanly conduct of his players and stressed that Coach Bartlett is the type of man that any community would be proud to have supervising its youth.

In picking his all-scholastic team, Masters made no attempt to limit his selections to five players, but chose the best performers he has seen in action from all classes of school basketball. Hawkins and Symmes were among his first selections announced, along with such outstanding players as Skeffington of Somerville, Theberge of Salem, Golz of Duxbury, Bohn of Medford, etc. It was a distinct honor for Hawkins and Symmes to be selected from among the hundreds of high school basketball players in Eastern Massachusetts and one they richly deserve.

"OCTETTE" FEATURED BY GLEE CLUB

The girls "Octette" of the WIS will be the featured guests at the Annual Spring Concert of the Music Club, to be held at the WIS Auditorium May 3 at 8 p.m. This select group is under the able direction of Miss Eleanor Anfantis. Since organizing the "Octette" in 1948, Miss Anfantis has found considerable popular demand for this unit. Besides numerous local performances, they have sung in many Greater Boston institutions, such as the Chelsea Naval Hospital, Brighton Marine Hospital, Arlington High School, Hatch Memorial Shell on the Esplanade, and Symphony Hall. For four consecutive years they have been rated "Superior" in the State Music Festival. Entered last year for the first time, they received the highest award of the N. E. Music Festival.

The program should be of interest to all tastes in music, and the girls will add eye and ear appeal to the Glee Club's 55 male chorus. Reservations are now available, and those interested should phone Mr. Ragmar Brandt at Winchester 6-1233-W.

Arthur Adraetas of the Winchester Barber Shop, who has been seriously ill at his home in Lowell, was able to come to Winchester and visit his shop on Tuesday, receiving the greetings of his many friends about the center. He hopes to get back to his chair at the shop in the near future.

WASHINGTON ITINERARY ANNOUNCED

Plans for the trip to Washington to be taken next week by the Winchester High School championship basketball team were made public this week by Coach Ted Bartlett, who with Athletic Director Henry Knowlton, is accompanying the boys to the Capital.

The team and coaches, fifteen in all, leave the South Station in Boston at 11 a.m. Tuesday, April 15, on "The Senator," a new super-deluxe train, that will get them to the Union Station in Washington at 7:15 that evening. From the station the group will be driven to the centrally located Lafayette Hotel, which will be the team's Washington headquarters.

Through the efforts of Mrs. William C. Casack the team will be guests Wednesday morning of Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers of Lowell. Mrs. Rogers is making plans to have the Winchester group admitted to the Senate hearing and a session of the Supreme Court. The boys and their coaches will lunch at noon with Mrs. Rogers in the House Dining Room.

Wednesday afternoon the team will go on one of the regular sight-seeing tours to Mt. Vernon, leaving the evening free for any impromptu plans that may be made. Thursday morning will be spent in another of the regular sight-seeing tours of important Capital buildings, such as the Smithsonian Institute, the Bureau of Printing and Engraving and the Lincoln Memorial.

Thursday afternoon Coach Bartlett has arranged to take the team to Arlington National Cemetery and to the Pentagon, again leaving the evening free for last minute arrangements.

The team returns home Friday, leaving Washington at noon on "The Senator" and arriving at the South Station in Boston at 8:40 p.m. Making the trip are Captain John Dilorio, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dilorio of Washington street; Douglas Hawkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hawkins of Highland avenue; Stowell Symmes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Symmes of Main street; Rodney Long, son of Mrs. Rodney Long of Everett avenue; Bob Forester, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Forester, Jr., of Lawrence street; John Farrell, son of Police Officer and Mrs. James Farrell of Lebanon street; Charles Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Murphy of Inverness road; Peter Coon, son of Park Commissioner and Mrs. James Coon of Brooks street; John Atkinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Atkinson of Chestnut street; Norman Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Howard of Glen Road; Robert Flaherty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Flaherty of Loring avenue; Stuart Thomson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodrick Thomson of Fells road; and the team manager, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carleton of Church street.

CHILDREN'S OWN SCHOOL

A gay Card and "Swap" Party is to be held at the Children's Own School on Friday evening, May 2nd. The party will be preceded by coffee and dessert. The Parents' Committee and Board of Directors of the school are busily making preparations for this party, as well as several other interesting and exciting events to be held before the end of the school year. Members of the Board of Directors are: Dr. Victoria Cass, Mr. Daniel Howard, Dr. Herbert Lamson, Mr. Roland Moody, Miss Margaret Studley. Serving on the Parents' Committee this year are: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cunningham, Dr. and Mrs. Wallace Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. William Herron, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wild and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Walsh.

The children, too, are participating in some especially interesting undertakings. This past week the Five Year Group put on a "train show" for the other children of the School. A playroom was set aside as an "exhibition hall", where each child showed some of his own toys. Train books of various types were on exhibit, as well as scrapbooks the children had made of their favorite cards and pictures, while the walls were covered with the School's collection of prints, pictures, route maps, etc., showing the evolution of American trains. An interested adult train enthusiast presented the School with some fine pictures of freight trains to add to its collection for this showing. Some of the children had much fun "reproducing" two of our country's oldest trains from scrap materials. Miss Barbara Johnson, of Woburn, a student-teacher at the School, has been guiding the children in this project. After the Easter vacation, the Four Year Group will have an attractive exhibit to which all the children are looking forward eagerly.

MR. CHARLES A. MAHONEY LECTURES

On Tuesday, April 15, Mr. Charles A. Mahoney, Vice-President of the Winchester Art Association and Secretary-Treasurer of the Boston Society of Water Color Painters, will be interviewed on Station WBUR-FM at 7:15 p.m. on the current exhibit of this well-known Boston Group.

For the second successive year, the Boston Society of Water Color Painters is holding its 63rd Annual Exhibition through May 2nd at the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston. This group of painters have not only exhibited in the gallery of the Winchester Library but from time to time members of the Society have been invited to address the local Art Association. The paintings of Harold Lindergreen, Dwight Shepler, James Wingate Parr, Charles A. Mahoney, Forrest Orr (a former resident of Winchester), Philip Parsons, Glenn McNutt and Harry Sutton, Jr., are well known in this community.

On April 19, Mr. Mahoney will give an informal gallery lecture at 2 p.m. at the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston.

CHANGES IN POLICY AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

Editor of the Star:

The Board of Library Trustees would appreciate the privilege of discussing with the people of Winchester through your columns two important changes in library practice:

(1) the adoption on May 1 of the Gaylord mechanical book-charging system in the adult library.

(2) a new schedule of fines on overdue books.

The Gaylord mechanical charging system has been adopted to speed up service in charging books and to minimize clerical errors. Many neighboring libraries have used the system for years and report library users preferring it far above the old book card system, which we have used until now in our adult department. We did, however, install the Gaylord system in our Boys' and Girls' Department about a year ago. Its success there has indicated the wisdom of installing the same system at the adult circulation desk.

The Gaylord system is simple and the service will be fast. Each library user will be given a charge plate attached to a new little identification card that will fit easily into a change purse or wallet. It will not be possible to charge books without the charge plate. The machine will not work without it.

Under the new system a person steps to the desk and presents his books and charge plate. The charge plate and the book card are inserted in the charging machine and at once the books are charged.

No longer will it be necessary for a person to stand at the desk while the librarian looks up his number and writes it by hand on the book card. No longer will questions about names and addresses be necessary.

The Board of Library Trustees and the librarian and staff of the Public Library will greatly appreciate the cooperation of the townspeople in making the new charging system a success. By so doing they will increase their pleasure in the use of the library.

With the addition of the new charging system the Trustees deem it advisable to adopt a new schedule of fines on overdue books, magazines, and pamphlets. This change is made, in part, to meet the increasing costs of corresponding with overdue holders of books, but primarily to increase the availability of books to all users of the library.

The new schedule, beginning May 1 calls for a fine of 2 cents a day for the first week overdue, and 5 cents a day thereafter. As in the past, book borrowers can renew fourteen day books from the date due for another fourteen days if they are not requested by others. Such renewals may be made by telephone. As now, seven day books will not be renewable because of the demand for them.

The overdue book problem has become a costly one for the library. A great deal of staff time and postage has been required to follow up on overdue books. Since January 1, postal card rates have advanced from 1 cent to 2 cents. We should point out, however, that the fines do not come to the library, but go to the Excess and Deficiency Fund of the town. The increase in fines is not to give us revenue but to reduce the overdue fault. A somewhat higher fine will, we hope, jog memories.

Of more importance than reducing the costs of postage and staff time in sending notices is the need for making overdue books available for use by the library patrons. A forgotten overdue book reduces our offering.

The Trustees hope that townspeople will be sympathetic with these new policies. Our wish is to make the Winchester Public Library of highest service to the citizens.

MRS. LEWIS WON BOWLING TOURNAMENT

Tuesday marked the end of the Winchester Country Club Over Average Tournament that was held at Strike Lanes and also the end of a most successful bowling season that saw close to one hundred ladies in action.

A total of sixty entered the Over Average tournament to compete for the beautiful trophy donated by Strike Lanes, to the woman that compiled the most pins over her average over a five week period.

Mrs. Lewis continued her fine rolling to capture the coveted prize by knocking down 158 pins over her average. Mrs. Gouzou with 142 was runner up.

The best total pinfall for the tournament was turned in by Mrs. Baldwin with 1,280 who placed sixth with 80 over averages. Mrs. Howard with 1,278 was second in this department.

By rolling 308, Mrs. Donnell took High Three String total honors. High Single String was bowled by Mrs. Howard with 112.

Final Standing

Total	Pins	over average
1. Lewis	1,118	158
2. Gouzou	1,117	142
3. Birch	1,072	127
4. Bentley	1,175	95

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

With a host of members and friends in attendance, our meeting on Tuesday was a most enjoyable one. Following a short business meeting the president turned the meeting over to the chairman of the day, Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini, who in turn introduced our guest speaker Mrs. Gretchen H. West.

Mrs. West very aptly titled her talk "Beachcombing" and proceeded to show how one might develop a fascinating hobby at a trifling cost. Using as her materials such objects as oddly shaped pieces of driftwood, inexpensive figurines, sea shells, the garden variety of flowers and, yes, even a dried banana stalk, Mrs. West created several striking and unusual arrangements for table and home. Noting that children's treasures should be considered in home decorations, Mrs. West demonstrated a charming arrangement especially suited to please the small fry. Judging from the keen interest displayed by the audience, we feel certain that more than one member present contracted that dread "Collector's Itch" so humorously described by Rudolph Elie in an article read by Mrs. West and the onset of summer will find Guild ladies prowling the beaches and woods in search of little treasures for use in future table arrangements.

Notes were served by Mrs. Joseph Buragatti and hostesses for the day were Mrs. Alfred Doherty, Mrs. Eugene Groden, Mrs. George Doherty, Mrs. John I. Donovan, Mrs. Edmund Langman, Mrs. Leo V. Manoli, Mrs. Edward McPartlin, Mrs. Dominic Runci, Mrs. William H. Hevey and Mrs. John J. Walsh. On next Thursday, April 17th, we will hold our annual spring luncheon and bridge at the Bear Hill Country Club in Stoneham with luncheon at 12:30 p.m.

The following committee is in charge of arrangements: Mrs. John T. Lennon, General Chairman, assisted by Mesdames Michael H. Hintlian, James H. Carr, Robert H. Cavanagh, Wallace Fisher, James T. Gaffney, Edward J. Gallagher, Martin J. Higgins, Lawrence Murphy, Edward McElhinney, James H. Shaw, William J. Carroll, Hugh McPartland, Talma Greenwood, Frank Hannon, John P. Whalen, R. Everett Mitchell, Manlio G. Molit, Clarence Dunbury, James C. Marchant, J. J. Raymond Gaffey, Chester J. Powers, Milton Sinclair, Joseph McGaragle, Carl Thomas, Daniel Doherty, Joseph Donaghey, Oren H. Hintlian, C. Douglas Wheeler, Frederick Patton, J. William Plunkett, Vincent L. Scanlon, J. Elmer Chisholm, George Morrissey, Peter A. Murphy, Theodore Dissel, Joseph Buragatti, Katherine Doyle, Charles E. Flynn, Virgil Ghirardini, Owen J. Logue, William J. Murray, John M. Ryan and Michael J. Quinn.

Have you made your luncheon reservations as yet? If not, please plan to do so as soon as possible and invite your friends along. They are certain to enjoy this lovely afternoon and the chance of winning one of the many choice bridge prizes.

Transportation will be arranged for anyone in need of the same. Simply contact Mrs. R. Everett Mitchell at Winchester 6-0502. Now remember our date — April 17th; the time — 12:30; the place — Bear Hill Country Club. We'll be expecting you.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Hight have returned to their home on Swan road after a cruise to Nassau.

VOTERS TO GET PRIMARY INFORMATION

The League of Women Voters with the help of the Girl Scouts, will place a flyer in every home in Winchester next Monday. This project is the work of the League's Voters Service Committee, which Charles E. Jennings of 127 Church street was among the members of the Middlebury College varsity hockey team recently awarded letters.

NOTICE OF ANNUAL MEETING OF WINCHESTER HOSPITAL

The annual meeting of the members of the Winchester Hospital will be held at the Nurses' Home, 20 Fairmount street, Winchester, Massachusetts, on Tuesday, April 22, 1952, at eight o'clock p.m. for the following purposes:

1. To hear and act upon the reports of officers and committees.
2. To consider and act upon proposed amendments to Article IV of the Bylaws respecting the election of Directors.
3. To determine the number of Directors to be elected and the term of years for which they will serve.
4. To elect the Directors.
5. To elect one Trustee for three years.
6. To elect a Nominating Committee for the ensuing year.
7. To ratify the acts of the Directors as shown in the records of the meetings of the Board of Directors and Executive Committee since the last annual meeting.
8. To transact such other business as may properly come before the meeting.

Ruby Willis,
Secretary.

furnishes non-partisan information to the voters at election time, as the adoption of a straw vote, as the choice of nominee on this year's ballot, has added interest and importance to this year's Primary, which will be held April 29th.

At the last Presidential Primary only 7 1/2% of the registered voters of Winchester availed themselves of this privilege of guiding the party convention. Wake up, Winchester! The League is very proud to be added in this enterprise by troops of Winchester Girl Scouts who will carry out the town-wide distribution. This early evidence of civic responsibility is heartening and promises well for the future. Extra copies of the flyer are available at the Star Office.

Will Winchester's Republicans Finesse With The Jack?

N. Y. Times (Mar. 20): "He is no man on horseback or this paper wouldn't support him . . . the question is, does the Republican Party want a winner? Republican voters want Dwight D. Eisenhower and so do a great many other Americans. It is hard to believe that the Republican Party — after 20 years in the wilderness — will fail to see the opportunity hammering at its door."

— Vote Eisenhower —

Walter Lippman (April 8): "The facts support the argument that Eisenhower is the Republican who has overwhelmingly the best chance of winning the election. He is the only American since Washington who is the preferred choice of the masses of voters."

20th ANNUAL VAUDEVILLE
COLORFUL SMASH HIT

The spirit of spring, light-hearted and ever youthful, came to the stage of the high school auditorium last weekend as the high school students presented their Twentieth Annual Vaudeville Show to enthusiastic capacity audiences. There was something to suit every taste in this well-balanced show which opened with a thunderous roll of drums and ended in a brilliant finale with the entire cast on stage.

Lacking the headline comics of some other years, Ray Hayward's committee wisely built their show around a series of beautifully-executed dance numbers, using the school's apparently endless supply of attractive girls and nimble young men. Pleasing variety was provided by excellent skits, outstanding tumbling and acrobatics, and smooth singing. Long to be remembered will be the glorious colors of the costumes designed by Gloria Mucera and made by a loyal group of mothers.

As members of the audience took their seats, they were greeted by the rhythms of an orchestra composed of former vaudeville stars:

Ricky Ives, Andy Hall, Sandy Burbank, and Jimmy Hennessey. Other graduates who contributed their talents in coaching dance numbers were Marguerite Derro, Jean Neley, and Phyllis O'Neil.

In the opening number Bernard Boyle, Bill McDonough, Bob Stevenson, and Jim McLaughlin displayed their skill on the drums. They were followed by a pleasing dance duo with Dawn Horn and Audrey Smith. Soft shoe dancers William Erickson, Henry Hooper, George Johnson, Noreen Johnson, Betty Nelson, Jeanne Pearce, Don Swanson, and Marcia Symmes richly deserved the warm applause they received.

"Take Me Out to the Ball Game", an old routine with a new twist, found Mary Jane Davis, Joyce Haggerty, Betsey Freeman, Carolyn Oxford, Shirley Kinney, Catherine Murray, and Arline Weaver decided more decorative than the players usually seen at Fenway Park. Freshman Margaret Weaver's tap solo was a good omen for future shows as was the "Taffy" number, performed by a bevy of sophomore girls — Mary Lou Armstrong, Nancy Ayer, Sally Cunningham, Sheila Gullivan, Judith Higgins, Patricia Page, Gail Stratton, and Sandra Wittet — to tuneful rhythms composed by Mrs. Thornton Jesdale.

The dance motif was interrupted for the next few numbers. George Gange and Roger Rotundi displayed their virtuosity on the clarinet, while Dick Errico and John Farrell provided a show stopper in their beautiful exhibition of tumbling to "black light". Such balance and grace! Underclassmen Virginia Wadsworth and Alice Walsh brought their infectious cheerfulness to a bright song and dance number "Pals".

Though it is impossible to single out any one act, surely one of the loveliest numbers was "Carrousel", with Sue Clark, Roberta Coon, Sandra Davis, Marilyn Dyer, Betsey Freeman, Dianne Greer, Letty Harmon, Ann Marks, Peggy McNally, Del Mitchell, Cynthia Moses, Debby Norris, Nancy Ross, Connie Snelling, Sandra Wittet, and Stephanie Wale creating bright patterns of color as they danced about the Maypole.

A vocal duet by Louise and Mary Orgettas revived the old favorites, "Stay As Sweet As You Are" and "You Are Love". By special arrangement with the manufacturers of Corn Silk Cigarettes, some of the nation's top-flight television entertainers appeared next on the stage. Dick Woodward, as Arthur Godfrey, and the Candy N' Cake girls were outstanding, but Sam Rocray's Ken Murray, Judy Nanny's Imogene Coca, and Dud Samoiloff's Sid Caesar were also well done. Sonia Smith, Nancy Kelliher, Ann Tiliak, Ruth Flaherty, Patricia Bradley and Sue Melanson added their sweet voices.

Looking very sharp in their white linens, the Poison Ivy Quartet, Earl Carrier, John Farrell, Frank Lentine, and Don Swanson sorrowfully told the audience that "You're Not Worth My Tears". Unadvertised dancers, an eighth grade group of Can Can dancers, composed of Sally Snow, Louisa Ruma, Sheila Carleton, Daria Hall, Judy Krysto, and Judy Shilling, won favor with the crowd. The Cossacks combined dashing Russian rhythms with Slavic humor. Mary Chamberland, Gretchen Daschbach, Roselyn Gaglior-mella, Helen Hogan, Mary Lou Mooney, Mary O'Connell, and Ruth Peel had caught the spirit well. All too brief in the opinion of many was the Easter Parade Number, in which four handsome duds and eight lovely damsels blended their voices in one of Irving Berlin's very best. In case you didn't recognize them, the gay blades were faculty members Henry Fitts, Frank Weaver, Jake Mosser, and Gardner Handy.

Once again Marguerite Derro's tap chorus was "Taps in Taps," as tambourine waving gypsies Jane Adams, Elizabeth Curtis, Deirdre Donovan, Dottie Lazzaro, Gretchen Carroll, Josephine Donlon, Annie Amundsen, Daisy Keniston, Dinah Lentine, Patricia Perkins, Deborah Pratt, Dona Rizzo, Winifred Wheaton, and Cassie Wright.

Nancy Samaroo, the school's favorite folk singer, had the spotlight all to herself for "Ain't Misbehavin'" and "Bonaparte's Retreat". The Ponies number has been a standard for so many shows that novelty is hard to invent, but plastic rain jackets over colorful dance costumes was an inspired touch. Annette Barbara, Annis Bledsoe, Myra Coon, Joan Flaherty, Shirley Kinney, Janet Lynch, Cynthia Nichols, Mary O'Connell, Sonia

Smith, and Anne Whiton were excellent. In the final acts the show took a nautical turn. A lively Sailors' Tap found Charlotte Keefe, Adele Jones, Jane Robertson, Connie Snelling, and Virginia Wadsworth clad in sailor whites. Then freshman Brad Johnson sang of the plight of the sailor with a girl in every port. Judging from the varied costumes of his "girls", Janet Archibald, Louise Orgettas, Liz Curtis, and Nancy Ross, Brad had really seen the world.

For the finale, the entire cast assembled to sing its farewell. For this number, which might be called "The Boom Song", the stage crew had constructed a long boom on the end of which sat Midge Dexter (Nancy Donaghy on Saturday night). Farewell song completed, everyone waited for one of the best moments in every show, when the cast expresses its appreciation to the directors. Ray Hayward, who this year completes his twentieth show (and his last, so he says), received a splendid scroll, while Mrs. Hayward and Miss Helen Carroll were both called on stage to receive remembrances.

Summing it all up, the Twentieth Annual Vaudeville was a grand show, tasteful, brilliantly colored, and well-paced. Cast and directors were handicapped by the virus bug which at times halted rehearsals of various acts, but, as usual, they rose to the occasion.

Among the many other persons contributing to the success of the production were the following: Miss Eleanor Anifantis, Mr. Henry Knowlton, and Mr. Dan O'Donnell on the Planning Committee; Miss Louise Cone, Mike Neagle, Catherine Murray, Dianne Greer, John Swazey, Ruth Freeman, Gretchen Luitweiler, and Suzanne Wadsworth on the Ticket Committee; Miss Pauline Goodrich and members of the art class, notably Jacqueline Chapman (cover design); Prep Keyes and Jack Mills on Advertising; Mr. Tom Morse, Paul Levetto, Scott Cunningham, Phil Ives, John Everett, Jackson Wilcox, Nick Fitzgerald, Edward Mansfield, and Bob Willing of the Stage Crew; Roland Carlson and Bernard Boyle on Scenery; Miss Marilyn Bickford, Miss Dorothy Bailey, Miss Dorothy Dunn, and Mrs. Alexander Samoiloff for coaching dance numbers; Miss Barbara Blackstone, Jan Macaulay, Margaret Reid, Mrs. James Daschbach and Jack Willis — piano accompanists.

WINCHESTER ART ASSOCIATION

Prior to Mr. Shepler's discussion of the paintings, President Lamson first presented for the consideration of the Association a proposed Resolution which suggested (1) better notice of Board Meetings and (2) some reduction of the present membership fee which is causing a decrease in membership and a preponderance of women members. The Resolution was referred back for further consideration and, in passing, it is respectfully submitted that if the 1953-1954 Executive be drafted solely from the male members of the Association, they can then work out a plan for their own survival.

The President then submitted the proposed slate of officers for 1952-53 which was accepted and is as follows:

President, Mr. Herbert D. Lamson.
Vice-President, Mrs. Gretchen H. West.
Secretary, Mrs. E. Phillips Walker.
Treasurer, Mrs. Guy P. Livingstone.

Exhibition and Speakers
Committees, Mrs. Alexander Samoiloff.
Membership, Mr. Fred E. Abbe.
Publicity, Mrs. S. Kennedy Tully.
Hospitality, Mrs. Samuel Kirkwood.

Nominating, Mrs. Adin B. Bailey.
Members at large, Mrs. Reginald Bradlee, Miss Virginia French, Mr. Francis E. Smith.

Library Trustee, Mrs. Langley C. Keyes.

Mr. Shepler then took over. The paintings on display are all the works of the members themselves and the subject matter is extensive, ranging from Mr. Ottiano's enigmatic "Seven Nine and Thirty Three" to Mrs. van Vloten's beautiful decorative piece, "Cockatoos". In the opinion of the critic G. Russell Mann's, "The Jungle Garden" was the best offering and Adelaide E. Bratt's "Modern Madonna" won his unqualified admiration. Three paintings were so good that at the moment of discussion he could find nothing to criticize, these were Mrs. Stephen Edgell's "September Sunlight", A. M. Herrich's "Sunlight and Shadows" and Elizabeth Lobinger's "Boat Race". The paintings, Donald Warren's "Beyond the Edge", Jane Atkinson's "A Blanket of Snow" and Dorothy Dey Howard's "High Sierras" he found provocative and perhaps perplexing. The portraits fared rather badly but the criticism had no sting. The whole exhibition is well worth a visit and is unique in the noticeable absence of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont scenes which usually predominate a New England showing.

Miss Goodrich and Mr. Field showed delicate handwrought silver jewelry, Miss Hatch, Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. Nickerson and Esther Howe very attractive ceramics. And these, along with the paintings will be on display during April. Early in May the paintings will be transferred to Marblehead where they will be on exhibition during that month.

Paul F. Amico has made the Dean's List at the University of New Hampshire, winning scholastic honors for the first semester. Amico, a sophomore in the college of Liberal Arts, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Amico of Cross street.

COLOR PICTURES OF WEST COAST TRIP

At the end of this long Winter it will be sheer relaxation to have the privilege of watching a series of color stills taken on a round trip to the Pacific Coast. Members and guests of the Winchester Home and Garden Club are looking forward to pictures shown by Mrs. Paul Goddu and her uncle Mr. Albert M. Horle. The trip was taken in May of last year—a lovely time to catch the beauty of the countryside and the grandeur of our National Parks.

These pictures will be shown at the next regular meeting Wednesday, April 16 at 2 p.m. in the Art Room of the Winchester Public Library. All members and their guests are urged to come.

The Executive Board of this active and civic minded club are making arrangements now for the May 21 program which this year will take the form of visiting private gardens here in Winchester. The list will include simple backyard gardens, wild flower, herb, and formal gardens with appropriate outdoor table settings arranged by members.

For everyone interested in veteran's rehabilitation this will be a concrete way to contribute to the Garden Clubs Service—a service which is supported by garden clubs in Massachusetts. The entire proceeds from this day of "Open Gardens in Winchester" will be turned over to the fund.

"Horticulture Therapy in Veterans Army and Navy Hospitals" is the title of the booklet describing the Ninth Annual Appeal, and one glance at the reports of the organization is enough to illustrate how beneficial this program has proved. A greenhouse at Bedford, a pit greenhouse at Cushing, flowers every week in the year, and extra decorations for holidays are only some of the physical things purchased. Not counted in dollars is the morale uplift and actual cures effected by this program.

KING RECEIVES ANTENNA PATENT

On March 18, 1952, the United States Patent Office granted patent number 2,589,818 on an "Antenna" to Ronald W. P. King, Hillcrest Parkway, Winchester, Mass.

This invention pertains to improved antennas of the type that are employed in the very high frequency bands and which are suitable for use with metal surfaced, high speed aircraft.

In other words, at speeds of 300 miles per hour and higher, a projecting member, such as an antenna, exerts considerable drag on a plane and materially affects the speed of the craft. In addition, the antenna is difficult to maintain in position; and, as a consequence, means must be provided to recess it in the metal hull of the plane. However, such equipment sets up new difficulties due to the fact that the metal surface of the plane is in close proximity to the antenna and adversely affects its radiation efficiency.

It is the object of Mr. King's invention to present a solution to this problem and thus he has devised a novel arrangement wherein the antenna conductor is recessed below, and is substantially parallel to, the air stream surface of the aircraft. An insulating cover closes the recess; and included also in the assembly is a co-axial transmission line having its central conductor connected to one end of the antenna and its outer conductor terminating in an open end. It should be noted that provision is made for a special "phase-reversing sleeve"

NOW - burn both garbage and trash

the easy CALCINATOR way

Here's the biggest news in years for every housewife — now you can say goodbye forever to unsightly garbage and burnable trash with the amazing new automatic electric CALCINATOR — the first really practical means of home incineration. Look at these work-saving features:

EASY TO OPERATE — Wrap it, drop it, forget it! Electric CALCINATOR first dries it out, then reduces it to a powdery ash which can be used for soil or plant food.

EFFICIENT — SILENT — No noise, no moving parts, and its low current consumption means pennies-a-day operation.

SAFE — SANITARY — Electricity means safe operation — immediate disposal by burning means sanitation. Odors which attract insects, rodents, etc., are automatically eliminated. See the economical, automatic CALCINATOR today at your local Edison Shop — it can be installed in the kitchen, laundry, cellar or garage. ECKBERG ELECTED

University of Massachusetts chapter of Phi Kappa Phi national scholastic honorary society announces the recent election to membership of Robert B. Eckberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard B. Eckberg of 18 Wedge Pond road.

To be eligible for membership in Phi Kappa Phi, a student must maintain a scholastic average of 85% for seven semesters or 87% for six semesters. Mr. Eckberg, a senior at the state university, is a member of the Animal Husbandry Club, Lutheran Club, and is President of the Student Christian Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Armstrong of Curtis circle are home after spending several weeks in Europe.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NEWS

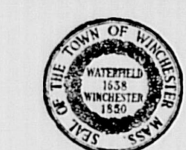

Due to the virus bug Mrs. Whitman was unable to give her radio broadcast last week as was scheduled. Fortunately she has been given another date to be sure to listen. Mrs. Warren Whitman will speak over Radio Station WMEX at 7:00 p. m. Thursday, April 17 on "Government of the People or Over the People."

I understand many reservations have been made for the next meeting of the Fortnightly which is the annual meeting. It is to be held at the Bear Hill Country Club, Monday, April 14 at 12:30 p. m. In addition to the luncheon in the capable hands of Mrs. Kingman Cass, there will be the election of officers. The guest artist for the afternoon will be Ada Dewson who will entertain us with Humorous Monologues. The guest of honor will be Mrs. Ralph Swain, First Vice-President of Massachusetts State Federation Women's Clubs.

The literature group held their final meeting for the season on Monday at the Public Library, a real Grand Finale. More about that for next week. See you Monday at the Bear Hill Country Club.

MYSTIC MOTHERS AT TV SHOW

On Friday morning, April 4, at 11 o'clock, the Mystic School Mothers' Association were invited to attend a television program on Child Behavior at WBZ-TV in Cambridge. The Mystic School was represented by about thirty-five mothers. Dr. Louise Bates Ames, Research Director of the Gesell Institute for child study at Yale University, conducted the question-and-answer program with an intelligent enthusiasm and sense of humor. Mystic School mothers whose questions were selected for discussion and who therefore were televised in conversation with Dr. Ames were Mrs. Charles H. DuToit and Mrs. Vincent L. Scanlon. Dr. Ames pointed out that specific solutions to child problems could not of course be reached without examination and study of the child but that suggestions for handling the problems were often helpful to

Is your sewing machine in good working condition for that spring sewing? Why not call a local experienced repairman. E. W. Clark, Winchester 6-0140-W. ap4-tf

Last Sunday the Metropolitan Police at the Fellows Station notified the local authorities that they had picked up a bike belonging to Chris Michelson of 8 Fairview terrace. The Winchester boy did not know his bike had been stolen, but a checkup disclosed it was really missing, and his dad made a trip to Medford to pick up the machine. BADMINTON NEWS

The past week has been a busy one for the Badminton Club members — on Saturday, April 5th, the Second Annual "D" Doubles Tournament was held in Charlestown.

Four of our members competed and all in all, did very well — Doris Maxwell and Jack Millar brought home the mixed doubles crown, and Marj. Moore with partner Jean Rowell of Shady Hill Club were runners-up to Mrs. Holly and Mrs. Doby of Quincy in the ladies' doubles.

Parker Symmes and Jack Millar just missed being finalists in the men's doubles, losing their semi-final match by a hair's breadth.

The Annual Meeting was held on Tuesday, April 8th, and the following members were elected to the Executive Committee for the 1952-53 season: Parker Symmes, President, Whit Gray, Brad Hersey, Marjorie Moore, Jack Tarbell, Jim Ware and Ed Williams.

The town ducks returned from their winter home at Mrs. Dorothy Lord's in North Woburn to their Mill Pond habitat on Wednesday.

Four hubcaps were stolen Monday evening from a '51 Plymouth sedan, owned by Mrs. E. T. Lundin of 4 Kenwin road, and parked in the parking lot at the Winchester Theater. The police were notified.

WINCHESTER MEN ENROLLED

The 1000th member of the Massachusetts Civic League was enrolled this week during a ten day drive for new members. Seventy-five persons joined the group to meet the announced 1000 goal.

The 1000th member is George A. McLaughlin the prominent attorney who was appointed, last fall, by the Supreme Judicial Court to serve with Arthur E. Whittemore as investigating of the Derham-Cenedella-Kelly controversy. Mr. Whittemore has been a League member for some time.

Among the new members joining the League in its primary purpose of supporting or opposing legislation based, alone, on its merits, are several from Winchester.

GRADE CROSSING REFERENDUM
APRIL 22

The Board of Selectmen has named Tuesday, April 22, as the date for the referendum to the town of the vote at the recent limited town meeting expressing approval of the plan to eliminate the grade crossing by elevating the railroad tracks and authorizing the Selectmen to continue their cooperation with the State and railroad authorities in furthering the plan. The vote passed the town meeting 151 to 1.

The referendum will be held at the usual polling places in the town hall, with the polls open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m.

PATTERSON IN BASIC TRAINING

Private Fred A. Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Patterson of 11 Richardson street, has been assigned to the 8th Infantry Division here for 16 weeks of basic training.

Pvt Patterson was graduated from Winchester High School in 1949.

He was employed by the Winchester Water & Sewer Department before he was called to the service March 26, 1952.

EASTER RECITALS AND PRIZE WINNERS

A capacity audience filled the studio and adjoining rooms at the Studio of Eunice M. Kiley, 433 Main street last Sunday afternoon and evening.

Of great interest was the awarding of prizes to the winners of the "Easter Bunny", Lesson Mark Contest, which had been running since the last recital in December.

The object was to maintain an "A" (excellent) mark. Two lessons and the Bunny remained white. Those having the white bunnies were first prize winners. Linda Parsons, 8 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Parsons of Euclid avenue, Winchester, Jimmie Stone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Stone of Washington street, Woburn, Susan Wallace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilman Wallace of Church street, Winchester, Elizabeth Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Brown of Chandler road, West Medford were proud owners of all white bunnies.

These children all contributed to an interesting program.

Others adding their selections were: Susan Fisher, Dolly Kittell, Jay and Patty Anderson, Peggy Padelford, Linda Shaw, Mary Rose, Ralph Haynes, Stephen and Raymond Homer, Paul Pinault, Gail Durrington, Roger Symmes, Barbara Eaton, Eleanor Littlefield, Nancy Gross, Carole Olson, Abbie Jane Richardson and Joyce Adler.

The next recital, the finale for the season, will be given June 19th at 7:30, at Parish Hall, First Congregational Church.

Full grand pianos will be brought to the hall from Boston and there will be many 2nd piano accompaniments to the solos, to add contrast and orchestral effects to the program.

Much enthusiasm was expressed for this final event, when all the pupils may invite their many friends and relatives. Invitations may be had by applying to the pupils.

CUB PACK SEVEN NEWS

The April meeting of Cub Pack Seven was held at the First Baptist Church on the 4th. Den 5 entertained the Pack with a radio skit of the Dr. IQ program. Cub Jonathan Handy as Dr. IQ, with the aid of Mr. Searchem in the left balcony and Mr. Findem in the right balcony, tried to stump the rest of the Pack. Those successful in answering the questions correctly received silver candy kisses. The announcer was Cub David Rich. Den 3 also presented a radio skit. Cub Daniel Vespucci as Groucho Marx interviewed various Cub contestants. Frank Curtis gave a good impersonation of Jimmy Durante. All of the Cubs of the Den concluded the program with "Slow Poke."

Two Cubs, Donald Crede and John O'Donnell, who have completed their three years of Cub requirements, were graduated into Boy Scouts. The Winchester District Chairman of Boy Scouts, Mr. A. Benj. Gowing, was present at the trial fire to welcome them into the Scout troop.

Mr. Hartley Curtis made the following awards:

Den 1 — Donald Crede — Webelos Badge John Parsons — Wolf Badge

Den 3 — Francis Godioso — Wolf Badge, Silver Arrow

Frank Curtis — Silver Arrow Daniel Vespucci — Lion Badge, Silver Arrow

Richard Carter — Silver Arrow

Den 8 — Steve Cochran — Gold and Silver Arrow

John O'Donnell — Webelos Badge Coach Ed Bartlett, who has no introduction to the Cubs as evidenced by the ovation he received, told the boys of the plans being made to start the Little League baseball games in Winchester.

From the response it looks as though all of Pack Seven will try out for the teams.

The meeting also included a Cub Craft exhibit. Mr. Francis MacFoley, Fellsland Council Field Executive, and Mr. Benjamin Gowing judged the exhibit and awarded 1st prize to Lawrence Bennett, 2nd prize to Sherwood Kelley and 3rd prize to Donald Farnum.

Ensign Little was graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy in 1950. He is now participating in advance flight training at Corpus Christi, Texas.

GOVERNOR SHERMAN ADAMS

SPEAKER AT EISENHOWER RALLY

The Winchester High School Auditorium will be the scene of an Eisenhower rally on Monday evening, April 21st, at 8:00 p. m. Delegations are expected to attend from all towns and cities in the Fifth Congressional District.

The meeting will be featured by speeches by Governor Sherman Adams of New Hampshire and Congressman Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts. It was the support of Governor Adams in last month's election that Mrs. Adams is proud to have started the nation-wide swing to Eisenhower for President.

Representatives in the House of Representatives are Chairman of the Massachusetts Eisenhower Committee. Mrs. Adams will accompany her husband.

The Eisenhower meeting will be under the auspices of the Winchester Women's Republican Club of which Mrs. Robert W. Reynolds is president. Program Chairman is Mrs. Muriel S. Barnes of Winchester, a candidate for alternate delegate to the Eisenhower slate.

Other speakers will be Governor Paul R. Acheson of Lowell, candidate for alternate will also attend, as will Mrs. Arthur Dodge of Lexington, women's chairman for Eisenhower in the Fifth District.

Music will be provided by the famous Gold Coast Orchestra of Cambridge led by George P. Springer.

Mr. Morris R. Burroughs, Director of Music, Belmont Hill School, will lead the singing.

April 21st is expected to be the biggest political night ever seen in Winchester.

ST. MARY'S HOLY NAME SOCIETY

St. Mary's Holy Name Society practiced in the Nocturnal Adoration on Holy Thursday, April 10th, beginning at 9 p. m. through 7 a. m. on Good Friday morning.

Nocturnal Adoration on Holy Thursday was instituted five years ago under the auspices of the Archdiocesan Union at the specific request of his excellency, Archbishop Richard J. Cushing.

Nocturnal Adoration on Holy Thursday is founded on the anguished plea of Christ to His sleeping Apostles, "Could ye not watch one hour with Me? Nocturnal Adoration consists of one hour, made up of reading, prayer and meditation, outlined by the Diocesan Union. Broken into fifteen minute periods, each quarter is made up of recitation of the Rosary, reading of the Passion based on the four gospels of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John, and private meditation.

SHOWER FOR MISS McCULLOUGH

Miss Kathleen R. McCullough of 433 Main street, Winchester, formerly of Trenton, N. J., was feted at a surprise shower Saturday night, March 29, at the home of Mrs. William Hodge. The shower was given in her honor by Mrs. Newell Dean Squires of Cambridge.

The guests present were Mrs. Gertrude Murphy, Mrs. Richard H. Murphy, Mrs. Robert B. Byford, Mrs. James William Blackham, Jr., Miss Janet Foley, Miss Virginia Foley, Miss Charlotte Foley, Miss Loretta Belmont, Mrs. Agnes Kent, and Miss Margaret Hodge. The bride-to-be received many lovely gifts and refreshments were enjoyed by everyone.

Miss McCullough and Mr. William Hodge, Jr., will be married April 19 in the Ripley Chapel of the First Congregational Church, Winchester.

COGSWELL — KITTILL

Mrs. John O. Ellison of Bradford, announces the marriage of her daughter, Mrs. Greta Kittell of Bacon street, to Mr. William Cogswell of New York City on March the twenty-eighth, nineteen hundred fifty-two, at Hanover, New Hampshire.

Attendants were Miss Nancy Kittell and Mr. Clay Cogswell. Mr. Cogswell, of the Class of 1928 of Dartmouth College, is a broker with Fainstock and Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange. The couple will make their home in New York City.

BIRTH CORRECTION

In reporting the birth of a son born on March 31 to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Smith, Jr., of 40 Arlington street, the baby's name was given in last week's Star as Gregory Thomas Smith. The name should have read Brooks Coulson Smith, the parents having finally decided upon this name too late to make the correction in the original birth announcement.

MISS MONROE ELECTED BUSINESS GROUP HEAD

Miss Helen M. Monroe was elected Director of the Business and Professional Women's Guild, First Congregational Church, at the annual meeting held Tuesday evening in the Ladies' Parlor. Mrs. Edith Sherry was elected secretary.

Chairmen elected included the following: devotions, Mrs. Margaret Withington; membership, Mrs. H. Harold Dover and Miss Ruth Nelson; finance, Miss Cassie Sande; social, Mrs. Elizabeth McWha; program, Mrs. George E. Connor, Mrs. F. Milne Blanchard, Miss Ruth Albee; nominating, Mrs. Wilfred M. Fay, Miss Dorothy M. Osborne; fair, Miss Alfreda M. Kearney, Mrs. Priscilla Morse, Mrs. Edith Parker.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Eleanor C. Forman of Danvers spoke on "Bonnets," with an inspirational message to illustrate each set of bonnets that came from her oversized golden hat box. Bonnets from the 1800's up to the World War I variety; and an aviatrix cap, nurse's cap, old Quaker bonnet, sun bonnet, and an exquisite bridal cap all contributed to the charm of the program. Mrs. Forman herself was a picture in her old-fashioned organdy gown, little bonnet, and with her old-fashioned nosegay and old jewelry.

Assisting her as the very lovely models who made the bonnets look especially nice were Miss Jean Wild, Miss Nancy Griffiths and Miss Meg Bragdon.

MAJOR LOBINGIER PROMOTED

In a recent issue of the Springfield Daily News had this to say about the promotion of Major John L. Lobingier, Jr., formerly of Winchester:

"Major John L. Lobingier, Jr., of West Hartford, Conn., has been appointed special assistant to Maj. Gen. James W. Spry, Commander of the Atlantic Division of the Military Air Transport Service, with headquarters at Westover."

"The major, who was advertising supervisor with the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Co. in Hartford before his recall to active duty last July, succeeds Col. Charlie Short, who was transferred last week to an assignment with the Strategic Air Command in North Africa."

"One of Maj. Lobingier's additional responsibilities will be to supervise the publication of 'The Airliner,' a weekly eight-page newspaper circulated to all division personnel at Westover and overseas, and to handle the Atlantic Division public information program for MATS based in New Foundland, Bermuda, the Azores, Great Britain, Continental Europe, North Africa and Dharhan, Saudi Arabia."

EDWARD JOHN CALLAHAN

Edward John Callahan, a native of Winchester and former custodian of the town hall, died Monday morning, April 14, after a long illness. He was 64 years old.

Mr. Callahan was the son of John and Mary (Hargrove) Callahan. He was born in Winchester November 20, 1887, and grew up in town, being educated in the Winchester schools.

As a young man Mr. Callahan worked for Kelley & Hawes at this former old line firm's livery stable, and from 1917 to 1939 he was custodian of the town hall, later serving in a similar capacity until his retirement, at the Winchester Hospital. For many years he made his home at 16 Eaton street.

Mr. Callahan was twice married. On April 11, 1913, he married Rose McHugh, who died December 22, 1920. Two children by this marriage survive; a son, John Callahan of Manchester, N. H., and a daughter, Sister Mary Immaculate, of the Order of St. Joseph, stationed at St. Joseph's Academy in Brighton.

On August 9, 1925, Mr. Callahan married Alice McGoldrick, who survives him, with a sister, Mrs. Daniel A. Murray, living in the family home at 188 Washington street, and two brothers, former Selectman William P. Callahan of Dennisport, Cape Cod, and Christopher Callahan of Medford.

The funeral was held this Friday morning from the Moffett Funeral Home with solemn requiem high mass celebrated at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Church. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery.

JOSEPH CHAMBERLAND

Joseph Chamberland of 47 Water street, a retired member of the Highway Department and a long-time resident of Winchester, died Friday, April 11, at his home after a five weeks illness.

A native of Montreal, Canada, Mr. Chamberland came with his family to Winchester at the age of four years, and for 70 years made the town his home, being well known among the older residents. He was for 20 years an employee of the Town of Winchester in the Highway Department and previously worked for the Whitney Machine Company during the days when it was located in Winchester.

Mr. Chamberland is survived by three sons, Lawrence E., Clarence J., both of Winchester, the latter a clerk at the Winchester Postoffice, and Walter L. Chamberland of Woburn; two sisters, Mrs. Mary Louise Veinot of Woburn and Mrs. Rose Lavallee of Cambridge; also a brother, Napoleon Chamberland of Woburn; and eight grandchildren. The funeral was held from the late residence Monday morning with solemn requiem high mass celebrated at the Immaculate Conception Church.

The pastor, Rev. Fr. Herbert K. A. Driscoll, was celebrant, with Rev. Fr. Stephen Burke, deacon, and Rev. Fr. Edwin Walsh of St. Joseph's Church, East Woburn, subdeacon. Bearers were Ralph Ambrose, Timothy Callahan, Louis Anderson, Jeremiah Dolan, Richard Murphy and Dennis Collins. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Father Driscoll.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Irville H. Spear of 394 Main street, formerly of Woburn, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruth, to Mr. Richard Norris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grabowsky of Beverly. A summer wedding is planned.

MRS. BARBARA HICKS

Mrs. Barbara Hicks, widow of Ernest L. Hicks and mother of Frederick L. Hicks of 7 Cliff street, died Sunday, April 13, after a long illness at the age of 81.

A native of New York City, Mrs. Hicks made her home for many years there before coming to Winchester early in 1950.

Besides her son in Winchester, Mrs. Hicks leaves two sisters living in New York and six grandchildren, three of whom, Fred L. Hicks, Jr., Edward E., and Robert W. Hicks, are residents of this town. A great grandson, Jeffrey Michael Hicks of Winchester, is among the four great grandchildren surviving.

The funeral was held Wednesday morning from the Moffett Funeral Home with requiem high mass being celebrated at St. Mary's Church at 10 o'clock. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

MARYCLIFF DESSERT BRIDGE AND FASHION SHOW

On Friday evening, April 25th, the annual dessert bridge and fashion show will take place at the Academy in Winchester at 8:00 p.m.

Fashions will be presented by E. V. E. of Concord and the musical background will be rendered by Jack Hennessey's Orchestra. Members of the Guild in addition to two students of the Academy will act as mannequins.

Mrs. Nathaniel Turner and Mrs. John J. Sullivan, both residing in Arlington will be chairmen of the evening. Mrs. William Moynihan, President, will preside over the entire program.

Heading the various committees will be the following: Mesdames W. John Stevenson, Guy Brooks, Robert Blake, C. Henry Howley, Joseph Burgatti, Albert Polombo, Frank DeCicco, Michael Bevilacqua.

A very large committee will be in attendance to make the affair a gala one.

MISS ALLEY ENGAGED

Dr. and Mrs. Otis Edward Alley of Winchester and Middleborough, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jean Thrasher Alley to Sergeant Douglas Marsh Converse, U. S. A., son of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Converse, of Winchester. A June wedding is planned.

LIVINGSTONE — THOMPSON

At the First Moravian Church in Utica, N. Y., on Saturday afternoon, April 13, Miss Charleen Elizabeth Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Thompson of 82 Ballantyne Brae, Utica, became the bride of James Richard Livingstone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy P. Livingstone of Chestnut street, Rev. Ernest Drennon officiated at the four o'clock candle-light ceremony which was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents.

Given a wedding by her father, the bride wore a street-length gown of imported Swiss white-on-white organdy, styled with a fitted bodice, pilgrim collar and cuffs, and a bouffant skirt. Her hat was a cloche of matching white organdy and she carried a cascade bouquet of white tulips.

Miss Joan Elizabeth Ormsbee of Utica and Syracuse, N. Y., and Miss Joanne Shatraw of Utica were the bridesmaids. They wore identical dresses of forest green organdy, styled like that of the bride, with white organdy sashes and green organza cloches. They also carried cascade bouquets of white tulips.

Frank Brown Livingstone was his brother's best man and the ushers were Clark Thompson of Utica, N. Y., brother of the bride, and G. Philip Livingstone, Jr., brother of the bridegroom; Donald Ellis and Roy Monson, all of Winchester.

Miss Thompson, who has been on the staff of Time Magazine, was graduated from the New York State University Institute of Applied Arts and Sciences. Mr. Livingstone prepared in the Winchester schools and at New Hampton School. He attended Mohawk College, was graduated from Syracuse University and is now in business with his father.

After a wedding journey to Canada Mr. Livingstone and his bride will make their home in Cambridge at 6 University road.

DICKSON — MILES

There is Winchester interest in the marriage which took place in Somerville on Saturday afternoon, April 12, when Miss Enola Alice Miles, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. G. Stanley Miles of Cambridge, became the bride of Kenneth Milham Dickson, son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Earl Dickson of Wilson street. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. George A. Miles, and was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Richard H. Crawford of the West Somerville Baptist Church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of deep blue Shantung and a white hat trimmed with red roses. Her bouquet combined red roses and stephanotis. She was attended by Mrs. George Miles of Somerville, who wore navy blue Shantung and carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses and blue delphinium.

Lt. Robert Earl Dickson, Jr., USN, was best man for his brother, and the ushers were the bride's brother, George Miles, and L. William Dingwell of Winchester.

The bride attended Northfield School for Girls and Syracuse University and was graduated from the New England Baptist Hospital School of Nursing. Mr. Dickson, an electronics technician in the Navy, has recently completed service in Korea that commenced with the beginning of hostilities there and included most major engagements. He had completed his freshman year at Tufts College before enlisting and expects to resume his studies there upon his discharge in the fall.

FAMILY COMMUNION SUNDAY

Sunday, May 4th, will be Family Communion Sunday for the families and friends of the Winchester Council Knights of Columbus. The center aisle of St. Mary's Church will be reserved at the 9 o'clock Mass.

This Family Communion is being held as part of the 55th Anniversary Program. It is to give thanks for the Council's past years, and to ask blessings for the years ahead.

NASON — DeCamp

Tall white tapers with a background of white gladiolus, lilies and gardenias made an attractive setting for the marriage at the Unitarian Church on Saturday evening, April 12, when Miss Lois DeCamp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William P. M. DeCamp, Jr. of Wotton, N. H., formerly of Winchester became the bride of Douglas Lee Nason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Nason of Oneida road. The Rev. Robert A. Storey, minister of the church officiated at the 8 o'clock ceremony and the bridal music was played by the church organist, Mary Ranton Witham.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss DeCamp wore a gown of French marquisette with a full-length train. Her fingertip length veil of imported lace was caught to a matching lace cap, and she carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis.

Miss Anne DeCamp was her sister's honor maid, and Miss Virginia Wier of Winchester, small cousin of the bride, was flower girl. Bridesmaids were Miss Joan DeCamp, cousin of the bride; Miss Judith and Miss Diane Nason, sisters of the bridegroom; and Miss Carolyn Zinn, all of Winchester.

The honor maid wore a floor-length dress of pale yellow nylon net and lace and carried a ballerina bouquet of orchid sweet peas centered with a deep red rose.

The bridesmaids wore the dresses of pale aqua nylon net and lace, and their bouquets of orchid sweet peas were centered with yellow roses.

The flower girl wore a frock of pale yellow nylon net with a hoop skirt, and carried a miniature bouquet like that of the maid of honor.

Peter Farnsworth of Winchester was best man for Mr. Nason, and the ushers comprised George DeCamp, Jr., cousin of the bride; Alfred Ferri, Jr., Arthur Withington and Edgar Hammond, all of Winchester.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the Music Hall on Bacon street, the decorations there being gardenias, snapdragons and gladiolus. Assisting in receiving were the parents of the bride and bridegroom, Mrs. DeCamp, mother of the bride, wearing cocoa brown lace with talisman roses. Mrs. Nason, the bridegroom's mother, wore a mermaid Beauty roses with her orchid bouquet.

Following a wedding journey to Canada Mr. Nason and his bride will make their home in Chicago. Both Mr. and Mrs. Nason are graduates of Winchester High School and the bride is also a graduate of Westbrook Junior College. Mr. Nason, who is associated with the American Air Lines, attended Boston University.

MISS HOPE SPEECH CONTEST WINNER

Miss Hilda Hope of Winchester was the highest scoring contestant in the Speech Contest Finals of the Winchester Toastmistress Club at the meeting held Tuesday evening, April 8, at the Winchester Library.

Miss Hope's subject was "Tomorrow's World". Runners-up in the contest were Mrs. Lillian Last of Medford, whose subject was "The Quakers of Harvard, Mass.," and Mrs. Edna Crede of Winchester, who spoke on "The Other You." Judges in the contest were Mrs. Gladys St. Onge of Wellesley Toastmistress Club, Mrs. Ellery Rogers of the Quanaquett Toastmistress Club, and Mrs. Deborah Broadhurst of Winchester.

Miss Hope will represent the Winchester Club as a contestant with the winners of the Speech Contest in each of the other Toastmistress Clubs in Northeast Council No. 5, at a joint meeting to be held this evening, April 18, in the Unitarian Church at Wellesley Hills.

The next regular meeting of the Winchester Toastmistress Club will be at the home of Miss Hilda Hope on April 22.

WINCHESTER WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The Executive Board of the Winchester Women's Republican Club met with the president, Mrs. Robert Wood Reynolds, on Tuesday morning, April 16. Sixteen members were present.

Mrs. Charles Weiner reported on the success of the recent Helena Rubenstein dessert-lecture. The benefit realized a substantial amount for the club.

Mrs. Forest Pitman presented the slate of officers for the coming year. Mrs. Walter W. Winship of the Club is chairman of the Hobby Shop and Sale, a Republican money-making event to be held on April 24 and 25 at 3 Joy street, Boston. Contributions of articles for sale from antiques to zinnias (A to Z) will be gratefully received.

Concerning the appearance of Senator Taft Saturday afternoon at the Town Hall and the Eisenhower rally to be held Monday evening at the High School, the Club is sponsoring both activities but the position of the club is completely impartial and non-committal in respect to the candidates, merely wishing to give both candidates or their representatives an opportunity to speak before the voters of Winchester.

CO-OPERATIVE BANK PAID UP DIVIDEND RAISED TO 3%

The dividend to be paid holders of Paid up Shares of the Winchester Co-operative Bank has been raised to 3% per annum, according to an announcement made by Mr. Ernest R. Eustis, Treasurer of the Bank. The next dividend, voted by the Directors at the meeting held April 10th, will be paid May 5th.

This is welcomed news to many Winchester people, as the great majority of the $1,330,000 invested in Winchester Co-operative Paid up Shares is held by our townspeople.

It is expected that a great many of the dividend checks mailed will be returned for deposit at 2 1/2% in the new Saving Share Accounts as announced in the April 4th issue of the Star.

Johnny Farrell, great little floor man and playmaker of Winchester High School's undefeated Eastern Massachusetts championship Basketball team, won new honors in the recently completed Gold Medal Basketball Tournament sponsored by the Woburn Y.M.C.A. At the tournament banquet held at the Y last week Wednesday evening Farrell received the two top tourney awards, receiving a Gold United States Federation Honor Medal for being the most outstanding player of the tournament, and the Special Sportsman-ship charm awarded to the tourney's most sportsmanlike player. The Federation Honor Medal makes Johnny eligible for the 1952 All-American Gold Medal Team, a really outstanding honor.

WINCHESTER TENNIS ASSOCIATION

The association's annual spring meeting was held on Wednesday the 8th at the home of 1951's President, E. Whitney Gray. The results of the election of officers for the now present 1952 season are as follows:

President, Arthur R. Hills. Vice-President, Allen T. Burros. Secretary-Treasurer, Dwight E. Bellows.

Members of the Governing Board, Everett W. Gray, Forbes H. Norris. Boys and girls will not be the only members of the town who will be able to take advantage of the free tennis clinic which met with so much success last year. A women's get-together is being arranged by Mrs. Arthur Hills to enable housewives, who played tennis before or who wish to learn, one morning in the week for this enjoyment and exercise. Arrangements are now being made to accommodate the children who are too young for school, where they may play together safely and in constant view.

It was voted by the members present to continue the associations membership in the Old Colony League and sponsor the annual town Spring tournament which is again being planned around Memorial Day.

GOOD SPORTS' ASSEMBLY AT WASHINGTON SCHOOL

The children of Mrs. Ruth Graham's third and fourth grade combination at the George Washington School have organized the Good Sports' Club which meets every Friday afternoon. School citizenship is discussed during a business meeting which is followed by a program. Their assembly program, held March 26, was in the form of one of their club meetings.

Billy Lamarche announced the following officers: president, Marcia Eaton; vice-president, Valerie Ducharme; secretary, Paul Harrigan; program chairman, Tommy Purdie and George Neville.

At the close of the business session, the assembly was turned over to Tommy Purdie who announced the following program of spring songs and games:

Bike — Susan Gleason.

Marbles — Stephen Morison and Billy Lamarche.

Jump rope — Linda Senter and Judy Donovan.

Roller skates — Bill Fitts and Carmeline Holland.

Hopscotch — Susan Carter and Nanette Marshall.

Next on the program was an operetta, "The Coming of Spring," with the following pupils in the cast:

Queen of Spring — Sonja Weeks

April — Gloria Rotondi

Crocuses — Marcia Eaton, Penny Dalziel

Bluebird — Penny Borden

Robin — Suzanne Meek

Tulip — Beverly Bailey

Daffodil — Valerie Ducharme

Jack Frost — James Bogue

Helter — Paul Harrigan

Skelter — Andy Sjolholm

Anglexworm — George Neville

King of Winter — Lawrence Bennett

Nanette Marshall and Judy Donovan played the piano for the children to enter and leave the assembly hall.

BOAT CLUB NEWS

Many of the younger members have been taking advantage of the spring weather to use those few club facilities available in advance of the official opening. A few of the sailors have been busy with sandpaper and paint, getting their boats ready for the water. On the more sunny days, they could be seen looking longingly at the Tufts College dinghies, already in commission, at the south end of the lake.

The non-sailors, both boys and girls, have developed a sudden passion for the old sea-saw, which the directors had considered scrapping. On one day alone, there were four youngsters on board most of the time with others waiting their turn.

The Snipe fleet will have a desirable addition in Mr. and Mrs. Bob Huggins of M. I. T., who have brought in the "Shady Two" from Rochester, N. Y., a boat well known for high point scoring in national regattas. One of the finest motor boats yet seen on the lake is a new Lyman (runabout), received last week end by Vice Commodore Duerhing.

Bertie and Jim Newman have been hard at work with spade and shovel, putting in new plants and digging out dead wood.

It is hoped that a large crew will be on hand tomorrow morning, April 19th, to get the floats into the water. If enough members will join in, the job can be completed easily by lunch time.

GRADUATED FROM AVIATION SCHOOL

Aviation Electronicsman Thomas P. Dee, Jr., USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Dee of 11 Fairmount street, recently graduated from the Aviation Electronics Technician-Electronicsman School at the United States Naval Air Technical Training Center, Memphis, Tenn.

Dee, who has been transferred to Fleet Airborne Electronics Training Unit, Atlantic, Naval Air Station, Norfolk, Va., entered the Naval service in March, 1951. He is a graduate of Winchester High School.

Pvt. Charles F. Deroo, son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Deroo of 36 Lebanon street, has arrived at Fort Dix, N. J., and has been assigned to Co. F, 39th Infantry Regt., of the 9th Infantry Division for 16 weeks of basic training. Deroo is married and is a graduate of Winchester High School, class of 1947.

Ruby Willis,
Secretary.

FLAHERTY BREAKS ARM

Loss of Veteran Shortstop
Hard Blow for Nine

Winchester High School's current baseball hopes suffered a hard blow last Friday afternoon when Bobby Flaherty, veteran shortstop, broke his arm in two places in a practice game with Malden.

The teams were playing at Manchester Field and Flaherty had singled to right. He made his turn around the base with his eyes on the ball in the outfield. In doing so he tripped over the bag and fell heavily, breaking his left arm, an arm he had previously injured in a fall from his bicycle.

"Bobby" was taken at once to the office of Dr. Phillip J. McManus, who after a preliminary examination, ordered him removed to the Winchester Hospital where he was attended by Doctors McManus, Alexander, Atkin and Charles Rooney. The arm was set and placed in a cast so that "Bobby" was able to leave Tuesday for Washington with the basketball team.

His loss to the baseball team is a heavy one. Not only is he an experienced shortstop with great ground-covering ability and a fine arm, but he is a constant threat on the bases because of his speed. Coach Bartlett will probably shift Charlie McLaughlin from second base to shortstop, playing Co-Captain Ed Dalton at second and Ron McKenzie at third, with Co-Captain John Dilorio at first. McLaughlin is a sure-fire fielder, but lacks Flaherty's speed and throwing arm. Dalton has done most of his playing at third.

CLARK STREET REUNION

Four Clark street boys, all presently in the armed services, were home over the Easter week-end, the street taking on some of the aspects of a grand reunion.

From Sampson Air Force Base came Cpl. John Nowell, former member of the Star pressroom, now attached to Headquarters, 2nd Squadron of the Training Aids Division at Sampson. John, looking very natty in his Air Force blues, dropped in at the Star Office for a welcome visit Monday morning.

Cpl. Jack Murphy's Easter week-end was part of a 20-day furlough from his duties at Lowry Air Force Base, Denver, Colorado. He flew east from Denver via the Fireman Jack O'Brien, USN, expects to see plenty of Winchester while his ship is in drydock in Boston. Recently back from a Cuba cruise, his ship was at Newport, R. I., while O'Brien was home for Easter. It will, however, come to Boston soon and will be drydocked there until the end of July.

Until the end of the Clark street quartet in Winchester for Easter was Jack Flaherty, seaman, 2/c, home for three days from the Brooklyn Navy Yard, where he is assigned to shore duty.

CHASED CHUTE FROM PLANE CRASH

Robert N. Sheppard of New Meadows road, formerly attached to the Massachusetts Air National Guard, had a thrilling experience April 9, when he and a Cape Cod Fire Warden chased a parachute that came down from the wreckage of a military transport and a jet fighter after their collision at noon on Wednesday over Cape Edwards.

Mr. Sheppard, who was on the Cape on business, was riding with the Fire Warden when the two big planes collided, the sight being awesome beyond description. After the terrific detonations of exploding engines and gas tanks Mr. Sheppard and the Warden noticed a chute drifting down and took off after it in the Fire Warden's Dodge truck.

Guided by radio from the Air Tower they followed the erratic flight of the chute until it finally came to earth on a farm in Hicksville, eight miles from the spot of the plane accident. The chute was found to be empty, but there was no way of telling that while Mr. Sheppard and his companion were chasing it. The entire experience was one neither will soon forget.

On Friday evening, May 9, the Glee Club of Lesley College, Cambridge, will present for its annual concert the operetta, "Trial By Jury," by Gilbert and Sullivan. For the first time, men from Harvard University will appear in the cast. Among the members of the Lesley Glee Club included in "Trial By Jury" is Miss Elizabeth Carlisle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Carlisle, Jr., Miss Carlisle is a member of the class of 1954.

ROUND THE WORLD CRUISE ABOARD SCHOONER "YANKEE"

Dr. Raymond A. Dillon of Winchester, noted Radiologist, and a member of several hospital staffs, has an unusual, interesting, and very exciting avocation. He likes to sail around the world. Not, however, as a typical tourist aboard a luxurious and comfortable ocean liner, but as a crew member aboard the world-famous sailing schooner, "Yankee".

The "Yankee's" home port is Gloucester, Mass., and her captain and owner is Capt. Irving Johnson. The schooner, under Capt. Johnson's command, has made several adventure-filled trips around the globe, stopping off at various islands, remote ports, and other fascinating far-away places. Originally a Dutch pilot boat, the "Yankee" is equipped with the latest underwater photographic instruments and other unusual scientific equipment including radio-tide pressure-hunting instruments.

The vessel carries fourteen passengers, including Capt. Johnson's wife and children. All passengers are also crew members, every "hand" pitching in to do his part in running the ship. In fact, the only regular "paid" crew member on board is the cook.

Dr. Dillon, who trained at Roanoke University and Harvard Medical School, and who, in 1932 was the assistant to Nobel Prize winner, Dr. Murphy, has accompanied the Johnsons on several of their globe-circling cruises.

Although Dr. Dillon's primary object in making these voyages was medical research, the trips also afforded him an ideal opportunity to turn his outstanding photographic skills to good use. As a result, Dr. Dillon not only has a rich storehouse of fabulous and fascinating tales to tell, but he can also illustrate his adventure stories with his unique and thrilling photographs, both movies and stills.

Dr. Dillon is a rather modest and unassuming gentleman, and he rarely relates his adventures before the public. But when he does, it is an experience the audience long remembers.

On Friday, May 2nd, Winchesterites are to have the pleasure of hearing Dr. Dillon give his thrilling illustrated lecture entitled "Sailing the Yankee Around the World". The lecture, which will take place in the Social Hall of the First Baptist Church, is being sponsored by Troop 7, the church's Boy Scout Troop. The funds raised from the sale of the very reasonably priced tickets will go to purchase camping and other Scouting equipment for the use of the Troop's 40 Scouts.

Troop 7's Scouts enthusiastically assisted by Pack 7's Cubs, are now in the process of disposing of the limited number of tickets. As an inducement to spur ticket sales, the three boys who sell the most tickets will receive prizes of worthwhile camping equipment. Winchester people interested in attending Dr. Dillon's lecture may obtain tickets from one of the boys, or by calling Lewis Foster (WI 6-1522) or Erskine Kelley (WI 6-2559).

WINCHESTER DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION

The month of March proved a busy one for the three-nurse staff of the Winchester District Nursing Association, with 430 visits and the pleasant excitement of seven new babies. The town-wide illness of the past month did not add greatly to the nurses' work, however, the regular calls and visits to chronic cases made the weeks full ones for Mrs. Doris Wiklund, executive director; Miss Peterson and Miss Folan.

Mrs. Joseph Tansey, education chairman, reported with great insight and clarity on the Union Health Plan, recently voted on by Weston, Wellesley and Needham. These larger towns had voted not to take in smaller towns, such as Dover and Westwood. The election was being closely watched by Massachusetts towns and health agencies, for this decision might influence others along similar trends. Smaller towns who cannot afford adequate health services should be included with the larger towns so that such services may be made possible. Mrs. Tansey stated. The State passed legislation in 1948 giving towns of less than 25,000 population (without qualified services and personnel in the health fields) ten years to unite with neighboring towns to form a Union. There are, of course, two schools of thought on this subject — one believing that it is the only way to grant small towns the chance to have good health services, while the second group fears that unions may mean taking personal initiative from the communities.

Mrs. Tansey pointed out that Winchester does have an adequate health system. But nearby towns do not, and would find it advantageous to join Winchester in a Union.

The June meeting has been set for June 13, at the home of Mrs. John Chipman on Lorena road. Details of the time and speakers will be announced later in the Star.

Mrs. Theodore Browne, president of the Winchester District Nursing Association, and Mrs. Wiklund, had attended the important United Community Services meeting on April 3 at the Mason Memorial Building on Somerset street. Mrs. Browne attended the institute on public relations and reported to the board members on the excellent material presented that day, especially the new approach to public relations affecting health and social services. Eminent speakers such as Donald McCommond of Monsanto; Walter Raleigh of the New England Land Council; Robert Walker, Newton-Wellesley Hospital; Emerson Hunt, New England Tel. and Tel.; and Laurence O. Pratt of B.B.D. and O. were on the program.

Mrs. Wiklund attended a most interesting and challenging colloquy on Home Medical Care, with Dr. Hugh R. Leavell as moderator; Dr. Henry J. Bakst, Mrs. Bessie Dana, and Dr. Franz Goldman, experts; Dr. Archie Abrams, Donald W. Moreland, and Miss Sophie C. Nelson as questioners. Their discussion brought out a new trend in hospital service—providing hospital care when the patient needs it, but permitting him to go home as soon as possible (or in chronic cases) to free the beds for patients needing them. Patients can then be continued at home, or by their own doctors or by hospital staff physicians.

Basic Airman Joseph Green, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Green of 43 Myrtle terrace, has finished four weeks of Air Force indoctrination training at the Sampson Air Force Base in Geneva, N. Y. He will complete his indoctrination there about May 15.

HAROLD B. GORES

TO SPEAK AT PARENT FACULTY ASSOCIATION MEETING

The Annual Meeting for members of the Winchester High School Parent Faculty Association will be held in the school auditorium next Tuesday at 8 p. m. The parents of all high school students are urged to attend this important meeting, the final activity of the P.F.A. this school year.

An interesting and informative talk will be given by Mr. Harold B. Gores, superintendent of schools in Newton. His subject will be "High School Education, 1950 Model." Mr. Gores is a leader in educational circles and is certain to have an interesting message.

The meeting will open with a musical program featuring a mixed glee club of some of the high school's best singers under the direction of Miss Eleanor Anifantis. This will be followed by a brief business session conducted by the Association's president, Mr. Hazen Ayer.

Among the items of business on the agenda are the report of the ways and means committee chairman, Mr. Harry Whiton, and the allocation of receipts of the recent Spring card party for the benefit of the Scholarship Fund.

Preceding the talk by Mr. Gores will be the election of Association officers for the 1952-1953 school year. The present officers, in addition to Mr. Ayer and Mr. Whiton, are:

Mrs. J. W. Shoemaker, vice president; Mrs. Foster Cleaves, secretary; Mrs. Edward Stacy, treasurer; and these committee chairmen: Mrs. H. L. Macauley, social; Albert Swazey and Mrs. A. J. Rizzo, membership; Edward A. Bartlett and Mrs. Victor Moses, program; Mrs. F. D. Hawkins, room parents; Mrs. James Coon, nominating; and L. P. Yale, publicity.

TO HONOR WINCHESTER FLYER

Lt. Conrad Larson, Navy flyer and well known Winchester boy, will be honored by the Aero Club of New England on Thursday, April 24, when he will be presented with a plaque for having made the longest flight out of Boston in a helicopter.

The presentation will be made at noon at the University Club at the regular monthly luncheon meeting of the Aero club, and it is of further local interest that a Winchester man, Mr. Robert F. Lybeck of Everett road, a director and past president of the club, will make the presentation.

Lt. Larson, now operations officer at the Naval Air Station in Atlanta, Ga., made his record flight during the first week of July in 1950, flying 3591 miles from Boston to San Diego, Cal. He was at the time stationed at the Squantum Naval Air Station.

Incidentally, Winchester friends of Lt. Larson are welcome to attend the luncheon.

CAMPING TRIP

At Camp Fellsland on the weekend of April 5th and 6th, 19 Boy Scouts of Troop 3 of the First Congregational Church had a "swell" time passing tests and enjoying the out-of-doors. It was reported to have been the most successful overnight camping trip yet. The trip was supervised by Edgar D. Hinton, Edward W. Little, Thomas M. Hill, and Lyle L. Longworth.

The scouts who made the trip were George Denton, Tony Laban, Joe Camara, Danny Scott, Ted Little, Chris Wadsworth, Dick Bennett, Dave Leverette, Andy Hertig, John Uffelder, Rennie Johnston, Jerry Marks, Larry Longworth, Bob Needham, Don Murray, Dick Dawson, Craig Davenport, Doug Gowdy, and George Wyman.

The weekend gave them an ideal opportunity to pass the following tests: camp making, lay of the land, cooking, woodlore, edible wild plants, first aid, fire making and map reading.

Winchester High School's undefeated basketball team, winners of three championships and 25 straight games, left Winchester at 9:30 Tuesday morning, bound for the South Station and the long-awaited trip to Washington. Accompanied by Coach Edward A. Bartlett and Athletic Director Henry T. Knowlton, the boys were driven to Boston by mothers of two of the players, Mrs. Rodney Long and Mrs. Frank Hawkins, by Jost Michelsen, quarterback on last fall's undefeated football team; and Miss Loretta Carleton, aunt of Basketball Manager "Bill" Carleton.

On hand to see the group off were other basketball mothers, including Mrs. James H. Coon, Mrs. Alan Howard, Mrs. Theodore Atkinson, Mrs. Paul Forester, Jr., Mrs. Charles Murphy and Mrs. Roderick Thompson. Mrs. Marguerite Bartlett, wife of the head coach, and Priscilla Symmes, sister of Stowell Symmes, were also present. Color pictures of the boys and their coaches were snapped just before they entered the cars by Mrs. Atkinson, through it took a bit of the old army discipline on the part of Coach Bartlett to keep the boys still long enough for the snaps to be made.

Officially representing the Washington Trip Committee who raised the funds to make the trip to the capital possible was Police Officer James E. Farrell, whose son, Johnny, was one of the varsity regulars.

Boys making the trip were Captain John Dilorio, Doug Hawkins, Stowell Symmes, Bob Forester, Charlie Murphy, Rod Long, Pete Coon, "Stu" Thompson, Norman Howard, Bobby Flaherty (broken arm and all), Johnny Atkinson, "Kit" Carleton, John Farrell and Manager Bill Carleton.

From the South Station in Boston the team left on the brand new "Senator" for Washington at 11:45, after lunching and dining on the train. Taxis took the party to the Lafayette Hotel from the Station.

The team is returning home today, leaving Washington at noon on the "Senator" and arriving at the South Station in Boston at 8:40.

LINCOLN SCHOOL NEWS

Kindergarten Assembly

A visit to the land of make-believe was presented by the kindergarten pupils of the Lincoln School under the direction of their teachers, Miss Winifred Richardson and Mrs. Margaret Withington, at an assembly for parents and schoolmates on April 9.

Bette Lou Gleason and Gail Morin welcomed the audience and invited everyone to go to the "Land of Song and Make-Believe." The program that followed included original dramatizations of favorite songs:

1. "Mistress Mary" — Camille Colucci as Mistress Mary, and Laurel Edwards, Teresa Perritano, Linda Pietrantonio, and Sandra Wingate as Flowers.

2. "Hey Diddle Diddle" — Susan Tully as the Cat, Norma Wood as the Cow, Ralph Bertolucci as the Moon, Paul Gentile as the Spoon, Mary Ann Deslongchamps as the Dish, and Domenic Amico as the Dog.

3. "Five Little Chickadees" — Jayne Baird, Constance Batalis, Susan Buchanan, Helen Nash, Diane Nault.

4. "Lollipop Man" — Richard Stiles as the Lollipop Man, and Janet Ward, Dorothy Woodard, Deirdre Cawse, Nancy Falzano, Margaret Rich, and Adrienne Grimes as the Colors.

5. "Ten Little Indians" — Richard Becken, Richard Kirkpatrick, Albert LaTorella, Ronald Eriksen, Herbert Ellard, Jimmy Cruwys, Marc Luca, Dick McIntosh, and Richard Halverson.

6. Sing a Song of Sixpence — David Carter as the King, Barbara LaTorella as the Queen, Jane Little as the Maid, and Walter Aldoriso, Kevin Nelson, Peter Novak, Walter McGee, James Dodson, and Billy Palmer as the Blackbirds.

The program concluded with two rhythm band selections by the entire group. Gail Morin led them in the "Jumping Rope," while Bette Lou Gleason was the leader for "The Band March."

who didn't want to be an Easter Bunny. His father, played by Betty Bowes, had a sore leg, and his mother, Nancy O'Neil, wanted Peter to be an Easter Bunny. His rabbit friends, Gratia Lewis, Susan Novak, James Johnson, Natalie Palmer, Charles Tofari, Gayle Palace, Judith Carr, and Sally Leighton, all agreed to help him. Ray Tooker, Jackie Webster, Gible Vincent, and Joyce Horvath worried about the extra work they would have on Easter when they delivered the baskets. David Rupert, Nancy Harrold, Ricky Pendergast, and Robert McIntire thought that Peter was too young to do a good job.

However, in the usual happy ending, Peter decided to do what was expected of him. With the help of the magic of grandfather bunny, Anthony Shields, everyone was happy, and Peter was the best Easter Bunny in the world.

Alaska Slides
Recently Miss Winifred Richardson showed the slides of her trip to Alaska to Mrs. Elizabeth McDonough's fourth grade pupils. The children have been studying about Alaska, and they were enthusiastic about the interesting views of glaciers, mountains, cities, homes and industries. Especially interesting were the shots of the totem poles and Indian burial grounds.

KINDERGARTEN ASSEMBLY AT WYMAN SCHOOL

On the morning of April 8 the pupils of Miss Ann Dolan's kindergarten class presented their Easter assembly to an audience of their parents and schoolmates. The hall and stage were decorated with pictures of huge Easter bunnies in bright colors which the children had painted.

Everyone enjoyed the program of songs, dances, and rhythm band selections by the youngsters. Among the songs were "Peter Cottontail," "Easter Duck and Easter Chick," and "Bunny Pink Ears." Rhythm dances to victrola music saw the children nimbly displaying their skill at heel, toe, and walk, walk, walk. Rhythm band selections included "Easter Duck" and "Easter Chick."

A MESSAGE TO WINCHESTER'S OPEN-MINDED, LOYAL REPUBLICANS

CAN REPUBLICANS EVER WIN AGAIN?

• THE SITUATION: UNPLEASANT

By your vote, you've helped Winchester "go Republican" year after year. But the elections go the opposite. Now it's time for Winchester to "go Republican" once again. Question is — which way Republican? One way probably means the death of the Party. The other means the birth of a modern-day kind of Republicanism.

• LOST: 5 ELECTIONS IN A ROW

Why do elections keep going "the other way?" Primarily because, nationally, Republicans are a minority. (And right now, Republican Party strength is frightfully low!) In simple mathematics, Republicans must take 10 1/2 million (sixths) Independent votes to win. Heretofore, the Party has never had a candidate who really appealed to the Independents. Now it can. Now it must.

• TRUMANISM: WHERE IS ITS STING?

The news that Mr. Truman will not run should make every Republican think twice. The Democratic candidate will not be hurt by Truman's past actions — any more than the Harding administration hurt Coolidge's chances. Memory is short, these days. Independent voters that would automatically have gone to the Republicans (votes against Trumanism) will now go Democratic, as they have before, unless the Republican candidate is more Independent-appealing than the Democrat!

• THAT'S WHY: WINCHESTER'S IKE CLUB

This organization — the majority of whom are young people who never knew the intangible "good old days" of 25 years ago — looks to Dwight D. Eisenhower to lead Republicans out of the wilderness, save the two-party system and unite America. Trained as an administrator, not a criticizer, Eisenhower is the man who appeals to the Independents (his appeal is so great he might even capture some Southern

AMERICAN LEGION "VISITATION NIGHT"

A large turnout of both local and visiting Legionnaires is expected at the next meeting of Winchester Post No. 97 which is to be held on April 24th. This is an annual event for the local Post and one in which there is always much interest. Commander Collins anticipates that there will be many Legionnaires from all over the state in attendance.

ance to hear the speaker of the evening, Department Vice Commander Joseph L. Walsh.

Marshall R. Phil, President of the Massachusetts Board of Real Estate Appraisers announces that the early response to the "Shoppers' World" Workshop Seminar of the Board has been excellent and anyone desiring to attend should make a reservation. This Seminar is to be held on Monday, April 21, 1952, 7:00 p. m., at the University Club, 40 Trinity place, Boston.

states!). The Independents have no fears about Eisenhower's views on foreign policy — nor do diplomats like Luce, Clay and Paul Hoffman. And he is a leader! Is it any wonder, then, that the nation's leading publications — N. Y. Times, Life, Herald Tribune, Kansas City Star, Reader's Digest, Time, etc. — are pleading for the Republicans to nominate him?

• THAT'S WHY: REPUBLICANS WANT HIM

All three New England governors, Massachusetts' congressmen want Eisenhower. The man is a Republican's Republican — or the Chairman of IBM, President of Santa Fe R.R., Chairman of General Electric, Chairman of National Steel, and the President of Ford Motor Co., wouldn't be actively campaigning for him. (And can you imagine Eisenhower, with his administrative abilities, allowing strikes to get out of hand?) Educators like Griswold of Harvard, Wriston of Brown, Baxter of Williams... leading women like Mildred Horton, Mary Martin, Oveta Culp Hobby — they're for Ike, too.

• SO: ASK YOURSELF THESE QUESTIONS

Is there any other way to win the election? Is there any other living Republican (or American) who has done more for his country? Is there any other man who appeals to Republicans, Independents, Dixiecrats and Democrats? Isn't it an odd quirk of fate that Massachusetts' Republicans this April 29th have the chance to salvage the Party, tear off the tag of isolationism, go modern and win the election — all at once! What an opportunity! An opportunity that probably will never come again.

• COME ON, WINCHESTER!

Whistle "I Like Ike" and put spring in your step as you head for the Town Hall. Vote Group One on the ballot — the delegates for Eisenhower. Then, in your back hand, write in the name Eisenhower. Victory is certainly going to be sweet, after 20 years of waiting.

Letters Home From A Star Subscriber
At sea about 400 miles east of Scotland

Sunday, March 24, 1952
Dear Everybody:

We've been at sea more than a week now and it's been interesting in a way. Until today it has been a bit too cool on deck to sit about very long, but at no time have we had frost.

But wind we certainly have had aplenty. Fortunately, none of it to speak of was a head wind that would cause us delay but we've had following and northern gales that at times made us walk as carefully as we could.

We have one of the two suites now. When we started out, we had a nice large cabin but I had to use an upper berth and after getting nearly rolled out of it several times a night, we got the Captain to switch us to this suite which is right under the bridge, so we can see out windows (not round portholes) both front and to the south. All the rooms are fairly large. The bathroom is larger than you would find in most homes. The bedroom part is about 10x12 feet with a bed on each side, besides two large closets, bedside tables and chairs. The cabin is about 10x15 feet, not counting the entrance hall. So you see we are very comfortably fixed.

Yesterday was the first day that we had any amount of sunshine even though it was not very bright. Today is pretty good and not as rough. But all the other days since leaving New York, the skies have been heavily overcast.

One night we had heavy snow so that we had to go to the cabin and keep the fog horn going for several hours. Not a very comforting experience.

But there are few ships on this route. We passed another ship of this company and one of the Swedish lines and that is all we have seen since leaving Cape Cod. We are sailing in a straight line from Cape Cod to the north of Scotland and the Orkney Islands. The passage is fairly narrow but we don't expect to see anything of the land because at our present speed, we will go through in the middle of the night. Then across the North Sea to Denmark and Copenhagen by Wednesday night, if all goes well.

We'll only be in Copenhagen long enough to take off four jet planes which are on the deck and a few large cases from the hold. However, these will have to be taken off in daylight so we may have until about 10 a. m. to see a little of the city. We hope to be able to get ashore for a few hours anyway.

The meals are pretty good. Always at noon time we start off with Smorgasbord and then a main dish which frequently is fish. We have had salmon in two or three forms and some Norwegian fish that we haven't seen before. At other times, it's chicken or roast of some kind.

At breakfast there's eggs and bacon after cereal, toast, etc. kinds of jam and four kinds of cheeses from which you help yourself. So you see, we fare well.

When all are accounted for at a table, there are just seven of us, including the Captain who is a very nice chap and speaks good English. He spends quite a lot of time with us in the lounge evenings and his stories are very interesting. There's a young Swede aboard who isn't too bad. A Norwegian student who is more or less a pain in the neck, a ship officer who has been in the Orient for three years who is o. k. and a dumbbell that I can't make out at all.

I think I got some good pictures of the sea yesterday. I took them looking toward the stern for we were running before a heavy swell that was coming from the north and hitting us slant-wise. When the stern got down in the trough you would think the following wave would just overwhelm us but she rides them pretty well. We've got 3,000 tons of corn in the lower holds and the rest of the cargo, while bulky, is fairly light in weight.

We've been up on deck this morning for about an hour. The sun is hardly out but the temperature, for a guess, is better than 55 degrees and remember we are now pretty far north. We are in the Gulf Stream but at this latitude it only moves about one knot an hour and is pretty well mixed up with the rest of the Atlantic. Still its warming effect is very great.

We keep changing our time daily, usually about 30 or 40 minutes for a day. Before I left home, we were wondering how long the days would be when we got farther up the line. My guess was that at this time of year the daylight would be about the same. I think it is longer because the last three months I've been up at sunrise and that's about 5:45 a. m. our time here.

One of the few amusements aboard is a good short wave radio in the lounge. As there are only a few of us, you can sit it whenever you want. I've had Moscow (in English to North America), South Africa, Australia, San Francisco and points in between. Naturally there is no interference from other sets and practically no static. So in a way we know something of what is going on.

Tuesday

Some time in late March we didn't go through Pentland Firth yesterday. Instead we passed north of the Orkney Islands. The Captain had a wireless that a southwest gale was blowing across the North Sea. We were in a following wind from the west.

It seems that Pentland Firth is a bit of narrow water where the tide runs in and out at about 10 knots an hour. With a west wind and an easterly sea, it can be very dangerous to all but the most powerful ship. Se we came north. We were sorry to miss seeing the Firth because had we gone that way, we would have passed one of the entrances to Scapa Flow which is still a great naval base.

But about noon we sighted the first of the Orkneys at its northern end. A big jagged rock about 3 miles long with precipitous cliffs, it would make you think of Gibraltar though not as high nor so big in area. We ran within a mile of it and could see the waves beating against it and the spray seemed at times to go 80-100 feet in the air. An hour later and two miles east, a larger island, steep sides of rock barren except for dry grass, or so it seemed. It was a flat island with a place where anyone would want to live. I don't know if you could land on it for there was nothing that looked like a beach. Here too the waves were flying high against the rocky cliffs.

The rest of the day we saw nothing but a very occasional drizzle off on the horizon. After dark, however, we saw numerous lights from lighthouses on the islands to the south of us. As we passed, we seemed not to be very far away from some of them and we wished it were daylight so that we could have seen the islands themselves.

This morning we are east of the Orkneys and really in the North Sea. The stars were out when we turned in last night. This morning we are under a heavily clouded sky which looks all the more menacing because at times there's a break in the clouds, you can see a patch of sunlight on the waves in the distance but, by contrast, the rest of the sky looks black. Occasionally there's a flurry of snow because this morning it is near freezing and much colder than the last few days have been. We hear by radio that southern Norway has had spring weather for days but this morning it is near zero in Oslo!

I have been up on the deck just before the bridge. There are two enclosed verandas here, one on each side. And I have been watching the sea which is fascinating. A few days ago, we were running before a heavy sea which looked as if it were going to overwhelm us but she rides them pretty well. We've got 3,000 tons of corn in the lower holds and the rest of the cargo, while bulky, is fairly light in weight.

It's that kind of thing that makes one unafraid. You have a feeling that the crew of 39 know what should be done, and how to do it, and more than that are willing to do it.

A good ship. It's kept as tidy as a private yacht. The only thing we wish is that it would travel a little faster (now we're only going about 23 speed or 10 knots). But freighters don't ever try for much more than 15 knots. When I asked the Captain why, he said "because the one or two that I know that can do 20 knots cannot use that speed in the North Atlantic. It was told to me by a year, and less after crossing the North Sea."

I was interested to know why the North Sea should be so much rougher and more than the Atlantic. I was told it was because of the depth. The Atlantic is deep. The North Sea is 150 to 200 feet only.

You have perhaps seen a shoal near deep water? As a shoal comes over the deep water, it is calmer looking but when it hits the shoal the crest breaks, it tumbles over itself and rumbles. That's what's happened here in the North Sea now and the ship is getting a buffeting. Every once in a while, it seems as if a giant of the sea were striking the ship with the back of his hand. And while the ship is getting a buffeting, we are getting a kick out of it ourselves.

Wednesday, 10:00 a. m. We have passed Norway and are now skirting the Swedish coast south of Gothenburg. This whole area is a nice field for miles. Only channels about two miles wide have been cleared and marked with buoys. Weather clear, sea smooth, temperature below freezing, making good time. Many small trawlers and fishing vessels passing us headed for the North Sea.

Wednesday, 3:26 p. m. (3/26/52) We are not far from Copenhagen. Have just passed Kronborg Palace at Elsinore and there we took the pilot aboard. In a couple of hours we will reach Copenhagen. Have skirted the Swedish coast for the past several hours. It was interesting. From now on, waterway between Sweden and Denmark is quite narrow. We can easily see at the almost continuous line of towns on the Swedish side some as large as 50 to 100,000 population. I'll finish this now so as to mail it as soon as we dock.

Yours,
A Correspondent

WINCHESTER WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Winchester Women's Republican Club will be held on Wednesday, April 23rd, at 12:30, in the Parish Hall of the Church of the Epiphany.

The club regrets that within the week and after the announcements had gone out to the membership, word arrived that the scheduled speaker for the meeting, Governor Theodore R. McKeldin, had been forced to cancel his engagement here. Governor McKeldin had expected to return from Europe in time to speak but had been ordered instead to Israel. He has, however, advised the club that he will try to speak here next year.

A large group of prominent Republican leaders will be guests of honor at the luncheon, and in addition to the main speaker, yet to be announced, Roger Allen Moore, a 21 year old student at Harvard, will speak. Mr. Moore, who voted this year for the first time, presents the ideals and political philosophy of his contemporaries. He is widely acclaimed as a brilliant young man and completely captivated his audience at the recent Lincoln Day Dinner.

OUT-OF-TOWN ALARMS

The Fire Department answered two out-of-town alarms last Friday night. At 11:15 p. m. a fire in Box 25 at 12:45 sent Engine 2 and a crew under Captain E. D. Fitzgerald to assist at a brush fire on School street in that city.

Every few minutes we hit some heavier waves. The ship will rise on the first one, then sink forward, then rise higher on the next one and plunge down deep. Then a wave of spray will come right over the bow and back up to the bridge. A man exposed to it would be stung as if with hail.

But while all this wind and spray is coming aboard, there are three Norwegian sailors out forward of the bridge, of all things, washing the ship to be ready for painting when we reach port! Of course, they are doing this where there is some shelter from the wind and spray. But for two hours now they have been doing this work bare handed and, as I said before, it's near freezing.

It's that kind of thing that makes one unafraid. You have a feeling that the crew of 39 know what should be done, and how to do it, and more than that are willing to do it.

WRECK IN CAPE COD CANAL SLATED FOR REFLOATING TRY

Winchester Man Engineers Raising Big Ship

After laying half-submerged in the Cape Cod Canal for the best part of the year, the S. S. Arizona Sword will soon be back afloat.

At least the United States Army Engineers, who run the Cape Cod Canal and George M. Byrne, veteran Boston engineer who has a contract to remove the ship, believe the wreck will soon be back on top of the tide instead of under it.

The Arizona Sword sat down on the bottom of the canal following a collision with the coastwise collier Berwindvale on May 5, 1951. All crewmen were rescued but the condition of the ship seemed so hopeless to her owners, the Sword Line, and to the companies who insured the ship and her 4,800-ton cargo of sulphur, that they abandoned claim to the vessel.

This meant that it became the property of the United States Government because it rested in the government-owned waterway. Bids were asked for removal of the ship, and Engineer Byrne was the fortunate bidder among six firms wanting the job.

There have been many times since then that he has wondered whether the ship should be left to rot or get the job. All wrecking problems are complicated, and the principal obstacles to getting out the Arizona Sword are a narrow channel and very strong tides.

For many months, Mr. Byrne and his men have been removing the heavy cargo of sulphur from the holds of the tide-washed freighter. While this freight was inside the vessel, lifting her up would have been impossible. Salvage of the cargo may prove to be a profitable by-product of the job, for it is valued at about $265,000 and, according to Mr. Byrne, samples of the sulphur show that it hasn't been hurt by being submerged.

With cargo removed, work is going ahead to get the 306-foot vessel refloated. She now lies on a 32-degree list about 1,800 feet inside the east end of the canal, with the stern pointing toward the shore. The middle of the vessel is 240 feet from the breakwater and there is 35 feet of water in the ship at low tide.

A carefully engineered plan has been devised to float the ship.

Dolphins made of 60-foot steel beams have been sunk along the stern and the starboard, inshore side of the ship, to which it can be tied up when finally afloat.

The engine room has been sealed off except for the engine room skylight, through which a pipe will be run for pumping. All three holds of the ship are under water, so these must be pumped out before the ship will come to the surface.

Accordingly, all openings have been sealed up and two holds have been made watertight by placing two special steel covers over the hatches. A pipe will be run through each cover into the hold, and water filled holds through rubber gaskets. When the time comes for pumping, the water in these two holds can be pumped out by underwater pumps without any more openings.

Pontons will be lowered into the third hold and pumped out to add further buoyancy to the vessel.

If all goes well during the pumping operations, the ship will be on an even keel and rise to the surface. Cables will have been run ashore and, as soon as she is afloat, tractors will take a strain on the cables and pull the ship against the steel dolphins, where she will be secured.

Should this careful plan be defeated by the strong tides of the canal or other unforeseen problems, the alternative is to cut the ship up by the tedious process of electric torches and sell it for scrap.

And that, Mr. Byrne admits, would be a shame, for the ship is only six years old.

The canal has been the scene of other mishaps. Some years ago a collier struck a rock in the waterway, tore open her bottom, turned over and sank with a full load of coal. During the war a freighter was rammed and sunk while waiting to enter the canal from the east end.

A native of Truro, Mass., where he got most of his education by walking six miles a day to grammar school, Mr. Byrne is a self-taught engineer who describes his only "college" course as "a close study of the pick and shovel at 10 hours a day on a Cambridge sewer project."

During 50 years of successful contracting, he has gone on to supervise and build difficult sewer projects, along with sewerwater pipelines, bridges, tunnels, and dams. One of his most difficult jobs was sinking a 60-foot shaft in the Fort Point channel in Boston harbor and running a compressed air tunnel out from its bottom.

STAFF AND KEY

The Winchester Staff and Key society held a general meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Furnell, 11 Mt. Pleasant street, on Tuesday.

A brief business meeting was first conducted, during which Miss Virginia McPartland and Mr. George Hebb of Winchester, and Mr. Ronald Forbes of Arlington were elected as a nominating committee for the officers of the society for the coming year.

The balance of the meeting was spent listening to a recording of the Staff and Key production of Strauss' "A Waltz Dream," presented in March at the High School auditorium. The recording gave the members a chance to constructively criticize their own performances with a view to improving future operettas which the society will produce.

The next meeting of the Staff and Key will be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Marduer, 37 Woodside road, on Tuesday, May 13th, at 8:00 p. m.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NEWS

On Monday, April 14, the Fortnightly held the annual meeting at the Bear Hill Country Club. One hundred members enjoyed the delicious luncheon arranged by Mrs. Kingman P. Cass. Our sincere thanks to the Winchester Conservatories for the beautiful spring bouquets. This blending of lovely Easter bonnets and the beautiful bouquets were truly a picture to behold. Mrs. Harrie Nutter deserves much credit for the transportation problem.

Between luncheon courses, our president Mrs. Kenneth Hiscoc, presented Officers and Chairmen seated at the head table and expressed her sincere thanks for the wonderful support they had given her the past year. She also presented the past presidents of Fortnightly.

The guest of honor, Mrs. Ralph Swain, First Vice President of the Massachusetts State Federation Women's Clubs, spoke briefly on the purpose and aims of the Federation's Convention to be held in May in Swampscott. She urged as many as possible to attend at least part of the convention.

The business meeting convened at 2:00 p. m. and the usual opening took place. After the secretary's report was read and approved, Mrs. J. Stanley Barnes, the legislative chairman gave a brief talk.

Mrs. Frank Knight, scholarship chairman reported that Mr. James Cullen, 82 Bacon street had donated one hundred dollars for a scholarship. Many thanks to Mr. Cullen for this fine gesture.

Mrs. Frederick Cole, art chairman, gave a brief resume of the activities of this committee. As a result of active interest of this committee and its projects, they were awarded second prize which is a painting to be selected.

Mrs. Harold Given, Eighth District Director, gave us a few highlights of meetings planned for the coming year. She also reported that over four thousand dollars in various gifts had been donated to Veterans Service from the clubs in the Eighth District.

The annual report was read by the secretary, Mrs. Forbes Norris complete to the last detail and intensely interesting. It showed a very busy year had just been completed. Mrs. Frank Madge, treasurer, gave a condensed report much to her relief.

The guest artist for the afternoon was Miss Ada Dewson who entertained us with humorous monologues. Possessed of a knack of seeing ourselves as others see us, she brought us some realistic everyday happenings. Her portrayal of many different characters as well as dialects were most entertaining.

Following Miss Dewson's monologues the report of the election committee was read and accepted. With gracious expressions of good wishes Mrs. Hiscoc turned the Fortnightly gavel over to Mrs. Sidney Burr, the incoming president and presented her with a president's pin and a lovely bouquet of flowers.

With like graciousness, Mrs. Burr responded. She likened the club to a good ship; with her as captain she hopes to steer a straight course and bring it safely into harbor the coming year. She then returned the gavel to Mrs. Hiscoc to close the meeting.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

The party at Bedford Hospital will take place on Friday evening, April 25. All members who are planning to attend and need transportation, be at the Legion Home on Vine street before 6:45 p. m.

We are planning a Food Sale for next month so watch for the time and place in the next edition of the Star. Every member is asked to donate home cooked food and it will be collected from your home by members of the committee.

Dr. and Mrs. Milton J. Quinn of Church street will attend the sessions of the American College of Physicians next week in Cleveland, Ohio.

LITTLE LEAGUE TRY-OUTS SCHEDULED

Little League Board of Directors announced that initial try-outs for positions on Little League teams will be held at Loring Avenue Playground on Saturday, April 26th. Eight, nine and ten year old boys will try out in the morning from 9:00 a. m. to 12:00 noon and the 11 and 12 year old boys will try out in the afternoon from 1:30 to 4:30 p. m. A boy's age for Little League is determined by the age he will be on August 1, 1952.

Official Little League applications which require the signature of the boys parents will be distributed to the boys of Little League ages 8 to 12 years old at school through the courtesy and cooperation of the Winchester Public Schools and St. Mary's Parochial School as soon as they are available. Boys not in these schools should apply at the Winchester Sports Shop on Church street for their application forms. General instructions and information will be distributed with the applications. It is anticipated that the scheduled hall season will start with a doubleheader May 30th and a second doubleheader June 1st. After the opening doubleheaders which fall on a weekend the schedule will be played on weekday evenings with the possible exception of rain out games. The schedule of 18 games per team will then be completed by August 7th. Boys who will not be in town during all this period except possibly for a two week vacation should not make application.

The Board of Directors accepts with regret the resignation of Jack Jordan as a team manager. To fill the two vacancies Al Plummer and Sam Provinzano were chosen. Both of these men are well qualified to be team managers and have been actively interested in baseball for many years.

TEACHERS AND PARENTS UNITARIAN CHURCH

At a meeting on Monday evening, April 21st in Metcalf Hall the subject of "Mental Hygiene in the Home and Church School" will be presented at 8 o'clock.

A playlet "Scattered Showers" will be featured followed by a discussion conducted by Dr. Merrill E. Bush — director of Adult Education for the American Unitarian Association. This subject will be of interest to all parents and teachers. Everyone is cordially invited. An unusual recorded worship service will be presented in Meyer Chapel by the Metcalf Union group under the direction of Bradford Lovely.

The committee in charge of arrangements is Mrs. Warren Eldridge, Mrs. Stark Mills, Mrs. Charles T. Main, Mr. Earle Littleton and Mr. Bradford Darling.

CAR RAMMED POLE

Joseph A. Zaffina of 14 Hill street fortunately escaped injury when the Buick sedan he was driving south on Main street Tuesday night shortly before midnight struck a light pole at the entrance to Haggerty's Garage near Lake street.

The pole was moved slightly and the macadam about the pole broken. The car, which was registered to Zaffina's brother, John, was badly damaged about the right front. Zaffina told the police he fell asleep at the wheel.

DR. JOHN BRUSH

THE SENIOR FORUM

The Senior Forum will resume its 9:30 Chapel service on Sunday, April 20, after having attended the regular church service of the First Congregational Church the past two weeks. At this time, Dr. John W. Brush, Professor of Church History at Newton Andover Theological Seminary, will address the Forum on "The Meaning of the Sacraments." Dr. Brush, who has formerly held several Baptist pastorates before becoming a member of the Forum many times and is one of its favorite speakers.

The Chaplain for this service will be Richard Lowry. Assisting as deacons will be Richard Emerson and Gardner Smith.

RECRUITERS FETED

People from both sides of the tracks and literally from all over town gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth B. Toye on Mystic Valley Parkway Tuesday evening to wish "Godspeed" to Sgt. Edward Boyson and Sgt. Joseph Sullivan, who have been in charge of the Medford recruiting station and have been transferred to new posts. Sgt. Boyson goes to Officer Candidate School at Fort Benning and Sgt. Sullivan has been assigned to the Caribbean area.

About 100 persons attended Tuesday evening's affair which was really an informal reception to two recruiters and their wives. The party was charged with emotion, for most of those present were parents of boys now in service who were materially assisted in making the transition from civilian life to the armed services through the interest and assistance of Sgts. Boyson and Sullivan. There wasn't a dry eye in the hall when everyone sang "Au L'adieu, Sympa" to the Military Manpower Committee, the Selectmen, the

The point in conducting this abolition of our grade crossing which interests us is the attitude of our town officials. They have decided the abolition shall be by elevating the railroad tracks. This may be right or it may be wrong. Nothing has been said about what it will do in beautifying Winchester, in adding to its future attractiveness or in solving the future traffic problem in the center. If these phases have been duly considered they might well be included in their advocacy of the scheme. To our mind the function of our town officials is to carry out the wishes of our citizens. In this instance there seems to be a concerted action to carry out their own ideas — with a full slam bang campaign equal to that of the political fight now in progress. This campaign for elevated tracks, thus, appears to be conducted with a view of ascertaining the desire of the Town; rather with a desire to put it over. Although our crossing problem has been under discussion for many years, the coming vote is (to our memory) the first time a ballot vote has been used. This ballot vote has been so misinterpreted and offers so little beyond its own decision — either to build the elevated or not — that its actual worth may still be questioned if the future of the Town and other means of abolition are to be considered. With the present ideas in traffic separation, under an overpass and re-routing, a better plan might be devised. At any rate our town officials can do no more than present their plan and then let the Town decide by a ballot vote. It does not seem that Winchester should be subjected to such a heated campaign as we are experiencing. It is a matter for the whole Town to decide — and by the ballot.

Every one should make it a point to vote in the referendum on the elimination of the grade crossing which is to take place next Tuesday, April 22. Whichever way the question is decided by the voters there should be a vote on such an important matter that is conclusive, at least insofar as its size is concerned. This grade crossing elimination is important to the future of the town, for once work commences on raising the railroad tracks, the overhead trains through the center will be here to stay. If you want it that way, be sure that you get out and vote. The same goes for those who are opposed to raising the tracks to eliminate the crossing. Incidentally, that is what those who have sought the referendum do oppose; the elimination of the grade crossing by raising the tracks. They are not opposed to getting rid of the grade crossing, and there is nothing in the referendum article that says those who vote negatively on the question are against any solution of our grade crossing problem. Many seem to feel that if they vote against the question as it appears on the ballot, they are against eliminating the grade crossing by any means. That is not so. A negative vote simply means you do not favor raising the tracks to eliminate the crossing and are opposed to having the Selectmen continue their cooperation with State and railroad authorities to bring about elimination by this means. The Selectmen contend that the State Department of Public Works will not commit State funds to any elimination but that arrived at by raising the tracks. Some informed persons seem to feel this is a debatable point. It may well be. It does seem reasonable to suppose that if the State authorities are sincere in their desire to eliminate the Winchester crossing, and no one has questioned their sincerity, they will not insist upon a method which a majority of the town opposes. That is why it is so important to have a conclusive vote on Tuesday; to indicate to the State Department of Public Works that the town as a whole is interested in the elimination of its grade crossing, and definitely does, or does not favor the overhead tracks means of elimination. We believe the State authorities will watch the coming referendum with great interest and may well base their further action on what the town shows. Let us by all means have it show something conclusive! Every one who can do so should go to the polls on Tuesday to ensure a vote that will finally prove something about a question that has been plaguing the town for more than half a century.

USE YOUR COMMON SENSE

Editor of the Star:
 Many of us here in Winchester feel that our desires are not expressed through our limited Town Meeting form of government. At our last Town Meeting not one Town Meeting member from Precinct 3 voted "No" on the question of raising the tracks. This was all the more shocking because they had just been reminded that well over a hundred of their Precinct 3 neighbors had taken the trouble to express dissatisfaction with the plans of the Selectmen. With such a setup, the Star seems to be the only medium for a fair setting out of facts.

For you who read this, I say, "Stick by your guns". If you still doubt the wisdom of placing the railroad tracks on top of a rock-faced dyke through the center, vote "No" at the referendum. You will not be one of a hopeless minority. To make you feel that your "No" vote is useless is the latest clever maneuver of those who are determined to raise the tracks. From a purely selfish and personal angle, your "No" vote will save you many a weary climb up the long ramps when you hurry for a train. It will save you from the cold, wet, and hazardous ramps in winter offer serious hazards. In the two-year interval of construction, you will thread your way through make-shift paths for pedestrians and cars while the pile drivers bang and the bulldozers snort. Seam-faced walls will rise in back of the real estate on the west side of Thompson street. When completed, the trains will dash past the second story windows that face west. What about the dust and noise and vibration? Will the Town reimburse these unfortunate tenants and owners? It has not been mentioned. As assessed by the only figures so far suggested.

When the dust of construction at the center has blown away, sometime in 1953-54, and we stand at Hevey's corner, what will we see when we look westward toward the common? The top of the flag pole: yes. The church on the hill: yes. Close at hand a large traffic circle will be broken by two massive stone piers, supporting a three-span railroad bridge. It is doubtful whether the observer will be able to see the front of the National Bank, the Star building, or the corner drug store. Under the three spans there will be deep shadows. Even at this point I call attention to all need foresight rather than hindsight that will be too late. We need every "No" vote right now and at the Town Hall on Tuesday.

And there is a logical and cheap plan. Get behind a modernized Overpass between the center and the theater. By so doing, you are suggesting a practical way of removing the Grade Crossing hazard and the through traffic congestion both by simple engineering and that can be cleaned up in half the time. This solution has been side stepped again and again. Excessive cost to the town is not a sound argument, because the Revising Plan makes unnecessary the costly original feature of extending Church street and constructing a large circle at top of Park street. Rather, have the traffic circle closer to the Winchester Theatre. Have line of ramps and overpass follow same direction as shown in old plans but a bit further south so as to use the open spaces back of old Kneass and Hawes Livery Stable and the Central Fire Station. Space under both ramps should be used for parking as far as practical. The new eastern ramp should join Mt. Vernon and Washington streets near the existing circle at their intersection.

This new plan gives a fine outlet for the Central Fire Station and a direct run to all points on the West side of Town. It calls for a minimum of land damage. It recognizes the new trend for through traffic to use Washington street rather than Main street to reach the new Route 128. This last point is an excellent illustration why all plans should be brought up to date in a project such as this one.

The writer has reviewed only the high spots but is not this the material he should have been given opportunity to explain in detail to the planning boards and selectmen over the past few years? No such courtesy was ever seriously offered! Not once!

If some of the above appeals to your common sense and you really want the center made a safe place for shoppers and a beauty spot for the years to come, go yourself and take a friend to the Town Hall April 22.

Perceval Mott

FROM THE FORMER CHAIRMAN OF THE PLANNING BOARD

April 16, 1952

Editor of the Star:
 The grade crossing problem has been Winchester's major problem for more than a generation. On July 17, 1905, the Selectmen filed a petition for abolition in the Superior Court, but local controversy respecting the merits of numerous plans and a lack of sufficient support by the voters for any particular plan were primarily responsible for prolonged delays in the proceedings, and finally indefinite postponement of the project. Will history repeat itself?

The plan now before the voters represents the culmination of efforts begun in 1943 on recommendation of the Planning Board then in office, supported by an unanimous vote of the Town Meeting in March 1944 in favor of the "speedy adoption of a suitable plan of abolition".

Thorough studies by Colonel Moore, an engineer of national reputation in grade crossing matters, who was employed by the Town, and exhaustive studies by the State Department of Public Works demonstrated beyond question that depressing the railroad tracks in a tunnel was not feasible, and that only three plans were practicable: First: An overpass northwest of the present crossing — an elaboration of the Kellaway plan, Second: An overpass southeast of the present crossing — a modification of the Vinal plan.

Third: Elevation of the tracks. The first two plans would involve blocking all streets at the site of the present crossing with a resulting inconvenience. Moreover, the northwest overpass would require extensive land takings, the demolition of numerous residence buildings, and land damages in an amount beyond the reasonable capacity of the town to assume; and the southeast overpass would require the utilization of a large part of Manchester Field, now the athletic field. The most satisfactory plan appeared to be the one involving the elevation of the tracks, and that plan was favored by the over-whelming vote at the public hearing in the Town Hall on November 28, 1945.

I believe the opposition to the plan at the present time arises from lack of information. I urge the voters to read the excellent report of the Selectmen which was delivered with the warrant for the referendum. The Town Meeting members who recently voted 151 to 1 in favor of the plan did so after hearing full reports, information and discussion at the Town Meeting. It is surely that the one man who voted "No" was right, and the 151 who voted "Yes" were wrong? Is it not probable that an over-whelming majority of the other voters of the Town, equally well informed, would have voted as their representatives voted at the Town Meeting?

The real question before us now is simply whether we want the crossing raised according to the plan now submitted and ready for execution, or prefer a continuance, apparently forever, of the existing intolerable and dangerous grade crossing. The answer seems obvious.

William L. Parsons

ONLY OBJECTION IS HIGH COST

Editor of the Star:
 I have been living in Winchester for forty-four years — four of those years serving on the Board of Selectmen — and I have always maintained an interest in town affairs. During all this time there has been continual controversy as to the best manner of abolishing the grade crossing at the Center.

In discussing the matter with Mr. Ralph Bonnell when he was Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, I suggested the town employ some competent person, preferably Colonel Lewis E. Moore, to investigate and make a report to the town. At this point I call attention to the outstanding work of Colonel Lewis E. Moore in connection with the Cottage Farm Overpass, Memorial Drive, Cambridge, and the Embankment Road, Boston. Colonel Moore found tunneling for the railroad tracks impractical.

Having had personal experience excavating for a section of the Metropolitan Sewer from Wedgemere through the Metropolitan Parkway to the town hall, as well as constructing two bridges and excavating and land leveling, I am in a position to give you some positive information as to the soil conditions. I have examined records of the borings made by the Metropolitan Sewer Department through the north part of the town between the Square and Swanton street. That part where the Winchester Park Department developed a football field showed eighty-four feet of mud, and probably the same condition exists where the railroad crosses the Aberjona River.

Elevating the tracks then seems the only reasonable solution and Colonel Moore's suggestion of granite facing with landscaping need not be too unsightly. This plan was submitted at a public meeting November 28, 1945. After hearing the Selectmen's report a vote was taken. 436 votes were cast in favor of that plan which involved raising the tracks 17 feet, if my memory is correct. Plan No. 2, which has a basis in the old Kellaway Plan and is north of the Square, polled 7 votes; Plan No. 3, south of the Square, polled 1 vote.

Based on soil conditions in the line of the new construction; on Colonel Moore's report; on the vote of the public meeting of November 28, 1945, and due to the fact that the Boston & Maine Railroad cannot maintain service if the present grade of the track is lowered, I see no other practical way than by elevating the tracks, and my only objection would be the present high cost of construction, which would do away with any of the different methods suggested.

Yours very truly,
 George M. Bryne

WHY?

Editor of the Star:
 The Selectmen tell us, on Page 3 of the "Report" which they inclosed with our warrants, that

1. Proceeding on the basis of the vote of 436 persons at a hearing (not of a Town Meeting) held in 1945, the Board of Selectmen petitioned the Department of Public Works to eliminate the crossing by raising the tracks. This was the result of a report by Colonel Moore, a report which has never been submitted to a Town Meeting for action.

The Department of Public Works, no doubt thinking that 95% of the voters of the Town wanted this solution, raised just 436 persons (at a hearing), went ahead with their plans. So it cannot be said that this is the State plan. It is the plan of the Board of Selectmen in 1944.

2. A few other observations regarding the Report which accompanied the Warrant this week: On Page 6, the Report cites fatalities, some of which occurred in 1952! Isn't this going far afield? Persons should shun trucks where trains run.

Regarding the delay of fire apparatus: Don't the Selectmen know, better than any of us, that trains, northbound, cause a signal to show on the board in the firehouse as soon as such trains reach Wedgemere? The same is true when southbound trains reach a certain point north of us. This signal, should an alarm come in, immediately alerts sending the apparatus via Short road, or to points east or north of Swanton street, or over Bacon street to the West Side.

On Page 8 the Report says the Department of Public Works would undoubtedly discontinue the project and it is fair to assume, etc. Many of us do not like the legal words in this Report; may it be fair to assume; is estimated; it is expected; undoubtedly; etc.

Why have we seen a real drawing, of proper scale, showing us this old fashioned monstrosity as it would really be in our square while its 87 trains daily chugged and chortled and puffed, up one grade and down the other, to take a mess out of one of New England's most beautiful towns?

STATEMENT SURPRISED PLANNING BOARD

Editor of the Star:
 We were surprised to note the following remarks by an opponent of the current grade crossing project on the front page of the Star dated April 11, 1952:

"I recall no reports being made to the people of the Town and no announcements of hearings after 1945."

My first information about the project of this kind was at a hearing before the Selectmen on another matter. If the writer of that article will refer to pages 75, 76 and 257 of the Reports of the Board of Selectmen for 1950 she will find that the Board of Selectmen and the Planning Board called attention to the fact that the Department of Public Works had decided to eliminate the crossing by raising the tracks and was proceeding with the preparation of engineering plans and specifications therefor.

The Planning Board unanimously favors the current project for eliminating the grade crossing in the center by raising the railroad tracks. We concur wholeheartedly in the excellent report on this project which has been distributed by the Selectmen with the warrant for the referendum to be held on April 22.

We hope that every citizen will read this report before casting his ballot to uphold the affirmative vote of the Town Meeting members on this question.

Fred S. Hatch, Chairman Planning Board.

WHAT ABOUT WEDGEMERE?

Editor of the Star:

With regard to the proposed project to raise the grade of the tracks, there are some questions which have been bothering me for some time, and the answers to which I have so far been unable to establish. This is going to happen to the Wedgemere station if the proposed elevation project is carried out? Will the station remain as is in its present location, or will it be moved to a new location, and if so, where? Or is it perhaps planned to abandon it entirely?

In view of the large number of people who daily use this station, it seems that the above questions are pertinent to the discussion now being carried on regarding this project, and that answers to them would be of general interest. Any light that you or others could throw on this matter would be appreciated. Perhaps the Committee for the Elimination of the Grade Crossing, to whom I am sending a copy of this letter, would be able to furnish this information.

I, myself, would vigorously oppose any move on the part of the railroad to use the grade crossing elimination project as an excuse to eliminate also the Wedgemere station.

Very truly yours,
 Ellis J. Green

QUESTIONABLE PROCEDURE

Editor of the Star:
 This is vacation week for the children in Winchester schools, days of fun and relaxation from constant studies.

Monday starts off with a ring at the door bell! When the door is opened a young man of eleven years confronts us with a political paper in his hand.

When asked what he wanted, he requested us to sign his paper, which was a pledge to vote for the Eisenhower delegates.

It seems to us that politics in the home is a new low, when mothers arm their children with papers of this kind, and send them out on a door-to-door canvass, requesting signed pledges for their candidate.

We know this wouldn't be true of mothers in general, and it would be a very small minority who would club together to get anything of this kind.

We also question the legality of such procedure as using children for any political purpose. This, we all remember was done once before during the million-and-one-half-dollar struggle for a new and enlarged Junior High School for Winchester, but we did think enough was said at that time to discourage further similar uses of our children.

MILITARY MANPOWER COMMITTEE THANKS YOU

Editor of the Star:

May I express to all those who contributed to the "au revoir" party for Sgts. Boyson and Sullivan my deepest thanks. A special "thank you" to Betty Cusack who organized the Homefronters mother who did the telephoning and to those wonderful telephoners.

It was an emotional party because we were bound by very special ties, a prayer for the safety and success of our men now in the Services and those soon to follow; also a deep feeling of appreciation for the work done by "our" Sgts. backed by the patience of their little wives.

You will go far to find more charming people than Captain and Mrs. Chester Wright, USA and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Knickerbocker, USAF. It must give you all a feeling of satisfaction to meet the type of officers under whom your sons will serve. They certainly know how to pick beautiful wives, don't they?

As soon as I can pull myself together, everyone will receive a personal note of thanks but in the meantime please accept this public acknowledgment which comes from the bottom of my heart.

Cordially yours,
 Mrs. K. B. Toye, Chairman

TO THOSE ON BOTH SIDES OF THE TRACK!

Editor of the Star:

May I address this information to the residents of Rangeley Ridge, Shore road, and the people who live on both sides of the B. & M. tracks as they stretch through the Plains section?

What will happen to your back yards? The plans may use parts of them on which to lay temporary tracks. Over these tracks, for two years or more, there will travel 87 trains, some of them long freight trains, some of them fast express trains.

Meanwhile, in addition to this situation, you will have the noise, dirt, dust, and general inconvenience of a trestle or elevated structure being built alongside the temporary tracks.

When the elevated structure is ready for service, the workmen will take up the temporary tracks from your yards, fix up any slight damage they have caused and carry away the inconvenience.

By that time the overhead trestle will be ready to go, and again rising in the air as they race up one grade and down another, 19 feet in the air at the center, on an elevated structure that will be 36 feet wide.

BEFORE YOU VOTE — THINK!

Think of the hazards of your youngsters going through the tele underpasses at night. Would our underpasses be any different from those elsewhere?

Think about the whiskey bottles scattered about the Common while the bus stop was there. Then compare that with the underpasses, each one 60 feet through.

Think about climbing at least 20 feet up to the station to get a train. (How many people would die of heart attacks from this, compared to the three killed at the crossing during the last 56 years.)

Think of the noise, dust, heat and dirt the raised trains would cause. Think of the effect on real estate values in the center.

Think of the effect on residential values. (A Saugus realtor says one of their $12,000.00 houses would bring $20,000.00 in Winchester now.)

Think about how Winchester would look with 4 or 6 people a day on track overhead. This could happen as it did in Somerville recently.

EISENHOWER CLUB ACTIVITIES OF THE WEEK

Robert Pritchard, Club President announced the appointment of Mr. Albert Gaum of 63 Washington street, as Chairman of Veterans Activities for the Club. Mr. Gaum served in both wars on Eisenhower's staff and is a regular correspondent with the General.

Eisenhower delegates, Harris Richardson and Mrs. Muriel S. Barnes, spoke at the home of Mrs. Roland V. Patrick, 1 Ledgewood road.

From now until election day April 29th, the Eisenhower Club offices on the second floor of the Waterfield Building will be open daily from 9 a. m. until 6 p. m., Mondays through Saturdays.

All Winchester Women voters favorably to Eisenhower are invited to attend a morning coffee, 10:15 o'clock, Friday, April 25th, to be held at the home of Mrs. Harrison Lyman, 5 Lawson road.

The main speaker will be the noted Mrs. Edwin B. Newman, Cambridge Civic leader. Pouring coffee will be Mrs. Harold Farnsworth and Mrs. Austin Broadhurst.

ORGAN FUND PROJECT MOVING SUCCESSFULLY

Seeking to repair its organ and put it in A-1 condition, the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church has raised within the last two weeks the sum of over six thousand dollars in cash and pledges, with reports of some individuals and organizations yet to come.

The excellent work of close to forty solicitors and the unusual response of the devoted people of the church have made the campaign thus far a complete success.

The committee for the drive is composed of Lewis Wasky, chairman, Dr. Arthur C. Fay, Kenneth W. Lamprey, George B. Needham and Ralph Pingree.

A note of appreciation goes to all who have participated in the drive, setting another spark of enthusiasm in the life of the church.

METHODIST YOUTH PAPER DRIVE

Today and tomorrow morning, the Senior Youth Fellowship of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church will conduct a paper drive throughout the town for its Summer program of training at Rolling Ridge Institute in North Andover.

The young people are asking those who can to leave the paper at the Dix street door, inside the vestibule. If there are those who would like to have the paper picked up, please call any of the young people, or the parsonage, Winchester 6-4139.

On the last drive the people from the church and community responded to the pleasant tune of approximately six tons of paper, magazines and rags.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

The following list of Contagious Diseases was reported for week ending, April 17:

Serving the "Little Customer"

The oft-heard criticism that banks are not interested in providing service for the "little customer," the one who can't afford to maintain more than a small deposit balance, is answered effectively by data developed by the Country Bank Operations Commission of the American Bankers Association in a cost analysis study of over 4000 small and medium-sized banks. This study discloses that about one-third of the checking accounts in these banks have balances less than $100, while almost one-fourth of these accounts have balances of less than $50. Bank service is for every member of the community who can use it to advantage. Large or small we shall be glad to welcome your account at our bank. Start one now.

READING GAME POSTPONED

Winchester's game with Wakefield Monday of this week was postponed. The Reading game originally scheduled for today has been postponed to June 4.

Winchester asked for the postponement because of the fact that five of the baseball team were in Washington on this week on the baseball trip. The locals would have preferred to play the game during the regular season, but Reading chose the June 4 date, which is after the schedule of both teams have been completed.

The June date will fall in the week during which play in the Interscholastic baseball tournament usually begins. Since both Reading and Winchester are believed to be contenders for the Middlesex League championship, and as champion one of them would be getting a bid to the tourney, the late date may prove a hardship to whichever team wins, in the event of course the league championship is riding on the June 4 game, as it well may be.

MIDDLESEX HARVARD CLUB

The Eastern Middlesex Harvard Club has scheduled two meetings according to an announcement made today. Both meetings will be held at the Bear Hill Country Club in Stoneham.

A meeting on Tuesday, April 29th will be addressed by Professor Robert Albion who is in the demand as a speaker. His field is naval history and oceanic geography and his subject will be "Our Maritime Responsibility".

On Wednesday, May 21st, Professor R. H. Bok will speak again. His subject will be "A Report from a Harvard Traveler" in which he describes his experiences in South Africa where he recently spent a year at the university owned Boyden Station of the Astronomical Observatory. Professor Bok is one of the Club's favorite speakers. His talk will be highlighted by some of his films.

WINCHESTER FISHERMAN INJURED

Sigtryggur Olafsson, 57, of 31 Nathaniel road, a fisherman on the trawler, Winchester, was critically injured at 1:30 yesterday morning when his car got out of control on Memorial Drive near Plympton street in Cambridge and struck a tree.

Olafsson, who makes his home with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sterling, was taken to the Cambridge City Hospital, where his name was placed on the danger list. Police say the car rolled over and finally landed itself 125 feet from the original point of impact. It is believed Olafsson fell asleep at the wheel. He was on his way home to Winchester from Boston.

At the hospital doctors said Olafsson had severe head injuries, fractures of the ankle and hip, and cuts about the body.

UNUSUAL FIRE

The alarm from Box 333 at 6:57 a. m. Thursday was for an unusual fire at the home of Mr. John Mucera, 141 Forest street, former home of the late Selectman Henry J. Maguire.

The firefighters found upon arrival that the drapes and window trim in one of the first floor rooms were afire. Apparently the fire was caused by the sun's rays striking a television set, a thick magnifying glass arrangement set in front of a television screen to enlarge the picture, and generating through the glass sufficient heat to ignite the curtains.

Chief James E. Callahan of the Fire Department told the Star it was the first time in his experience he had seen a fire started in that way.

A DOUBLE-HEADER

The Fire Department had two calls at virtually the same time yesterday shortly after noon, both for brush fires.

At 12:07 Engine 4 went out for a brush fire on a vacant lot at Glen road. Just as it was leaving a second call came in from Ardley road, and Engine 2 left for that fire, the two pieces of apparatus going through the Center together.

First Church of Christ Scientist, Winchester

Sunday Services at 11 a. m.
Wednesday testimonial meeting 8 p. m.
Reading room, 5 Winchester Terrace
Thompson Street. Open daily except Sundays and holidays from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m.

"Doctrine of Attraction" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon heard at Christian Science churches next Sunday. The service will emphasize Christ Jesus' purpose to show humanity how to escape the snares of materialism and overcome sin.

The Golden Text from Mark 10:45 is, "The Son of Man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many."

Included in the Lesson-Sermon is this passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus of Nazareth taught and demonstrated man's oneness with the Father, and for this we owe him endless homage. His mission was both individual and collective. He did life's work aright not only in justice to himself but in mercy to mortals to show them how to do theirs, but not to do it for them nor to relieve them of a single responsibility." (p. 18)

The bible selections will include: "For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved." (John 3:17)

See the Ski-jump where the Olympics were held and the snow is beautiful and you can be in the sun all the way! This sun business seems to be something they hold very dear. Often they go skiing and, finding a warm spot, they just let the sun do its work. I am sure from snap-shots I was shown, that this is true in the summertime, also.

We lunched at the top at the famous eating place typically Norwegian in build, and from the windows at the table where we ate, we had a marvelous view of the city below and the end of the line. The line, incidentally, is underground only for about one mile, then in the open it climbs and winds up and up for about 8 miles to a height of 1500 feet above the sea level. Every one who can stand up goes skiing at the slightest provocation, and as there is snow enough from about November 1st to April 30th, that means often.

From there we walked down a way. What? How far? Well, if you walk down, we were told, "you can see the Ski-jump where the Olympics were held and the snow is beautiful and you can be in the sun all the way!" This sun business seems to be something they hold very dear. Often they go skiing and, finding a warm spot, they just let the sun do its work. I am sure from snap-shots I was shown, that this is true in the summertime, also.

Then back to the Hotel and a walk about the town where we saw the Parliament Building, the Royal Palace, which is set in a park on a height at the end of the principal thoroughfare where everyone may see it. The grounds about it are open for anyone who cares to walk there. And so to a telephone and the beginning of as fine an example of hospitality as your correspondent has ever seen.

We had brought from a friend in the states a small package to a couple of nieces. (Actually, there turned out to be four, one of them married.) So, not being able to find them, we asked if they would come over to the Hotel and pick up the package. If so, why not take dinner with us? They said they would, so at the appointed time, there was no telephone from the lobby, instead a knock at the door and they came in as two old friends. (They had been advised that we were coming and had even been checking on the ship's arrival and apparently had planned what to do.)

Let me say here that we had our first glimpse of some of the pretty Norwegian customs. They brought with them a lovely little bouquet of flowers with their "Willkommen". We went to dinner at the Hotel, after a little while, to get acquainted. If all hotels were like the one at which we stayed, there can never be complaint. There were one or two little things we asked for and the Hotel people from bell boys up seem to want to please you. Everyone understands English and many speak it quite well, and a few better than ourselves.

We sat at dinner a long while, and I noticed that everyone in the large dining room did the same. The Norwegians make quite a ceremony of it, there is no hurry and they seem to enjoy each other. Most of the tables were of six or eight. Perhaps this was because most Norwegians do not make a practice of eating away from home. One reason may be the cost, though in our currency it does not cost too much. But Norway does not seem to have a lot of get-rich quick people.

Before leaving, our guests invited us for the next evening to help celebrate Aunt Hilde's 81st birthday at her home and we were glad to accept.

Saturday I met the brother-in-law, who spoke excellent English and who was helpful to me in locating a couple of business firms which I wanted to see. He, too, invited me to his home, and his wife, who telephoned while I was in his office, expressed a desire to meet us and wished us Willkommen to Norway.

At the first business house I went to, I stumbled by mistake into the private office of the Managing Director, an old and courtly gentleman. When I told him who I was and offered my apology for intruding, he said that was quite all right, he would be glad to talk with me. And he did — for about 30 minutes.

Leaving him, I went to the second address. Found there a man who spoke English like an Englishman. And why not? He had spent a great deal of time in British colonies in Africa! We talked of many things other than business.

I've talked with others, and about Russia. They think Russia might start a war, but that it is most unlikely. They feel that all the countries surrounding Russia which are now satellite states would immediately be in revolt behind the Russian front. And especially do they mention Poland which has been against Russia for 10 these many years.

One man who had met Russian soldiers during and after the war said he knew that all Russians who had seen what even the Germans had at war's end was not returned home but sent to places in Siberia. Russia does not let Russians know how the rest of the world lives and what it has.

LETTER FROM NORWAY

Flam, Norway
April 1, 1952

Editor of the Star.
We came up Oslo Thursday night and Friday morning. Up at six, we were about 2 hours run below Oslo at that point where the fjord becomes only about one mile wide. It was at this point that the Norwegians succeeded in sniping two large German ships at the time of the invasion.

And the Norwegians will never forget the five years that the Germans were here, for they did everything hateful that could be done to a conquered people. At certain times each year, German sales theaters were in the habit of coming to Oslo with their samples. Just before the invasion, the Norwegians were surprised at the very large number of "German Sales Agents" who had come to Oslo in the off season and filled up from the hotels.

But the reason was soon apparent. It developed that when the "day" came, the false bottoms of the sample trunks were opened, German uniforms and arms were taken out and Germany had an armed force in Oslo itself. They quartered their men everywhere, even using the large National Theater (the pride of Oslo) as a barracks. And, of course, they took over the very handsome City Hall and all of the best buildings for their administrative offices.

A strong underground movement developed. I talked with a man in the paper business. He furnished printing paper to the Underground for what was known as the "London News". He was apprehended and spent the night in a prison camp outside of Berlin. Since then, his legs have not been very good.

And if you saw the way these Norwegians use their legs for walking and skiing and sport, you would better realize what that means.

I meant to write one letter about what we saw and one about my impressions of the people and customs, but the two are so interwoven that I cannot separate them, so I'll just tell it to you as it happened.

I expected a letter to be awaiting me upon arrival so went to the Steamship office to see if it was there. I did get three, but not the one I was looking for. I didn't get there until Monday, but early that morning, the clerk at the S. S. office sent it to the hotel by special messenger. (Can you think of an American S. S. Company doing a courtesy like that?)

We were told that a lovely view of the city and fjord could be had from a mountain a few miles outside the city, so we followed directions, taking the road beyond the tram from the National Theatre, which is the starting point for almost everywhere around Oslo to a place called Holmenkollen and from there to the very top. That was the end of the line. The line, incidentally, is underground only for about one mile, then in the open it climbs and winds up and up for about 8 miles to a height of 1500 feet above the sea level.

This is a favorite skiing area and we met many on the way to do just that from very, very small tots to those 60 years old and better. And there seemed to be many elderly women skis well. Every one who can stand up goes skiing at the slightest provocation, and as there is snow enough from about November 1st to April 30th, that means often.

ELEVATED TRACKS KILLED SEVEN YEARS AGO

Editor of the Star:
I am sending herewith an editorial clipped from a November Star of 1945. At that time the Star opposed elevating the railroad tracks — as I understand it does at this time. Then as now the elevated tracks were opposed, and nothing was done along any other plan to abolish the crossing.

Why this one plan should still be held up as the only way to clean up our center is a mystery, and to say that it is the only plan, that no other plan can be carried out and that money for anything else will not be available, is still more of a mystery.

To the best of my knowledge the coming referendum is the first time in the long history of abolishing the crossing that Winchester has had a ballot vote on the matter. Up to this time the elevated tracks have been opposed. It is my hope that they will be opposed again. Then let an honest effort be made to eliminate the crossing by other means.

Lawrence M. Woodside
The 1945 editorial follows:

THE GREAT WALL OF WINCHESTER

Our grade crossing problem, so we are informed, is all settled. We are to have an elevated railway through town and a bridge in the center. This, we are informed, is the decision of the "best people of the town." The Star, then, is outside the wall, for it believes that this is the worst possible scheme to eliminate the crossing. The Star believes it will do more to ruin Winchester's future than any of the schemes or plans, no matter how wild, which have been proposed in the past 45 years.

Apparently the elimination boils down to the basic fact of closing the present center or elevating the railroad. "The best people," we are informed, "will not stand for closing the center." We cannot see the consistency, even by "the best people." They object to closing some two or three hundred feet in the center, but advocate the erection of a "Great Wall of Winchester" running through the heart of the town and reaching from one end to the other. If our town were yet divided into the West Side and the East Side, it will be now! We certainly will get the necessary railroad tracks, so long written of and talked about.

Rather than block off some two or three hundred feet we will block off the entire town. And with the bridge our present two or three hundred feet will be considerably narrowed. Our traffic problem will be just the same. You will fight to drive through the center and how you will walk through remains to be seen — even if you can walk through at all. If you are on foot you can also have the privilege of crossing the tracks at Bacon street, at the center and at Swanton street. You certainly will be able to take a walk for yourself!

This scheme of raising the tracks was one of the first proposed plans to eliminate the crossing. Down through the years it has been consistently rejected by the Town. The present plan is nothing new. It has come before the Town many times. What will it do for Winchester's future? The traffic, rather than be lightened, will be even more congested, for it will never flow through the center under a constructed bridge as readily as it does even now. In this scheme no future handling of traffic is envisioned.

Where will Winchester center be located? Surely no business firms will want to hold their present locations! Even now many places cannot use their telephones when trains are passing. Entertainment in our three public halls, Lyceum, Waterfield and Winch's, will have to be taken elsewhere. Even now musicals and lectures are halted for the passage of trains. What the condition will be with the trains running in the air directly in front of the windows may easily be imagined. Rather than block off a few hundred feet we will block off the whole town.

The only feature for the future development of Winchester in the scheme as we see it would be to settle the matter of a grandstand on Manchester Field, for a fine footing will be provided by the railroad embankment to build the seats on, and the cinders and smoke would add to any sporting event underway.

And how would you like to stand on an open platform, 18 feet in the air, waiting for your train this morning?

No, the Star cannot see the elevated tracks — which all progressive cities are tearing down as fast as they can. In our opinion nothing could damage this town's future any more than to elevate these tracks — even though you live a mile away. Don't count us among "the best people." Adv.

PICKETING

Editor of the Star:
The press recently reported that the head of the striking bus drivers union announced that there would be trouble if the bus company attempted to employ nonunion drivers long as he violates no law, manufacturing plant and the president of the union stated that, if the shops were opened for a night shift, pickets would be ordered out to prevent it. Great losses resulted from the longshoremen's strike in Boston when pickets prevented willing workers from returning to their jobs.

Picketing, in its mildest form, is intimidation and it frequently becomes riotous and destructive. The law against it should be rigidly enforced and severe penalties imposed for its violation. In Section 1, of Amendment XIV, the Constitution it states that: "No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States, nor shall any state deprive any person of life or liberty without due process of law." Article VI reads: "This Constitution shall be the supreme law of the land; and the judges of every state shall be bound thereby." Section 3, Article II, states, the President "shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed."

Liberty does not exist in any land where a man is prevented from working where and when he wants to or is compelled to pay for the privilege of working or made to join a union in order to get a job. No shop should be closed against him as long as he violates no law and simply exercises his right to freedom bestowed by the Constitution. The Roosevelt-Truman blight, the era of catastrophic administrative incompetence, corruption, and bungling, is slowly mending along towards the end of its inglorious existence.

The policies of our fathers that made our country outstanding and respected in all world, yet have been divided into the West Side and the East Side, it will be now! We certainly will get the necessary railroad tracks, so long written of and talked about.

Rather than block off some two or three hundred feet we will block off the entire town. And with the bridge our present two or three hundred feet will be considerably narrowed. CONSEQUENCES OF RAISING THE TRACKS

Editor of the Star:
It is very important for everyone here in Winchester to understand fully, a few of the consequences which would result from raising the tracks through the Center. Over the decades, such important and lasting traditions as beautiful ponds, a lovely Town Common, and attractive shade trees are characteristic of the numerous advantages of our home town. Many persons choose to gloss over the many disadvantages of raising the tracks.

Such a barrier extending between the limits of our town will only increase the division between our East and West sides. Even today the railroad tracks serve as a boundary between the three town precincts, on either side. The shopping area and Common in the center of town will be dwarfed by such an elevated structure which will be made of nothing better than cinders and soil. Raising one train will magnify the noise intensity greatly, throughout the entire town.

There is seldom any obvious solution to a municipal project that has only merit with no disadvantages. Since a change from present crossing must be made, depressing the tracks is the best alternative. Over the months, three main arguments have been leveled against this solution.

(1) The grade of the Boston and Maine line as it heads through Winchester Highlands and further northward is considered too steep to depress any further through the center. The present maximum grade on the line between Boston and Lowell is 0.58%. Depressing the tracks 18 ft. would cause a grade of 0.6% between the center and Swanton street. However, extending this depression almost to Cross street would produce only a 0.3% grade which must of course be added to the present slight incline. The Boston and Maine line have grade something over 1.0% which is greater than anything necessary for depressing the tracks.

(2) It is feared that the Woburn loop would have to be eliminated if the tracks were depressed. Service of this line could easily be continued by simply relocating the joining of the two lines to a point somewhat to the north, instead of at the Center. In the branch lines where only a few cars are hauled the grade is not so important.

(3) The high water table north of the center would require construction costing too much if the tracks were depressed. In all scientific work, there are constant technological advancements, and excavating and the handling of water is no exception. I'm certain that an extensive and up to date check into this particular phase of the difficulties will be encouraging to everyone.

(4) The cost of raising the tracks is estimated to be in excess of $4,000,000.

Additional costs would arise from land damage suits which would be paid by the town, which of course puts the burden on you and I. These numerous suits may add up to a sum exceeding that of constructing a brand new High School in the town.

Relocating the tracks, while raising the line is a tremendously costly job, it is our opinion that the tracks would require no relocation at all. This is just another point to consider because we all would have to endure many hardships during construction.

It is never too late to save our town from certain degradation, which will result if the railroad tracks are raised in the Center. It is evident by inspection of the town shopping district that raising the tracks here would forever bring disappointment to our beloved town.

STOP, LOOK AND LISTEN

Editor of the Star:
Since there is to be a referendum on the Elimination of the Grade Crossing Question it is hoped that the voters will decide to delay the question in order that a more logical and less expensive plan can be approved — Let the railroad tracks stay where they are now.

While I do not wish to put myself up as the greatest objector, or that my judgment is sounder than that of our limited Town Meeting members, or the Board of Selectmen, I do think that the proposed raising of the railroad tracks would cause a great deal of trouble, and it does not eliminate the highway traffic at the center of town. This question should be the main item for sound consideration.

Why should we want to have the hundreds of trucks, many of which are large as freight cars, jamming up this bottle-neck where all of the retail business of the town is carried on, I cannot understand, causing much more congestion than the railroad ever does. This condition will be more so as time goes on and sooner or later will have to be corrected. The "China Wall" will still be there. Who knows at what cost?

As I look at the question, we have lived over a hundred years with this crossing and what little time some impatient person is delayed for a train to pass is not any longer then for the freight trucks that jam up at the center of town.

I think that Mr. Callahan and his State planners have given no consideration to this question of highway congestion and I do not think we should accept their "take it or leave it" say so. If they are willing to spend several million dollars to eliminate this crossing then they should be told that there were two other plans that will solve the problems for less than one half the cost, and there will not be two years of disruption at the center.

Viz. No. 1 Construct a road along the shore of Black Ball Pond with over head bridges across the railroad above the Center, as proposed by modifying either the Kellaway Plan or the Foster plan. No. 2 Make Washington street a three-way road to Route 128 and construct a new road from this point to connect with the Reading — Wilmington road, which would eliminate also the bottleneck at Woburn center which they should approve.

Either of these plans can be carried out for a fraction of the cost of the proposed project. To my mind — before we allow the present plan to be carried out we should vote to put a Stop sign on it, and give careful consideration to these other ways of solving our traffic problem.

One Atom Bomb would stop all traffic and until we have that item settled we better go slow. Just what is your time worth anyway? Elmer D. Fletcher

1. The State would bear the cost of the Kellaway Plan or any other plan, not just the track-raising plan as intimated in the report.

2. The State will cooperate on any plan acceptable to Winchester, not just the track-raising plan as intimated in the report.

3. If Winchester rejects the proposed track-raising plan at the coming referendum, the project will not necessarily be discontinued and can be re-opened at any time; and should a plan fail to be approved in time for the present allocation, it can be re-opened for the next bond issue, probably one year later, rather than killed beyond redemption as intimated in the report.

The State is as desirous of solving our grade crossing problem as Winchester is and in any way acceptable to the town. After all, through traffic as well as our own local traffic is forced to pay a heavy toll in lost time, frayed nerves and gasoline wasted on our bottleneck.

However, the track-raising plan is out-dated and was used years ago by Malden, Lynn, Hartford, Stamford and many other communities. Up-to-date communities no longer try to retain through traffic but by-pass it around the center leaving it free for the use of those desiring to shop there.

It would be a shame to see our Center torn up for a year and a half or more, with trains running on Thompson or Common streets, only to find in a few years that this was not the answer and later be forced to the modern by-pass method as the ultimate solution. People already are refusing to buck our bottleneck and are shopping elsewhere in less congested areas.

The State has made studies of the Kellaway Plan, which include new ideas developed since 1929, when the plan was first presented. It might pay us to see what they have to offer, possibly including a road and bridge from Mystic Ave.

Mr. Martin Nelson requests permission to add a sun-porch to an existing dwelling numbered 34 Sheridan Circle, locating the same less than ten (10) feet from the lot line.

PROPOSALS FOR

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

A very warm and hearty thank you to the Winchester Savings Bank for its tremendous help in rolling and counting the money for the Cookie Drive, especially to Mr. Mobbs, who personally counted some $4,000.00, and to all others who assisted in any way. If you think that $4,000.00 is a lot of money, just try counting it in nickels, dimes and quarters, stack, roll and wrap it and you will find it is literally "quite a pile!"

Correction Please! Anne Hooper is the winner of the Cookie Drive contest for the Senior Scouts. Through an error in our records, we now find the girl listed last week for the Senior Scout winner is not yet up to the age and rank of Senior Scout, still being in the Intermediate Group. So congratulations to both you girls, and our younger Scout has a chance to do it again another year.

On Tuesday morning, April 22, at 9:30 a. m., the Outdoor Program for the Basic Leadership Course will be held at the Cabin.

Our thanks also to Filene's for its help on the Cookie Drive (Cookies are available there any time in the Scout Shop), to Judy the Hairdresser for donating the permanent as one of the prizes, and to Mr. Strangeman of the Winchester Theatre for several much appreciated passes.

The Cabin at Camp Joy is wearing a "No Vacancies" sign this week! Mrs. Kenneth Cullen's 8th Grade Troop 7 is having an overnight on Tuesday; Mrs. A. Monson's Lincoln School Grade 6 Troop

49 is having an afternoon Cook-out on Wednesday; Mrs. Glowacki's Senior Troop 2 is enjoying a noon Cook-out on Thursday; and Mrs. McNeill's Troop 16, Wyman School 5th Grade, is planning an overnight on Friday. The adult members of the Regular Leadership Course for Overnights are coming in for their actual training by enjoying an Overnight at the Cabin themselves on Friday evening, April 25th. Busy place, our Cabin!

BACK FROM CONVENTION

Charles H. Kerrigan, son of the late Dr. J. H. Kerrigan of Stoneham, who recently became a new citizen of Winchester at 60 Lorena road, returned from the Union Central Insurance Company's $500,000 club convention. He is supervisor and one of the leading producers of the Boston Agency.

Mr. Kerrigan is a graduate of Stoneham High School with the class of 1942 where he was captain of football, hockey, and baseball and was on the G. B. I. all-star hockey team. He is also a graduate of Tufts College, class of 1948 where he was captain of the hockey team and President of the Delta Upsilon Fraternity. During the war he was an Ensign USNR on LST's in the Pacific.

New Book Charging Machine at the Library

Your attention is called to the letter to the editor in last week's Winchester Star from the Board of Trustees on the matter of the new charging machines.

About a year ago the Gaylord charging system was installed in the Boys and Girls Library. This has been so successful, both to the library and the users of the Children's Department, that it has been decided to establish the same system in the Adult Library.

You will like the new Gaylord charging system because it is faster and more accurate. You will like the neat little identification cards with the charge plate inset. The new system will go into effect on Thursday, May 1.

The Reference Department Announces . . .

Businessmen and private individuals alike will be glad to learn that the Winchester Public Library now has a complete set of Moody's Manuals of Investments and Moody's Investment Surveys. To make this complete, we recently subscribed to Moody's Government. This is an accepted source of information on American and foreign governments. Other Manuals in the set, which the library has already subscribed to, are: Moody's Banks and Finance, Moody's Industrials, Moody's Public Utilities, and Moody's Railroads. The twice-weekly loose leaf issues of all these manuals keep the information right up-to-date. Bound volumes of the manuals are published each year.

The Investment Surveys, Moody's Stock Survey and Moody's Bond Survey, are published weekly. These not only discuss current trends in the stock and bond markets, but they also analyze individual stocks and bonds.

The current issues of Moody's are available to the public on the business table in the Reference Room of the Public Library. Older issues are kept in the stacks, and can be obtained upon request.

Music Program

Recorded music in the Downs Room, Wednesday, April twenty-third, at 3 p. m. and again at 7:30 p. m.

OLD FASHIONED COUNTRY AUCTION

Auction devotees, and there are many in Winchester, should save Saturday, May 17, and plan to attend the Old Fashioned Country Auction being held on that day at the Town Hall under the auspices of the Winchester Rotary Club.

Not only will those who attend have fun, and pick up some wonderful buys, but they will also have the satisfaction of knowing that the proceeds from the auction will benefit the Rotary's Youth Program right here in Winchester.

Furniture of all kinds, old lamps, or other household items, bric-a-brac or furnishings of any kind will be welcomed by the Rotary for sale at the auction and will be called for if donors will call:

ATTEND NATIONAL CONFERENCES

Taking advantage of the fact that Boston has been host city to the annual convention of American Association of School Administrators during the past week, several members of the Winchester School Department have been attending meetings related to their specific interests.

On Saturday, April 5, Mrs. Doris B. Robertson, Secretary to the Superintendent of Schools and Mrs. Ruth Higgins, High School Secretary, attended the Regional Conference of the National Association of School Secretaries.

Mr. Charles Jellison, Chairman of the School Committee, attended meetings of the National School Public Relations Association, as did Miss Mabel Lowry, Miss Marian Phipps, and Mr. F. Meredith Cooper. In addition to attending the principal meetings of the School Administrators' Convention, Dr. Forbes Norris, Superintendent of Schools, took an active part in a panel discussion of the role of athletics in the school program.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

Do you enjoy fine china? Then you'll also enjoy the lecture "The Romance of China" by Mrs. Henri Blanc of the R. H. Stearns Company and the exhibit of some of the china about which she will speak. This is one of the regular program meetings of the George Washington School Mothers' Association and will be held at the school auditorium at 3:15 p. m. on Tuesday, April 22; the public is cordially invited.

Mrs. Blanc has spent most of her life in Paris where she devoted much of her time to the study of the arts. She is a portrait painter of considerable talent and has studied under some of the leading continental masters. She has lectured in France and, after becoming associated with the R. H. Stearns Company several years ago, resumed her lecturing here. She has appeared on radio and television and is considered to be extremely well versed in her field, which includes silver, glass, and china.

Mrs. John Coakley and members of her social committee will serve tea at the conclusion of the program.

No Gambling Allowed

Every specification in the doctor's prescription must be followed to the exact letter. There can be no departure . . . even in the slightest . . . from the minutest measurements or the specified ingredients. Our pharmacy service functions along those exacting lines. We will not deviate from your doctor's instructions because we will not gamble with your health. Remember that when you have a prescription to be filled.

MRS. ELSIE OAKES BARBER

TO SPEAK AT METHODIST LUNCHEON

If you would like to enjoy an excellent luncheon and to hear an inspiring and witty speaker, then make your plans to come to the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church on Thursday, April 24, at 2:30 p. m.

The speaker of the afternoon is Mrs. Elsie Oakes Barber, a native New Englander, Mrs. Barber received her B. A. from Tufts College, her M. A. from Smith College. While working on her Ph. D., she married a young minister. They are now living in Concord, Mass., where Rev. Barber is the pastor of the Trinitarian Congregational Church. She is the author of three novels, "The Wall Between," (1946), "The Trembling Years," (1949), and "Hunt for Heaven," (1950). Her book, "The Trembling Years," is on the reading list of the Winchester High School.

People who have heard her say that her sparkling wit, her gift for storytelling and her deep compassion combine to give you an unforgettable hour.

So, Remember the Date — Thursday, April 24; the place, Crawford Memorial Methodist Church; the time, 12:30 p. m. Call Mrs. Milton Galucia, Winchester 6-0020 for tickets and reservations.

ON USHERING COMMITTEE

Miss Cynthia Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Wilson of 12 Loring avenue, is a member of the ushering committee for the annual Open House at Lesley College, Cambridge, on Saturday, April 26. Commencing at 9:30 the program includes typical class demonstrations, extra curricular activities, glee club selections and two marionette shows. Luncheon will be served at noon, and tea at 3:30.

AUSTIN BROADHURST TO HEAD LOCAL RED FEATHER DRIVE

Following six years of active volunteer service in Red Feather campaigns both in Cambridge and Winchester, Austin Broadhurst has been chosen by the Winchester Community Chest to head next fall's local drive. This 18th annual campaign for 300 Red Feather services will open in 48 communities of Metropolitan Boston in early November under sponsorship of United Community Services.

In addition to the many out-of-town agencies which help them, residents of Winchester are especially interested in their own Red Feather services which include Winchester Hospital, District Nursing Association, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Home for the Aged People and Immaculate Conception Convent, St. Vincent de Paul.

"It is a great honor for me to have this chance to help carry the Red Feather idea forward," declared Mr. Broadhurst in accepting this responsibility for his community. "I think the Red Feather is our great symbol today of how effectively volunteer community action can meet community needs. That symbol has been built by the unselfish service of our foremost public-spirited citizens."

In the past two campaigns he has served as captain and chairman of Precinct 4 here, and previously held assignments in Cambridge from solicitor to section chairman.

He is a partner in the Boston law firm of Ely, Bartlett, Thompson and Brown and is also clerk of the W. L. Douglas Shoe Company and the Federal District Corporation. Among other interests he is a director of the Massachusetts United Nations Association, a lieutenant commander in the U. S. Naval Reserve, he saw active duty from 1942 through 1945, serving chiefly as officer on a destroyer in the Pacific.

Mr. Broadhurst is a graduate of Williams College, 1938, and Harvard Law School, 1942. Mrs. Broadhurst is a member of the Winchester District Nursing Association and has served as a director of the Cambridge Visiting Nurse Association. She is a graduate of Smith College. The Broadhursts, who live at 18 Glen road, have three small children, Austin, Jr., 4, Martha, 2, and six-month-old James.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON ANNUAL MEETING

The Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League of Compassion will hold its Annual meeting at the home of Mrs. Reginald Bradlee, 6 Lodgewood road on April 25 at 2:30 p. m.

Mr. Harvey Davies, pianist will entertain the group. His subject: "Don't Let the Music Fool You". Tea will be served following the meeting.

SPRING PARTY A SUCCESS

On Thursday, April 10 the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League held a most beautiful and successful luncheon bridge party.

The walls of the Unitarian social hall were aglow with entrancing birds, bunnies and flowers which were all the handiwork of Mrs. Jacob Van Vloten. These figures and flowers were so attractive that they were sold at the end of the meeting by popular demand. Mrs. Van Vloten also made a figurine and gave an oil painting of her own. Both of these works of art were greatly appreciated and netted a generous profit for Florence Crittenton. The painting was drawn by Mrs. Van Vloten's mother for a relative who is ill.

The tables and stage were decorated with novel pottery figures in which different types of greens were growing. There were large ferns and vases of forsythia, greens and pussy willows. These decorations were made possible by the cooperation of the Winchester Conservatories.

Mrs. Frederick W. Aseltine held her usual tempting and successful food sale.

Mrs. Willard J. Slagle and Mrs. Crosby Kelley were co-chairmen of the affair and to their leadership and planning goes the credit for all success of the day.

FUNFARE FANFARE

Mrs. Alexander Samoiloff of Highland avenue is a member of the Board of the International Student Center of Greater Boston that will present its annual spring party, "Fun Fair," at 8 p. m. tonight, April 18, in Memorial Hall of Harvard University, which is located on the corner of Cambridge and Kirkland streets in Cambridge.

"Fun Fair" will be a gala evening which will include an international floor-show, exotic foods, displays of foreign handicrafts, and folk dancing for everyone.

The International Student Association is an organization for foreign students attending colleges in the greater Boston area. With the cooperation of their American friends in the community, they annually invite the public to a party given to stimulate interest in the activities of the Center and to raise money for its continued operation. This year their presentation is "Fun Fair."

DINNER PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Lester C. Gustin, Jr., of Wildwood street recently gave one of their delightful dinner parties in honor of Mrs. Gustin's mother, Mrs. Shepard Clarke of Cambridge, to celebrate her birthday.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Abbott of Wellesley, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spofford, Jr., of Somerville, Mr. Frank R. Shepard of Lexington and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore P. Messer of Priscilla Lane.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Gustin were missed at the family gathering, as they were not yet back from Florida.

ANNUAL FELLISLAND SCOUT SHOW

Twenty years ago, the Boy Scouts of Fellsland Council presented the first of their big annual public shows. Back in those days steak was as familiar a sight at the family table as hamburger is today, people ate real butter, a nickel would still buy a generous-sized candy bar or a pretty darn good cigar.

A lot of things have changed in the past twenty years — especially prices. These days a dollar goes a very short way indeed. Everyone, everywhere, has steadily raised prices, and continues to give them a boost whenever possible. Everyone, that is, except the Boy Scouts. There has been no upping of the admission price to "Scouting Round-Up," to be held May 17th in Cousens Gym at Tufts College in Medford.

The program will run continuously from 1:30 in the afternoon to 10 p. m. in the evening. And with 1500 live-fire Scouts and Cubs devoting all their efforts and energy to demonstrating the Scouting skills they've acquired — you may be sure there'll be plenty of interesting, enjoyable exhibits and demonstrations to watch at the Scout Round-Up next month.

At the nominal fee set, the Scouts and Cubs will have little trouble disposing of their tickets. But, as an additional incentive, the Scouts selling over 200 tickets will be rewarded with a free week at Camp Fellsland, the Council's big summer camp on the Pow Wow River in Amesbury, Mass. And, in addition, Troops or Packs selling over 300 tickets will be invited to choose a boy to receive a free week at Fellsland. Finally, the two boys in each town who lead in ticket sales will be awarded special medals in recognition of their excellent service to Scouting.

Ten cents of every dollar raised in this way by the Scout and Cub units will go directly into the treasury unit, and the remainder will be used to benefit the Scouting movement throughout the Council area, which covers the communities of Winchester, Medford, Stoneham, Woburn and Burlington.

It pays to advertise in The Star.

PATRONS FOR TUFTS EVENT

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin J. Lane of Drexel avenue are patrons for the concert to be given in Jordan Hall Wednesday evening, April 30, by Robert Rounseville, tenor, in aid of the Tufts College Second Century Fund. Mr. Lane is a trustee of the college.

Mr. Rounseville, a member of the Tufts Class of 1936, is one of today's leading young singers. He last sung before a Tufts audience in 1949 when he was heard with the Boston Pops Orchestra at the annual Tufts Night in Symphony Hall.

As a result of an appearance at Tanglewood in 1948 he was signed to a New York City Opera contract and has sung leading roles with this company since that time. He has also starred in motion pictures, singing in "Tales of Hoffman" in 1951, and later the same year, flying to Venice to create the title role in Stravinsky's new opera, "The Rake of Progress." Mr. Rounseville is also well known in the radio and TV fields.

HIGH SCHOOL ORATORICAL CONTEST

High School students representing 43 cities and towns were notified, this week, of $2,800 in scholarship awards in the 1952 High School Oratorical Contest scheduled to get under way the latter part of this month.

Under the sponsorship of the Department of Massachusetts AMVETS, American Veterans of World War II, and in cooperation with the AMVETS Staley College Post No. 117, this contest will enable members of high school graduating classes to participate for college scholarships to the Staley College in Brookline.

High School seniors will speak with original patriotic orations on "What America Means to Me." A series of intra-school elimination contests will be held to determine eligible candidates for the semifinals on May 11 and the finals on May 18.

Invitational bids have been sent to high schools in municipalities in the Metropolitan District of Boston. These include Arlington, Belmont, Lexington, Medford, Melrose, Reading, Somerville, Stoneham, Wakefield, Walpole, Winchester and Woburn.

Acceptances to these bids by respective school headmasters must be received by the Committee no later than April 21.

Miss Mavis England, formerly secretary at the Winchester High School, has recently been promoted to the position of administrative secretary in the Navy Department in Washington.

Ahead—the Nicest Miles in the World!

Well, the day has come! You have your beautiful Golden Anniversary Cadillac—and are off on that cross-country journey you've so eagerly awaited.

You're full of hope and anticipation—but almost afraid it's too good to be true. Can any car perform and handle the way people say this one does?

You come to the end of the street that opens into the cross-town thoroughfare—and the big, easy-acting brakes settle you down to the softest, smoothest stop you ever experienced in all your life.

You touch the throttle, and the great engine starts you out like the flight of an arrow—smoothly and swiftly and quietly.

Almost before you know it, a light turns red—and, once again, that easy, velvety stop. And then the green—and again that swift, eager move into action.

Stop and go—red and green... and pretty soon it dawns upon you that you never dreamed of driving a car that handled and performed like this.

Wonderful in city traffic—no doubt about it!

And then the cars thin out about you—the traffic lights stretch farther and farther apart—and you find yourself on the open road.

Instinctively, your foot goes down on the throttle; but, quickly, it eases up again. For you find yourself really rolling in a couple of hundred feet! So you do a little experimenting until you find the spot where the accelerator belongs for sane and sensible driving—and then you settle back and relax.

You scarcely seem to be moving at all. You handle the wheel with the weight of your hand. You're comfortable—resting—at peace with the highway! The sun rises higher and the road beckons on.

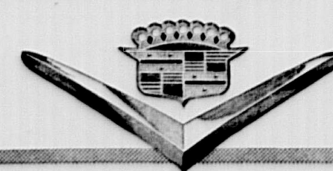

"Where did we plan on stopping tonight?"

"Better take a look at the map and see what's on down the line. We're going to get a lot farther than I ever dreamed we could!"

Yes, it's true what they say about Cadillac.

Better come in and see it—and drive it—while you're in the mood!

EASTER ISLAND MAY BE NEW PACIFIC AIR LINK
Easter Island's great stone statues, left by a forgotten civilization far out in the southeastern Pacific, stand guard today over one of the last major blank spaces on the world air map.
There are no direct air routes linking South America and Australia. Isle de Pascua, or Easter Island, lonely outpost of the Republic of Chile, is the only inhabited spot in nearly 3,000 miles of empty ocean. Smaller than the District of Columbia, visited by only one or two ships a year, its people saw their first airplane in 1951.
Easter Island, however, may be on the threshold of a new day. The National Geographic Society says. Mutual security talks are now taking place between the United States and Chile. Reports from Santiago, the Chilean capital, say the U. S. has asked authorization to build an air base on Easter as part of the hemisphere defense network.
No one knows how or when the first inhabitants came to Easter. Anthropologists believe the people were of Polynesian descent. Yet the nearest island of the Polynesian crescent are 1,000 miles to the west. Perhaps some dim remnants of the past gave rise to Easter's native name, Rapa Nui - "The Big Paddle."
A triangular volcanic outcrop 13 miles long and seven wide, Easter Island until very recently had population of only about 400. A semi-official company is now sponsoring development of the island, and Chilean authorities say there are about 2,000 people taking part.
Easter is listed as a national park of Chile under a military governor, but the place is little more than an ocean ranch. Sheep and cattle graze on grassy, treeless slopes beneath the monuments of lost culture. Water comes from pools in dead volcano craters. There are no running streams.
On Easter Sunday, 1722, the Dutch navigator Roggeveen dropped anchor at this remote dot of land below the Tropic of Capricorn. His sailors gaped in awe at huge stone images lining the cliffs above them. Long-eared giants with red hats facing inland toward the rolling skyline, stood on an almost unbroken line of high stone platforms.
Still a Mystery
These figures have been studied for more than two centuries, but they remain an enigma. Some are more than 30 feet high and weigh up to 50 tons. One uncompleted statue is 66 feet in length. Cut from crumbly, fragile lava, they were somehow lifted and moved by a people who had no wood for rollers and very little fibre for rope.
Round stone houses were built by this ancient race. The platforms on which the sculptured images stood were often 15 feet high and 300 feet long. There is nothing like them from the Inca temples of Peru to the ruins of Angkor in Cambodia.
Scores of unfinished statues testify that their makers suddenly laid down their stone chisels, never to take them up again. The golden age must have come to a catastrophic end.
Not least among Easter Island's mysteries are wooden tablets bearing a written language which has never been deciphered. Scholars have found in it similarities to the hieroglyphics of ancient Egypt and to the alphabets of dead civilizations of India.

Admiral Fechteler Tells National Geographic Society Russian Subs Could Challenge U. S. Sea Power
Admiral William M. Fechteler, Chief of Naval Operations, told the National Geographic Society tonight that U. S. supremacy at sea could be seriously challenged by Russia in event of war.
The Navy's top military leader, speaking before more than 3,500 members of the Society in Constitution Hall, revealed that Russia now has six to eight times the number of submarines that Nazi Germany had at the start of World War II.
"We do not know what the characteristics of these submarines may be," Admiral Fechteler said. "But we do know that after the war Russia obtained some of the most modern of German submarines together with East German shipyards in which they were constructed by the technicians who constructed them."
Russia today has between 300 and 400 submarines, he said. Germany began World War II with only 57.
Admiral Fechteler said the Navy assumes the Russian submarine fleet consists of ships which are not only more numerous than the original German fleet, "but are, in part at least, equal to or better than the submarines of latest and most improved German design."
The Navy is concentrating heavily upon the submarine problem, he said. Good progress has been made in devising means of meeting the threat. But America would sustain losses, he warned, particularly in the early days of a conflict.

Command of the Sea
Navy member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Admiral Fechteler outlined the overall role of the Navy in national defense during his address before the Society's lecture audience.
Command of the sea, he emphasized, is much more than being able to fight the navy of an enemy. It involves guarding world-wide supply routes, and the ability to blockades, transport and land fighting forces in amphibious assaults, and bring mobile firepower to bear anywhere on the world's oceans.
Mobile aircraft carrier task forces, Admiral Fechteler said are the Navy's principal instruments of attack today. No longer shackled by the historic barriers of shoreline or gun range, such task forces can launch telling blows deep in enemy territory, including delivery of the atomic bomb.
Naval Exhibit
Illustrating the special lecture was an imposing exhibit of Naval weapons and recent scientific developments of the Navy.
The Society's lecture audience saw working models of new jet and turbo-prop aircraft engines, guided missiles, a new torpedo and a rapid-fire shipboard gun mount brought on a huge trailer to the street outside Constitution Hall.
Strapped to the shoulders of a dummy dressed in Marine combat uniform was the latest advance in air transportation — a one-man "Hoppy" or helicopter which can lift and carry a single fully armed soldier anywhere on a battlefield.
Captured Russian-made weapons from Korea were shown at the lecture, as were new U. S. ramjet rockets with "shaped charge" warheads.
A relief map of the Navy's new million-watt radio station on Puget Sound in the Pacific Northwest showed antennae strung between adjacent mountaintops — a technical feat enabling the communication center, most powerful station in the world, to reach ships anywhere at sea.

GEOGRAPHIC ODDITIES AND BRIEFS
Washington, D. C., has had many temporary White Houses. They were used while the Executive Mansion was under repair or reconstruction. Besides the current Blair House, says the National Geographic Society, such dwellings included Octagon House during President Madison's term; President Monroe's own home on I Street; and the Eleanor Patterson home on Dupont Circle, used by the displaced Coolidges.
In Aztec days the capital of Mexico — Tenochtitlan — was a city of canals much like Venice, the National Geographic Society says. Yet it was situated where Mexico City stands today, more than 7,000 feet above sea level.
Virginia built the first toll road in the United States in 1786 — the Little River Turnpike, from Alexandria on the Potomac to Snigger's Gap across the mountains east of Winchester, says the National Geographic Society.

Four out of four, and what more could you want! We have now conquered all Gaul, including the "parties tres"; overcome the Nervii, triumphed on the Plains of Marathon and won the Battle of Appomattox Court House! There are no more worlds for our Whiz Kids to conquer, and they deserve a rest! By the same token so do the faithful rooters whose blood pressures and nervous systems have been flitting with the "heebie jeebies". They also deserve and actually need a bit of peace and quiet. Especially those poor lighted souls, not so well acquainted with basketball, who don't know actually there's nothing to worry about with Winchester leading two points in a key game going into the last quarter!

Course no one at all was worried that last Saturday against Milo! "Chuck" Murphy was completely confident as he chatted with us on the way to his seat before the game. He was just going to "sit back and relax". The next time we saw him, Winchester was behind going into the second quarter, and "Chuck" predicted the Hill House victory could give his lungs a better break! Relax? Ha!

We'll say one thing about the Whiz Kids. They are nothing if not consistent. They break your heart for a while, but make you love them in the end. And against Milo the heartbreak was soon over. The Milo coach was very confident before the game, telling every interviewer his official interview, er, that his team was going to win. After the game, he had no apologies to make, simply saying Winchester was the best team he'd ever seen.

A lot of the experts had equally nice things to say to Coach Bartlett, when he climbed to the top of the Garden to be interviewed on the air. Most of the newspapermen seemed to think Winchester was the better team, and especially George Johnson's somersaults as he led the group with a plumber's plunger, were very high class.
Speaking of bands, weren't those colored drummers of the Hill House band something? That boy could really beat that bass drum, couldn't he?

He had good stuff in him, the little feller did, for he went to work on his paper insulation, and stuck at it tenaciously until he finally burst out of his cocoon, minus his hat and about as mad as a chap can get without absolutely busting his boiler.
Rising to state his views, which were emphasized with thumps of a rolled up paper, the little guy was general for a while, but he soon fastened his venom on a dignified gentleman many rows below him, who seemed to be concerned with the seating of a group of women in a box. Certainly he had no more to do with the paper barrage than some one in Ipswich or Orient Heights.

That, however, made no difference to the little guy. He continued to berate the gentleman in language more pointed than proper, to the delight of the crowd, until he finally did it all, and collapsed in his seat. He was sound asleep there when we last spied him, his newspaper still grasped in his fist. George Field missed Wendell Mansfield at the Milo game, the first of the season, and was surprised to find him from him. George, however, has absorbed so much of the Mansfield technique that he now calls them himself pretty well, and he even predicted the Hill House victory while the two teams were still in their sweat clothes.

Didn't you miss that fine Winchester band of ours at the Milo game? The local school authorities felt it unwise to have the band go to the Garden without Fred Felmet, the director, who could not be present that night. Everyone was looking for the band and asking for them.
That surely was a great job of pinch-hitting for the band done by that little group of local boys, Dud Samoiloff, Don Swanson, Tod Wallis, Scott Cunningham, Bill Erikson, Roger Rotundi, "Woogie" Giacalone, Neil Muncester and John Swayze, headed by George Johnson. Their playing and clowning between the halves of the Winchester game, and especially George Johnson's somersaults as he led the group with a plumber's plunger, were very high class.

More about the New Book Charging Machine

May 1 is the day at the Public Library when the new Gaylord book charging machine will go into use in the Adult Department. A little time and patience will be needed to get the new system rolling, but it will be worth it in the end. The book charging machine is fast and accurate. You may have to stand in line for a minute or two at busy times, but even with this you will find the system much more to your liking than having to wait for your name and address to be checked and your number written on the book card by hand.

A dozen or more of our neighboring libraries are using the Gaylord book charging system. All report it well liked by their townspeople. We are quite sure that the same will be true in Winchester. The Gaylord book charging machine will not work without your charge plate. The charge plate is small and attractive in its envelope that will fit easily into your change purse or wallet. So, to avoid disappointment, always have your charge plate with you.

The baseball season has just begun, and all fans will be interested in seeing the special baseball exhibit in the Boys' and Girls' Room. You can find the emblem of your favorite team, whether American or National League, for they are all there along with bats, balls, and a man-sized catcher's mitt. Also, you won't want to miss our excellent collection of baseball stories and information books to give you tips on improving your game. The library is grateful to the Winchester Sports Shop for the baseball equipment loaned for this exhibit.

Story hour will be held as usual April 26, beginning with the playing of records at 10:00. At 10:15

Men's Group

The men's group interested in the Civil War Period will meet next Wednesday evening, April 30th, in the Edgar J. Rich Room at 7:45. An interesting meeting is planned with members discussing some of their discoveries in the Lincoln-Lee book collection.

All men in Winchester interested in the Civil War Period are cordially invited to join this men's group. It is not planned to have a formal organization, so you will not be bored by the usual business proceedings. Why not come and see what this group is like and what it plans to do?

Music Program

Recorded music in the Downs Room Wednesday, April 30th, at 3 P. M. and again at 7:30 P. M.

Use of Edgar J. Rich Room

The Edgar J. Rich Room at the Public Library will be shown upon request any time during library hours. Individuals may arrange to use the Edgar J. Rich Room for reading and study of the Lincoln-Lee collection by making appointments in advance.

SOAP-BOX DERBY

Important Announcement

This year will be a recess year for the Boston Traveler Chevrolet Soap Box Derby, but the Soap Box Derby will be run again in 1953 on a permanent ramp just like the one in Akron, Ohio, it has been announced by Charles H. Ungerman, your local Chevrolet Dealer for Winchester.

Through the co-operation of the Metropolitan District Commission, the sponsors of the Soap Box Derby will build a permanent, asphalt racing strip, modeled after the Akron, Ohio, course. The site will be provided by the Metropolitan District Commission.

The new permanent ramp will give all the Soap Box Derby contestants a chance to use it throughout the year — weather conditions permitting to test out their racers, to time their speed and to perfect their car control.

The Boston Soap Box Derby has been run in past years over a temporary wooden ramp at Suffolk Downs. The new ramp will be hard top, about the same distance as the Akron course and with very similar angles.

MAYTIME MUSICALE

Popularity pays, and because of the overwhelming demand for tickets to last year's Maytime Musicale, the fifth annual one this spring will be given twice instead of once and you will have an opportunity to choose whether it be Tuesday evening, May 27, or Wednesday evening, May 28, that you get together with your friends and come to the Music Hall on Bacon street to enjoy an ideal spring concert of lilting, happy music, enthusiastically and expertly performed, by the Unitarian Choir and others under the direction of Mary Ranton Witham. These two evenings, planned to entertain you, will, as usual, benefit the Winchester Unitarian Church.

The program, not yet announced, will emphasize the lighter, semi-classical tunes, and include the truly classical as well as the latest popular music. And there will of course be the usual musical novelties for which Mrs. Witham's programs are so noted and will include the performance of several songs composed by Winchester residents, which will be selected as the result of a contest announced elsewhere in the "Star" today. There will be refreshments served informally afterwards to complete the satisfaction of all of you who join us. Plan to come; don't miss this fun. In addition to the indefatigable Mrs. Witham, there are, working to make this the best of Musicales, the members of the Music Committee of the church:

Mr. H. D. Townley-Tilson
Mr. Robert Brotherton
Mr. James Joslin
Mrs. Edith Bolster
Mrs. Lewis Wadsworth, Jr.
Mrs. Joy Woolley

Also working are: Miss Mary Norian, on tickets and song contest; Mrs. Henry E. Worcester, sponsors; Mrs. Mary von Rosenberg and Mrs. W. H. D. Townley-Tilson on refreshments; Mrs. Theodore Robinson, program; Mrs. W. Langdon Powers, publicity; and Mrs. Reginald Bradlee, Mr. Sherman Russell, Mr. Lindsay Caldwell, Mr. Robert P. Denley, Mr. Alfred Denley, Mr. Ann Mowatt, Miss Grace Norian, and Mrs. Robert S. Westwater.

PRE-REGISTRATION FOR KINDERGARTEN CHILDREN

The Pre-Registration schedule for Kindergarten children was announced by the school department this week. The dates for the various schools will be as follows:

TEACHERS' BOWLING BANQUET

Celebrating the end of another successful season, members of the Winchester Teachers' Bowling League and their wives or husbands assembled in the Hunt Room of the Town Line, Woburn, for a delicious banquet on the evening of April 21. President Jacob Mosser presided at the festivities with the able assistance of treasurer Jane Kirkpatrick.

The bowling league, which ran from mid-October until late in March, found twelve four-man teams engaged in vigorous competition each Monday afternoon after school at the popular Strike Lanes. As a result of the handicap system the competition is always close, but this year's race was particularly keen. When the regular season ended, Team 2, composed of Mary Valentino, captain, Gale Davenport, Agnes Walsh and Tom Morse was tied with Team 5, consisting of Constance Savard, captain, Helen Cullen, Lillian Salice and Larry Cooper. The exciting play-off which followed was won by Team 2.

After congratulating Team 2 on their victory and awarding the members their prizes, Jake Mosser reviewed the high points of the season. Best bowler among the women was Eileen Hartwell, with an average of 86.10 and a high three string of 288. Mary Valentino held the high single with a score of 112.

Among the men, Joe Aversa held the high average of 98.80 and also the high three string of 330. Tom Morse and George Snyder tied for men's high single with 126. Other bowlers who received recognition for good scores were Mary Cullen, Constance Savard and Larry Cooper.

ARTISTS SUBMIT PICTURES

Two Winchester artists submitting their pictures to the annual art exhibition of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs held this week and next at the 20th Century Club, Joy street, Boston had them chosen as awards of the Penny Art Fund. Each year the art committee of the Federation, through its Penny Art Fund, gives nine awards of merit to various clubs in the state for the promotion of art in their local club and town.

Elizabeth M. Lobingier's painting entitled Rockport Scene went to The Fortnightly here in Winchester and Marion Ladd Symmes' painting Grand Monadnock went to the Belmont Women's Club. Mrs. Fred Cole is the chairman of art in The Fortnightly. This is the third award of merit Winchester has received.

There were two brush fires Tuesday forenoon, the first at 9:45 near the residence of Rep. Harrison Chadwick on Everett avenue, and the second at 10:36 near the residence of Mrs. Lillian Smith on Myopia road.

ANNUAL MEETING—MEN'S CLUB

Tuesday evening, April 29 at 8 p. m. in the Parish Hall the Annual Meeting of the Men's Club will be held. Lt. Col. Samuel Overstreet, Chief of Chaplains at Ft. Devens, who has recently returned from duty in Korea will be the speaker of the evening. Here is a chance to get a personalized story of what it is like to be in Korea since nobody is in a better position to know than the men's Chaplain. If you have a son, a relative, or a friend who is in Korea or might soon be going, here is a chance to find out at first hand what is in store for him.

In addition there will be the election of officers and refreshments.

A THANK YOU NOTE

Winchester's Eisenhower for President Club wishes to thank contributors, workers, sponsors and others who have pitched in to make the Eisenhower Club an active, well-knit organization. The Club only asked for one dollar contributions yet received all kinds of donations. . . . needed only a few cars yet hundreds offered their automobiles. . . . asked for only a modest number of workers and a host of townfolk responded.

Many thanks are also due to the Club's sponsors, and to the Winchester Star, a special word of appreciation for its fair-minded presentation of the facts, for the use of its medium and for the assistance of its people.

CIRURSO WINS SCHOLARSHIP

Anthony F. Cirurso, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cirurso of 57 Swanton street, has been awarded the Charles Hayden Memorial Scholarship at Wentworth Institute, where he is majoring in building construction.

"Tony," former three-sport athlete and football captain at Winchester High, is playing second base on the Wentworth baseball team, and next fall will be a candidate for the football team.

CANCER DRIVE

As this message goes to Press, there remains one week for contributing to the Cancer Society Drive for funds. Winchester has fallen down in this effort to date. Contributions in the past have been larger and faster this week, if last year's excellent showing is even approached.

Cancer doesn't hold off its inroads into life and health until the spring gardening and fishing season has been satisfactorily launched. It doesn't tread lightly during months when tax bills are due. It creeps steadily onward, invading, overwhelming, killing inexorably without consideration of season, circumstance, or the cost of living.

The Cancer Society drive will be over May first. That may be a dead line in more ways than one. Mail your contribution today.

INDIANS SWAMPED LEXINGTON

Opened League Season With 16-1 Victory

Winchester High opened its Middle League schedule with a smashing 16-1 victory over previously undefeated Lexington High at Manchester Field on Tuesday afternoon. The Indians played good ball in the field while receiving excellent pitching from Charlie Murphy and Stowell Symmes. Captain Dave Dalton paced the hitting parade with four hits in five trips to the plate while Jim Griffin connected for three safeties and Prep Keyes had a pair of hits.

It was a close game until the eighth inning when the Indians exploded for 12 runs to turn the game into a rout. The Red and Black collected a pair of runs in the fifth on a two-run circuit smash by Dave Dalton. Ron MacKenzie duplicated this feat an inning later when he homered with Charlie McLaughlin on base to give the locals a 4-1 lead. A combination of six hits, two bases on balls, four errors, and a wild pitch were good for 12 Winchester runs in the eighth. The big blow of this uprising was a bases-loaded double by Prep Keyes that was good for three runs.

Charlie Murphy pitched a steady ball for the Indians to annex his second win of the season. He gave up four hits over the first six innings while passing only two batters. Because of lack of work, he began to tire and Coach Bartlett wisely replaced him in the top of the seventh with Stowell Symmes. Symmes pitched brilliant relief ball as he allowed only a scratch hit over the final three innings while striking out three batters and giving up a pair of bases on balls.

LUNDIN WINS FLIGHT SERVICE WINGS

Norman Emil Lundin, 26-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Lundin of 4 Kenwin road, has completed a training course for the position of flight steward with Pan American World Airways System. With the 14 others in his graduating class, Mr. Lundin will fly the Pan American Clippers on transatlantic routes between New York and Europe.

During his intensive six-week training period Mr. Lundin, an alumnus of Northeastern University Boston, studied first aid, meteorology, aerodynamics, dietetics and passenger service. He will fly a maximum of 85 hours per month and will be based in New York City, operating out of PAA's base at Idlewild International Airport.

COMPLETED PRE-FLIGHT SCHOOL

Naval Aviation Cadet Holbrook Bugbee, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bugbee of 7 Dartmouth street, Winchester, graduated April 5th from the U. S. Naval Pre-Flight School at Pensacola, Fla.

Naval Cadet Bugbee graduated from Deerfield Academy and also Hamilton College at Clinton, New York, entering the Naval service in September 1951 prior to being selected for Pre-Flight training in November 1951.

He is now assigned to the U. S. Naval Air Auxiliary Station, Whiting Field, Milton, Fla., where he is engaged in primary flight training. Upon completion of his training at Pensacola and Corpus Christi, Texas, he will be awarded the gold wings of a naval aviator and assigned to duty with the fleet.

WINCHESTER TENNIS ASSOCIATION

The William Packer Tennis Courts will officially be opened this weekend. To begin the season, the association is offering an organized clinic program to our fellow townspeople which we believe is unequalled by any in greater Boston.

For Boys and Girls: On Saturday, May 3, Miss Mary Hardwick, will take charge of the clinic. Miss Hardwick is now a top ranking professional in her field. She is a native of England and had been the number 1 women's single amateur prior to coming to this country to teach. Coach Henry Fitts of the High School strongly advises any of the pupils in both the Junior and Senior High Schools to take advantage of this free clinic. For Women: Here's an opportunity for all you mothers, career girls, ladies, who have put your tennis rackets in the closet right after your "industrial revolution" to dust them off again. Next Wednesday, April 30, at 10:00, is the date for the first in what we hope will be a successful clinic or morning-out for you. If you have some younger children, take a tricycle and a couple of hand-aids with you and some sort of play pen will be formed in the backboard while you are there.

The Fire Department was called Monday afternoon at 5:32 to put out a dump fire on Cross street. An incinerator started the fire.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Senior and 8th Grade Girl Scouts are taking part in the Civilian Defense Alert this coming Sunday. Immediately after the All Clear Signal, these Scouts will report to the Baptist Church, to be registered as evacuees.

There will be an Organization Meeting at the Girl Scout Office on Tuesday, April 29th, at 10:00 a. m. At 1:15 p. m. that same day, there will be a Camp Committee Meeting, also at the Office.

Set aside the date of Thursday, May 8th, for the Girl Scout Fashion Show at the Town Hall. Filene's is putting this show on, and every Brownie and Scout Troop will be represented. All mothers are cordially invited! Watch the Star for further details.

Once again it's time to sign up for Girl Scout Leadership activity! Scout leadership is a richly rewarding service to our youth, bringing deep satisfaction to those who give their time, interest, and energy to the task of training our girls to help America become a better nation, and to find friendship among the girls of all nations through the international contacts with Girl Scouts and Girl Guides the world over. There will be one training for Leadership Meeting about the middle of May, at which time books are given out for summer study. We need leaders, as many girls are eager to become Scouts, more than we can handle with our present group of adults. For information call Mrs. Ralph Swan at Winchester 6-0257-M, or the Girl Scout Office.

Ten girls of Troop 1, under the able leadership of Mrs. W. B. Hersey, took a bike Hostel Trip from Monday to Wednesday, April 14-16, having a grand time.

Troop 4, led by Miss Joy Webber and a friend, biked to Lexington on Saturday, the 19th. On April 22nd, Troop 4, under the leadership of Mrs. Vivian White and Miss Joy Webber, will meet to discuss long term plans for another trip to England, in the summer of 1954.

Mrs. Rimback's Troop 40 will enjoy a noon Cook-out at the Cabin April 20th. That same evening, Mrs. D'Angelo's Troop 56 will have an Overnight at Camp Joy.

ON DEAN'S LIST

Alan R. Johnson, son of Mrs. Doris M. Johnson, 6 Black Horse Terrace, has been named to the Dean's list at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y. Honor list students are required to have an average of "B" or higher for the preceding semester. Johnson is a senior in the department of metallurgical engineering at Rensselaer.

Mrs. Dorothy Barnard, of Middlesex street, wife of Alfred W. Barnard, popular clerk at the Winchester Post Office, has been elected president of the Winchester Emblem Club, the Elks' Auxiliary, for the coming year.

THE BIGGEST MONEY'S WORTH

Nothing else made so finely and of such excellent quality costs so little as does prescribed medicine. It is truly your best value for the money — not only in a monetary sense, but also because its benefits to you are priceless. Don't deny yourself these benefits. When your doctor gives you a prescription, have it filled immediately and take the medicine exactly as directed by him.

CARL DeSUZE

BOAT CLUB NEWS

Carl DeSuze, popular radio and television entertainer, has been secured as guest artist, for the club's first evening party of the season, Friday, May 2, at 8 o'clock. Carl is currently known for his radio shows on WBZ. His experience also includes writing, acting, and directing in college plays, summer theatre work, and television shows. Commodore Ned Morse has heard him give his "Misadventures Behind the Mike" at Bowdoin College Alumni dinners, and reports that this feature program will be enjoyed by members of all ages. Refreshments will be served by Steward Glen Hunt, a connoisseur of good food. There will also be door prizes.

The club opened officially on April 19th and the summer weather brought out a good crowd, both workers and kibitzers. The floats were assembled and moved with little difficulty. Unfortunately, a family of ducks did not read the calendar, and failed to hatch several eggs under the main gangplank. This problem was solved by a phone call to one of the town officials, who agreed to either take the eggs to some feathered mother, or to bring some mother to the eggs.

Don't forget to save the evening of May 2. Bring the family, come early, and avoid the rush.

ON DUTY IN KOREA

Pvt. Joseph A. Derby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Derby of 58 Vine street, is presently in Korea, serving with the Ninth Corps' 937th Field Artillery Battalion at the front.

His battalion is an Arkansas National Guard Unit and has recently concentrated its 155mm "Long Tom" rifle fire on Communist bunkers.

Private Derby, a cook in the Battalion's B Battery, entered the Army in May of 1951 and left the United States in October of that year. He attended Medford High School.

INJURED AS CAR HIT HYDRANT

Saturday evening Anna M. McKittrick of 9 Beacon street, Woburn, was painfully, but not apparently seriously injured when the Ford beach wagon she was driving north on Washington street got out of control and struck a hydrant near Nelson street.

According to the police, after striking the hydrant the machine struck a small tree and then crossed the street and sidewalk, finally stopping between the residences of Mr. Romeo Rolli, 189 Washington street, and Mr. John O'Leary, 183 Washington street, damaging both yards.

The beach wagon was badly damaged and had to be towed to Hagerty's Garage. The hydrant was damaged, but was not leaking.

Mrs. McKittrick told the police she fell asleep at the wheel. She was taken to the Winchester Hospital and treated by Dr. Charles Rooney. She sustained some bad bruises about the body and head.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

To Our Gas Customers in ARLINGTON

WINCHESTER

CONCERNING CONVERSION TO NATURAL GAS

Soon we expect to begin the final and most important step in changing over the gas appliances of all our customers to the use of natural gas. A great deal of preliminary work has already been done in order to speed up the final conversion and thus reduce the inconvenience to customers. This will be the biggest and most important project we have ever undertaken. It will benefit both the customers and the Company, so, we ask your cooperation.

In order to bring this new fuel and its benefits to our customers, we plan to convert every gas appliance in the territory we serve — in every home, office, store and plant. Naturally, the costs of normal adjustments will be borne by the Company.

To use natural gas and enjoy its benefits, all gas appliances must be adjusted. For this important work we have hired qualified conversion men. These experts will adjust your gas appliances to burn natural gas properly, safely and efficiently.

Since we serve nearly 27,000 customers in this area, this will be a huge engineering project. To keep the inconvenience to our customers at a minimum, we have divided our territory into five sections. The conversion men will work from section to section until the job is completed.

We need your cooperation so that these conversion men can get into each home, office, store and plant. This is your most important responsibility during the entire changeover. It is absolutely necessary that these men be admitted to your home on the changeover days to make the necessary adjustments.

If for any reason you will not be able to admit the conversion man to your home on the changeover days, arrangements should be made with a neighbor to admit the adjuster. If this is not possible, please call our special conversion telephone number ARLington 5-9200 to make other arrangements, as it is of utmost importance that gas appliances be converted on the appointed day.

Future newspaper announcements, folders and handbills will show what section you are in and the day on which your section will be converted.

IF YOU HAVE ANY QUESTIONS about the changeover to natural gas appliances, please call our special conversion telephone number or inquire at our office.

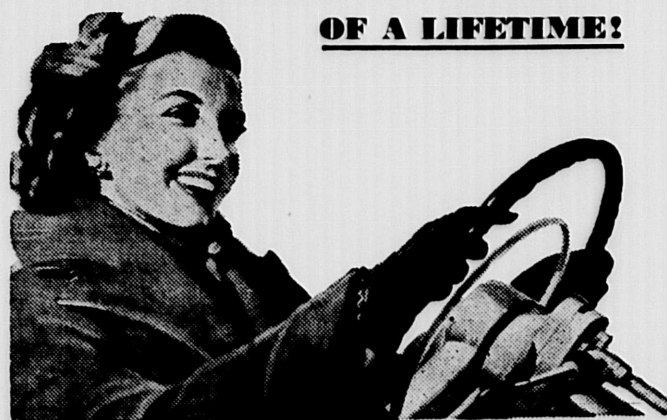

We will appreciate your cooperation and patience during the conversion.

WATCH FOR FUTURE ANNOUNCEMENTS and be sure to read all the instructive material we will send you.

HIGH SCHOOL
PARENT-FACULTY MEETING

The annual meeting of the Winchester High School Parent Faculty Association last Tuesday night elected Mrs. J. Warren Shoemaker of 1 Wildwood street the president for next year and appropriated $425 for worthy causes.

The members also heard an extremely interesting and educational and humorous talk by Harold B. Gores, superintendent of schools in Newton. Speaking on the subject "High School Education, 1960 Model," Mr. Gores told his audiences of new trends in the educational field and forecast further ones in the decade ahead.

The high school's mixed glee club, under the direction of Miss Eleanor Anfantis, entertained with three delightful songs which were given a warm reception. Mr. Gores commented that he thought an appropriate encore "for this community on this day (grade-crossing referendum day) would have been 'I've Been Working on the Railroad'."

Mrs. Shoemaker, who was P.F.A.

vice-president during the current year, succeeds Hazen Ayer as president. The new vice-president elected Tuesday is Richard Cunningham of 31 Falls road. Re-elected were the secretary, Mrs. K. Foster Cleaves, 12 Fairmount street, and the treasurer, Mrs. Edward G. Stacy, 1 Wildwood Terrace.

On the recommendation of the retiring executive committee the association voted to turn over $300 to the Winchester Scholarship Fund for needy college students. This money was raised through two projects conducted by the ways and means committee headed by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitton — soft drink sales at school basketball games and the spring card party last month.

A committee of three was authorized to investigate needed improvements at the high school itself and spend up to $125 at their discretion. The chairman of this committee, Coach Edward Bartlett, said many projects had been proposed but that spring vacation had prevented proper investigation. So he and his committee members, Mrs. F. D.

Hawkins and Mrs. Shoemaker, were authorized to explore the matter further and make the appropriation. Committee chairmen for the next school year were named as follows: Room Mothers — Mrs. Clifton W. McNeil, 11 Lawrence; Membership — Mrs. Michael Donlon, 55 Park street, and Frank Carleton, 52 Church street; Program — Mrs. John McLean, 20 Seneca road, and Edward Bartlett, Hillside avenue; Social — Mrs. Olis L. Hammett, 16 Oneida road; Publicity — Mrs. Alfred Higgins, 8 Stowell road, and Nominating — Hazen Ayer, 53 Oxford street.

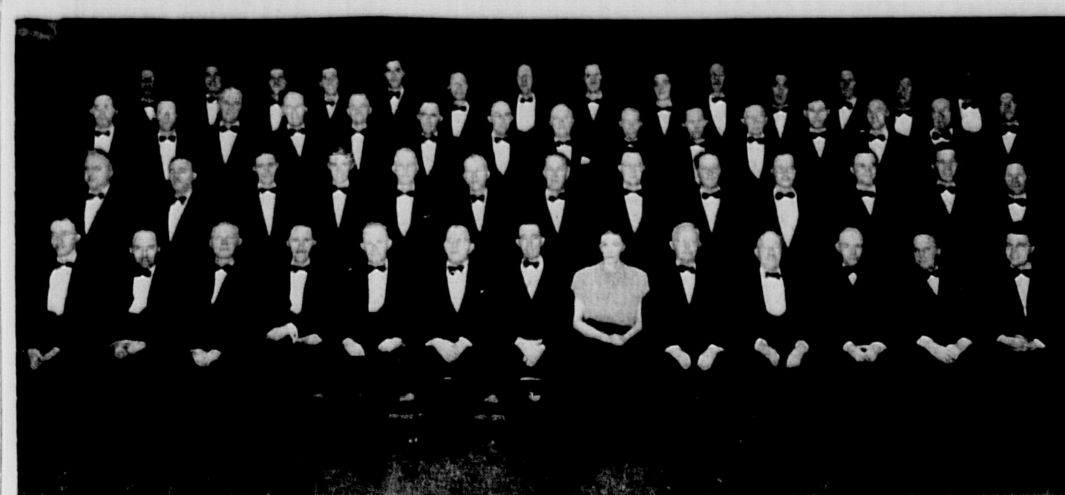

The officers and committee chairmen form the association's executive committee along with an ex-officio member, Wade L. Grindle, 20 Mason street, high school principal.

WINCHESTER SCHOOL NEWS

Leonor M. Rich, principal of the Noonan and Washington Schools, was recently elected President of the Massachusetts Elementary Principals' Association at a meeting held at Amherst.

"How to Apply for Full or Part Time Jobs" is the subject of the vocational program to be presented at a high school assembly this morning. Mr. Roland R. Darling, director of the series of vocational programs, will preside.

At the Spring Convention of the Eastern Massachusetts Student Council Association, held at the Medford High School on April 4, Winchester High was selected as the host school for the Fall Convention. Nearly 50 high schools will be represented by about 300 delegates and advisors. Mr. F. Meredith Cooper, faculty advisor to the WHS Student Council, was elected President of the Faculty Advisors' Association.

WORLD FEDERALIST MEETING

Next Wednesday evening, April 30, members and friends of the Winchester Chapter of United World Federalists are invited to hear George C. Holt, recently appointed Executive Director of UWF in Mass., speak on "The Practical Approach to World Federation". The question of how to achieve this ultimate — world federation — in order to insure world peace has been a moot subject and Mr. Holt will undoubtedly stimulate our thinking along these lines.

As to background, George Holt was formerly President of the Connecticut branch of UWF and prior to that the Executive Director in Connecticut. Until his recent appointment, he was associated with the Norman Bel Geddes Corp. in N. Y. He has long been interested in Federalism and was connected with it since before the time UWF came into existence. Mr. Holt makes his home in Thompson, Connecticut.

The Robert Williams' have again opened their home for another interesting meeting of the Winchester Chapter of UWF. Seven forty-five is the time and the address is 3 Winthrop street. It's sure to be a stimulating evening and all are cordially welcome.

BUSY WEEK-END FOR FIREFIGHTERS

What turned out to be a busy week-end for the Winchester firefighters began at 8:26 last Friday morning with a grass fire near 88 Church street. Two more grass fires followed, one at 9:05 on Cross street near Adams road, and the second, at 10:54 on Wildwood street near Albamont street.

At 10:15 Saturday forenoon the Central Station was notified of a grass fire at the rear of Russell's Farm on Cambridge street. The firefighters found the meadow there and also the woods fire, Box 51 being pulled at 10:28 for more help. Box 7-7-561 was put on at 10:30, bringing Auxiliary Firefighters to the scene, the men having a stiff fight for more than eight hours before finally extinguishing the flames. Hose was left at the scene of this fire in case it re-kindled.

More than an hour was necessary to put out a grass fire on High street extension, Box 143 coming in for this blaze at 11:10 a. m. Arlington's Engine 4 came over to cover in at local Headquarters with Captain O'Neil and a crew.

Sunday's first call came at 10:48 for a grass fire which started from an incinerator on Winthrop street. At 11:19 the Reading Fire Department sent in a call for help in fighting a bad woods fire in Wilmington, Box 10-321 being put on at local Headquarters. Engine 2 and a crew under Captain J. Edward Noonan worked at this fire until 6:20 p. m. laying 1,500 ft. of hose.

A telephone call came in for a brush fire and burning lumber on Emerson road, an incinerator again being responsible.

Several calls were received at 1:07 Sunday afternoon for woods afire at the rear of Russell's Farm, but Chief James E. Callahan found upon investigating that the smoke seen came from a fire in the woods in Woburn.

With all Woburn apparatus out at 2:28 p. m. Engine 3 and a crew under Captain Ray Hanson went to the Central Station in Woburn to cover in. Instead they responded to an alarm for a bad brush fire off Lexington street at Shaker Glen, and later to a brush and grass fire on Campbell street. It was 5:40 before they returned to Winchester.

At 4:32 there was a still alarm for a grass fire at the dump near the old McLatchy plant on Cross street, and the last call of the week-end came at 7:10 in the evening for another grass fire near the home of Mr. John Harder, 95 Pond street.

ADAMS, HERTER
SPEAK AT "IKE" RALLY

Under the auspices of the Winchester Women's Republican Club, Governor Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, Rep. Christian Herter and Sgt. Marty Snyder, Eisenhower's famous chef, were the principal speakers at the Eisenhower for President rally at the High School auditorium last Monday night.

Gov. Adams' speech was forceful. He delivered into Sen. Taft's voting records, stating, "If nothing else, it indicates that there have been some surprising inconsistencies in the record."

Christian Herter brought out that only with the support of the Independent voter can the Republicans win the election, and Eisenhower is the candidate who can swing the Independent voter. Marty Snyder gave some very interesting sidelights of his part in World War II as Gen. Eisenhower's chef.

Mrs. Robert Reynolds, president of the Women's Republican Club, introduced Mrs. Muriel S. Barnes who was in charge of the rally. There were short speeches by Harrison F. Lyman, Jr., Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, Edmund V. Keville, Executive Director of the Eisenhower Massachusetts Sponsoring Committee, State Sen. Robert Campbell and Robert T. Pritchard, Chairman of the Winchester Eisenhower for President Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Erskine N. York, spent the week-end in New York.

LITTLE LEAGUE
TRY-OUTS SCHEDULED

Initial try-outs for positions on Little League teams will be held at Loring Avenue playground on Saturday, April 26th. Eight, nine and ten year old boys will try out in the morning from 9:00 a. m. to 12:00 noon and the eleven and twelve year old boys will try out in the afternoon from 1:30 to 4:30 p. m. A boy's age for Little League purposes is determined by the age he will be on August 1, 1952. At that time he must be not more than 12 years old, and he must have had his 8th birthday by August 1, 1951.

Official Little League applications which require the signature of the boys parents will be distributed to the boys of Little League ages eight to twelve years old at school through the courtesy and co-operation of the Winchester Public Schools and St. Mary's Parochial School as soon as they are available. Boys not in these schools should apply at the Winchester Sports Shop on Church street for their application forms.

Rotary's Yanks will be managed by Al Plummer, Kiwanis' Dodgers by Art Johns, Bonnell's Braves by Warren Branch and Moody's Red Sox by Sam Provizano.

LITTLE LEAGUE RALLY

Next Thursday, May 1st, at 7:00 p. m. at Winchester Town Hall, a program for every prospective Little League player and everyone interested in Little League has been arranged by the Board of Directors. Ted Bartlett, Master of Ceremonies, will introduce Dan McFadden, President of the greater Boston Little League Association and Director of Recreation in Arlington, who will speak on Little League experience in Arlington. Tom Dowd, Traveling Secretary of the Red Sox, will be a guest speaker and it is anticipated that several of the Red Sox players will be on hand that evening. Two movies, the 1951 Little League World Series and the 1951 Major League World Series showing the New York Giants versus the New York Yankees will be featured.

This entire program has been arranged as a get-acquainted meeting with no admission charge. Everyone come and hear what a wonderful program is in store for Winchester and see movies of last year's Little League champions in action!

ADDITIONAL FUNDS FOR LITTLE LEAGUE

Enthusiasm and support of Little League is growing. Last week Charles Craven, Grand Knight of the Winchester Council, Knights of Columbus, presented Little League with a check and this week a check was received from the Winchester Elks, to show in a tangible way that both organizations are wholeheartedly behind this program which is designed to benefit the children of Winchester. This support has been gratefully received by the Board of Directors who urgently need funds this year in order to launch Little League which is designed to be self-supporting after it starts operating.

Other organizations or individuals desiring to assist please contact Little League Treasurer, Charles Koch of the Winchester Sports Shop on Church street.

AWARD OF MERIT
GIVEN LOCAL ARTIST

Miss Dorothy Prescott Allen, Winchester Portrait artist, was presented with an Award of Merit by Florida Southern College at their International Art Exhibition in March. There were many countries represented in this exhibition with more than twelve-hundred entries. Miss Allen's painting was of her little niece, Marcia Louise Allen of Lexington, and was titled "Portrait of Honey".

Monday morning's alarm from Box 59 at 8:13 was in response to a report that the kitchen at the home of Mrs. Shepard Pond, 2 Salisbury street, was full of smoke. The firefighters found that trouble with a toaster had caused some toast to burn, resulting in the smoky conditions.

WE DON'T LIKE IT

The Town voted on Tuesday by about two to one to run elevated trains through Winchester, and this appears to be what will be done. The Star has always opposed this scheme and does now. It feels it will be a great detriment to the town.

However, when the Selectmen decided upon this scheme, the Star in an interview agreed to keep hands off and allow the people of Winchester to decide the issue, unprejudiced and on their own opinion.

This it has religiously done, our only entry into the controversy being a criticism of the method and intensity of town officials, past and present to "put it over." The methods and statements used were, in our opinion, decidedly in opposition to any desire to allow the residents to make their own decision in the matter.

The result has been that Winchester has gone through the most intensive battle we ever recall over a Town project. Its spirit has been fostered and life-long friendships ruptured, and anyone who has ventured to oppose the elevated trains has been held up as a pariah and not to be considered as a real citizen of Winchester.

With Tuesday's vote the matter of elevated trains appeared to be settled and the citizens of the Town left to heal their wounds. Although these scars are long-lived and not cured overnight.

However, early Wednesday morning we were asked to reprint an article from the Woburn Times of Tuesday stating in effect that Commissioner Callahan of the Department of Public Works will not give the Town any State funds if it decides to carry out any other plan than that of elevating the tracks.

Although we failed to see the importance of such a reprint at this time following the vote upon the matter, we readily agreed to publish it and asked for a signature. This was not forthcoming. We were asked to publish it as our own — in other words to Father it. Since this was one of the most important matters in dispute during the heated controversy before the vote, we could not see why we should take it upon ourselves to print it as our own information.

CARD OF THANKS FROM THE COMMITTEE

The Committee for the Elimination of the Grade Crossing wishes to thank those who contributed so much of their time and energy toward the successful support of the State Plan at the Referendum on Tuesday.

Our special thanks to the Voters who thus ratified the considered action of their duly elected representatives.

Committee for the Elimination of the Grade Crossing

Ralph H. Bonnell
Nicholas H. Fitzgerald
Harry L. Mueller
Harris S. Richardson
William R. Roop, II
Vincent Farnsworth, Jr., Chairman

An impasse occurred with numerous interviews. The Committee insisted we print the article and we in turn were willing to do so if it were signed. We were informed this was a "press release" issued by Commissioner Callahan's office. Asked why the Star did not receive it, we were furnished with the Times copy — which was not particularly conclusive, being headed simply "press release" and containing no signature.

Later in the day a telephone call from Commissioner Callahan's office assured us that the "release" was authentic and was from his office. We stated we did not doubt the authenticity of the article but we were interested in knowing why the Star had not received it. The reply was that "as the Star is a weekly paper and would not be issued until after the Tuesday voting, it was not thought necessary."

In other words, the "release" was issued on Monday to a hand-picked group of papers including the Woburn Times and some Boston papers.

We don't know whether this is the custom of Commissioner Callahan's office or not, but we might remind him now and herewith that the Star is the only paper printed in Winchester and notwithstanding any outside claims it does cover the Town of Winchester and is due at least some consideration. We are printing thirty-eight hundred copies of this week's Star and every paper will be read. It would appear that a "release" issued by such an important office should cover the ground and not be given to a select group.

The inference of course is obvious. The "release" was issued Monday, rushed to such papers as might reach Winchester people, and containing what might be called a distinct threat, demanding they vote for the elevated trains or else.

This "release" could have easily been issued weeks before when the dispute was at its height and both sides were claiming, from what they said was authentic evidence, that they were right.

The Star has never been included in any of Commissioner Callahan's "releases" and probably never will be, but so far as Winchester officials are concerned we kept our agreement in a desire to allow Winchester residents a free field to choose their preference for or against elevated trains. We are sorry to see tactics such as have been practiced by our town officials backed up by State officials. It appears that Winchester is composed of a bunch of morons who must be punished for not drinking their buttermilk.

We understand that the "release" is finally to appear in this issue of the Star, a signature having been secured. We concede it is somewhat late and why the great importance of printing it at this late date is to us a mystery.

THE BOY LIKED EISENHOWER

Editor of the Star:

Last week's Editorial Page carried an amusing letter from one of Winchester's good citizens who was upset by a "new law in politics" namely that a young 11 year old boy called at his house and asked him to sign a petition for Eisenhower. This good citizen drew the conclusion that the boy was sponsored by the Eisenhower for President Club, questioned the legality of such procedure and supposed that some Winchester mothers are sending their children into the streets to gather votes. The Eisenhower Club must here state that the boy was on his own and that neither he nor any other youngsters are being coached by the Club or Ike-inclined mothers. However, we do admire the young man — we could use his spirit and initiative. And we're sure the Taft Club would welcome him, too. If every grown-up in town had the interest and civic-mindedness displayed by this youngster the town would certainly benefit.

Evidently, the lad wanted to do his bit for Ike. (We understand he was successful on Wedgemere avenue). This 11-year old is certainly up-to-date on the political situation. He realizes the election will influence his future even more than that of the voting grown-ups. That's why he's campaigning for Eisenhower. He's part of the "ground swell" everyone's talking about.

Robert T. Pritchard
Pres. Eisenhower Club

THE FACTS STILL STAND

Editor of the Star:

In order to clear up any misunderstanding regarding my letter which appeared in last week's Star, the facts as written still stand as they were at that time. It is said that I must have misunderstood the story given me over the telephone by the State's engineering department.

In so far as I not only asked the questions in my own words and received the answers stated but to make doubly sure I read the last two paragraphs of the report of the Selectmen to my informant, who repeated the same answers he had previously given, it is not possible that there could have been any misunderstanding. The statements in my letter were just as received from the State.

An explanation of the news item in the Boston papers which contradicts the statements given me is not available at this time. It could be any one of several different factors. Should the real reason come to light, I shall be glad to present it at the time. The main thing I would like to say now is that there was no misunderstanding relative to the facts presented in last week's Star.

TEMPORARY TRACK TO BE ON WEST SIDE

Editor of the Star:

The following statement of William F. Callahan was issued last Monday afternoon, April 21, to all of the Boston newspapers by Mr. Gordon McLean, Public Relations Officer of the Department of Public Works:

"State Commissioner of Public Works, William F. Callahan today, April 21 took exception to statements issued by opponents to the Winchester Center grade crossing prior to a town referendum vote on the subject of acceptance of the present plan for a railroad overpass. The town voted on the referendum Tuesday, April 22."

"The state will not bear the expense of a Kellaway Plan or any other proposal inconsistent with the present design for an elevation of the railroad tracks."

"The duly authorized elective officials negotiated with the state department of public works for the elimination of the grade crossing. Exhaustive studies were made of several proposals and existing plans, including the so-called Kellaway Plan. The state has proceeded with the approval of the selectmen."

"It was the final best judgment of the engineers of this department and the consulting engineers that the only solution was to raise the tracks. To depress the railroad right-of-way would cost three times as much as the present plan and it would undoubtedly involve a complete change of the center of the City of Woburn."

"A vote of a recent town meeting reiterated the attitude of acceptance of the elevated plan by an overwhelming majority."

"If the voters of Winchester decide they do not want the grade crossing plan that has been prepared at a cost of $80,000 to date, I am sure that the present appropriation that has been earmarked for Winchester will be used for one of the many other cities or towns that have been urgently requesting highway projects."

"Unless the Boston & Maine Railroad can produce stronger arguments than those offered to date, the state will continue with its plan to run the temporary tracks along the westerly side to keep land damage costs at a minimum," Commissioner Callahan declared.

Vincent Farnsworth, Jr., Chrm. Committee for the Elimination of the Grade Crossing.

THANKS, SOLDIER!

Editor of the Star:

I am receiving the Star on Monday, and I read just about everything that is printed in it.

I don't think I can find words to explain just what it does for a fellow away from home. It makes you feel as though you were home taking part in what you are reading.

So keep up the good work and give my best to good old Winchester.

PREFERENTIAL PRIMARY

have two methods of supporting Tennessee Estes Kefauver for President at the Preferential Primary next Tuesday, April 29.

In addition to writing his name in the popularity contest, they will be able to give him strong and meaningful support by voting for the Second State of District Delegates to the Chicago Party Convention. The delegates on State No. 2 are openly committed to the nomination of the Crusading Senator from Tennessee. Several were pledged to him prior to his New Hampshire victory a month ago.

In the Fifth Congressional District, the best way to support Senator Kefauver in next Tuesday's election is to mark an "X" in the circle at the top of State No. 2 for District Delegates, and to write "Kefauver" in the block reserved for your Presidential preference.

This only Kefauver slate in the District is made up of the following delegates and alternates:

John Curran Watertown James Menton Watertown
Robert Mahoney Arlington Leo F. Garvey Winchester
James A. Coffey Arlington John Sheehan Watertown
Joseph W. Monahan, Jr. Belmont John F. Finnerty Newton

SENATOR TAFT VISITS WINCHESTER

Baron Hugo then struck up the band with "Hail to the Chief", a song usually reserved for the President. When the applause once again subsided, Taft lashed out at the governments trend toward Socialism, unchecked corruption, the oppressive burden of high taxes, and the reckless, indifferent manner "in which the administration is spending our money."

At the outset Senator Taft declared that he felt it was his duty to come and present his views, because before voting on the public "Must Know What The Candidate Is For". He then outlined the course of high taxes, increased government control, and the direct path toward Socialism which the Administration has been following. In the place of the "spending and more government control" philosophy which has permeated the New and the Fair Deal, Taft offered Liberty. The freedom of "everybody to think and live one's own life". He pointed out that our standard of living is the highest in the world because we "were free". Each man could build and enjoy the benefit of his creations, but now this Freedom is being "threatened by the Administration."

Upon discussing Foreign Policy, Taft declared the Hoover Commission has meant to cut down expenses but it has apparently been ignored by the Administration. The Senator pointed out that just two years ago General Bradley stated that 14 billion dollars was enough for defense, and today with out any greater threat to the U. S., Bradley is asking for a minimum of 52 billion dollars for defense. Taft insisted that we should not be made to send our money to the far flung corner of the Colonial Empires. He said we "must confine our efforts within our capacity."

On the subject of the Presidential election, Taft said we must "conduct a Campaign on principles we believe in." He declared the Republicans failed in the last 3 elections because "Me Too campaigns" were waged. In the last election over 35 million people did not vote because they "didn't feel there was a necessity to vote." "We must conduct a campaign to arouse enthusiasm! We must fight with principles for votes! We cannot modify them."

Following his speech, the Senator shook hands with hundreds of admirers, gave out autographs, and was greeted with many encouraging remarks such as, "Here's another vote for you Senator" and "We're all with you, Senator."

When Senator Taft was leaving, he drove off through hundreds of people who had gathered outside for a final look at him and a chance to wish him "Good Luck."

Among those on the stage with Senator Taft were Taft Delegates, Ralph Bonnell, Robert W. Welch, Jr., Edward DeSaulnier, Jr., and Edith Callant. In addition there were Vincent DeCain, Pres. Winchester Taft Club, Mrs. Cynthia Reynolds, Pres. Women's Republican Club, and Harrison Lyman, chairman, Board of Selectmen. Rep. Chadwick as before stated was most able as chairman of the meeting.

THANKS TO CITIZENS

Editor of the Star:

As many of the boys on the basketball team, may we through your paper express our appreciation for the thoughtfulness of the town. The trip to Washington was a happy experience which we know Bob will always remember.

Sincerely yours,
Paul and Helen Forester

CUB PACK No. 1

A feature of the evening will be the appearance of High School basketball coach Ted Bartlett, who will tell the boys and their parents about Little League Baseball in Winchester.

BAPTIST WOMEN'S LEAGUE

The regular May meeting of the Women's League of the First Baptist Church will be held at the church on Thursday, May 1st.

MISS SLOAN ENGAGED TO MR. GAFFNEY

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. James Sterett Sloan of Baltimore, Md., of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Helen Duer Sloan, to Mr. Bruce Gaffney, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Gaffney, of Fenwick road.

Miss Sloan is a graduate of The Bryn Mawr School in Baltimore, and is in her junior year at Vassar College. She made her debut at the Bachelors Cotillion in 1949, is a member of the Gibson Island Club, Gibson Island, Maryland; the Vassar Club of New York and is a provisional member of the Junior League of Baltimore.

Mr. Gaffney was graduated from Phillips Exeter Academy in 1942 and is a graduate of Harvard University, where he was a member of the Hasty Pudding Institute of 1970 and the Dolphin Club. He is also a member of the Maryland Club and the University Club of Baltimore. During World War II, he served with the Army of the United States in the Pacific Theatre. Prior to entering business, Mr. Gaffney attended Harvard Law School. He is now associated with the Public Relations Department of The Shell Oil Company in their New York office.

The wedding will take place in June.

REP. HENRY E. KEENAN CANDIDATE FOR DEMOCRATIC STATE COMMITTEE

In the past several weeks it has been noted that Representative Henry E. Keenan of Arlington has been lining up workers and personal friends in the Sixth Middlesex District in his bid for election to the office of State Democratic Committeeman. The Sixth Middlesex District takes in Winchester, all of Arlington, Woburn, and Wards 2, 3, 4 and 6 in Medford.

Rep. Keenan has pointed out to his workers the need of a strong Democratic organization in this district to carry out the programs of improvements requested by the active representatives in the General Court. Rep. Keenan, as an active member of the Legislature since 1949, has cooperated with the other Representatives in promoting these desired improvements. He is a member of the Committee of Metropolitan Affairs and has had first hand information on the needs of the district.

The office of State Committeeman is to be voted on in the primaries on April 29. Rep. Keenan urges all persons who are registered voters to go to the polls on that day and exercise their constitutional rights.

AUCTION

An auction will be held by the Tuesday Group of the Church of the Epiphany on Wednesday, May 7th, at 7 p. m., in the Parish House. The auctioneer will be Judy Schofield, the only woman auctioneer in New England.

Serving the "Little Customer"

The oft-heard criticism that banks are not interested in providing service for the "little customer," the one who can't afford to maintain more than a small deposit balance, is answered effectively by data developed by the Country Bank Operations Commission of the American Bankers Association in a cost analysis study of over 4000 small and medium-sized banks. This study discloses that about one-third of the checking accounts in these banks have balances less than $100, while almost one-fourth of these accounts have balances of less than $50. Bank service is for every member of the community who can use it to advantage. Large or small we shall be glad to welcome your account at our bank. Start one now.

RED CROSS FIGHTS FLOODS

With the Missouri and Mississippi rivers on the rampage and 130,000 persons affected by the floods, the Red Cross has gone into action again. 31,730 families are being helped by 175 paid Red Cross disaster workers, assisted by 6,000 local volunteers.

The Red Cross has spent or committed over $22,000,000 in this fiscal year, not including the present floods, so $10,000,000 more must be raised immediately.

The Red Cross is operating 72 shelters and feeding 11,500 persons, including dike workers. Experts on the scene estimate that registration for continued Red Cross assistance after the emergency period is over may run to 12,700 families.

Send your flood check to your local Red Cross Chapter today.

CHAMOIS SKI CLUB

The annual meeting of the Chamois Ski Club will be held on Wednesday, May 7, at 8 p. m. at Chandler's Barn, 130 Forest street. Let's all turn out for the election of officers for next year. FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST, WINCHESTER

Sunday Services at 11 a. m. Sunday School is held at the same hour as the church service. Wednesday testimonial meeting 8 p. m. Meeting room, 5 Winchester Terrace (off Thompson Street). Open daily except Sundays and holidays from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m.

The Lesson-Sermon entitled "Prokation After Death" which will be read at Christian Science services Sunday, will bring out that eternal life is realized by living in obedience to God's demand for spiritual perfection, not by dying.

One Bible message from the Lesson-Sermon is: "Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter through the gates into the city." (Rev. 22:14)

This selection from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be included. "We know that all will be changed in the twinkling of an eye," when the last trump shall sound; but this last call of wisdom cannot come till mortals have already yielded to each lesser will in the growth of Christ.

Mortals need not take belief in the experience of death will awaken them to glorified being. Universal salvation rests on progression and probation, and is unattainable without the help of Christ. The Golden Text is from Psalm 49:15: "God will redeem my soul from the power of the grave; for he shall receive me."

SAVINGS BANK CREATES HONORARY TRUSTEES

At the annual meeting of the Winchester Savings Bank at the Winchester Country Club Wednesday evening James S. Allen, Harry C. Sanborn, Nelson H. Seelye and Frederick S. Snyder were made honorary trustees. Mr. Seelye has been with the bank since 1901, Mr. Sanborn, a former president, since 1908; Mr. Snyder, since 1914; and Mr. Allen, since 1921.

Prominent Winchester men elected to the corporation and board of trustees of the bank were: James B. Willing, CPA, partner in the firm of Patterson, Teale & Dennis; Charles T. Main, 2nd, of the firm of Charles T. Main, Inc., member of the Board of Selectmen and of the Junior High School Building Comm.; Sherman B. Russell, real estate developer; and John McIntyre, Ingersoll Products Corp., and vice president of the Winchester Rotary Club, corporator; and Philip P. Wadsworth, attorney, Town Moderator and former chairman of Selectmen; Maurice T. Freeman, vice president of Loomis Sayles Co., investment counselor, former vice chairman of the Finance Committee; Herman F. Pike, partner, Standish, Ayer, McKay, investment counsel, Cemetery Commission; and Clinton W. Bennett, of the firm of Cooley & Mason, certified public accountants, trustees.

During the dinner meeting officers were re-elected as follows: James F. DeWinnell, Jr., pres. Edward H. Kerson, vice pres. William J. Speers, Jr., corporator.

Clarence G. McDevitt, Jr., of Winchester, president of the Somerville National Bank, was the dinner speaker, giving an interesting and provocative talk on "Our Opportunities as Corporators and Trustees." In his remarks he said that bankers' greatest problem was to preserve the soundness of the dollar.

WOBURN HERE SATURDAY

Winchester High will play two non-league games at Manchester Field this weekend, meeting Saugus High at 3 o'clock and arch rival, Woburn High, on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. It is expected that Coach Bartlett will send Stowell Symmes to the mound against Saugus, with Charlie Murphy twirling against Woburn to-morrow afternoon.

The locals play three Middlesex League games next week when they cross bats with Stoneham High at Manchester Field on Tuesday afternoon, play at Belmont on Wednesday afternoon, and travel to Melrose on Friday afternoon.

The condition of Miss Elise Belcher of Dix street, former hostess of the First Congregational Church who is seriously ill at the Winchester Hospital, was reported yesterday to be unchanged.

SHOWED BASKETBALL PICTURES

Last Sunday evening Dr. and Mrs. William D. Barone opened their new home at 1 School street for a showing of colored motion pictures of Winchester High School's undefeated championship basketball team. Parents of the players, and the coaches and their wives attended, with Superintendent of Schools and Mrs. Forbes H. Norris, High School Principal and Mrs. Wade L. Grindle, Faculty Manager George Curtis, and Cartoonist Gerry Cirignano.

The pictures, given by Dr. Barone, were taken by the high school sports photographers, "Reggie" and "Jake" Wentworth, who also attended the showing. They were shot at the Mystic School Court on a sunny afternoon preceding the team's trip to Washington and show both individual snaps of the players and Coach Bartlett with some excellent action shots, both team and individual.

They were arranged like a commercial motion picture with captions and clever sketches by Gerry Cirignano of the Boston Globe art department, whose football cartoons have appeared in the Winchester Star.

The pictures were shown in the Barone game room which was arranged like a movie theatre. Refreshments were served after the showing.

Winchester High plays an exhibition baseball game this afternoon on Manchester Field at 3 o'clock while the track team is engaging Winthrop in a dual meet at Winthrop. This will be the first meet for the track team and Coach Knowlton is eagerly waiting to see how his charges look under fire.

CIVIL DEFENSE

THINK THIS OVER, BEFORE SUNDAY

No matter how successful it may seem, the CD Alert and test problem this Sunday afternoon is going to be time completely wasted — if we in Civil Defense, and you, the public, don't stop to realize why it is being held.

It certainly is NOT an occasion for us all to go through some motions without stumbling, then pat ourselves on the back for being prepared — when we may be far from it. CD organizations, and the public support they require, have already proven too useful in many emergencies besides war alone, for us to exist on a half-way basis. Just this year, CD has already materially assisted in floods, plane crashes, power failures, etc. For such emergencies as these — and for the ultimate danger, enemy attack — no amount of preparation is ever too much.

Because we in CD believe in learning by doing, Sunday will be not so much a show of achievement as another day "in school." Personally, I hope everyone involved in our exercise enjoys the test problem — has real fun from it. It's a grand group that's worked harder than many people will ever realize, and they deserve the satisfaction of knowing their job is well done.

However, I know I speak for all in CD when I say there will be room for improvement, here and there. You, the public, won't see the weak spots — but we will, or certainly should. Important work is not finished overnight, and your Winchester CD is pledged to work constantly for a truly perfect organization plan, effective use of equipment, time-saving operations, against the day when they may be put to a harder test than Sunday's practice.

As for you, Mr. and Mrs. Winchester citizen, what will your Sunday afternoon prove? No one will ring your doorbell to see if you're really in your basement shelter. Just the same — why not go through the motions? It may be a profitable lesson to find that your "safe" basement is really a hazard until that light is fixed, those boxes removed from the stairs, the washing machine shifted from the corner you planned to use for a shelter, and the ash barrels kept somewhere else besides in front of the door you'll need for your exit. Too, it's a safe bet you haven't yet placed any First Aid supplies handy to that shelter.

A word to the wise is sufficient; and after all, it's your life that's at stake, no one else's. How about it?

WINCHESTER WOMAN 50 YEARS WITH JORDAN'S

Miss Anna M. Sullivan of 21 Mystic Avenue was one of three employees honored last week for having completed 50 years with Jordan Marsh Company.

Sixty-five employees became members of Jordan's Quarter Century Club last week Thursday evening at the 33rd annual banquet of the organization at the Hotel Statler. Miss Sullivan and her 50 year associates were welcomed into the Half Century Club at this banquet. Besides Miss Sullivan, they were Chester H. Critchett of Melrose and Margaret M. Kavanaugh of Cambridge.

All three were presented a check for $1,000 and a diamond pin by Edward H. Milton, and they will also be given a month's vacation with pay, both in the summer and the winter. At the banquet they occupied places with company officials at the head table.

Miss Sullivan makes her home with her sister, Mrs. Daniel Kelly on Mystic Avenue. A native of Malden she has lived in Winchester for 15 years. She has spent practically all of her half-century at Jordan's in the curtain department and is well known to many of the store's customers, with whom the Star joins in extending hearty congratulations upon a business honor few achieve.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

The Reverend and Mrs. Nelson B. Gildersleeve of Newcastle, Maine, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Elizabeth to George Robert Phippen, son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Phippen of Hanover, Mass., formerly of Winchester.

Miss Gildersleeve is a graduate of Green Mountain Junior College and the University of Maine, Class of 1950. She is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority. Miss Gildersleeve is now instructor of English in the Hanover High School, Hanover, Mass.

Mr. Phippen is a graduate of Dartmouth College, Class of 1948, and is a member of Theta Chi Fraternity. He has done graduate work at Syracuse University and is a candidate for the Degree of Master of Arts this June. Mr. Phippen is now instructor in the Department of Geography, Dartmouth College. During World War II he served as Ensign U. S. N. R.

A July wedding is planned.

MISS WOLSEY ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Wolsey of Jefferson Road announce the engagement of their daughter, Joan Aprille, to Mr. Richard Pearson Jebb, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Jebb of Merrimack, N. H.

Miss Wolsey graduated from Winchester High School in the class of 1950, and is majoring in Art at Vermont Junior College.

Mr. Jebb attended Florida Military Academy, St. Petersburg, Fla., Pratt Institute of New York and is a junior at Norwich University where he is a Business Administration major and a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. A June wedding is planned.

Two big dogs caught and badly mauled a raccoon last Friday afternoon in the yard of the home of Prof. Robinson Abbott, 21 Everett Road. Mrs. Abbott called the police, but Officers Flaherty and Parsons were not in time to save the coon's life. It is said the animal had been around the neighborhood for about a year, apparently living in a drain-pipe.

ROBERT WEEKS ARMSTRONG

Robert Weeks Armstrong of 1 Curtis Circle, a widely known resident of Winchester and president of the Armstrong Knitting Mills, died suddenly of a heart attack at his home Sunday evening, April 20. He had been in his usual health during the day and had attended church during the morning, his sudden passing coming as a severe shock to his family and wide circle of friends. He had only recently returned from a European trip to find his home had been broken into during his absence and his automobile stolen. While abroad he suffered from a virus attack, but since his return to town his condition had improved steadily and he had been his usual active self during the days just preceding his death.

Mr. Armstrong was the son of Robert M. and Marilla (Weeks) Armstrong. He was born in Winchester and attended the Winchester schools, leaving high school like so many of his generation to go to work.

After working at various jobs he joined the old line Boston drygoods house of Brown Durrell as a salesman on the road, remaining in this capacity until he founded his own business, the Armstrong Knitting Mills 41 years ago. The firm, importers of knitting yarns, has its plant at 423 LaGrange Street, West Roxbury.

About 1945 Mr. Armstrong bought the Winchester Conservatories. He operated both the whole sale growing and the retail store for a time, and was conducting the wholesale end of the business at his death. He also raised turkeys for market at his farm in Friendship, Me., where he and his family spent their summers for many years.

Mr. Armstrong was a former president of the Winchester Hospital and active in the Methodist Church, serving as a trustee at the time of his death and formerly acting as treasurer of the board for many years. He was a member of the Winchester Country Club.

On April 19, 1891, Mr. Armstrong married Edith Creighton of Lynn. She survives with three daughters, Mrs. Kenneth G. Cady (Mary Armstrong), living in Naples, where her husband, a Navy commander, is presently stationed; Mrs. Carick A. Kennedy (Priscilla Armstrong) of Winchester, and Mrs. William Q. Wales (Ella Armstrong) of Marblehead; two sons, Robert W. Armstrong, Jr., of Winchester and John C. Armstrong of Salem; a brother, Russell B. Armstrong of Winchester; and three sisters, Mrs. Arthur P. Pratt of Mt. Dora, Fla., Mrs. Clement Rinehart of New York City, and Miss Dorothy Armstrong, a house mother at Boston University. Eleven grandchildren also survive.

Private funeral services were held at the late residence Wednesday afternoon with Mr. Armstrong's brother-in-law, Dr. Arthur P. Pratt, a Congregational minister, and the Rev. John Snook, Jr., pastor of the Methodist Church, officiating. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

MRS. NORA AGNES SHAW

Mrs. Nora Agnes Shaw, wife of William Frank Shaw of 12 Elm Street, a carrier at the Winchester Post Office, died early Saturday afternoon, April 19 at the Winchester Hospital following a brief illness.

Mrs. Shaw was the daughter of Thomas and Catherine (Walsh) O'Laughlin. Older residents will remember her father's shoe repairing shop on Converse place at the site now occupied by Christie McDonald's bakery. Previously he had been a contractor in Winchester, doing the grading when the present Unitarian Church was built and also doing the work when St. Mary's Church, originally a wooden building was faced with brick.

Mrs. Shaw was born in Winchester April 7, 1888, and grew up here, attending the Winchester schools. She was a member of St. Mary's Sodality.

On June 30, 1920, Mr. and Mrs. Shaw were married. He survives with three sisters, Mrs. William H. Murray of Winchester, Mrs. Margaret Givan of Brighton and Mrs. Clara Hahn of Brookline; also four brothers, Thomas and James O'Laughlin both of Brighton; Daniel O'Laughlin of Newark, N.J.; and Harry O'Laughlin of Bay Pines, Fla.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning from the Moffett Funeral Home with solemn requiem high mass celebrated at 10 o'clock at St. Mary's Church. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

Charles Watson of Salisbury road is in the hospital with pneumonia.

HUGH JOSEPH RAINEY

Hugh Joseph Rainey of 16 Park Road, a veteran of World War I, died Friday night, April 18, at the Soldiers Home Hospital in Chelsea. He had been in poor health following a heart attack which he had last November, and toward the last of March his condition became serious. He entered the hospital April 11.

Mr. Rainey was born in Boston, March 3, 1886. He grew up in Boston, attending the Boston schools. Later he lived with an uncle in Winthrop and during World War I he served overseas as a sergeant with the old Winthrop Machine Gun Company, 6th Company Development Battalion. He was a member of Winchester Post, 97, the American Legion. Flags on the Common and town buildings were displayed at half-staff in his honor.

After the war he was for many years an inspector in the wholesale Fish Department of the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, retiring in 1940 because of poor health. For two years after his retirement he served as school traffic officer at the George Washington School. Since his retirement he and Mrs. Rainey spent their summers at Wallace Ridge, N. S.

On September 25, 1936, he married Edna B. Ralph of this town, who is his only survivor.

The funeral was held from the late residence Tuesday morning with requiem high mass celebrated by a Firing Squad from Fort Banks, Winthrop, and taps was blown by Stephen Dunn, trumpeter. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery where three volleys were fired by a Firing Squad from Fort Banks, Winthrop, and taps was blown by Stephen Dunn, trumpeter.

TOASTMISTRESS CLUBS IN CONTEST

The Toastmistress Clubs of the Northeast Region held their Speech Contest on Friday evening, April 18, 1952, at 8:00 p. m. in the Parlor of the Unitarian Church, Wellesley Hills, Mass.

Mrs. Pat McIsaac, of Wellesley, Toastmistress Club, whose winning topic was, "The Aging Process - Inevitable, but Fun", was presented with a technique which all Toastmistress members aspire to achieve.

Contestants from other Toastmistress Clubs: second place, Mrs. Violet Carroll, of Waltham, whose subject was "We The People"; Mrs. Lilah Baker, of Quincy, spoke on "Gold In Your Hand"; Miss Hilda Hope, of Winchester, gave an inspiring talk on "Tomorrow". In addition to these prepared ten minute speeches, each contestant gave an impromptu two-minute talk on subjects handed to them in a sealed envelope, and were rated on both talks by a point system set up by the International Committee.

The speeches were judged by a group of outstanding men and women, who so ably and generously gave their time to the Toastmistress cause. . . . learning more about the art of speaking, through prepared talks and extemporaneous 2-minute topics. . . . Dr. T. Hsieh, famous philosopher, writer, and lecturer; Mrs. Hazel George Erb, of Malden, Director of the 8th District of Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, and lecturer; Mrs. Ruth Bowen, of Wellesley School System, Mrs. Marjorie McKenzie, of Quincy, Recording Secretary of South Shore Toastmistress Club; Miss Rita Donnelly of Boston Toastmistress Club, and Mr. Leonard Tims, of Wellesley Toastmistress Club.

Committee Chairmen responsible for the success of the program were: Mrs. Taffy Wood, and Mrs. Helen Francis, of Wellesley Toastmistress Club, and Miss Orrie Grant, of Winchester. The times of the speech contest, Mrs. Margaret Tims, of Wellesley, and Mrs. Lillian Last of Winchester. . . . and the tellers: Mrs. Ruth Wilson, of Waltham, Mrs. Vivian Smith, of Quincy, and Miss Orrie Grant, of Winchester.

The winner of the Speech Contest, Mrs. Pat McIsaac, goes to the Regional Contest Meeting in Detroit, Michigan, May 17 & 18, and then to the International Convention Contest of Toastmistress Clubs, to be held in Chicago, Ill., July 13 to 16.

It is expected that members from the seven Toastmistress Clubs in the Northeast Region will attend the Chicago Convention in representative numbers, which is one of the outstanding events of the year.

Following the Speech Contest, the President of Council Number Five, Mrs. Lilah Baker, called a meeting of the Council. The Secretary, Mrs. Edna Crede, of Winchester, read the minutes of the previous meeting. One member of each Club of Council No. 5 was appointed by the Chairman to serve on the Nominating Committee: Mrs. Edna Crede, of Winchester, Miss Hilda Hope, of Winchester, Mrs. Edith Chambers, of Malden, Mrs. Mary Shaw, of Quincy, Mrs. Marjorie McKenzie, of South Shore, Miss Sara Myers, of Waltham, Miss Rita Donnelly, of Boston. This Committee will nominate the officers for next year. Miss Marguerite Breen, International Toastmistress Club President, will be in Boston the last week in May, and at that time a special meeting will be held in her honor.

George B. Heath, 15 Brantwood road, has been appointed Chief Accountant in the Auditing Department of the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company. He is a graduate of Boston University and has been with the company since 1946.

NEW B. & M. DIESELS

New stainless steel Budd "Highliners" will start operating on the lines of the Boston and Maine Railroad when the new timetable schedules go into effect this Sunday, April 27, with the change in Daylight Saving Time.

These new self-propelled diesel passenger cars will give fast service between Boston and Troy, New York, making the trip in four hours and thirty minutes.

With the delivery in May of the unit scheduled for the New Hampshire Division, the "Highliners" will run as a two-car train making a fast trip in each direction between White River Junction, Vermont, and Boston through Concord, Manchester and Nashua, N. H.

The new "Highliners" will carry ninety passengers in air-conditioned comfort at speeds up to the maximum limits of 70 miles per hour on the divisions where they will be in service.

Propelled by two 275 horsepower diesel engines, the "Highliners" are capable of a top speed of 83 miles an hour under full load and with the fast acceleration they are able from a standing start to do five miles in five minutes.

Mechanical air-conditioning will keep the cars at an even comfortable temperature winter and summer. The interior decoration is simple and pleasing to the eye, with an excellent lighting arrangement.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

The executive board of the Winchester College Club entertained sixteen new members at tea on Wednesday, April 23, at the home on Miss Alice Main, membership chairman.

All Winchester women who have attended for at least two years a senior college accredited by the American Association of University Women are eligible for membership in the College Club. If there are any such who are interested in joining, they are cordially invited to attend the spring meeting of the club on Wednesday, May 14, at the Music House.

THIS Spring day, in Sudbury town, the doors of the famous Wayside Inn will be opened to bid a merry welcome to guests.

There will soon be new wayside tales to tell about the friendly hospitality, the bountiful old-fashioned meals, the attractive overnight lodgings, and strolls outdoors seeing the Old Grist Mill, The Chapel, The Little Red Schoolhouse, the Coach House, and other historic points of interest.

Come and join us for luncheon or dinner.

UNIQUE SHOP ENTERS 5th YEAR IN WINCHESTER

It is unusual in any town to find a workshop and showroom where fine originals are made by hand. It is a growing trend in all the arts and crafts across the country. We are increasingly beginning to appreciate the quality and beauty of handwork, which offers so much more and is not too much more costly.

In Winchester the 5th year is now underway for Macefield, presenting beautiful jewelry and silversmithing. For many Macefield has become a personal shopping place to find just the right object either in stock or made to order. To others Macefield has been a delightful surprise on discovery, for few towns or cities have shops of this quality.

Macefield has had pleasant surprises, too, for they have learned that the town's population is always changing and growing and new friends and clients are constantly adding to the enjoyment of this fascinating work. Another inspiration to the Macefield partners, William Mason and Leonard Field, is the popularity of their window displays. Many people make regular visits to Winchester Place to view attractive arrangements. Most of these displays owe their appeal to the rare objects loaned by generous friends and patrons who have marvelous collections. These offer endless selection, around which to build decorative windows.

To those who do stop and have not entered, the boys extend a special welcome to discover an equally attractive showroom with cases, drawings, and a mural with eleven life-sized figures!

At the beginning of this 5th year Macefield feels it is an appropriate time to express gratitude for the pleasure it has been to create beauty for Winchester people and for people from other places near and far, literally across the world, sent in the Worcester Art Museum of Fine Arts, de Cordova and Dana Museum in Lincoln, and presently in the Worcester Arm Museum. Also in many local clubs and public buildings, currently in the Art Gallery of the Winchester Public Library.

If you have not found this little shop, make it one of your worthwhile experiences to do so — at 10 Winchester place.

EIGHTH DISTRICT PRESIDENTS' CLUB

The Annual Meeting will be held on Friday, May 2nd at the Greenwood Community Church, Oak street, Greenwood. Luncheon will be at 12:30 p. m. Mrs. Ralph G. Swain, First Vice-President of the MSPWC will be guest of honor. Election of officers. Program by hostess club.

ELECTRICITY

post-war promise

When war ended in 1945, New England had 2,659,000 kilowatts of electricity for public use. Right then, with the lifting of war-time restrictions, the business-managed electric companies launched a huge program of new construction. They promised to add 1,500,000 kilowatts to New England's supply of electric power — by December 1952!

The fulfillment of that promise is now in sight — and for an even larger increase than originally pledged. By the end of this year New England will have at its service a total of 4,377,000 kilowatts — up 1,718,000 or 64.6% since 1945!

With the great "catching up" job accomplished, your electric companies are already deep in plans for the future. The development of more and more electric power for New England homes, commerce and industry is a continuing mission of the tax-paying electric utilities of our six-state region.

BACKSTAGE AT "STATE OF THE UNION"

In the center of the Unitarian Players' stage right now is the backstage crew, hammering and gluing flats for the May 16 and 17 production of "State of the Union". Howard Lindsay and Robert Crouse. For this timely comedy of backstage politics, George W. Hayden, Jr., Head of Scenic Design and Construction, has planned three of the most elegant smoke-filled rooms you ever saw. A large group, some of whom had never heard the music of an electric saw before, has been working with George, who has been designing and building scenery of professional caliber for Winchester plays for many years.

Among those who vote for scenic construction as the most creative and sociable phase of play production are Robert Low, P. Eric Anderson, Bob Westwater, Olive Anderson, Phoebe Low, Marjorie Bradford, Alma Brotherton, Mary Louise Lunt, Dorothy Miller, Miller E. Miller, Bruce Miller, Joy Woolley, Jimmy Woolley, Dermot Townsend-Tilson, Garson Taggart, Bob Sibley, Helen Glover, Emmons Ellis, Melvin Moller, and Virginia Wallace. You are invited to join the fun any Tuesday or Thursday evening on Sunday afternoon at the Unitarian Church.

The property committee, under the direction of Virginia Wallace is busy assembling a vast list of properties, ranging from 18th century grays to a dish of chocolate ice cream. Mrs. Emmons Ellis, Mrs. Richard Novak and Mrs. Herbert Black, committee members, are choosing chairs to blend with the walls of the first-act Washington bedroom and the stylish green of the third-act New York apartment. For the second act, authentic souvenirs picked up at the Book-Cadillac Hotel in Detroit are sought.

Refreshments will be served between the acts by Mrs. Theodore Godwin, Mrs. William E. Spaulding and their committee.

No matter what ticket you are voting, you can find tickets for "State of the Union" at Mary Spaulding's Bookshop or at the Unitarian Church Office.

FIREFIGHTERS' BALL CROWDED

As usual the S.R.O. sign was hung out at the town hall last Friday night when the Winchester Firemen's Relief Association held its annual Concert and Ball. Auxiliary Firefighters under Chief T. Parker Clarke were at the station with Captain Frank Amico and Edward D. Fitzgerald of the permanent force.

Gene Jones and his Orchestra played for both the entertainment and dancing at the ball, opening the entertainment with an overture, followed by the "Star Spangled Banner." Six acts of high class professional vaudeville were on the bill and regular attendants raved the show as good as the best the Firefighters have had in years.

The Burke twins, two shapely misses, opened the show with songs and dancing, followed by ventriloquist Jim Jedry with "Little Eddie Kelley."

Ann Reid, billed as Miss Make-Believe, turned out to be a make-up artist, who got a lot of laughs and enthusiastic applause as she transformed four members of the Fire Department, Elliott Ward, Joe Connolly, Charlie Moran and Norman Doucette into respectively: a baby, the Statue of Liberty, a drunken bum and a cave man. The cave man sequence was especially well done showing the cave man's return to his ancestor, the ape.

Stanley and Joan Kayne offered clever pantomime and Stanley doubled as master of ceremonies for the show. The Hollanders were a harmonious duo, and Robey and Dell, a boy and girl, closed the bill in rapid-fire fashion with an acrobatic and tumbling act. The girl had quite a fall during the performance and got a nice hand when she gamely continued the act after her mishap.

Gene Jones proved popular with the crowd during a wait necessitated by the late arrival of one of the acts when he filled in with popular songs, in which the audience enthusiastically joined.

Many visited the Fire Station after the show, refreshments being served there.

Chief James E. Callahan of the Fire Department was floor marshal for the dancing, and the entertainment committee comprised Joseph M. Connolly, Henry P. O'Melia and Charles Moran.

Following are the officers of the Relief Association:
President—Joseph M. Connolly
Vice-President—Frank Amico
Secretary—Edward D. Fitzgerald
Treasurer—John J. Flaherty

Board of Directors: Mr. Charles Moran, Peter Galuffo, Warren Osborne, James Figucia.

SIGTRYGGUR OLAFSSON

Sigtryggur Olafsson, a seaman who made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Sterling at 31 Nathaniel road, died at 2:30 Friday morning, April 18, at the Cambridge City Hospital following an automobile accident in which his car struck a tree on Memorial Drive in Cambridge at 1:30 the previous morning.

Mr. Olafsson sustained a fractured skull, a broken hip and ankle and a dislocated shoulder, as well as multiple contusions and abrasions. Doctors at the hospital believed he had a cerebral hemorrhage while driving his car just before the accident occurred. He was on his way home to Winchester from Boston.

Mr. Olafsson was born in Iceland 57 years ago. As a young man he sailed on fishing vessels out of Iceland, and after coming to this country in 1928 at the age of 33, he continued to follow the sea, sailing on freighters and merchant vessels. He joined the crew of the trawler, Winchester, when she made her maiden voyage in 1937, and he continued to sail with her out of East Boston until his death.

Mr. Olafsson came to Winchester from Medford a year ago. He was a member of Balbec Lodge, A. F. & A. M. Winthrop, Royal Arch Chapter, Palestine Commandery, Knights Templar, and Allepo Temple. He leave as brother and sister living in Iceland.

Masonic funeral services were held Monday afternoon preceding cremation at the Crematory Chapel in Woodlawn Cemetery, Everett.

QUINE ACTIVE AT TUFTS

A Winchester student who is becoming one of the most active young men on the campus at Tufts College, Medford, is James F. Quine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Quine of 14 Grayson road. First enrolled at Tufts in the fall of 1949, Quine transferred to Merrimack College for a year, and then returned to Tufts last spring as a first-term sophomore in the School of Liberal Arts. A drama major, Quine at once became interested in the Arena Theater at Tufts, and worked back-stage on the student-produced play by G. B. Shaw presented last May — "You Never Can Tell". At the same time he outdid himself in helping with the rehabilitation of the theater underwritten at that time. Recently converted from a gymnasium, the arena needed extensive alterations, and the students, with Quine taking much of the initiative, painted the whole interior of the lobby and auditorium, and converted back-stage areas into rehearsal rooms and sound and lighting workshops.

The experience and knowledge of the theater Quine gained at that time stood him in good stead during the Summer School season at Tufts last year. Hired as a technician to work on lights for the productions, Quine also was called on to double on-stage, and played in "The Merchant of Venice", "Good Housekeeping", "The Linden Tree", "Happy Bridesmaids" and "The Dramatist".

When regular session opened at Tufts this fall Quine was cast in the first of four major undergraduate productions presented by Pen, Paint and Pretzels, honorary student dramatic group at the school, playing Lt. Charles in Elmer Rice's expressionistic drama "Adding Machine". He portrayed the role of lovable Uncle Sid in the second Three P's presentation, "Ah, Wilderness!" by Eugene O'Neill, and so delighted audiences with his characterization of the part that he received tremendous ovations each night as he made his slightly drunken exit, singing, in the second act.

Before the opening "curtain" at the arena, the first night, "Ah, Wilderness!" played, Quine was notified he was one of four students recently elected to Three P's. A society which limits itself to eight members out of an undergraduate enrollment of more than 2,500 at Tufts, Three P's is one of the most active extracurricular groups on the campus. It would seem a member of the society had little time left for other interests on Hill. Quine, however, had been pledged to Delta Upsilon fraternity when he first attended Tufts, and lost no time when he returned to the campus in becoming initiated a full-fledged member. Meanwhile, he became enrolled in the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps which was newly affiliated with Tufts last September. Within a few weeks, Quine was appointed cadet first lieutenant in the ROTC unit, and more recently has been promoted to the rank of student captain, one of three students who hold the second highest position in the corps.

The annual Greenwood Oratorical Contest is held on the Tufts campus each fall, and Quine, putting his speech and dramatic training to good use, won second prize in the competition. Adding another distinction to his record of achievements at Tufts, Quine has recently been nominated for membership in Ivy Society, junior honor group on the campus.

Continuing his stage successes this year Quine, besides taking part in several one-act, student-directed plays at the arena, portrayed the feature role of Gussie in Three P's February production of "Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines", a comedy of 1875 by Clyde Fitch. Currently, Quine is starring in "Fashion", 1850 comedy of manners by Anna Cora Mowatt, which will be presented for its second weekend at the Tufts Arena Theater Friday and Saturday evenings, May 2 and 3.

When Summer School opens in July at Tufts, Quine will again take part in the back-stage work of the Summer Theater, acting as stage-manager, responsible for the success of each performance. And next September he will continue to be cast in student-directed studio productions at the arena, and act in full-length plays before the college audience, finding time between to excel in his other school activities as well.

HOUSEWARMING AT WYMAN

Monday, April 21, was the occasion of the housewarming of the redecorated and newly furnished teachers' room at the Wyman School. The members of the board of the Mothers' Association entertained the faculty at an open house with punch and cookies. The idea for this redecorating was conceived by last year's board and part of the money earned by that board was allocated to this project. The plan met with the approval of the present board who appointed a committee and gave the remaining funds necessary for the completion of the work.

Realizing the significant role of the teachers in the lives of their children, Wyman mothers are grateful for this opportunity to show their appreciation. Mrs. Willem Lemmens, chairman of the committee, has worked very hard planning color schemes and ordering furniture and fabrics. She was assisted by an able committee: Mrs. Edgar Hinton, Mrs. Arthur Agnew, Mrs. Virginia Dickey, last year's president; and Mrs. Ronald Wyman, the current president. Miss Mabel Lowry, principal of the Wyman School was frequently consulted and made suggestions from the teachers' point of view.

A new rug, new draperies, and a recovered studio couch along with two lime-covered leather chairs and a copper tan leather chair are the basic changes. Mr. and Mrs. Lemmens donated the lovely lamps, mirror, and picture for the room.

The surprise and pleasure expressed by the teachers is proof that this project has been a worthwhile one. So the harmonious principal-teacher-parent and child relationships of the past continue at Wyman.

Walcott B. Thompson, 16 Cabot street has been reappointed as a Notary Public, it was announced today by Edward J. Cronin, Secretary of the Commonwealth.

South Station Friday evening, April 18, reporting a wonderful time in the capital city. Accompanied by Coach Ted Bartlett and Athletic Director Henry Knowlton, twelve members of the team and Manager Bill Carleton left town last week Tuesday morning, starting their return trip from Washington at 11 o'clock the following Friday. The trip to Washington on the new train, "The Senator" was highlighted by lunch and supper on the train. From the Union Station in Washington the team taxied to the Lafayette Hotel where the boys and their coaches were housed in a special wing reserved for young people. Hundreds of boys and girls from all over the country were at the hotel and the Winchester boys really enjoyed meeting and talking with these young people, most of the "bull-sessions" lasting until the wee small hours.

A really comprehensive program was laid out for the team, and those who went on the various sight-seeing tours visited the Congressional Library, the Senate, a Senate Hearing, Mt. Vernon, the F. B. I. School, Washington Monument, the Smithsonian Institute, the Bureau of Engraving and the Lincoln Memorial, among other places of interest. Those who preferred attending the Red Sox-Senators ballgame, and some did, went to the ball park, and those who wanted to sit around the lobby and talk with visiting boys and girls did that. There was no compulsion, but most of the boys went along on the arranged tours. Everyone enjoyed luncheon with Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers in the Speaker's Dining Room at the Capitol on Wednesday. We have Coach Knowlton's word for it that the southern fried chicken prepared after Speaker Rayburn's favorite recipe, was out of this world.

Coach Bartlett enjoyed fraternizing with an old Beverly High classmate, Senator Lodge's Secretary McCarthy, who gave the boys mementoes autographed by the Senator, who was not in Washington.

Coach Knowlton enjoyed chatting with an old Springfield College pal, "Chief" Myers, who is a physical instructor at the F. B. I. School. Everyone was glad to run into an old Winchester boy, Lane McGovern, among the guests in the

HIGH SCHOOL CONCERT

The parents and friends who filled the high school auditorium on Friday evening for the annual Spring Concert of the Winchester High School musical organizations were well repaid for venturing out on a stormy night. Winchester folk have come to expect a splendid program from the band and from the girls' glee club, and they were not disappointed, but it is pleasing to note the continued progress and improvement of the other groups.

A long concert, the programming was varied to suit the ability and interests of the groups performing and to please the differing tastes of those in the audience, the old masters being represented as well as more recent popular composers. It would be difficult to comment specifically on each number in the program. However, the young people in both the instrumental and vocal groups showed the results of careful training and much practice. Although it is perhaps a minor point, the stage department of the performers was excellent, and that, plus their handsome appearance, added to the pleasure of this observer. Miss Eleanor Anifantis and Mr. Fred Felmet deserve much credit for this and other fine performances; music instruction in the Winchester schools is in good hands.

The complete program was as follows:

Selection from Carmen	Bizet
Andalucia Suite	Loucaud
Hungarian Dance No. 5	Brahms
High School Orchestra
Fantasia on an Old Irish Tune	Wynnan
Annette Barbara, Violin
Marie Barbara, Piano

The Spring Concert Committee was composed of Mrs. Paul B. Levette, general chairman, Mr. Don Kroell, advisory, Mrs. James B. Willing, publicity.

The Ticket Sales Committee included Mrs. Daniel F. Barnard, Miss A. Louise Cone, Mrs. Joseph C. Gray, Mrs. H. S. Mullen, Mrs. Arthur W. Pratt, Mrs. Darrell A. Root, Mrs. Edward R. Simpson.

The Telephone Committee included the following: Mrs. Richard Bolster, Mrs. Roger Burton, Mrs. Ross Cunningham, Mrs. Nicholas Fitzgerald, Mrs. Don Kroell, Mrs. Ronald H. Robnett, Mrs. Leon Sargent, Mrs. Albert Swazey, Mrs. Gerald Tallman, Mrs. George Traut, Mrs. Philip Wadsworth, Mrs. Ernest J. Wright.

Posters for the concert were prepared by Junior High School art students under the direction of Miss Edna Hatch, grade school art pupils under the supervision of Miss Virginia French, and by high school students Sheila Scamion and Kent Wright. Tickets were printed by members of the high school print shop under the direction of Mr. Joseph Aversa. Lighting was arranged by Paul B. Levette, Jr.

Ushers for the concert were members of the WHS Varsity Club, and faculty members assisting backstage were Messrs. Henry Knowlton, G. Hartley Curtis, and John Stevens. Flowers were provided through the courtesy of Foley, the Florist.

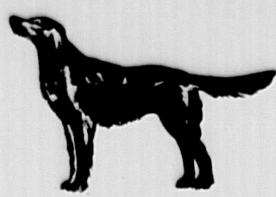

Mr. Frederick S. Calhoun of 33 Dix street, and Mr. Edward J. McDewitt, Jr., of 34 Everett avenue were among Winchester men attending the recent meeting of the Boston Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants, at the Hotel Bradford. Dr. Charles F. Ross, president of the Economic Institute, Inc., of New York, was the principal speaker.

M.S.P.C.A. NOTES

On Thursday, April 10th, the Winchester Auxiliary of the M. S. P. C. A., met at the home of Mrs. John Clarke, 149 Highland avenue. The President, Mrs. Clarke, presided and brought up several important matters of business. It was voted to send $100 to the M. S. P. C. A. in Boston toward payment on a cage which the Winchester branch is giving in memory of Mrs. Richard Taylor.

The problem of stray cats was discussed at length. It was decided to contact Dr. Hanson head of the M. S. P. C. A. in Boston and inquire about securing a cage which Dr. Adams could use as a temporary shelter for cats. Dr. Adams is a veterinarian who has an office and hospital on Cambridge street, Woburn, not far from the "Four Corners". He is anxious to cooperate with the society in any way possible. Dr. Adams had already spoken with Mrs. Clarke in regard to advertising for lost dogs in certain papers in order to place them in their own homes. Persons who have lost their dogs should inquire of the police, who often pick them up.

The nominating committee for 1952-1953 was appointed by Mrs. Clark, with Mrs. Noyes as chairman, Miss Leontine Pate and Mrs. Howard Wright the other members of the committee. The date for the Food Sale at the home of Mrs. George Connors was discussed and the 28th of May finally decided upon. Mrs. Reed is chairman of the sale.

Miss Mary Alice Fitch very graciously offered her home for the next meeting on May 8th. It is hoped a large group of friends and members will be present and further plans for the sale will be considered at that time.

Following the meeting Mrs. Clarke and her daughter served a delicious tea and a very friendly and social time brought the afternoon to a close.

Galen Vincent of 3 Manchester road, a member of the Army ROTC at Boston University was one of the rifle team receiving medals at the annual Federal Inspection of Boston University's Army and Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps Tuesday at the Memorial Drive Playground west of the Boston University Bridge. PROMPT DELIVERY

What? No Clutch?

We were waiting for the 8:08 one morning when a long, diesel-powered freight train went by.

"I wonder how those things get underway," one of the commuters remarked. "Do you suppose they shift gears like a car?"

"No," said Bill, the railroad authority. "They could never make a clutch that wouldn't burn out, getting a 100-car freight underway."

"Do they have fluid drive, maybe?"

"No, but that's closer to it. The diesel engine drives a big generator, see? And the generator generates power for electric traction motors that are connected to the locomotive's wheels."

"I get it. Diesel to generator to motor. A Tinker-to-Everett-Chance sort of a set-up."

"That was another kind of a 'clutch' combination," quipped the commuter.

When the groans had subsided Bill went on with his explanation. "The engineer controls power and speed entirely through electricity—he handles a throttle which controls the speed of the diesel engine, and this in turn generates more or less current to drive the motor. He also has another lever which changes the electrical connections in various ways—from series to parallel and so on—and this has something like the same effect as changing gears in an automobile. So the drive is completely flexible, and the diesel's whole job is to run the generating plant."

"What's the reason for the B and M changing over from steam to diesel?" asked another fellow. "I've noticed that most of the trains are diesel these days."

"Yes," said Bill, "all the railroads are converting to diesel. I read somewhere that the B and M has replaced 227 steam locomotives with $27,000,000 worth of diesels in the past 10 years, and pretty soon there'll be no steam left on the system."

"To answer your question—there are lots of reasons for this changeover. Diesels are much cheaper to run, because the oil they burn is a less expensive fuel than coal. They can go farther without servicing. Maintenance is cheaper and quicker, and they can be worked practically 24 hours a day. And because they've got better 'torque,' or traction, they can start and pull heavier loads than steam locomotives of the same rated horsepower."

"One thing you forgot," said the first commuter. "They don't create a lot of smoke and cinders."

"Right you are," Bill nodded as the 8:08 pulled in.

Commuters' Column

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

It was gratifying to see the large attendance at our annual meeting held at Masonic Hall on Tuesday, April 22nd. President Mrs. John T. Lennon welcomed the members and introduced our guest speaker for the day, Reverend Phillip Kearney of the Catholic Charitable Bureau. Then followed the reading of the annual report by Recording Secretary Mrs. Carl H. Thomas, the treasurer's report by Mrs. Martin P. Higgins and the slate of officers by the chairman of the Nominating Committee, Mrs. Owen J. Logue.

In his brief talk following the business meeting, Father Kearney complimented all the members of the Winchester Chapter on the wonderful accomplishments of the past year, as indicated by the fine treasurer's report and rising membership lists. In this day of television and multiplicity of organizations many organizations find it difficult to survive, much less succeed, said Father Kearney, and in most cases it is necessary to exert organizations to work harder for their cause. In the case of the Guild, however, he could only extol their virtues and urge all members to keep up the good work.

Mrs. Lennon then introduced the members of the new Executive Board, each of whom was presented with a lovely corsage. She then personally thanked all her board members and the entire organization for making her term in office so successful and ending her official duties turned the gavel over to our new president, Mrs. James C. Marchant.

In her warm and sincere acceptance speech Mrs. Marchant thanked all the members for the honor bestowed on her and the memory of her mother, the late Mrs. John Felt, one of the original members of the Winchester Guild, in electing her to this high office. She traced briefly the growth and progress of the Winchester Chapter over the past twenty-two years and paid individual tribute to each of its past presidents. She asked the continued support of all members in maintaining the fine record set this year and we know we speak for all members of the Guild when we say she most certainly will have it.

Following the Reception to New Board Members tea was served by Mrs. Joseph Burgatti with members of the board serving as hostesses for the day.

And now, here they are, the new officers and board members:

members of the board, we wish you a happy and restful summer and we will expect you back in the fall nicely tanned and refreshed and ready for another big year. We'll see you in October.

Two Winchester women, Mrs. Samuel Kirkwood, 7 Swan road, and Mrs. John Lobingier, 4 Manchester road, will display the best of their year's painting at the annual Boston YWCA Workshops Exhibit, which opens Monday, May 5, at 140 Clarendon street.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The annual meeting of the Winchester League will be held on Wednesday, May 7, at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Reginald Bradlee, 6 Ledyard road. Officers for next year will be elected, and a budget approved; also the local program for next year's study will be decided.

The League membership will discuss what phases of local government it will study, and after the study will take a stand for or against. (The reason the League was completely neutral in the recent referendum vote is that it had not studied the matter, so did not feel qualified to express an opinion).

Mrs. Robert Drake will report on the national convention, to which she was our delegate. Mrs. William Davies will report on the State Council meeting, which she and Mrs. Long will attend the day before the annual meeting.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

For Gas Customers in

WOBURN and WINCHESTER

CONCERNING THE CHANGE-OVER TO NATURAL GAS

All work in connection with conversion to natural gas has been scheduled by communities and districts in order that it may be done with a minimum of inconvenience to our customers.

Natural Gas Will Be Turned-in To

WOBURN and WINCHESTER

On MONDAY, MAY 12TH, and Final Adjustments

Will Be Completed By WEDNESDAY, MAY 14TH

Watch for the final notice which will be attached to your door knob a day or two in advance of the actual change-over. This handbill will show the exact date YOUR SECTION will be converted.

PLEASE MAKE SURE SOMEONE IS HOME

Conversion men will make their first home calls between 7 and 10 A. M. on the first day of conversion in your neighborhood.

It is particularly important that these men be able to get in to your home at this time.

He will turn off appliances which cannot be used until converted. He will also show you how you can use your gas range — TOP BURNERS ONLY — during the conversion period. The "Conversion Man" will carry an identification card.

The conversion of thousands of appliances is a tremendous job. It will take three days to convert every appliance in WOBURN and WINCHESTER, but only the last customers reached will have to wait that long.

Be sure to follow all instructions which have been delivered to you.

All normal adjustments will be made free of charge.

TELEPHONE NUMBER FOR NATURAL GAS

For inquiries and service during the change-over period, we request you to call our Special Conversion Number

COMMITTEE DISCUSSES PLANS FOR JUNIOR FLORENCE CRITTENTON DANCE MAY 10

JUNIOR CRITTENTON SPRING DANCE

Come one, come all! Democrat or Republican. Your favorite son will be represented at the colossal political rally to be held at the Town Hall on May 10th at 8:30 p. m. Many members and friends of the Junior Florence Crittenton will attend their annual spring dance on this evening and dance until midnight under the watchful eyes of all the presidential candidates. The bandstand will be decorated with stars and stripes and politics will be the theme of the evening.

Under the capable direction of Mrs. Joseph Butler and Mrs. David Walton, plans are now being made for the biggest and best spring dance of the century. Mrs. Robert Armstrong and her decorating committee are collecting posters and decorations to reproduce political headquarters. Mrs. Robert Wild, in charge of sales, has the gingerale and coke all ready and waiting. Mrs. Howard Morrison is in charge of services and Mrs. Richard Chase and her committee already have many reservations.

Many parties are planned to precede the dance. Make your reservations early!

COME SQUARE DANCING!

The Wednesday Night Couples Club of the First Congregational Church is sponsoring an old fashioned square dance in the parish house Wednesday evening, May 7th, at 8 o'clock. The admission is only $1.00 per couple. The dances will be called by the well known caller, Dudley Briggs.

Come dressed for fun! Everyone and their friends are invited!

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Industrial Arts Conference
Recently members of the industrial arts department of the junior and senior high schools attended a conference of the Massachusetts Industrial Arts Teachers' Association at Fitchburg Teachers College. The president of the Heywood-Wakefield Company delivered the main address on the role of the industrial arts teacher in the design of furniture. In the group were Mr. Otis Leary, department head, and Messrs. Joseph Aversa, William Branley, and Paul Goodwin. An interesting exhibit of the work produced by students was presented, and two articles of the woodturner's art, made by Winchester boys, received honorable mention. These will be on display at Hevey's Drug Store.

Mr. Morse at Speech Conference
Mr. Thomas Morse, speech instructor at the high school, will attend the annual Massachusetts Speech Conference in Worcester on May 7. He will be one of the speakers at the general session when the subject, "A Co-operative Approach to the Teaching of Speaking and Listening," is discussed.

Dr. Alley at N. E. Science Fair
Dr. Alley, head of the science department, is attending the New England Science Fair at Bowdoin College this weekend where he will serve as one of the judges.

Freshman at Science Fair
Dan Lewis, member of the Freshman Class and son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Lewis, won an Honorable Mention at the Massachusetts Science Fair, held last week in Boston, for his exhibit of a miniature pocket radio. Entries are rated by the judges on seven qualities: Scientific Approach, Advancement in Science of contestant, Ingenuity of Construction, Technical Skill and Workmanship, Thoroughness, Originality of Concept, Social Implications, and Dramatic Value.

YOUR PUBLIC LIBRARY

New Charging System

Yesterday, May first, the Gaylord charge plate system was installed in the Adult Department of the Public Library. This system has been in use in the Boys and Girls Department for over a year and is well liked.

Adults are reminded that now it is necessary for them to present their charge plate when borrowing books from the library. It will not be possible to charge books, magazines, pamphlets, or records without the charge plate. Borrowers will find this new system accurate and fast. A little time and patience at first will insure a smooth running, accurate system of charging books.

New Schedule of Fines

The new schedule of fines on overdue books, magazines, and pamphlets went into effect on May first. This new schedule calls for a fine of 2 cents a day on each book, magazine and pamphlet for the first week overdue, and 5 cents for each day thereafter. As in the past book borrowers can renew 14-day books from the date due for another fourteen days if they are not requested by others. Such renewals may be made by telephone. As now, 7-day books will not be renewable because of the demand for them.

The overdue book problem has become a costly one for the library.

A great deal of staff time and postage has been required to follow up on overdue books. The Board of Library Trustees points out that the fines do not come to the library but go to the Excess and Deficiency Fund of the town. Therefore, the increase in fines is not to give the library revenue, but to reduce the overdue fault, thereby making overdue books available for use by library patrons.

Exhibit of Flags

The Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of Winchester has an interesting set of flags on display in the reading room of the Public Library.

Mr. Carl H. Thomas of Water street, Esteemed Leading Knight of the B. P. O. E. made the standard for the flags and arranged the exhibit.

A little history of these flags will be of interest.

"In July 1908, the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, in Grand Lodge assembled, at Dallas, Texas, provided for the observance of 'Flag Day' on June 14th, and the observance of the day has been made mandatory upon each Subordinate Lodge of the Order. Thus, the Order of Elks was the first, and as yet, the only fraternal organization which requires the celebration of this event."

The flag exhibit will be at the library through the month of May.

Story Hour

Saturday morning, May third, at 10:15 at the Public Library, Miss Russell, the Children's Librarian, will tell "How Boots Befooled the King" from Howard Pyle's Wonder Clock, and also "The Brave Grenadier" from Henry Beston's The Starlight Wonder Book. All children of elementary school age are welcome.

Music Program

Recorded music in the Downs Room, Wednesday, May seventh at 3 p. m. and again at 7:30 p. m.

Dance of the Rose Maidens from Gayne Ballet Suite — Khachaturian.
Scherzi Nos. 1 and 2 — Chopin.
Les Preludes — Liszt.
Concerto in D major for Violin — (Second and Third Movements) — Beethoven.
Symphony No. 2 in D — (Third and Fourth Movements) — Sibelius.

Use of Edgar J. Rich Room

The Edgar J. Rich Room at the Public Library will be shown upon request any time during library hours. Individuals may arrange to use the Edgar J. Rich Room for reading and study of the Lincoln — Lee collection by making appointments in advance.

Library Hours

Adult Department 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. Saturday 10 to 6.
Boys' and Girls' Library 10 a. m. to 12 Noon and 1 to 6.

RECOVERED HIT-RUN CAR

Friday night shortly before 9 o'clock Sgt. John Dolan and Officer William Callahan of the Police Department recovered on Highland avenue between the Parkway and Cliff street an abandoned automobile wanted by the Police of Medford for having figured in a hit-run accident on Winthrop street in Medford. The car, which is registered to a Burlington man, was damaged. The Medford Police were notified and towed the wanted car to their station.

"HARVEY"

A comedy by Mary Chase, directed by Harlan F. Grant, produced by the Parish Players of the First Congregational Church Thursday, Friday, Saturday, April 24, 25 and 26 with the following cast:
Myrtle Mae Simmons Constance B. Hessler
Veta Louise Simmons Marian T. Blake
Edwood P. Dowd Dorothy M. Wille
Ruth Kelly, R. N. Fina O. Bookman
Duane Wilson Henry K. Fitts
Lynne Sanderson, M. D. William R. Chumley, M. D.
Kendall L. Johnson
Betty Chumley
Judge Omar Gaffney
George E. Connor
R. Ashley Lewis
Soon or late, "Harvey" was bound to be a Parish Players production, for it is precisely the type of merry comedy their audience takes to its heart. Moreover, in addition to its many laughs, it provides a feast of fat parts that cannot fail to intrigue any ambitious amateur group. From the very first rehearsal, we are told, they found special zest and enjoyment in its performance.

The part of Elwood Dowd, with its skilful blend of fact and fantasy and delightful air of whimsicality, falls well within the scope of Milne Blanchard, a veteran now of forty roles in the Parish Players repertoire. Throughout the performance he maintained the same essential simplicity and sweetness of disposition that was inherent in Frank Fay's fabulous presentation. His gestures — and they were many and varied — his facial expressions, and general air of enjoying life, were consistently in character. One must hark back to "Grandpa" in "You Can't Take It With You" to find a part into which he has entered with such zest, and with which he so thoroughly identified himself. A piece of work indeed, one that will go down in the annals of the Parish Players! (How nice, Doc, you could have your pictures taken together!)

Two much, also, cannot be said for Marion Blake's portrayal of his long-suffering sister, Veta. Not only did she suffer, but the audience with her, through her early embarrassment at the reception and tea, her frustrated social ambitions, her anguished efforts to get Elwood "installed" at Chumley's Rest, her great humiliation, and resultant burning indignation. Her disheveled entrance and near physical collapse on her return from the sanitarium was a masterpiece of comic dejection. In all Mrs. Blake's performances one gets the impression that she could step into professional company in the same roles and give excellent account of herself. What more can one say?

As her daughter, Myrtle Mae, Constance Hessler (resplendent indeed in her "Ranch" Rose toned "crepe") was attractive in a style all her own. She was her mother's daughter throughout, sharing pathetically but comically in her social aspirations, sharing, too, in her despair. Her half-pleased, half-frightened response to Wilson's overtures in Act 2 will long remain in this reviewer's memory.

With hilarity at fever heat, the entrance of Dorothy Wills in any part at all serves to send it over the top! In the part of Aunt Ethel she gave one more of those homely, consistently comic portrayals for which she is famed.

As Ruth Kelly, a personable — but practical — registered nurse, Judy Brown was busy as a bee, and played her part with poise and assurance. Her half-reluctant admiration for Dr. Sanderson was deftly shown. As Dr. Sanderson, assistant to the famous Dr. Chumley, Henry Fitts gave another clean-cut characterization. Full of business, brisk, incisive, he shed an aura of efficiency wherein his one mistake in judgment stood forth in startling contrast. His diction throughout was admirable.

As the renowned Dr. Chumley himself, Mr. Johnson effectively etched a character at once brusque and domineering, but pathetic in his human frailty. His abrupt change-about in the final act still has us a trifle dazed, but must be taken as a compliment to Harvey's eloquence and persuasive powers. The fault — if fault there be — should be laid at Mrs. Chase's door, and not at his. An interesting and forceful performance.

George Connor, in make-up that effectively concealed his identity added one more to his list of excellent character parts in the choler, well-intentioned, but generally inefficient Judge Omar Gaffney.

The minor roles, too, were competently handled. Finn Bockmann made Wilson impulsive, gruff, but loyal (how that chap obeyed orders!) and, we doubt not, an excellent attendant for Chumley's Rest. (We particularly enjoyed his duel with the dictionary in search of the higher education, and are inclined to agree with him that the reference book became unduly familiar!)

Gale Davenport as Mrs. Chumley was decorative, and something besides. Her charm and ease of manner bore witness to previous experience in dramatic roles.

Ashley Lewis as the chauffeur read his lines well, and voiced theory as to rehabilitated patients with comic effect.

The Parish Players stole a march on professional companies of this play by treating their departing patrons to a glimpse of "Harvey" himself (in person!) And in another "invisible" member of the cast — that modest but all-pervasive director, Harlan Grant — we doff our hat. He should take a bow, too!

With three such efforts in one season as "The Devil's Disciple," "The Late Christopher Bean," and "Harvey," the Players have set themselves a high water mark of achievement that will be hard to exceed. But you can bet on their trying!

Driving through Grove street the local police saw the car again in West Medford, giving chase again along Boston avenue as far as Tufts College before losing it again. The fugitive car was travelling at times between 80 and 90 miles an hour according to the police, who also said that two sailors were riding in it.

STUDENTS ARE INTERESTED

Editor of the Star:
After reading Mr. Pritchard's letter in last week's Star I am moved to add a few words about our young people and their reaction to the present campaign.

This is our first venture into politics and both Mr. Ford and I have been amazed and gratified at the interest of students of all ages. They have stopped at our Taft Headquarters from High School and Junior High and discussed with great intelligence both the issues involved and the candidates and asked many questions. Would that more of their elders had the same conscientious desire to obtain the facts, and the appreciation of the seriousness of their privilege to vote. These girls and boys are eagerly and impatiently awaiting the time when they will mark their first ballot.

Also, we've had the younger group — to be true they've been a problem at times, collecting "buttons" as they did. But it's been a joy to see their enthusiasm. We've had the boys who started the Parkhurst Taft for President Club, those who presented us with really clever drawings and cartoons depicting the political scene, and those who just "wanted to help."

WANTED

Country Newspaper Editor

We have an opening for a man who can fill these qualifications:

Must be capable of taking Complete Charge as editor, night staff, legal department, music critic, old garden man, composing room, sports columnist, society writer, janitor, advertising manager, copy boy, circulation director, and lad who delivers paper.

The man we are looking for must be willing to put his Back to the Wheel, keep his Eye on the Ball, his Head in the Stars, his Feet on the Ground.

The editor we want must be:
A tower of strength to the locality.
A pillar of the community.
A penthouse of the municipality.
He must be able to work 17 hours a day on five hours' sleep. Remain sober while drinking and exuberant while thinking.

Entirely independent in politics, he must be a Liberal to the Conservatives, a Socialist to Conservatives, a Socialist to the Socialists.

He must be ready to become chairman of 17 different community groups at the same time and never be late for meetings, especially when only five of these groups are meeting the same night.

The man we are looking for must keep his head clear, his ears open, his eyes peeled, his nose clean, his tongue in his cheek, his mouth shut, his neck in and his chest out.

The type of Editor we want must have an expert knowledge of all cultural, fraternal, financial, political, medical, legal, and spiritual subjects.

He must be as willing to substitute for the Superintendent of the Young Peoples' Society as he is to take over as rear-end of the Elks' imitation horse act.

The man we need must be honest but look prosperous. He must be ready to pay all bills on the dot while waiting for everybody else to pay him.

He must be a combination Boy-Reporter and Father-Confessor.

Preferably—the first husband of a wife of the man we want here for Editor should either have been a deep-sea sailor, a CPR engineer, circus acrobat or a sleep-walking Gypsy.

Education not necessarily a detriment.

The above "ad copy" was written by Barry Mather in his column in the "Vancouver (Canada) Sun." It was inspired by a visit he made to a meeting of weekly newspaper editors in which he listened in while they talked about their jobs. From the "American Press."

when we were busy with our mailing. By now the Boston papers may have carried the story of the Winchester girl who wanted a "big" button and wrote Mr. Taft personally — and received it air mail in less than a week!

Yes — it's good "the boy liked Eisenhower" and that all our young people live in a country where they can freely show their preference!

BASKETBALL TEAM EXPRESSES THANKS

To the people of Winchester:
We, the members of the basketball team, would like sincerely to thank all the people of this town who made possible our wonderful trip to Washington, D. C. It was a splendid experience and one which we shall never forget.

We can never thank you properly for your kindness, but we can assure you that we will always look back to this wonderful climax you provided for our championship season, and we will always be grateful, not only for your generosity, but also for your loyal support at our games.

There aren't many towns that do this for their champions in a championship way as you have feted us. We sincerely appreciate all you have done for us.

THANKING TAFT WORKERS

Editor of the Star:
The Winchester Taft for President Club wishes to thank its many workers and supporters for their loyalty and hard work. We especially appreciate the kindness of those who opened their homes for the club.

The results of the Primary were disappointing but we wish to announce we are not disbanding as we have confidence Senator Taft will at Convention time have the necessary lead to insure his final victory and we are ready to function in any way necessary.

We have tried to conduct our campaign in a manner that would ensure harmony in the Republican Party in the future and with a minimum of expense, as we felt our opponents were of the same party and that party was about to embark on a new campaign. Our one so-called extravagance was our Headquarters and we felt justified in that expense because of its convenience not alone to our workers but to the interested public. Whatever contributions we have received were entirely unsolicited and therefore most appreciated.

Last but not least, our sincere thanks to the Star for their interest and co-operation.

ROBERT W. ARMSTRONG

An Appreciation

A little over a week has passed since the sudden death of Robert W. Armstrong on April 20. The community still feels the shock of this sad event.

Our thoughts at the moment are of the splendid heritage that Mr. Armstrong has left as a man and as a citizen, for he stood high in this community for many years.

His acquaintance was extensive and included a wide circle of friends in all walks of life. This is not surprising, for he was a friendly and generous nature. Whenever he learned of need or misfortune or illness he quietly gave himself as well as his gift, and in his own way. He was pleasant to meet. As one said to us recently, "It did one good to meet him on the street."

Mr. Armstrong loved life and found joy in the beauties of nature. His interests were diversified, and his energies and enthusiasms unbounded, often surprising his friends.

He was devoted to his family, who, with his friends, were the center of his thoughts. The influence of his cheerful personality and the memory of his strong character and useful life will long remain.

CORRECTION

In reporting the result of last week's referendum our statement that the doctors of the town supported the Selectmen in their advocacy of raising the tracks with an advertisement in the Star was challenged by a well known physician, practicing in Winchester, who came to the Star Office and asked us if we could find his name among those appended to the advertisement. We could not, and were told that our use of the all-inclusive "the" before doctors was unfortunate since "all" the doctors practicing in Winchester do not favor the over-pass.

We stand corrected and offer the physicians who may have been placed in a false position by our statement our apology. The list looked pretty comprehensive as we glanced at it quickly while writing our story, and a quick look was all we had time for that day! Sorry!

THEATRE NIGHT FOR LITTLE LEAGUE

The management of the Winchester Theatre has made a fine civic gesture in designating Friday night, May 9th, as Little League Nite.

A portion of every ticket sold by the Little League committee previous to May 8th will be donated to this worthwhile cause; and the committee hopes to sell out the house.

Here is a way in which the theatre-going population of the town may make a valuable contribution to the youngsters and at the same time enjoy the usual stellar attractions as presented by the Winchester Theatre. We ask all of you movie lovers to make a date with us for Friday night, May 9th. See you at the show.

Tickets may be purchased from any member of the committee, the coaches and at Hevey's or McCormack's Drugstore plus the Sports Shop. Tickets will also be sold at try-outs and practice sessions previous to Little League Nite.

TENNIS STAR TO TEACH HERE SATURDAY

Any town youngster may learn how to play tennis free of charge at the William Packer Tennis Courts on Saturday, May 3, at 10:00 a. m. Miss Mary Hardwick will be present to lead the instruction. Miss Hardwick has been in the Whiteman Cup Tournaments for many years. She once held the Women's Single's Championship in England, prior to turning professional.

Each person should come equipped with sneakers, a tennis racket and ball. Here is a sport of few fundamentals and hard personal practice. Here, also, is an art of the highest caliber for teaching these fundamentals.

Winchester is a town admired throughout the state for its tennis enthusiasm and facilities. Tennis is a family game and the Winchester Tennis Association is trying to help continue this reputation in offering this clinic. In case of rain or bad playing conditions, the clinic will be conducted in the High School gym as scheduled.

LEGHORN PROMOTED

Sun Tube Corporation, of Hillside and Washington, New Jersey, announces the election of Kenneth M. Leghorn to the office of Vice-President.

Mr. Leghorn is a native of Winchester, and a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Class of 1947.

After graduation, he joined Sun Tube Corporation as administrative assistant, becoming director of research there until his recent promotion.

Mr. Leghorn served for five years in the Air Force in the past War, principally in the China-Burma-India Theater, and was discharged as a major.

He is a member of the Society of Plastic Engineers, the American Ordnance Association, and Sigma Chi Fraternity.

He is a resident of Berkeley Heights, New Jersey.

WINCHESTER DANCERS IN SQUARE DANCE WEEK

Last week was Square Dance Week in these parts, and a number of Winchester residents participated in the nightly meetings of devotees throughout Greater Boston.

The big affairs of the week were the Wednesday night Jamboree at the Boston Garden, with Ken Pratt, Bill Wilde, Nancy Griffiths, Barbara Sittlinger and Jim Cullen among the "stompers" from Winchester.

Friday night, Saturday afternoon and evening the dancers moved out to the spacious Worcester Auditorium in Worcester for the big New England Folk Festival, of which Mrs. Barbara Little of Church street is secretary.

Mrs. Little doubled in brass by dancing the Scottish numbers, and her husband, "Bert," was among the Winchester attendants.

Other Winchester residents present included Al Smith of Pond street, Virginia Wallace and the perambulating Ken Pratt, who seldom misses a gathering of square dancers.

Al Smith was one of the Festival's Scottish numbers, and the master of ceremonies at the Saturday afternoon session and also dancing in the Scottish numbers, including an outstanding "Highland" Scotch dance.

The music being furnished by a Scotch Pipers Band.

HIGH SCHOOL THESPIANS INDUCTION AND DINNER

Members of Winchester High School Troop 729 of the National Thespian Society held an induction service and dinner on April 29 at the Kerridge Cafe, Malden. Present as honored guests were Principal and Mrs. Wade L. Grindle and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Morse.

After a delicious dinner, the present members, including Earl Carrier, president; Ronald MacKenzie, vice-president; Sona Norian, secretary; Diane Greer, treasurer; and Janet Archibald, Caroline Burdette, Marjorie Dexter, Janet Michelson and Richard Rush participated in the induction ceremony for new members. Those inducted were Carol Ambrose, Mary Bostwick, Mary Jane Davis, Paul Leverette, Lisa M. Levesque, Samuel Roy and Stephen Yale.

Following this event, the old and new members were addressed by Mr. Morse, the adviser, and by Principal Grindle. The latter expressed his appreciation of the work of the Thespian Society in providing opportunities for participation and recognition to those students interested in dramatics. He noted that in the four years of the society's existence it has greatly broadened the scope of its activities.

WINCHESTER OFFICER HEADS ICE PATROL

Captain Graves served on the Greenland Patrol during World War II, and on the USS Cambria (APA-10) in the Central Pacific and the Philippines. More recently he commanded the Coast Guard Cutter, Castle Rock (WAVP-383), an ocean station vessel based at Boston.

This year marks the 40th anniversary of the Titanic sinking, with the loss of 1,517 lives, as the result of striking an iceberg. Established as the result of this tragedy, the International Ice Patrol, and the Coast Guard's 1952 International Ice Patrol, is a joint effort of the U. S. Coast Guard and the U. S. Navy. Through surface and air reconnaissance and radio information, the Coast Guard locates icebergs and field ice menacing the North Atlantic shipping lanes. This season of the year, and broadcasts the information to shipping.

Captain Graves is married and has four children, Susan, Janet, Gretchen and Garrett. His mother is also a resident of Winchester.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

The Winchester College Club will hold its spring meeting in the Music Hall at 2:30 p. m. on Wednesday, May 14.

Dr. Robert Cummins, one of Winchester's own citizens, will be the speaker. He is an interesting, colorful speaker, who admirably combines international experience, a serious professional attitude, and a very delightful humor.

Dr. Cummins has studied at various institutions in the United States and at Oxford University, England. He began his career as executive secretary of the Student Y. M. C. A. at Miami University. From 1922 to 1924 he was Director of the Boon-It Memorial Institute for Young Men in Bangkok, Thailand. At present he is General Superintendent of the Universalist Church of America.

Recently he was one of seventy prominent leaders of various denominations at a three-day conference at the Pentagon. There he met and heard national leaders in the diplomatic and military fields, who gave the group information on present problems and policies of government.

Dr. Cummins will speak informally on "Parson at the Pentagon."

AT WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS

Winchester residents who are registered at the Gretna White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia this week include Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Willing, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton W. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. E. Ober, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Edwards, J. McDewitt. They are in attendance at the annual Spring Meeting of the Governing Council of the American Institute of Accountants.

Mr. Willing, as President of the Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants, is a member of the Council ex-officio and the other gentlemen are present as duly elected members of the Council.

CIVIL DEFENSE

VISITOR PRAISES WINCHESTER IN TOWN'S FIRST ALERT

"Look at that, now . . . not a soul in sight!" The words were spoken by W. Anthony Comerford, Assistant Regional CD Director invited to witness Winchester's recent Alert and CD Test, to the group about him atop the Lyceum Building in the center.

A few Boston newspaper reporters and photographers, two other visiting CD officials, and your own CD reporter with photographer Charles "Flash" Foley, we had all climbed to the Lyceum's roof to witness Winchester's observance of its first air raid Alert. By the time we reached our spot, the alarm was on, and the town already what the Boston Daily Record called, "A Ghost Town."

A few youngsters at first frisked in the street, but soon disappeared. The last moving car swept to the curb, and its driver ran for the Shelter in the Logan & Chrusz Garage. Only Police — regular and auxiliary — were visible; two lone men in empty Winchester square. It was certainly quite a sight, and as Police Chief Harold later reported: " . . . the first time since I've been in Winchester, I've ever seen it so quiet."

Well, that's what Winchester was supposed to do, and it did! We have a reputation among those who know us as being a town with a great deal of spirit, and community pride. Sunday moved it more; that fine community spirit means true community security. I personally puffed with pride for my town when I heard Director Comerford go on to say, "Now just imagine this is real. A true emergency . . . these people are ready!" I had to agree; for the town's first Alert, they had done well. And quietly, then, and now, in print with all of your CD organization to echo me, I say, "Thanks, Winchester."

To make the reports which follow in the wake of the Alert seem all the better, there have been many individual instances mentioned of homes who carefully conducted proper drills of their own. Children, carefully — without stirring up undue fright — yet thoroughly, were shown what the family was expected to do; go to the shelter, protect themselves with tables, mattresses, etc., and wait for the "All-Clear." I don't need to congratulate such families; they have their own reward in feeling greater security for their loved ones and themselves. But it's nice to hear about it.

As for the Civil Defense organization itself, last Sunday was a successful one. Though we are all trained never to look on it that way, as long as any room for improvement exists.

When the "All-Clear" sounded at 2:07 and the town cautiously "poked out its nose to go on as before, then CD work resumed full swing. Commencing with the supposed "blowing up" of the Boston Edison Sub-Station on Pond street, W. A. Comerford, of the Wabum Loop R. R. switch in Winchester center, CD workers in all Divisions were hurried into a hectic two hours of test problems.

It would be impossible in short space to detail the entire test, the aims of each incident, and the effectiveness of the actual solutions. In general, however, Winchester tried to simulate dangers which would occur and require our local CD people to take action. Our hypothetical "A-Bomb" did not hit Winchester — that may be possible, but quite unlikely. It struck over M. I. T. in Cambridge, caused damage in an about Boston. To Winchester, such an event should mean: (1) serious traffic jams, and thousands of refugees on our highways, demanding close check-point work by all Police, First Aiders, CWA personnel, etc. (2) definite organized sabotage, striking here as well as everywhere, to prevent our organized help to stricken Boston.

(3) heavy load of wounded "farm boys" from overflows in hospitals closer in. (4) Constant calls from other communities for our fire apparatus, heavy wrecking and rescue equipment, as well as such needs here. (5) Homeless "refugees" — especially aged and small children — to be put up here temporarily if required. (6) plus countless emergency calls of every conceivable sort — for help in restoring damaged water supplies, for motor fuel shortages, for assistance in other towns, and other incidents which we cannot even now imagine.

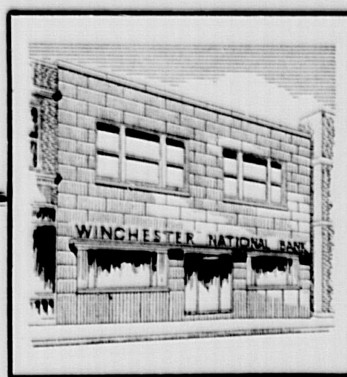

To train our nine CD Divisions, various problems are devised and scheduled by the CD staff. Acted out and physically "set up" by an independent group of volunteers who played dead, acted injured, blocked roads, set off smoke "bombs," and so on. The plan had to be met and coped with in the proper manner by CD workers of the entire town. The effectiveness of the "Test Group" in providing realism is proven by the front-page reception and good picture coverage given Winchester by nearly every newspaper in Boston.

As we expected and announced, there were errors. Occasional messages were delayed, one even lost. But certainly incidents, some persons or equipment were slow to arrive, and sometimes uncertain as to exact action to take. Frequently, in the stress of real action, contact and communications were difficult to maintain perfectly.

But the over-all picture was encouraging indeed. For every small error there are countless new triumphs to record: an operation speeded up, a new system of reporting devised, simpler ways of co-

The Box on the Mantel

A friend of mine was one of a family of eight children whose father had to watch the pennies to make them go around. When one of the children requested money for some special purchase — such as a tennis racket or a bracelet — the father would bring out the desired amount and say: "I'm putting your money in this box on the mantel. You're not to touch it for a week. If you still want your tennis racket, you may take this money and buy it. If you then find you don't want the racket as badly as you thought you did, you can take the money and put it in the bank for yourself. This process was continued through the children's adolescence. And every one of those children grew up with a bank account each was terribly proud to own.

LLOYDS IN JOINT RECITAL

David Lloyd is one of the most successful tenors before the public today. Maria Lloyd is a brilliant young violinist. Married, the two gifted artists occasionally join in recital together, for their own pleasure and the great enjoyment of concert audiences. They will play at the final concert of the Stoneham Community Concert Series Wednesday evening, May 7.

Leading tenor of the New York City Opera, headliner all the way from the Hollywood Bowl to New England's Tanglewood to the Edinburgh Festival, conductors' choice and public favorite, David Lloyd has had amazing success in every musical field.

Maria Lloyd studied under Erem Zimbalist and William Primrose at Curtis Institute where she became concertmaster of the Curtis Symphony Orchestra, then giving weekly broadcasts over NBC. After graduation, she joined the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra and summers she has been concertmaster of the Berkshire Orchestra. She also has served as concertmaster with the St. Paul Symphony, with which she has been soloist in the Shostakovich Concerto.

All new paid-up members of the Association for the coming season of 1952-53 may attend this May 7 recital as a "bonus concert". Doors to the Stoneham Town Hall Auditorium will open at 7:30 p. m. and the concert will start promptly at 8:15 p. m.

WINCHESTER WINS AT BELMONT

Winchester High romped to an easy 20-6 victory over Belmont High at Belmont on Wednesday afternoon. It was a typical early season game with neither team having had enough practice to play good ball, Belmont making a total of 12 errors. The Indians scored four runs in the first inning and seven more in the third to take an early 11-1 lead.

Co-captain Dave Dalton banged out a grand slam home run over the right field fence to provide the highlight of the game. The Indians collected a total of 15 hits with Jim Griffin getting a double and Prep Keyes a triple to go along with Dalton's circuit smash. Griffin paced the Red and Black batting attack with four safe hits in seven trips to the plate.

Stowell Symmes pitched good ball for the locals, giving up only three hits over the six innings he worked while striking out five batters and issuing a pair of walks. When he tired in the sixth Coach Bartlett replaced him with Norman Delorey who did a creditable job in his first outing, although shy of control as he walked four batters to get himself in trouble. It was an encouraging performance by Delorey, however, and will help in the Winchester search for a third starting pitcher to take his turn with Murphy and Symmes.

WINCHESTER BOYS AT MAINE

Captain Bill Bird of the University of Maine tennis team, a Winchester boy, is presently heading the tennis ladder there.

Harry Easton, former Winchester High School athlete who has made such an outstanding record with the University of Maine ROTC, has been promoted from Major to the rank of Colonel, thus becoming regimental commander and a member of the regimental staff.

John Davis of this town will play one of the major roles in "Play-ette Story" which will close the season at the University of Maine Masque Theatre May 7-10.

The Scriptural story of Haman, Esther, and Mordecai in which the malice of Haman against Mordecai was thwarted and resulted only in Haman's own destruction will be heard in the Lesson-Sermon to be read in the Christian Science services next Sunday.

The spiritual lesson of this great narrative will be explained through other selections read from the Bible and also from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy.

The Lesson-Sermon, entitled "Evensong," includes these words from "Science and Health": "We acknowledge God's forgiveness of sin in the destruction of sin and the spiritual understanding that casts out evil as unreal. But the belief in sin is punished so long as the belief lasts."

This was a vital three-day refresher course, given by Mrs. Adeline C. Hayden from the American Medical Association, on the new 4th edition of Standard Nomenclature of Diseases and Operations. Mrs. Bayers was the associate editor of this book. This system of coding is now in use in over 70% of the hospitals in the United States.

WINCHESTER SCHOOLS ATTEND MUSIC FESTIVAL

Tomorrow morning over 200 members of selected high school and junior high school music organizations are traveling to Everett to participate in the annual North Eastern Massachusetts Music Festival with 4,500 other high school pupils. Included will be the high school bands and orchestra, the junior high orchestra, the high school girls' glee club and junior high boys' glee club. The trip will be conducted by Mr. Fred Felmet and Miss Eleanor Amantiss, assisted by Miss Barbara Blackstone, Mr. G. Hartley Curtis, and Mr. Thomas Drapeau.

During the morning program each group will play or sing before a panel of judges and will be rated for its proficiency. In the afternoon there will be a parade of some 40 bands, followed by a choral program in which the massed choruses of all participating schools will sing and by a band concert in the stadium.

TO OBSERVE FAMILY WEEK

National Family Week, May 4-11, will be observed at the Second Congregational Church in various ways according to an announcement made by the minister, the Rev. John W. Cook. Special sermons on May 4 and 11 emphasizing family life will be delivered by the minister. Families are requested to attend church together and sit together as family groups.

On Thursday, May 8 at 6:30 p. m. a family supper will be held at the church. This supper is being planned by the Couples' Club. There will be no charge for the meal. There will be group singing and two movies: "New England in Four Seasons" (in color), and "Birthday Party", a movie for everyone, after the supper.

Family projects to be carried out during the week are being emphasized. Family worship is being stressed. All families of the church are requested to take an active part in Family Week both at the Church and in their homes.

BAY STATE HISTORICAL LEAGUE

Saturday, May 17 at 1:30 p. m. is the date of the Annual Meeting of the Bay State Historical League, which will be held in Northampton at the Old Jonathan Edwards Church (First Congregational Church at 129 Main street).

The speaker will be Rev. William G. Cole and his subject will be "Jonathan Edwards".

For transportation there are trains from the North Station via Greenfield, and the South Station via Springfield. A train from the North Station leaves about 8 a. m. By automobile take Route 9 to Northampton, or Route 20 to Springfield, and then Route 5 to Northampton.

It is planned to charter a bus to leave Harvard Square, Cambridge at 9 a. m., arriving at Northampton about noon. It will take the party to Hadley and return to Cambridge after the tea. Seat reservations should be made with Miss Lena Wallis, 145 Neponset avenue, Dorchester. Telephone FA 5-7513.

For those arriving in the forenoon there will be time to visit the Northampton Historical Society, 48 and 56 Bridge street and the Museum at 240 Main street. Other places of interest are Smith College, Clarke School for the Deaf, Northampton School for Girls, and the Burnham School.

DR. MARKS ON COMMITTEE

Dr. George A. Marks of Foxcroft road, widely known Winchester surgeon, was one of the committee of Hamilton College alumni who recently chose a "typical New England boy to receive a $4,000 tuition-plus scholarship for four years at Hamilton. John R. Chase of Gardner was chosen.

A century ago Hamilton's hilltop campus and liberal arts curriculum earned it the title of "the first New England college in New York". New England alumni, planning this spring to award their first regional scholarship, sought "a typical New England boy" to bestow it upon, the search being made among secondary school seniors in five counties in the Boston area: Essex, Middlesex, Suffolk, Norfolk and Worcester.

Chase is a top ranking student, president of his class, editor of the school weekly, vice-president of the Central Massachusetts Interscholastic Press Association and has played both varsity football and tennis.

SCOUT ROUND-UP

At a recent meeting of the Fellsland Council Scouting Round-Up Committee, under the chairmanship of Mr. James Muncester of Winchester, a general program of events for this year's Scouting Round-Up was decided upon. This season, the Boy Scouts' 20th annual Scouting Round-Up is to take place at Cousens Gym at Tufts College in Medford on May 17th.

Competitive rally events between the various Scout Troops and Cub Packs will begin at 1:30 in the afternoon, and the Scout "finals" will take place that evening, with the Cub "finals" taking place in the late afternoon.

Contests include: knot-tying, flint and steel fire-lighting, fire-lighting by friction, Morse signalling, tug-of-war, and rope climbing.

The older Explorer Scouts will compete in their own tug-of-war, Morse signalling, and knot-tying events, and the younger Cubs will conduct knot-tying and tug-of-war contests plus their own special event called "Walking the Plank."

In addition to these main events, dozens of special attractions are planned, including many skits, stunts, demonstrations, and nearly fifty booths displaying Scout and Cublore made by the boys.

EASTERN MIDDLESEX HARVARD CLUB

Despite the excitement of primary day the Harvard Club of Eastern Middlesex held a very successful meeting Tuesday evening at Bear Hill Country Club with President J. Joseph Maloney, Jr., conducting.

The speaker was Professor Robert Albion of Harvard whose specialty is naval history. He proved to be an interesting speaker as he encompassed the several centuries of world history and the influence of naval strength on it.

It was voted to hold a ladies night meeting in June. The next regular meeting will be Wednesday, May 21st at Professor Bok of the astronomy department will be the speaker.

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Winchester Hospital was held Tuesday evening, April 22nd at 8:00 p. m. in the Nurses Home. Mr. Kenerson, the president, welcomed the directors and members and introduced the officers, the administrator, the chief of staff, the director of nurses and the chairman of committees who gave their respective annual reports.

The reports showed a busy and successful year, but a difficult one because of the alterations to the hospital. The good humor and understanding of the hospital personnel and the patients made it all endurable and now the end is in sight as the last changes are being made in the old part of the building.

Minor changes were made in the by-laws of the hospital. The president expressed the regret of the Board to the members because of the alterations to the hospital. Mrs. Erskine White, Mrs. Frank D'Elseaux, Mr. George L. Connor and Mr. Harold B. Richmond.

Thanks were expressed for the support and backing of the community in its efforts in behalf of the Hospital.

Mr. Neal Borden reported for the Nominating Committee and the new slate was unanimously elected. The Board of directors is as follows:

DeMOLAY FATHER-SON NIGHT

Winchester Chapter, Order of DeMolay, held a Father and Son Night Wednesday evening, April 23 in the social hall of the First Baptist Church. Mothers of DeMolay boys served a delicious full course turkey dinner, and a large gathering of fathers and sons enjoyed an evening of good fellowship.

Guest speakers were Willard P. Lombard, representative of the Grand Council of the Order of DeMolay, Kansas City, Mo., who is also "Dad" or Deputy for the State of Massachusetts; Herbert K. Miller spoke briefly on the progress made by Winchester Chapter and stressed the importance of DeMolay to the community.

Mr. Bartlett spoke interestingly about his championship basketball team, and pointed out the highlights of the motion pictures of the Winchester — South Boston State Championship game in the Boston Garden shown by Mr. Knowlton.

DeMolay wants again most cordially to invite all Masons to attend its meetings held the second and fourth Wednesdays each month in Masonic Apartments.

MYSTIC SCHOOL MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION SPRING MEETING

At the spring meeting held on Wednesday evening, April 23, in the school auditorium, members of the Mystic School Mothers' Association and their guests were welcomed by the strains of piano music capably presented by Sixth Grader Kirby Baker. In her opening greeting, Mrs. Colver P. Dyer, President of the Association, gave a special welcome to the fathers in attendance and introduced Mr. Fred C. Felmet, Director of Music, whose commendable achievement in musical instruction was demonstrated by the fine performance of the Sixth Grade Band. Each of the several selections played was first announced in some detail by a boy or girl from the band, with solo or special parts in the course of the program being played by Betty Swisher, flute; Martha Dyer, clarinet; Stephen Fisher, cornet; Tony Peterson, trombone; Kenneth MacArthur, cornet; Betsy Bolster, clarinet; David Hopkins, clarinet; Danny Adams, cornet; Miss Nancy Fitch, Supervisor of Elementary Music, further demonstrated the Sixth Graders' musical accomplishment as she led their singing of three delightful "part" songs — a Philippine folk tune, a Mexican folk tune, and the impressive "Solenn Pledge."

After a brief business meeting whose reports gave a cross-section of the Association's activities of the year, Mrs. Dyer presented the speaker of the evening, Dean George K. Makechnie of Sargent College. In his topic, "Outdoor Education," Dean Makechnie emphasized the efficacy of overnight camping in the process of education, pointing out that juvenile delinquency is increased by the lack of organized outdoor activity, whereas a democratic mood is instilled in children through the living together of camp experience. Attractive colored slides of children on a camping expedition to Vermont in maple sugar season part of an educational project in Newton — left parents envious of this new variation on the old three "R's" theme.

TENNIS MORNING

Wednesday morning, April 30, the first tennis morning of diversion was held at the William S. Parker Courts. Attending were: Ellie DuToit, Janet Barnes, Jeanette Grant, Betsy Callahan, Weegee Coon, Jane Stone, Cynthia Moore, Lorraine Johns, Suzanne Gleason, Jane Walling, Elinor Walker, Agnes Bixler, Marguerite Callahan, Doty Hills and several children.

The next get-together will be held at 10 a. m. Wednesday, May 7. Our emphasis is on fun and exercise. You don't have to be an expert. All you need is the desire to trade mopping and dusting for an hour in the sun. We hope you'll join us next week.

McLAIN — JEWELL

Wearing turquoise blue taffeta with a white flower hat, and carrying white roses with valley lilies, Miss Evelyn Jewell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Jewell, of Arlington street, was married Thursday evening, April 24 at the Church of the Epiphany to George Gilman McLain of Medford, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George McLain. The Rev. Walter Shephard of North Attleboro read the service at 7:30 o'clock and a reception followed at the Winchester Country Club.

Given in marriage by her brother, Albert J. Jewell, the bride was attended by Mrs. Benjamin M. Watson of Newton Center. She wore an aquamarine blue dress with a silver hat and carried roses and gardenias.

Herbert Crocker of Milton, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man, and the ushers were two brothers of the bride, Robert H. Jewell and Harold G. Jewell.

In the receiving line were the parents of the bride, the matron of honor and Mrs. Herbert Crocker, sister of the bridegroom. Mrs. Jewell, mother of the bride, wore a navy blue gown with a pink hat trimmed with navy.

After a wedding journey to the West Indies Mr. and Mrs. McLain will make their home at 8 Mt. Ida street in Newton. Mr. McLain is associated with the Revere Sugar Company.

LUONGO — CHAIGNON

At St. Anthony's Church in Somerville on Sunday afternoon, April 20, Miss Lillian Josette Chaignon, daughter of Mrs. Ida Chaignon of Village street, Somerville, became the bride of Anthony Paul Luongo, son of Mrs. Rose Mary Luongo of Florence street. The ceremony was performed at 4:30 o'clock by the Rev. Father Properzi in a setting of gladioli, and was followed by a reception in Circle Hall, Somerville.

Miss Chaignon was given in marriage by Mr. Eugene Bouvier and attended by her sister, Miss Alice Chaignon of Somerville.

The bride wore a gown of satin and lace with a matching veil caught to a crown of orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of orchids. Her attendant wore a dress of pink satin and tulle with matching hat and carried yellow roses.

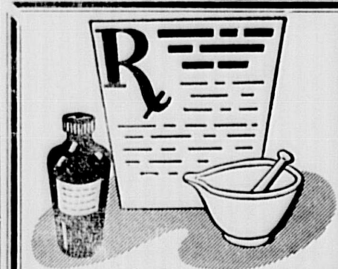

James Errico of Winchester was best man and the ushers were C. J. Luongo of Wilmington and Gene Wright of Somerville.

After a honeymoon in Florida Mr. and Mrs. Luongo will make their home at 20 Village street in Somerville.

The bride is a graduate of Somerville High School and of the Mansfield Beauty Academy. Mr. Luongo, who is an airplane mechanic, graduated from Winchester High School and the New England Aircraft School.

NEW OFFICERS WEEKLY

David Morrow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar E. Morrow of Glenbury who is an officer candidate in the Army's Infantry School at Fort Benning in Columbus, Georgia, recently sent home a copy of The Bayonet, the post newspaper. From this it appears that a new company of infantry officer candidates is now formed there every week and soon a class of new second lieutenants will be commissioned each week. In addition to officer candidates at this huge army school there are companies of already commissioned officers undergoing further training and foreign army men learning American infantry methods.

No Margin For Error

Prescribed medicine must conform exactly with the doctor's specifications. Each ingredient must be selected, measured, and mixed under rigid rules for accuracy that leaves no margin for error. The efficiency of the medicine — perhaps life itself — depends upon the skill of the pharmacist's hand, the keenness of his eyes, the alertness of his mind. That is why Be Sure, Be Accurate — Take Time, Take Care are watchwords in our Prescription Laboratory and safeguards of your health.

MELARAGNI — O'BRIEN

At St. Mary's Church in Cambridge on Saturday morning, April 20, Miss Loretta F. O'Brien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William O'Brien of 258 Broadway, Cambridge, was married to Frank J. Melaragni, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Melaragni of 91 Loring avenue. The Rev. Robert D. Navien performed the marriage ceremony at 9 o'clock and was also celebrant of the nuptial mass which followed.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss O'Brien was attended by Miss Laura Kenney of Cambridge as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Kay Collins and Mrs. Mercedes Goode, both of Cambridge and sisters of the bride; Miss Dorothy White of Somerville and Miss Viola Chapman of Weymouth. Michael Luongo of Cambridge, small nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

The bride wore a gown of white satin heart-shaped bodice and a long tulle skirt. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli and lilies of the valley. The bridegroom wore a tuxedo and carried a matching orchid.

All the bridal attendants wore dresses of Chantilly lace and nylon net, the honor maid wearing mauve and the bridesmaids in white. All wore matching nylon net heart-shaped hats and carried bouquets of roses. The bridemaids held pink and the honor maid held yellow.

Herbert D. Bates of Carlisle was his brother's best man and the ushers corps comprised Judson F. Edwards of Andover, Conn., David H. Thomas of Winchester, brother of the bride; Donald Sands of Bedford and Richard Tremblay of Harvard.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Thomas, mother of the bride, was given in silver grey silk shantung and wore a small hat of white flowers and a corsage of white gardenias and lilies. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Bates, wore pale green silk shantung with a white flower corsage and a corsage of pink lilies and carnations.

After a wedding trip to Washington, D. C. and Virginia, Mr. Bates and his bride will make their home in Bedford.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School and Vermont Junior College. Mr. Bates graduated from Concord High School and the Stockbridge School at the University of Massachusetts.

BATES — THOMAS

The Church of the Epiphany was decorated with white gladioli and anemones for Friday evening, April 18, for the marriage of Miss Joan Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Haskell Thomas of Fletcher street, to Richard Baxter Bates, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Baxter Bates of Carlisle. The Rev. Henry E. Edenberg read the service at 8 o'clock and the bridal music was played by the church organist, Enos Hold.

Miss Thomas was given in marriage by her father. Her gown of white nylon tulle over satin was styled with a lace bodice and sleeves, and her fingertip-length veil of illusion was caught to a small lace cap. Her bouquet combined white gladioli and lilies of the valley.

Miss Gayle Sawyer of Winchester was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Ruth Bunton and Miss Jane Owen, both of Winchester.

All the bridal attendants wore identical ballerina-length dresses of orchid organza, handed at the waist with purple velvet. Their headpieces of orchid veiling were caught at the back with clusters of purple pansies and they carried the same flowers combined with orchid sweet peas.

Herbert D. Bates of Carlisle was his brother's best man and the ushers corps comprised Judson F. Edwards of Andover, Conn., David H. Thomas of Winchester, brother of the bride; Donald Sands of Bedford and Richard Tremblay of Harvard.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Thomas, mother of the bride, was given in silver grey silk shantung and wore a small hat of white flowers and a corsage of white gardenias and lilies. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Bates, wore pale green silk shantung with a white flower corsage and a corsage of pink lilies and carnations.

After a wedding trip to Washington, D. C. and Virginia, Mr. Bates and his bride will make their home in Bedford.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School and Vermont Junior College. Mr. Bates graduated from Concord High School and the Stockbridge School at the University of Massachusetts.

DEVEAU — BOYLE

The marriage of Miss Phyllis Mary Boyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen J. Boyle of Russell road, to Edward John Deveau, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Deveau of North Reading, took place on Saturday morning, April 19, at 9:30 o'clock in an attractive setting of Easter lilies at the Immaculate Conception Church. The Rev. Robert Boyle, cousin of the bride, performed the marriage ceremony and was also celebrant of the nuptial mass which followed. Mrs. William McGann played the bridal music and the soloist was Miss Dorothy Hickey, soprano. Seated in the sanctuary were the Rev. Stephen Burke of the Immaculate Conception Church and the Rev. Robert Doyle of St. Teresa's, North Reading.

Miss Boyle was given in marriage by her father and attended by Miss Janet Blackham of Winchester.

The bride wore a gown of white slipper satin and French Chantilly lace with a waist-length veil of lace caught to a satin headpiece trimmed with pearls. She carried a missal with a white orchid and streamers of stephanotis.

Miss Blackham wore orchid satin under net, with bands of matching satin. Her old fashioned bouquet was of mixed flowers and she wore the same flowers in her hair.

George Deveau of North Reading, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and the ushers were Robert Deveau, another brother of the bridegroom, and Robert Almeida, both of North Reading.

A reception was held after the marriage at Moore Hall in Woburn. Mrs. Boyle, mother of the bride, wore a navy blue dress with lace and a matching hat trimmed with white roses. Her corsage combined roses, jonquils and daisies. Mrs. Deveau, the bridegroom's mother, wore gardenias with her navy blue dress trimmed with white and navy hat.

Mr. and Mrs. Deveau will live on Miller place in Woburn after a wedding trip to Cape Cod.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School, class of 1947. Mr. Deveau, a graduate of Stoneham High School (in the same year) is a tool and die maker. He was recently discharged from the United States Air Force in which he was a sergeant.

KOPPERUD — BUGBEE

Miss Barbara Bugbee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bugbee of Dartmouth street, and Andrew Kopperud, Jr., of San Francisco, Cal., son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kopperud of Watertown, South Dakota, were married Saturday afternoon, April 19, at the Church of the Epiphany by the Rev. Bruce A. Weatherly of the Episcopal Church of Bethlehem, Pa. The service took place at 3:30 o'clock and was followed by a reception at the Winchester Country Club.

Miss Bugbee was given in marriage by her father and had her honor attendant a college classmate, Mrs. Bruce A. Weatherly of Bethlehem, Pa. Another college classmate, Miss Anne Carper of Waban, was one of the three bridesmaids, the others being Miss Nancy Dodson of New York City and Miss Margery Bugbee of Winchester, cousin of the bride.

The bride wore a gown of duchess lace over satin with nylon net pleating. Her fingertip-length veil was held in place by a matching lace cap and she carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and orchids.

All the bridal attendants wore ballerina-length dresses of aquamarine shantung with matching coronets and slippers, and all carried bouquets of stephanotis and yellow roses.

Mrs. Bugbee, mother of the bride, was given in blue and silver brocade, and wore a silver hat and a corsage of pink carnations. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Kopperud, wore a navy blue dress with pink with brown accessories and a brown orchid corsage.

Holbrook Bugbee, brother of the bride and a Naval Air Cadet stationed at Pensacola, Fla., was best man, and the ushers were Dr. Lee Stover of Lincoln, Neb., and William C. Ramsey, Jr., of Omaha, Neb., brothers-in-law of the bridegroom; Selwyn Alorton of New York City, and Alan C. Bugbee of Winchester, cousin of the bride.

After a wedding journey west to Carmel, Cal., Mr. and Mrs. Kopperud will make their home at 3880 Jackson, San Francisco. The bride is a graduate of Smith College. Mr. Kopperud, an attorney-at-law, graduated from the University of California and from the University of California Law School.

HODGE — McCULLOUGH

In an attractive setting of white gladioli at Ripley Memorial Chapel of the First Congregational Church on Saturday evening, April 19, Miss Kathleen R. McCullough of 433 Main street, daughter of Mr. Milton W. McCullough of Southton, Pa., and Miss Doris Gray of Huntington Valley, Pa., and Miss Annabelle Shober of Shillington, Pa., became the bride of William Hodge, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hodge of 32 Grove street. Dr. Howard J. Chidley performed the 6 o'clock ceremony which was followed by a reception in the parish hall.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss McCullough wore a gown of Chantilly lace over white satin with an imported French silk illusion veil caught to a lace coronet. Her flowers were white roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Kurt Hoenigsberg of Trenton, N. J., was her sister's honor attendant, and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Glenn George of Southton, Pa., Miss Doris Gray of Huntington Valley, Pa., and Miss Annabelle Shober of Shillington, Pa.

The honor attendant wore an emerald-green dress with a coronet of spring flowers and carried the same flowers arranged in a cascade bouquet. The bridesmaids had coronets and bouquets like those of the honor attendant, but wore shrimp-colored dresses. Mrs. Hodge, mother of the bridegroom, was given in navy silk organza. With it she wore a matching hat trimmed with white, white gloves and a white orchid.

Newell Dean Squires of Cambridge, formerly of Winchester, was best man for Mr. Hodge and the ushers were Richard H. Murphy and Robert Byford, both of Winchester, and William Emmons of Tampa, Fla.

After the reception Mr. Hodge and his bride left for a wedding journey through Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee.

The bride received her A. B. from Ursinus College, Collegeville, Pa., and did graduate work in English at the University of Pennsylvania. At Ursinus she was on the "Weekly" news staff and president of the Alpha Sigma Nu sorority.

Mr. Hodge graduated from Winchester High School and from Harvard University with the degree of A. B. in 1950. He was a member of the Speakers Club at Harvard and during World War II served three years in the Navy.

PURINGTON — MCGOWAN

There is much Winchester interest in the marriage which took place at St. Charles Church, Woburn, on Easter Sunday afternoon, April 13, when Miss Ruth Mary McGowan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. McGowan of Woburn, became the bride of Newell Purington, son of Mrs. Louise M. Purington of 39 Pond street. The Rev. James A. Garrity read the service at 3:30 o'clock and a reception followed at the Winchester Post, 97, American Legion home. Mrs. James Doherty played the bridal music and Frank Carroll, uncle of the bridegroom, was soloist.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Isabel McGowan, and Robert Purington was best man for his brother. Ushers were Roger Mulloney of Arlington and Charles Pease of Winchester.

After a wedding trip to New York and Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. Purington will live in Stoneham at 10 Collinette street.

The bride is a graduate of St. Charles High School in Woburn. Mr. Purington, past exalted ruler of Winchester Lodge of Elks and a veteran of World War II, attended the Winchester schools and is a clerk at the Winchester Post Office.

Less Cordwood

PAYS MY TELEPHONE BILL

"I'm in the cordwood business — and like a lot of people my income has doubled in the last ten years. But I'm not much ahead of the game, because so many things I buy have doubled or tripled in cost.

"My telephone service is an exception. Telephone rates are up on an average only 27%* in Massachusetts.

"Figure it this way, I work less, cut less wood to pay my telephone bill — because my income has gone up so much more than the cost of telephone service."

A Telephone Dollar Buys More Than It Used To

There are twice as many telephones today as there were in 1940 and more are being installed every day. There are a lot of new stores and businesses that you can reach by telephone — probably more of your friends have telephones now. And service is faster, better and more dependable.

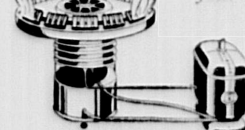

Your telephone is truly Big in Value — Little in Cost.

PLANT SALE AND LUNCHEON

The silver lining to the clouds that have darkened Winchester for the past few days is the promise of gayer gardens in the weeks to come, and now is the time to be planning for them. The Winchester Smith College Club is making it easy by assembling hundreds of seedlings, both annuals and perennials, for the annual Plant Sale and Luncheon to be held at Central Green on Saturday, May 17th, beginning at ten o'clock in the morning and continuing all day.

Order blanks, listing all the old favorites, as well as several new varieties, and priced in accordance with the current market levels, were placed in the mail today by the Plant Sale Committee. Mrs. William D. Davis, Mrs. Arthur T. Hertig, Jr., Mrs. Gilbert H. Woods, Jr., and Mrs. Henry K. Spencer. Additional order blanks may be obtained by anyone not presently on the mailing list by contacting one of the committee. As in former years, orders will be filled in sequence of receipt, by a large committee working the day before the sale, and will be carefully labeled, alphabetically arranged and ready to be placed in waiting cars on Saturday morning.

Promptly at 12:30, the four houses facing the Green will open their doors for the Luncheon which will again feature chicken salad served with fragrant hot rolls. Mrs. Clarence P. Whorf and Mrs. Harold Farnsworth will be Luncheon Chairmen in their own houses, No. 2 and 4 Central Green respectively, with Mrs. Neil H. Borden as Chairman of the Henry Spencer house at No. 1, and Mrs. Bowen Tufts in charge of the Luncheon at the William Davis house at No. 3. Miss Adelaide Homer will be Purchasing Chairman, responsible for all the supplies for the Luncheon.

The affair, which annually benefits the Scholarship Fund, provides Winchester garden lovers with an effortless method of supplying all garden needs, as well as a once-a-year opportunity to lunch with old friends in a springtime garden setting.

Mrs. Ruth Hilton of the Winchester Edison Office and Mrs. Alice Eberle, clerk in the Engineering offices at the Town Hall spent several days this week in Washington, D. C., visiting Mrs. Hilton's son, Stillman, who is in the Navy there. They left town last Saturday, making the trip by automobile and visiting friends in Norfolk, Va., on the way to Washington.

AUXILIARY POLICE NOTES

Morale is certainly at a high point in Winchester's Auxiliary Police Department, as evidenced by the turnout at Sunday's test raid. With a membership of forty, thirty-eight were present at roll call, and of the two that were absent, one was confined to his home by illness, and the other a victim of an accident.

Assembling at Police Headquarters at 1:00 p. m. Sunday, the members received their new overseas-style hats, cross belts, sticks, and whistles. Thus they presented a much more uniform appearance during the alert, and the problems which followed it.

Chief Harrold briefed the men on their duties, and Auxiliary Chief Johnston assigned them all out to key posts. All traffic stopped at 2:00 p. m. when the "Red Alert" sounded, and remained stationary until the "all clear" five minutes later. When traffic started again, it was confined to "arterial" routes, around the town. This was done so that Civilian Defense vehicles could be dispatched without interference from the center of town.

At 2:45, traffic was allowed to proceed normally, and members of the force returned to headquarters to receive assignments on special problems.

Like the Northwest Mounted Police, the "Auxies" always "get their man" as exemplified by the "looter" apprehended in Winchester Square, and the "enemy parachutist" who could not elude Dep. Chief Goddu of the Auxies and Sergeant Bowler of the regular force. Incidentally pictures of Auxiliary Police arresting the "looter", and of "Connie" and Warren overtaking their quarry, appeared in Monday's "Boston Herald".

Following the conclusion of the problems, the Auxiliary Police formed outside the Police Station, and marched through the center to the High School, where they were administered the Civilian Defense oath, and participated in the "er-tique". Anybody witnessing the march to the school must have realized that here was a civic-minded group, who have given unstintingly of their time, and of whom Winchester may well be proud. In any emergency, they will certainly be prepared, and the town will not find them wanting.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL ASSOCIATES

The Junior High School Associates will hold their annual meeting on Monday evening, May 5th at the High School Auditorium.

There will be a brief business meeting and election of officers, followed by a musical program and gymnastic demonstration by the 7th and 8th grade girls. There will also be a square dance.

The meeting will begin promptly at 7:30 and since there will be a great many students participating, the board feels that it will give a great deal of pleasure to the parents, and urges all to attend.

FORTNIGHTLY NEWS

Announcement has been made that on Tuesday, May 6, there is to be an all-day meeting at the Federation's Memorial Forest in Sudbury to which all club members are cordially invited. Directions are as follows: just beyond Wayside Inn, near the Little Red Schoolhouse, take Dutton road to the right. After about one mile, the Memorial Forest is reached. Its sign and entrance are on the left. Drive in, and very quickly a small house and barn will come into view. Cars will park in that area, and at 10:30 members will meet at the barn to be conducted on a bird walk by Mr. Busswitz, the director of Moose Hill Sanctuary.

Our box lunches can be enjoyed comfortably at rustic tables under the trees, or in the barn. At two in the afternoon the gathering will be addressed by Mr. Egbert Hans who is in charge of the planting in the forest.

Fortnightly members, please spread the news of this picnic day and plan with friends to enjoy the charm of springtime out of doors. For information telephone Mrs. Caroline Fitts, Winchester 6-1849-W. If you have transportation to offer it will be greatly appreciated.

Mrs. James P. Hopkins of 230 Forest street who has been traveling through the state of Virginia and the Carolinas with Mr. Hopkins returned home suddenly Thursday because of the serious illness of her mother.

MILK CHART FOR JANUARY - FEBRUARY - MARCH 1952
Published by the Winchester Board of Health
The bacteria count in this chart gives the number of bacteria found in one c. c. taken from the center of the sample after it had been well shaken. It should be remembered that another c. c. taken from the same sample might give a somewhat different count, but the difference would rarely, if ever, exceed 10 per cent.

OSCAR GRAHAM PEEKE, C.S.B.

TO LECTURE HERE MAY 13

Oscar Graham Peeke, C.S.B., of Kansas City, Missouri, who will deliver a lecture on Christian Science in Winchester High School Auditorium next Tuesday evening, May 13, at 8:00 o'clock, received his education at a well-known English school. He chose the theatrical profession for a career, came to this country to pursue it, and became a citizen of the United States. Mr. Peeke played with a well-known Shakespearean star for three years, after which he wrote and produced his own plays. While thus engaged he received a healing in Christian Science. This occurred while reading "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy. Thereafter the study of Christian Science absorbed his attention.

Mr. Peeke was admitted to membership in the Mother Church in 1913 and received Primary class instruction the following year. Shortly after this he gave up all other professional work to devote his time to the public practice of Christian Science healing.

During the World War, Mr. Peeke served as a Christian Science Welfare Worker, and from 1928 to 1931 he served as Committee on Publication for Missouri. In 1928 Mr. Peeke received instruction in the Normal class in the Board of Education and became an authorized teacher in Christian Science.

The lecture which Mr. Peeke will deliver is entitled, "Christian Science: The Religion of Ceaseless Prayer."

ST. MARY'S HOLY NAME SOCIETY

St. Mary's Holy Name Society will hold its final business meeting of the season at Waterfield Hall Sunday, May 11th, after the eight o'clock Mass at St. Mary's Church. The guest speaker will be Herbert Dwight McConnell, from St. Ann's Parish in Boston. He is a social worker for the Home for Catholic Children, and his topic will be "Trends Toward the Church."

As it is Mother's Day, all members are requested to receive Holy Communion in honor of Mother. New members for 1951-52 will be received into the society. Election of officers will be held at this meeting.

CORRECTION

In reporting the Service of Morning Prayer for Massons at the Church of the Epiphany on April 27, the name of Caroline Corroni was omitted from those who sang the special number for women's voices after the prayer before the sermon.

This group was a sextette, not a quintet as reported last week, and Miss Corroni was the sixth member. Since the number, "Lift Thine Eyes," from the oratorio, "Elijah," by Mendelssohn, was especially lovely, the Star regrets that Miss Corroni did not receive the credit due her for participation in it.

STARBLE — GRACE

The Rev. John R. Grace, O. P., of St. Raymond's Church, Providence, R. I., was the officiating clergyman at St. Mary's Church on Saturday morning, May 3, when his niece, Miss Althea Ann Grace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Grace of Brookside avenue, became the bride of Lewis William Starble, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale Starble of Salem street, Woburn. Father Grace performed the marriage ceremony at 10 o'clock and was also celebrant of the nuptial mass which followed. White gladioli, stephanotis and lilies made an attractive setting.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a princess-style gown of ivory satin, styled with a Queen Ann collar, sleeves of antique lace and a cathedral-length train. Her fingertip veil of imported illusion was caught to a cap of antique lace and seed pearls, and she carried an ivory satin-covered prayer-book with white roses and valley lilies and streamers of stephanotis.

Miss Mary Jane Grace of Winchester was her sister's only attendant. She wore a dress of ice-blue organza over tulle with matching waist-length jacket and flowered hat. She carried a spring bouquet. Pasquale E. Starble of Woburn was best man for his brother, and other brother, Bernard Starble of Woburn, was the ring bearer. The ushers, the other being William L. Hart of Charlestown, uncle of the bride.

A reception was held after the marriage at the Mr. and Mrs. Starble home in Woburn. The bride and bridegroom assisted in receiving. Mrs. Grace, mother of the bride, was gown in navy blue and wore pink accessories with a pale pink cummerbund. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Starble, wore yellow roses and black accessories with her gown of forest green.

After a wedding journey to Canada Mr. and Mrs. Starble will make their home at 18 Elm street in Woburn.

The bride, who is now assistant head nurse at the Malden Hospital, graduated from Winchester High School in the class of 1948 and from the Malden Hospital School of Nursing in 1952. Mr. Starble, a graduate of Woburn High School, class of 1944, served two years with the Coast Guard during World War II.

96 YEARS OLD

Mrs. Isabella Tufts, widely known member of the family at the Home for Aged People, observed her 96th birthday Wednesday, May 7. As befitting the passing of so advanced a milestone she had two birthday cakes, one the gift of En Ka and the other from Mrs. Tufts' daughter, Mrs. Roy Wilson, High-lighting the day was a visit from Mrs. Tufts' pastor, Rev. John Snook, Jr., who played for her his own recording of the service at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church in Woburn. Her church is Mrs. Tufts' chief interest, and she makes something for its fair each year.

Mrs. Tufts was born in Roxbury May 7, 1856. She has been a member of the family at the Home for 17 years and is in good health, her keen mind and wonderful philosophy enabling her to retain her zest for life. The Star is happy to add its congratulations and birthday best wishes to those of Mrs. Tufts' many friends.

NEW CLERK

Miss Catherine A. DeToso of 75 Wendell street, Winchester started her employment as a clerk at the Winchester Co-operative Bank on Monday, May 5, 1952. Miss DeToso was formerly employed in the office of a florist in Woburn, and prior to that she worked at the Merchants National Bank in Boston. Miss DeToso was graduated from Winchester High School and attended Burdett College and the American Institute of Banking in Boston.

JOHN A. VOLPE

HEADS MILITARY ENGINEERS

The election of John A. Volpe of Winchester as president of the Society of American Military Engineers was announced yesterday in Washington. He succeeds Rear Admiral Leo O. Colbert, director of the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey.

The Society of American Military Engineers, a national organization with headquarters in the Capital, was organized in 1920 in the interest of national defense to promote efficiency and high standards in the military engineering service and to create better understanding between the engineering profession in civil life and that in the military service.

A native of Wakefield, Mass., Mr. Volpe was a Navy commander in World War II. He has been a member of the Society of American Military Engineers since 1943 and has served as an officer and a member of the board of directors. He is a graduate in Architecture of the Wentworth Institute, Boston, and formerly served as president of the Associated Contractors of Massachusetts.

Mr. Volpe is the head of the John A. Volpe Construction Company of Malden, Mass., and Rome, Italy. He has a national reputation for developing outstanding accident prevention programs which have increased safety records in the entire construction industry throughout the country.

Believed to be the second Bay State man to become president of the Society of American Military Engineers, he is the first Italian-American to hold a post formerly occupied by such nationally known Americans as the late Brig. Gen. Cornelius Vanderbilt, former Vice President Charles G. Dawes, Brig. Gen. W. H. Rose, and Admiral Ben Moreell.

Mr. Volpe will be installed at colorful ceremonies this Sunday evening, May 11, to be held in the Congressional Hotel in Washington.

IMMAC'S DRILL TEAM WIN

On Sunday, May 4th the local Immaculate Conception Girls Drill Team journeyed by bus to Newburyport, to participate in the fourth annual competition held in that city by the C. Y. O. of Newburyport.

The event was held in the World War Stadium with a tremendous crowd filling the stands to cheer for their favorites. The local girls were introduced over the public address system by the master of ceremonies, who gave an outline of the splendid record attained by the Eastern Massachusetts Championship Drill Team. The Girls Team won every event with a high score last year, defeating all comers.

In addition to winning first prize, with a score of 94.8, the local group were awarded a special trophy for the best appearing unit in the competition. This large trophy was donated by the Kiwanis Club of Newburyport. This alone was a signal honor when one considers that the unit was rated "tops" out of seventeen competing units, made up of groups from cities and towns in a seventy-five mile radius.

Co-Captains Gerry Clancy and Mary Welch handled the drill in their usual efficient manner. James Pinnette the drill master is very proud of his group and claims they are the "finest in the business." Rev. Fr. H. K. Driscoll accompanied the group on the trip, marching in the Review Parade at the closing. A large delegation of fans from Woburn and Winchester were in attendance at the Stadium cheering for the local "Champs." Each and every one of this group of girls are to be complimented on their fine work and are a credit to the community.

LITTLE LEAGUE

Three hundred and seven applications for positions on Little League teams have been received, made up of 48 eight years old, 55 nine years olds, 76 ten year olds, 65 eleven year olds and 63 twelve year olds. This group has had extensive try-outs this past week so that every applicant will have a full opportunity to show their ability to the team managers. It is anticipated that this weekend the group will be cut down to about 150, followed next weekend with the auction for players when the four teams will be selected. This will give the four teams about two weeks to work as teams with their manager before the opening games of the season on May 30th.

An estimated 500 to 600 youngsters and adults attended the rally at Town Hall May 1st, which indicates the enthusiasm and interest in Winchester which the Winchester Rotary Club anticipated when they started this program. At the Town Hall rally Ted Bartlett, Master of Ceremonies, introduced Tom Dowd, Traveling Secretary of the Boston Red Sox, who in turn introduced Earl Combs, Dick Gernert and Gene Stephens. These men gave their answers to many technical questions asked by boys interested in Little League with Tom Dowd acting as quiz master. Gene Stephens, a young man who was in high school competition only three years ago and took Ted Williams' position on the Red Sox team the day after Ted left, received a loud reception from the audience.

Dan MacFadden, President of the greater Boston Little League Association and Director of Recreation in Arlington, gave an excellent talk on what Little League stands for and how it will benefit the town. The four team sponsors were also introduced to the group. This was followed by the showing of the Little League World Series movies.

Tag Day last Saturday was very successful due to the splendid support of volunteers. Most of the organizations in Winchester, the boys of Little League and the many residents of Winchester who so generously received the boys, Winchester business men have also been generous in their support of this program, assuring the boys of Winchester well equipped teams.

RALPH STANLEY SMITH

Ralph Stanley Smith of 10 Jefferson street, Woburn, died suddenly early Sunday morning, May 4, at the Winchester Hospital, following a five weeks illness. He had been in the hospital for four weeks and had improved sufficiently to make plans to go home when he was stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage. Flags on the common and town buildings were displayed at half-staff in his honor.

Mr. Smith was the son of George S. and Julia A. (Weiler). He was born in Roxbury November 11, 1895, and was educated in the Boston schools and at Mechanics Arts High School. During World War I he saw foreign service in the United States Navy as a gunner's mate, first class.

After the war Mr. Smith spent seven years in the employ of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company in Detroit, Mich., before coming east to accept a position with the maintenance department of Public Theatres. Later he was with the Chase & Sanborn Ice Company for 13 years, and he had been for the past five years foreman in the Schraft candy company's plant in Charlestown. He had lived in Winchester for 15 years, coming here from West Somerville.

On April 27, 1929, Mr. Smith married Alice Ruth Wood, who survives him, with a daughter, Audrey Wood Smith of Winchester; a brother, W. Errett Smith of Orange, N. J., and two sisters, Mrs. W. P. Dillingham of Newton Highlands and Miss Vera M. Smith of Boston.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at Grace Episcopal Church in Medford with the Rev. Angus Dun officiating. Interment was in the family lot in Forest Hills Cemetery.

MRS. MARY F. GALLAGHER

Mrs. Mary F. Gallagher, widow of John J. Gallagher and mother of Philip H. Gallagher of Cabot street, president and treasurer of the Winchester Brick Company, died Thursday, May 7, after an illness of several weeks. She was widely known in Quincy, where she lived until her illness at 119 Upland road, and in Milton, where she had previously resided on Adams street.

Besides her son in Winchester she leaves three sons, John M., of Weymouth, Charles M., of Milton, and Leo F. Gallagher of Quincy; two daughters, Mrs. Caroline Kinne of Quincy and Mrs. Mildred F. Cunningham of Milton; and several grandchildren.

The funeral was held Monday morning in Milton with solemn requiem high mass celebrated at St. Agnes Church in that town.

SURPRISE SHOWER

Miss Theresa DiBenedetto of Harvard street was given a surprise shower Saturday evening, April 26, by her mother, Mrs. Vito DiBenedetto, and Miss Lucy Palermo at the home of Mrs. Howard Molloy, 29 Harvard street, in honor of her approaching marriage to Mr. Joseph Conti of Medford.

Miss DiBenedetto and Mr. Conti will be married June 15 at St. Mary's Church, and Miss Palermo will be her cousin's honor maid.

Many relatives and friends attended the shower for the bride-to-be, who received many beautiful and useful gifts. House decorations were carried out in yellow and pink.

TOWN SOFTBALL LEAGUE

The Town Softball League held a successful organization meeting last week at which the six teams that will operate this season were represented. Another meeting will be held at the American Legion Home next Monday evening, May 12, at 8:00 p. m., at which the team rosters will be submitted and an opening game date set.

Five of the teams represented were members of the League last year, headed by the defending champions, the Sons of Italy. The other veteran teams were the White Shirts, the V. F. W., the Begs and Cobb, and Gullotti's Esso. The new team will represent the James J. Fitzgerald Contracting Co., under the direction of Charles Tofuri. Any other group that wishes to enter a team in the League this summer will be welcome at the meeting Monday night.

MEDICAL SOCIETY WOMEN'S AUXILIARY

The annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Middlesex East District Medical Society will be held Thursday, May 15th at the Bear Hill Golf Club at 2:00 p. m. Tea will be served.

HEAD TABLE GUESTS AT K. of C. 55th ANNIVERSARY BANQUET

K. of C. 55th ANNIVERSARY BANQUET AND DANCE

At the Town Hall on Tuesday evening, May 6th, more than 300 members, friends and guests of Winchester Council No. 210, Knights of Columbus, celebrated the 55th Anniversary by attending a banquet and dance to commemorate the occasion.

Honorable William H. Henchey, Judge of the Woburn District Court, was the guest speaker at the banquet. Other invited guests who spoke briefly were Rev. John P. O'Riordan, Council Chaplain and Pastor of St. Mary's Church; Joseph P. Lally, State Deputy of the Knights of Columbus; and James E. McCabe, a district deputy.

Grand Knight Charles W. Craven opened the meeting with a few brief remarks and turned the meeting over to the toastmaster of the evening, General Chairman of the 55th Anniversary Committee, Past Grand Knight Alfred J. Pullo. Others seated at the head table were Rev. Herbert K. A. Driscoll, Pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church, who gave the invocation; Charter Member Thomas K. Lynch and his daughter Esther; and Messrs. Craven, Pullo, Lally and McCabe.

The honorary members of the council were guests of honor and were introduced by Toastmaster Pullo. Jeremiah J. McCarron, President of the Fourth Degree Club, presented an anniversary gift to the council. Grand Knight Craven accepted the gift on behalf of the council. The past grand knights of the council and the members of the committee received special mention.

Hum and Strum, the popular radio and television entertainers, captured the enthusiasm of the audience. They entertained their guests inimitable style. Freddie Guerra and his orchestra furnished the music for dancing.

In the opinion of those in attendance, this anniversary celebration was one of the outstanding events in the history of the council.

SUBWAY EXTENSION BILL TO ARLINGTON AND CAMBRIDGE APPROVED

A bill calling for the extension of the Harvard Square subway to the North Cambridge and Arlington line was approved this week by the House of Representatives. It has gone to the Senate for action and then will go to the Governor for his signature.

This legislation was proposed by Representative Henry E. Keenan of Arlington. It received initial approval the last two years, and it is expected it will be acted upon favorably this year; and the study for the extension will be started.

Other legislation proposed by Representative Henry E. Keenan of Arlington for the extension of the Mystic Valley Parkway roadway in Medford and the landscaping of the Mystic River Banks in Arlington and Medford were also approved and acted upon favorably by the House of Representatives this week.

V. F. W. LADIES' AUXILIARY

The V. F. W. Ladies Auxiliary, No. 3719, of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, is having an old fashioned "Gingham Girl" party in the Post quarters on White street, Winchester, Friday night, May 16. Music will be rendered by Danny Noonan. Refreshments will be served free of charge and there will also be prizes for the funniest costume. Store chairman promises a good time for everyone. So men why don't you come and join the fun?

Recent Births

A boy weighing 7 pounds and 11 1/2 ounces was born April 16 to Mrs. Charlotte L. Shartel, wife of Ens. Howard A. Shartel, USN, at the U.S. Naval Hospital, Corpus Christi, Texas. Ens. Shartel, who is serving at the U.S. Naval Auxiliary Air Station, Cavanaugh Field, Corpus Christi, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stratton Shartel of 821 West 59th street, Kansas City, Mo. Mrs. Shartel is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter K. Maroney of 5 Myopia Hill road. The baby is the first child for the Shartels, who are residing at 312 B. Buccaneer Drive, Corpus Christi.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Cass of Natick formerly of Winchester announce the birth of a first child, a son on May 5th at Richardson House. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Kingman P. Cass of 52 Yale street and Mrs. Charles Philbrook of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. George Manning, Jr., of Fort Wayne, Indiana, are the parents of a son, Michael LaRue, born May 6 at the Methodist Church Hospital in Fort Wayne, Indiana. Professor and Mrs. George C. Manning of 28 Symmes road are the paternal grandparents.

CHARLES HOWARD HALL

Charles Howard Hall, who died Sunday, May 4, in Winthrop, formerly made his home in Winchester and will be remembered by older residents of the town.

A native of Groton, N. H., Mr. Hall married Mrs. F. Lillian Proctor, formerly of Winchester, and they lived after their marriage in the old Chapin home at 1 Everett avenue. He was in the insurance business and was a member of the former Calumet Club. He left Winchester in 1921 to go to Brookline, and later lived in Scituate, where Mrs. Hall died June 10, 1939. Latterly he had been living in Winthrop, where his stepson, George C. Proctor, formerly of Winchester, makes his home at 80 Crest avenue. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Reynolds Funeral Home in Winthrop, followed by cremation. Interment was in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

THE MARRIAGE VOWS

On Mother's Day a sermon on the marriage ceremony will be preached by the Rev. Robert A. Storer at the Winchester Unitarian Church on Sunday morning at the eleven o'clock service.

Those about to be wed, newlyweds and long wedded couples are invited to hear the sermon entitled, "Love, Honor and Respect."

A Christening service will follow the morning worship.

Special music has been planned for the choir and quartette by Mary Ranton Witham which will include Brahms' "How lovely is thy dwelling place" and "Panis Angelicus" featuring George Fortune, basso soloist.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Murphy of 40 Clark street announce the engagement of their niece, Mary A. Lynch, to Mr. James Sabin of North Abington.

Miss Lynch is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Lynch of 13 Sundays Well road, Court City, Ireland.

NEW WINCHESTER TELEPHONE MANAGER

Wendell N. Harvey of Burlington, Vt., is the new manager of the Winchester office of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co., replacing Kenneth MacPherson who has been transferred to Quincy. Mr. Harvey started with the Telephone Company six years ago in Burlington as business office representative. After 2 1/2 years in that capacity he went to Worcester as customer representative, later being acting manager in Palmer, Worcester and in Brookline. He served as manager of the Company's Pittsfield Office before coming to Winchester.

Mr. Harvey graduated from University of Vermont where he was a Psychology major and a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity. He is married and has three children, Peter, 4 1/2; Tobin, 2; and Wendie Janet, 5 weeks.

Mrs. Harvey and the kiddies, the new Winchester manager explains, haven't caught up with him yet, and are still living in Worcester.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. E. Scott, 25 Nelson street, Winchester, announce the engagement of their daughter, Joan Mary to Mr. William M. James, son of Mrs. Edward F. James, of 58 Water street, Woburn.

A July wedding is planned.

THE MAYTIME MUSICALS

For those planning the fifth annual Maytime Musicals to be held on the evenings of May 27 and May 28 at the Music Hall, the biggest problem is that of the mouse in the cheese shop — what to leave out. Mrs. Mary Witham, who directs these light-hearted evenings which benefit the Unitarian Church, the committee in charge; the Unitarian Choir, which performs; and their many friends who offer their talents so as not to miss the fun of these affairs are all working hard arranging a program which is full of melody, originality, and merit. Here are a few "newsy paragraphs" about their progress:

Topical tunes will open the program and anyone who is in doubt of the mood of the evening will be enlightened quickly by "It's a Good Day For Singing a Song", "It's a Lovely Day Today", and "The Night is Young". Bob Horne, that well known man about town whose ebullient spirits have so often been a mark of the Musicals will be missed this year because he is leaving town for a summer job prior to the evenings. However in his stead he is sending John Morabito, who will be introduced as soloist in the first number. Dotty Brandt, Mary Norian, and Buttons Burbank will do the trio in "Lovely Day".

The group of tenors are a peripatetic lot. Jimmy deRevere has just returned from Paris where he went shopping for tunes for the Musicals. What he is singing still remains a secret, but the performance is bound to make Maurice Chevalier look like a boy from Brooklyn. The cosmopolitan influence should also come through in the singing of Sherman Russell, who visited Harvard this winter; Edgar Isherwood, who frequently returns to Europe where he once studied and sang; and James Joslin, who just completed a trip around the world.

Harry von Rosenzweig is transporting his telescope from Lowell to the Music Hall and will help the audience view the heavens with "Planitairs", a group of singers who are doing an eight part arrangement of "Star Dust", "Deep Purple", and "Au Clair de Lune". Featured soloist with this group will be Norma Farrar, who is to receive her masters degree at Columbia just before she returns for the Musicals.

The choirs outstanding soloists will each delight the audience with a number of their own on the program, in addition to appearing in ensemble numbers with the choir. They are: Dolores Baldyga, Muriel Thorley, Edgar Isherwood, and George Fortune.

Somewhere in the program something will be sung by the Berkshire Quartette, consisting of Messieurs Russell, deRevere, Fortune, and Alan Mowatt. If the audience enjoys it half as much as the performers anticipate doing it, it will be very well received indeed.

No evening built around the Unitarian Choir would be complete without the contributions of the Norian sisters. Grace, who will assist Mrs. Witham in many four-handed accompaniments, will also do the only piano number, Chopin's "Ballade in G Minor". Mary, a hard working member of the committee, is featured in some of the trios, and Siron will be singing with the choir. With the Musicals sponsored local song contest meeting with great enthusiasm and turning up Winchester song writers at the rate of two or three a precinct, the job of the judges, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Narry and Mr. Aram Johnson, is expected to be very difficult indeed. Bob Brotherton will M. C. the "Songs for Sale" part of the program, where the winning songs will be presented.

It is rumored that despite all her well known terschorean talents, Janet Burbank won't get anywhere on those evenings with Gardner Handy, with whom she does a comedy number based on "I Won't Dance" from "Roberta". This is only one of a large group of "Roberta" songs which will conclude the program. There will be the suggestion of a fashion show along with "You're Lovely to Look At", and the other truly lovely "Roberta" tunes are calculated to leave the audience bathed in nostalgia.

OFFICE TRANSFERRED

The Optometric practice of the late Dr. Harold Hodgdon of 18 Pleasant street, Arlington, has been transferred to the office of Dr. Donald W. Horley, Optometrist, 476 Massachusetts avenue, Arlington Center.

All examination records and prescription information is now on file at Dr. Horley's office. Patients of the late Dr. Hodgdon can be most thoroughly cared for in Dr. Horley's office where all latest Optometric services are employed.

Dr. Horley has practiced in Arlington ever since his graduation from college in 1938, when he graduated Cum Laude from Massachusetts College of Optometry.

MYSTIC GLEE CLUB

In the Spring Concert, held in Winchester High School Auditorium on Saturday evening, May 3, the Mystic Glee Club with Keith Snyder as conductor, and Mary Louise Middleton, accompanist, got off to a royal start in their opening number, "It's a Grand Night for Singing," that rhythmic and unforgettable melody by Hammerstein and Rodgers. The song was rendered with precision and verve, there was no doubt about it; spring was here and it was a "grand night for singing."

In contrasting beauty were given the next three numbers: "Lotus Flower" by Archmann, Brahms' "May Night," and "My Love" by Parker.

The musicianship of the Glee Club excelled in these three lovely numbers, and the tone was exquisite and enunciation good. It was inspiring indeed, to note the singers' accurate response to the always sensitive, and forceful command of the conductor, Keith Snyder.

A welcoming innovation to the Mystic Glee Club Spring Concert was the introduction of the Winchester High School Girls' Octette. The eight girls, colorful and appealing, with their charming accompanist, Miss Margaret Reid, captivated the audience in the rendition of "The Robin in the Rain" by Cain, "Song of Rain and Spring" by Shure, and "Florian's Song" by Godard. Modulation here, too, was exquisite and enunciation excellent.

The girls received prolonged applause and accompanied with an intriguing encore, "Sophomore Philosophy, The More You Study, the Less You Know."

The Glee Club returned with two Kentucky mountain songs, superlative rendered, "Old Tom Wilson" and "Sourwood Mountain," both selections from the Yale Glee Club series. Sung a capella and in real life Billy style, they proved a great contribution to the concert. "Old Tom Wilson" was especially appealing with its "pauk-a-pauk" and "chuck-a-chuck." The round of applause which it received was well merited. These numbers were followed by the familiar "Ma Little Banjo" by Diekmann, beautifully interpreted by the Glee Club, and "Oklahoma," the well-known Hammerstein and Rodgers production.

An encore, "There's Nothing Like a Dame," from the musical play, "South Pacific," which closed the first part of the program, rocked the house. The incidental solos and recitatives rendered in Rondo fashion was a delightful interpretation. The boys really "swung it" on this number. Thoroughly enjoyed was the selection, "Drinking Song," from "The Student Prince," which opened the second half of the program. Following this was an exquisite number, "You Are," by E. Charles, performed by the Glee Club, assisted by the Girls' Octette. The contrasting timbres of the men's humming background against the girls' solo, put on and a most charming effect. An encore was given by the combined voices of Glee Club and Girls' Octette in an enchanting number, "You're Just in Love."

Mr. Snyder's fine interpretation of the Dartmouth College number, "Twilight Song," which followed, made this somewhat plaintive melody a thing of joy. The next offering of the Glee Club was "Hob A Derry Danno," a colorful Welsh folk-song by Oliphant and Wood. The Girls' Octette reappeared, each girl with a colorful nosegay in her hand, for their last group of songs, "Make Believe" by Kern, "Bamboo Baby" by Roma, "My Hero" by Straus, and "Because You're You," an encore. "Bamboo Baby" was an especially charming number with a solo delightfully sung by Miss Elizabeth Curtis against a humming background. The octette, with their capable accompanist, Miss Reid, was given a rousing round of applause for a truly fine performance.

Miss Eleanor Amfantis, Winchester's popular high school choral director and instructor of future Girls' Octette, was next introduced by Mr. Snyder and congratulated on her students' performance.

Perhaps the most imposing part of the program by the Glee Club was the last four numbers: "The Creation," Richter; "The Star," James Rodgers; "The Maiden in the Wood," Dvorak; and "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor," Berlin. The club gave a truly magnificent performance of "The Creation," an anthem selected from Genesis I. "The Star," too, with its taxing sostenuto measures was magnificently executed. "The Maiden in the Wood," a Slovak folk-song arranged for four-hand piano accompaniment, was extremely well done. The harmony of the men's voices in conjunction with the idiomatic piano part, well played by Miss Middleton and Warren Bates, was of exquisite beauty.

Just before the closing number Austin Narry, president of the Glee Club, made an announcement expressing regret at the resignation of Keith Snyder, conductor. Mr. Snyder will leave shortly for New York, where he plans to attend Columbia University Teachers College.

In a brief farewell speech Mr. Snyder spoke of his affection for the Glee Club and his wonderful four years of work with them, and expressed the hope that the future might bring them together again. The concluding number, "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor" (Inscription on the Statue of Liberty), words by Emma Lazarus, music by Irving Berlin, was most impressive. This composition, difficult of execution, was handled magnificently by the club and won merited praise from the audience. Mary Louise Middleton, the Glee Club's attractive and talented piano accompanist, was also given enthusiastic applause for her splendid performance throughout the concert.

And so the curtain closed on the

WINCHESTER WON TRACK OPENER

Winchester High, after being rained out twice, finally opened its track season on Thursday, May 1, at Lexington, winning decisively, 45-29. The Indians won six first places to two for the Minuteboys, with the high jump ending in a tie.

For an opening performance on a cold day, Winchester did pretty well. Best performance was Cortell's 20 ft. 1 in. leap in the broad jump, and Bruce missed a possible double when he was jostled at the half-way mark of the hundred, run without lanes, and couldn't recover in time to catch Medeiros of Lexington.

Winchester had two double winners. Big Doug Hawkins won the quarter in 55 seconds, good going for such a day, and also took the shotput with a 40 ft. 10 in. heave. Dud Samoiloff won an easy victory in the 220 and also tied for first in the high jump with Wells of Lexington. The bar was at 5 ft. 8 in. on the standards, but the judges ruled a four-inch sag, bringing their performance down to 5 ft. 4 in. Winchester swept the shotput, an event in which they have been weak in recent years.

Bob Nelson was Winchester's other first place winner, taking the mile in 5 min. 10.5 sec. Bob ran a very fast 656 first quarter and then loafed through two laps, remaining behind Rhodes of Lexington until midway through the final lap, when he put on steam to pass the Lexington runner, winning going away by 25 yards.

MELROSE 7; WINCHESTER, 6

Defeat First for High School This Year

A two-run rally in the last of the ninth inning enabled Melrose High to edge Winchester High 7-6 at Melrose last Friday afternoon. The defeat marked the first loss by any Winchester High team in a major sport this year and it seemed that the law of averages was operating against the Indians as all the breaks went against them.

Winchester opened with a run in the first inning but Melrose rallied by four runs in the third when they bunched three hits with four bases on balls. Melrose made it 5-1 in the fourth on a single and a triple, thus bunched five of their seven hits into these two innings. Winchester tallied once in the sixth to make it 5-2 and then rallied for four runs in the seventh to go ahead 6-5 when they bunched five hits with a base on balls. It remained that way until the fatal ninth when Melrose scored twice with nobody out on three bases on balls, the only Indian error of the game, and a clinching single.

Bases on balls and the inability of key local batters to come through with a hit with men on bases caused the Winchester defeat. Murphy and Symmes gave up ten bases on balls, seven of them coming in the third and ninth innings when Melrose scored six of their seven runs. Five of the Melrose runs were scored by batters who had previously been walked. Prep Keyes was the only local batter to hit well as he collected three safeties, two of them doubles, and had driven in Bellino in the seventh with what would have been the winning run until the Melrose uprising in the ninth.

BOAT CLUB NEWS

The opening party of the season was held at the clubhouse last Friday evening and brought out the largest crowd on record. Carl DeSuzo, well known radio artist gave an interesting talk, illustrated with slides, on his experiences getting established in radio and television work. He followed this with a quiz program for the amusement of the younger members. Refreshments were served by the steward, and 25 door prizes were given out. Altogether, the evening was an unqualified success.

The Snipe race, scheduled for last Sunday was postponed, only two boats being ready. Bob Hugins' new entry, "Shady Too" was launched, followed by "The Phoebe" owned by Dawson Blamire. Most of the sailors were still working on their boats, and Rod Long was busy representing Winchester in the Schooley Regatta held at Wakefield. Five preparatory schools were competing in a series of races which was finally won by Winchester, with Tabor Academy in second place. Rod found the Wakefield Dinghies slightly different from a Snipe. He emphasized his boat on first stepping aboard, but after changing to dry clothes, he showed his last years skill by ending up with the highest point score.

The first time-up Snipe race, postponed last Sunday, will take place this weekend as soon as enough boats are ready.

STILL NOT CONVINCED

Editor of the Star:

Since the Great "Winchester Wall" is to be built if we accept Majority Rule, and those of us who objected will have to accept, even though (unless I am greatly mistaken) the Yes Voters will wish they had voted No, even though their door bells were rung and a Yes! Vote, almost demanded. A regular Jim Mike Curley procedure as one man said.

Majorities have voted for two men in the last twenty years for President. I expect there are millions of voters who are now wishing that they had not accepted these men, with their Socialistic Planned Economy, and Divide the Wealth theories.

By the time the Great Wall is finished and with the disruption over an expected two years at the Center, we still will have the motor traffic even more, plugging up the business center. This is poor planning — when it all could have been avoided for less than half of the cost of lifting the railroad tracks, and all of this mess, people must accept, as voted by the Great Majority a la F. D. R. — Truman — majorities. We think before it is too late; a Stop, Look and Listen sign is in order.

LITTLE LEAGUE TO USE MANCHESTER FIELD

Editor of the Star:

The School Committee has voted unanimously to make a portion of Manchester Field available to the Little League for the 1952 baseball season which extends from May 30th to August 15. This action was taken in view of the emergency situation confronting the League when Shore Road Field could not be satisfactorily prepared for play and because of the unavailability in Winchester of any other field large enough to accommodate the large number of boys who wish to participate in League competition. By agreement with the Park Department the School Committee is assured that the Field will be returned in as good condition as when turned over to the League.

OPEN GARDENS IN WINCHESTER

Winchester Home and Garden Club is sponsoring an opening of nine carefully selected Winchester gardens to the public on Wednesday afternoon, May 21, at 4 o'clock, with the proceeds benefitting Garden Clubs Service, Inc., which is doing such wonderful work in Horticultural Therapy in Veterans, Army and Navy Hospitals.

This is an out-of-doors tour with suitable flower and table settings in each open garden. In case of rain, save the 22nd on your date calendar.

Since the nine hostesses have been so kind in opening their gardens and grounds for our Garden Club, we respectfully beg all who visit these beauty spots to please wear low heeled shoes, not spikes, and to go carefully on the appointed walks. Gardens open on May 21 are as follows:

A delightfully planned and cared for formal garden and grounds at the home of Mrs. Maurice Connor, 250 Highland avenue. (Do not park in the driveway) Enter either Prospect or Highland avenue. Two wildflower and informal gardens near the Connor home are those of Mrs. John Chipman at 19 Lorena road and Mrs. Maurice Freeman at 11 Lorena road. By continuing down Lorena road to Border road, one comes to 229 Mystic Valley Parkway, and the well-planned "one woman" garden of Mrs. Chesterman. Next in this area is Mrs. Gretchen West's fragrant, woody garden at the end of Mason street.

Our next garden grouping is at the other end of Winchester, above the country club, on Arlington street. Three houses there have opened their grounds to Garden Club visitors that day — the gardens adjoin and you may walk into any driveway and make the circuit. But please — watch your heels! The Damon grounds are at 70 Arlington street — a breath-takingly lovely sight. Next to them is another lovely corner of this earth, the Burnham's typically English garden. Still another treat is the grounds of Miss Mildred Paige, 82 Arlington street, with their welcoming rose arbors.

The last visit takes you to Bacon street, No. 84, the charming terrace of Mrs. Walter Krysto, with its small formal garden and rose arbor.

May 21 will be another memorable day, so invite your friends to enjoy Winchester hospitality.

Once again the Editor extends thanks to Mr. Sherman Saltmarsh for a fine two and a half pound landlocked salmon. Mr. Saltmarsh, with a party of dignitaries including Town Counsel Vincent P. Clarke, returned Wednesday from a fishing trip at Sebago, Maine. The Winchester gentlemen got about a dozen fish each, all with flies.

WINCHESTER WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

Mrs. Robert Wood Reynolds, President of the Winchester Women's Republican Club, is announcing to club members and friends a reception and buffet supper for Mrs. Gilford Mayes of Kellogg, Idaho, Assistant Chairman of the Republican National Committee, to be held at the Music Hall, Monday, May 12 at 6:30.

A distinguished Republican leader, Mrs. Mayes has devoted many years to the promotion of the Republican party and its auxiliary activities. Since 1946 she has been an officer of the National Federation of Women's Republican Clubs and is now a member of its executive committee. She has been very active in recent Republican National Conventions and is a member of the Arrangements Committee for the 1952 Convention in Chicago. Mrs. Sumner Whittier, president of the Everett Women's Republican Club, will be in charge of the evening, and Mrs. Raymond W. Wheeler, Vice Chairman of the Republican State Committee, will be mistress of ceremonies.

It will be a memorable evening, we are promised, and it is hoped that many people will turn out to give Mrs. Mayes the warm welcome she so deserves. Tickets for the buffet and evening may be secured by calling Mrs. Reynolds at Winchester 6-3334.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

We are having another party for the Veterans at the Bedford Hospital on Friday, May 16. All members are invited to attend and those wishing transportation must be at the Legion Home before 6:45 that evening.

County Council will be held on Saturday, May 10, at Waltham. Any member who plans to attend call our President, Fran Burr and she will arrange to meet her.

Watch for further news about our Annual Rummage Sale to be held at the Legion Home, on May 20. If you have anything to donate to this sale call Dot McCormack or any of the officers and they will be called for. Anything that can be used is acceptable and everyone is urged to collect as much as possible while you are Spring cleaning.

EN KA CIRCUS

The En Ka Society, under the direction of Mrs. Edward E. Kuyper, the 1952 Ways and Means Chairman, will hold its Annual Fair at the Town Hall grounds on May 24th. This year's Fair is to be the "En Ka Circus."

One of the first things the fairgoers will notice will be the interesting and colorful posters, animal cut-outs and murals which will decorate the various booths. They are the work of Winchester boys and girls in the elementary, junior high and high schools.

In addition to the Winchester-created monkeys, boa constrictors, birds, cuts and baboons, there will be a real live animal exhibit from Brent's animal farm. Most unique is the fact that their animals are so tame that Mr. Brent says young and old can hold or pet them without fear as he tells of their habits and habits.

On other parts of the grounds will be found remarkable side-show attractions: the strong man, trained seals, a red dragon clanging around Wadleigh Castle, to mention only a few.

The clowns who really make the circus tick will, on close inspection, prove to be none other than friends, husbands, sons and daughters of En Ka members, and the En Ka members, themselves, who have only the sincerest appreciation for the support shown this annual venture.

MERRY MARTHAS ELECT OFFICERS

The Merry Marthas, young women's group at the Second Congregational Church, met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. George Kendrick, 6 Kenilworth road, to elect officers for the coming year. The new officers are: Mrs. Grace Wingate, chairman; Mrs. Norman Whiting, co-chairman; Mrs. Austin Nanry, recording secretary; Mrs. Donald Nalchajian, treasurer; Mrs. Anne Clark, Sunshine chairman; Mrs. John W. Cook, publicity.

Plans were made for the last meeting of the season to be held in June at the Colonial Country Club. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess from a table beautifully decorated with magnolias and tulips.

Work on the remodeling of the old O'Hara house on Mystic avenue is proceeding rapidly and already promises a great improvement in this property when completed.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Monday, May 12, is the date of the Sectional Meeting to be held at Lincoln Mass., from 10 until 3. There are several who are planning to drive so if anyone needs a ride call the office at once.

Wednesday, May 14th, the 8th Grade leaders will meet at the office at 9:30 to plan the graduation service. Also on Wednesday the Winchester Girl Scouts will be hostesses to the Social Agency Group who will meet at the Cabin.

Plans for the Brownie picnic are being completed. For Saturday, May 17, will soon be here.

The Spring exhibition meeting is to be at 1:30 p. m. at the Scout Cabin. We hope everyone concerned can keep this date clear.

At Cedar Hill the Massachusetts Girl Scout organization will meet to discuss mutual problems, report the year's work and learn of new plans. This meeting is May 21 from 10 a. m. until 3 p. m.

The Box on the Mantel

A friend of mine was one of a family of eight children whose father had to watch the pennies to make them go around. When one of the children requested money for some special purchase — such as a tennis racket or a bracelet — the father would bring out the desired amount and say: "I'm putting your money in this box on the mantel. You're not to touch it for a week. If you still want your tennis racket, you may take this money and buy it. If you then find you don't want the racket as badly as you thought you did, you can take the money and put it in the bank for yourself. This process was continued through the children's adolescence. And every one of those children grew up with a bank account each was terribly proud to own.

Here's why...

it's so reliable!

the TIMKEN Silent Automatic WALL-FLAME OIL BURNER

Accepted Standards

has only one moving part!

You are assured of maximum reliability when you install a Timken Silent Automatic Wall-Flame Oil Burner! The one moving part — with its integral oil distributing tubes and fans — does all the work. Nothing else moves. Actuated by an electric motor, the monorotor rests on a steel ball pressed into the bottom end of the shaft, with the result that the rotor spins like a top — freely, easily and with little wear. The basically different, basically better wall-flame burner is the heart of every Timken Silent Automatic oil heating unit — conversion burners, furnaces and boilers. Phone us today for free survey and estimate. Easy terms.

NO PRESSURE!
NO BLOWTORCH ROAR!
No complicated pressure pump is required to force the fuel oil through a pin-point atomizing nozzle. No blower is required to send a blast of air into the ashpit. It's whisper-quiet!

NO "OIL CAN" LUBRICATION!
The shaft of the monorotor is lubricated by the fuel oil flowing through the burner, eliminating the need for "oil can" lubrication — at any time!

TROOP 3 PLANS

CAMPING EXHIBIT—The Boys Scouts of Troop 3 at the First Congregational Church are planning an unusually comprehensive and interesting camping display to be exhibited at the Scout-ing Round-Up on May 17th in Cousins Gym, Tufts College, Medford, Massachusetts. The boys are planning to travel to Camp Lane in Burlington to set up and pre-test their exhibit which will be displayed in a special area in the center of the Baseball Cage at Tufts the following Saturday.

In addition, Scout John Chapin of Troop 3 will represent the Troop in the Bugling contest at the Round-Up, and Scouts George Denton and Andrew Hering will compete in the Morse Signalling demonstrations. Mr. Edgar Hinton, Scoutmaster of Troop 3 has promised that Winchester people will see many other Troop 3 boys taking an active part at the Round-Up, as well.

Last Saturday, Leslie Doten, committeeman of Cub Pack 6, instructed the following Pack 6 boys in preparation for the Tug-of-War and "Walk-the-Plank" events in which they will take part, along with many other Pack 6 Cubs, at the Round-Up on May 17th: Robert Kiles, Shawn Seaton, Richard Sears, John Hopkins.

Mr. Olcott Hooper, Scoutmaster of Troop 6 has announced that one of his Scouts is and is therefore entitled to receive a free week at Camp Fellsland this summer, along with all other boys who sell at least 200 Round-Up tickets.

These boys, along with Winchester's other 10 Scouts and Cubs, are undoubtedly hoping to see a good many of their Winchester friends at their "big show" on May 17th.

CONSERVATION, THEME OF MYSTIC SCHOOL ASSEMBLY—"Our Tree Treasures" was the title of an assembly program presented by Miss Margaret Millican, fifth grade pupils on April 30. The class had been studying a unit on Conservation, and the assembly was developed as an outgrowth of their work.

A colorful backdrop depicting a forest scene was painted by the children. To add still more to the realistic effect, paper mache rocks and trees, painted and nailed to wooden frames, were placed on the stage.

The cast of "Our Tree Treasures" was as follows: Trees: David Littleton, Reginald Bradley, Henry Kiley, Gerry Patrick, and Peter Bryant.

Picknickers: Diane Fulgoni, Lynne Goodwin, Tony Peterson, Lumberjacks: Marcia Smith, Paula Colclough.

Robin Hood and His Merry Men (Dance) Diana Violante, Nancy Byrnes, Judy Gharardini, Patty Pooler.

Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn: Bob deRivard, Hil Parore.

Four-H-Club Girls: Andrea Lous-tannan, Kathryn Swisher, Nancy Clark.

Teacher and Children: Joanne Cox, Lynne Goodwin, Claire Pearce.

Announcer: Tony Peterson.

Pianist: David Littleton.

The members of the class are grateful to those parents who kindly contributed materials, time, and effort to help make their assembly a success.

TRACKSTERS WIN AGAIN

Winchester High won its second track meet of the season Tuesday afternoon at Wakefield, defeating Wakefield High, 92½ to 34½.

The competition was close and it wasn't until the final event, the 880 yard relay, that Winchester's win was really in the bag. Wakefield had sent its runners a lot in the individual events and the Indians took the team race handily.

Hawkins was again a double winner, taking the 440 in 55.3s and getting the shot out 43 ft. 3 in. for the meet's best performance. The Indians again swept the shot, with both Josh Michelson and Pete Murphy besting 41 ft.

Bruce Cortell did 10.5s in the performance that perhaps tickled Coach Knowlton most was Claron Swonger's win in the half. This youngster showed fine courage, despite the slowness of the time.

Bob Nelson learned some more about track finesse, being boxed in the mile and held back so long he couldn't catch Swartz of Wakefield in 5m 35.8. Winchester was without Dud Samoiloff, a sure scorer in the 220 and high jump, and was also lacking other experienced performers because of injuries. The summary:

WINCHESTER, 9; CONCORD, 1

Winchester High won its fourth Middlesex League contest by defeating Concord High 9-1 at Concord on Wednesday afternoon.

The Indians hit with more authority than in their past two games as they rapped out 12 safeties and were helped by erratic infield play by the Patriots, "Moose" Bellino, Dave Dalton, Pete Conn, and Charlie Murphy collected two hits apiece for the locals, with Dalton driving home three runs and Murphy a pair of Winchester tallies.

After a shaky start during which Concord left nine men on base over the first four innings, Charlie Murphy settled down and pitched good ball for the Red and Black. In spite of his early trouble, even the lone Concord run was unearned as Murphy was able to bear down in the clutch to retire the batter he needed with runners in scoring position.

The feature defensive play of the game was turned in by Prep Keyes with a magnificent throw from centerfield to third base to cut down an over-ambitious Concord runner.

TENNIS PRO A SUCCESS

Miss Mary Hardwicke was greeted by more than fifty young people last Saturday in the first free tennis clinic of the season under the sponsorship of the Winchester Tennis Association.

Although over three-fourths of those in attendance were girls, Miss Hardwicke was very enthusiastic in her opinions of Winchester's over-all tennis mindfulness. Miss Hardwicke, now associated with Wilson & Company, was both pleasing and thorough in her teaching of fundamentals.

This Saturday, May 10, 10 a. m., is the time for the second Packer Court clinic. Joe Corish, prominent New England instructor, will be in charge. Mr. Corish was with us last year, and it is hoped that there will be a goodly crowd of male youths on hand to even the proportion and make him feel at home. These clinics are strictly co-educational.

A Junior's town tournament is being planned for all children in the town 15 years and under. The date is tentatively set for May 16, and arrangements are being made for the winners and semi-finalists to represent this town in a tournament sponsored by Mrs. Wightman to be held at Longwood. Watch the Star for further notice of this event.

In case of rain this Saturday, the clinic will be held in the high school auditorium.

The annual spring tournaments of the Winchester Tennis Association will be held on the weekend of May 24th and 25th. There will be the regular draw doubles, draw mixed doubles, and family doubles. This is the get-together weekend for all Winchester players. Watch this column for more particulars and get ready to make entry with Henry Pitts (Winchester 6-0603-R) or Bob Kittredge.

Winchester High School has been asked to sponsor the Massachusetts State Tournament for High Schools this year. The big starting day, with an expected field of 70 to 80 players, will be Saturday, May 31st; and play will continue on the following Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. More particulars later.

TENNIS MORNING

Mothers Emancipated had their weekly tennis get-together at the Packer Courts, Wednesday, May 7, at 10 a. m. Dismal weather did not dampen the enthusiasm of six courts full of enthusiasts.

"THE FAMILY TREE"

Marycliff Seniors Present Comedy

On Sunday, May 11, the senior class of Marycliff Academy will present a three act comedy, "The Family Tree," in the school auditorium at four o'clock.

The scene of the play is Middle-ton, Massachusetts, where small town gossip about the family lineage of the leading character almost causes havoc in the love affair of two young people.

The leading roles will be played by Geraldine Dowd of Belmont, Catherine Hagan of Arlington, Jean Newman of Billerica and Patricia Turner of Arlington. Supporting the leads are: Jacqueline Arsenault, Mary O'Brien of Cambridge; Nancy Bennett, Mary Looney of Somerville; Adrienne Comparetti of Woburn; Pauline Howley, Anne Rawson, Ann Sexton of Arlington; and Carlyn Rush of Medford.

VISITING PARENT HERE

Mr. Richard M. Sawyer of Sao Paulo, Brazil is visiting his father, Mr. Arthur F. Sawyer and his aunt, Mrs. F. E. Horne of 7 Lewis road, Winchester. Mr. Sawyer is manager of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.'s large textile mill in Sao Paulo, and has been with the Firestone Co. for twenty-three years, six of which he has been in Sao Paulo. Mr. Sawyer has engineering degrees from the Lowell Textile Institute and Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He resided in Winchester for several years. He returns to South America July first.

BANK CALENDAR PRAISED

The Winchester (Massachusetts) National Bank, located in a residential community near Boston, has mostly personal or household accounts. As an appropriate promotion piece the bank chose an artistic engagement calendar. Facing each month's calendar page (with space for notes of engagements) is an attractive full-page pencil sketch of a place of local interest. The artist, Ernest Dudley Chase, is a director of the bank.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

The Winchester College Club will hold its Spring meeting at the Music Hall at 2:30 p. m. on Wednesday, May 14.

Dr. Robert Cummins, a Winchester fellow townsman, will be the speaker.

Dr. Cummins has had a wide and varied experience in this country, in England, and in Bangkok, Thailand. Very recently he was one of a group of ministers of various denominations who met for a three day conference at the Pentagon in Washington. National leaders in both diplomatic and military fields discussed with this group many of the present problems and policies of the government. These are timely and serious, but Dr. Cummins enlivens his presentation of them with his sprightly sense of humor in his informal talk on "A Parson at the Pentagon."

Tea will be served by the Wellesley alumnae who are members of the club.

Dues are payable at this meeting. Members are reminded of the convenience both to themselves and to the treasurer if they are paid at this time.

WYMAN SCHOOL NOTES

On the morning of April 25 the pupils of Mrs. Butler's kindergarten presented an assembly to their parents and schoolmates. The story of Snow White was played on the phonograph, and, after everyone had heard it, the story was dramatized by the kindergarten children. Rhythmic activities included elephants, rocking horses, high stepping horses, running and skipping. To the accompaniment of rhythmic tapping several Mother Goose songs were sung by the class. The program ended on a patriotic note, including a march with flags, the salute to the flag, and the singing of "America."

TOASTMISTRESS CLUB

Three-minute tall tales told by ten to twenty Toastmistresses will top the program of the meeting of the Winchester Toastmistress Club to be held on Tuesday evening, May 13, at the home of Mrs. Lillian Last, 120 Brookings street, Medford Hillside.

UNITARIAN PLAYERS' SPRING COMEDY

At the Unitarian Players' spring production of the Lindsay-Crouse hit, "State of the Union," on May 16 and 17, punch will be served between the acts by Mrs. Theodore Godwin, Mrs. William E. Spaulding and John R. Wallace will usher on Friday evening, Ganson P. Taggart and Percy H. Hill on Saturday evening.

For this timely election-year comedy, Robert A. Storer is directing the cast. The principal roles will be played by Lucille Townley-Tilson, Jacqueline Sibley, William E. Spaulding, John Ricker and Bradford Darling, experienced actors all. In the final scene, an assortment of characters played by Katherine Davies, Irene Kline, P. Eric Anderson, Kenneth Hall, Allan Mowatt and John Chandler Hill come together for an hilarious dinner party. Other members of the cast are Charlotte Hill, Diana Mansfield, Richard Barnard, Jack Mills and W. Prescott Keyes.

Come to laugh, and come to see what an honest candidate can do to outwit the clever politicians who try to dupe us all.

WINCHESTER MORNINGS

The Wellesley Club of Winchester will resume its popular series of morning lectures in the Fall. On October 6th, David McCord, well-known poet and essayist, will open the series, followed on October 30 by David Barnet. Mr. Barnet, member of the Wellesley College faculty and teacher of advanced music at the New England Conservatory, will be remembered with pleasure by those who heard him a few years ago in the first of the Winchester Mornings. On November 13th Saville Davis, American News Editor of The Christian Science Monitor will speak on current events.

EARL P. HANEY

LOCAL "COWBOY" AT SCOUTING ROUND-UP

Earl P. Haney of Wedgemere avenue, former cowboy from Broken Bow Nebraska, (who as related by Dale Carnegie in one of his recent books, took his own coffin along with him on a world cruise because the doctors had predicted that he would die 30 years ago), is to be one of the featured attractions at the Scouting Round-Up to be held on May 17th at Tufts Gym in Medford.

Mr. Haney, who was once known as "Cactus Duke", will entertain the Scouts and the public with his story of western lore . . . from how to handle a six-shooter and a bull whip to how to ride a "bucking bronco". Many other special attractions are planned for the May 17th Round-Up, including the personal appearance of one of the leading Braves baseball players. Over 600 Winchester boys and adults are working hard to make this year's Scouting Round-Up the biggest and best yet.

MISSION UNION GUILD

The Mission Union Guild of the First Congregational Church elected the following officers for 1952-53 at the annual meeting on Tuesday, April 8.

GIRL SCOUTS' NIGHT

On Thursday evening, May 15, from 7:00 p. m. to 8:30 p. m. the Brownies and Girl Scouts of the George Washington School are planning to entertain their parents at the Girl Scout Cabin with a demonstration of some of their activities and handicraft.

Each troop will have space to exhibit the handicraft work done during the year or the work completed for Scout badges. Part of the second-grade Brownies will present a short history of the Brownies and the rest will participate in the Brownie investiture ceremony. The third-grade Brownies will demonstrate the flag ceremony and show how the troop participates in making plans for a picnic. Mrs. Maxwell McCreery, president of the Winchester Council of Girl Scouts, will be present to conduct the fly-up ceremony for the fourth-grade Brownies who, having passed their Tenderfoot test, will become Girl Scouts; the Scouts from the fifth and sixth grades will assist in the fly-up ceremony.

The fifth-grade Scouts will conduct a marching drill and then present in poetic form a synopsis of the various activities in which they have engaged during the year in order to pass their Second Class test; they will also give a demonstration of fire building. Three of the sixth-grade Scouts will act as the color guard during the program, and the sixth graders also read letters from their international friendship project.

Mrs. Richard Keppeler and Mrs. George Neville are the co-chairmen and are being assisted by the leaders and troop committees from the various grades. The Dad's Club of the Washington School will help with the decoration of the cabin. Mrs. Charles Crede is in

AIDING WITH RECTOR'S DINNER

Winchester men play a prominent part in arranging the annual Rector's Dinner which the Holy Cross Club of Boston will tender the Very Rev. John A. O'Brien, S. J., president of Holy Cross College, at the Sheraton Plaza, Boston, on Thursday, May 15.

The Winchester men on the committee are Dr. Philip J. McManus, of 405 Main street; Richard F. Hegarty, 17 Wolcott road; Raymond I. Rigney, 35 Nathaniel road; Francis X. Atkinson, 9 Sheffield road; and Paul J. Whitney, 30 Kenwin road. Principal speaker at the dinner will be Federal Judge Matthew P. McGuire of Washington, D. C. Other head table guests will include the Hon. Joseph A. McNamara, president of the Holy Cross Alumni Association; Thomas G. Dignan, president of the Boston Edison Co., and Atty Edward B. Hanify, director of the John Hancock Insurance Co., and the New England Telephone Co.

Special tribute will be paid Bart Sullivan in observance of his 40th year as track coach at Holy Cross. Atty. Francis J. Vaas of Newton will act as toastmaster and J. Clement McCann of Somerville, president of the Holy Cross Club of Boston will review the year's activities. James D. Kennedy of Cambridge is chairman of the dinner committee.

Judith Flanders, 21 Symmes road, student at the New England Conservatory of Music, played the piano in a Student Recital in Recital Hall of the Conservatory Tuesday afternoon, April 29, at 1:05. She played Mozart's Fantasia in D minor.

MISSION UNION GUILD

Tuesday, May 13th, the Mission Union Guild of the First Congregational Church will hold its final meeting, and this will be one of the most important as well as interesting meetings of the year. Sewing will start at 10 a. m. under the guidance of Mrs. Hugh Grimes and Mrs. Mabel Ward. Luncheon will be served at 1:00 p. m. in the Social Hall by Mrs. Edward R. Grosvenor, Mrs. Rex T. Crandall and their committee.

At the 2 o'clock meeting, Mrs. James S. Allen will preside, and Mrs. Henry Francis Smith will conduct the worship service. Guest for the afternoon will be our own church missionary to India, Mrs. Ross Thomas.

Born in Massachusetts, the daughter of a Congregational pastor, Mrs. Thomas was educated at Mt. Holyoke College and first went to India as a bride in 1928. Her three children, Lorna, Patricia and Owen were all born in that country.

Mrs. Thomas has been closely connected with the Dadar School for the Blind in Bombay, of which she was Superintendent for nine years. Her home is a clearing house for people of many races and denominations.

Her husband, G. Ross Thomas, is not only treasurer and business manager of both the Marathi and Madras Missions of the American Board, but represents the Congregational Christian Churches in the Inter-Mission Business Office in Bombay, a union office which cares for the financial and bookkeeping work of 16 missions in India.

Mrs. Thomas will entertain us with stories of India, after which a summer Christmas party will be held, and gaily wrapped gifts from the Christmas tree will be presented to Mrs. Thomas for their bazaar, which will be held later. Members are asked to bring, or if unable to attend, have at the church office any of the following articles: Boxed greeting cards; kitchen articles such as cutlery, waxed paper, muffin and cake pans, small cookie sheets, plastic bags, covers, mats or bowls; candles 9" only, red or any color; boxed birthday candles; thumb tacks; pen or scout knives; and money donations.

Mrs. Alfred Deitz will also entertain with several solos.

The general committee in charge consists of Mrs. Robert Lowry, Mrs. Fred Hatch and Mrs. Wayne Thompson, assisted by the following:

Invitation Committee—Miss Casie Sands, Miss Helen Munroe

Decorations — Mrs. Ross Cunningham and Mrs. Kimball Archibald

Luncheon—Mrs. Clarence Wickerson

Hostesses at Door—Mrs. Richard C. Ashenden, Jr., Miss Helen Hall and Mrs. Norman J. Padelford

While in Winchester, Mrs. Thomas is the guest of Mrs. William Kugler. As this party is being sponsored by the women of the church, it is hoped that there will be an unusually large attendance. So remember the date — Tuesday, May 13th, First Congregational Church.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

For Gas Customers in

WOBURN and WINCHESTER

CONCERNING THE CHANGE-OVER TO NATURAL GAS

All work in connection with conversion to natural gas has been scheduled by communities and districts in order that it may be done with a minimum of inconvenience to our customers.

Natural Gas Will Be Turned-in To

WOBURN and WINCHESTER

On MONDAY, MAY 12TH, and Final Adjustments

Will Be Completed By WEDNESDAY, MAY 14TH

Watch for the final notice which will be attached to your door knob a day or two in advance of the actual change-over. This handbill will show the exact date YOUR SECTION will be converted.

PLEASE MAKE SURE SOMEONE IS HOME

Conversion men will make their first home calls between 7 and 10 A. M. on the first day of conversion in your neighborhood.

It is particularly important that these men be able to get in to your home at this time.

He will turn off appliances which cannot be used until converted. He will also show you how you can use your gas range — TOP BURNERS ONLY — during the conversion period. The "Conversion Man" will carry an identification card.

The conversion of thousands of appliances is a tremendous job. It will take three days to convert every appliance in WOBURN and WINCHESTER, but only the last customers reached will have to wait that long.

Be sure to follow all instructions which have been delivered to you.

All normal adjustments will be made free of charge.

TAFT THANKED POLICE

Officers John Murray, Thomas Parsons and Roland Roy received recently personal letters from Senator Robert A. Taft, thanking them for their assistance with traffic and the crowd at the town hall during his visit to Winchester April 19. He commended them upon their efficiency and expressed himself as greatly pleased over the smoothness with which things were handled in Winchester.

Considerable damage was done the wiring of a new house on Blossom Hill road last week-end. The police were notified.

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL NEWS

The Winchester Hospital is observing National Hospital Day Monday May 12, by quietly and calmly operating its Class A Hospital through the confusion of the concluding building program.

It will not have Open House now but in the fall will open its doors to all who are interested. With suitable ceremonies it will celebrate then, the completion of the new and improved plant.

The Hospital belongs to its generous friends and well-wishers and invites them all to come in the fall. Attention is called at this time to the Hospital Day window in Winchester Center and to many posters in various other windows.

MISS HICKEY SOLOIST

Miss Dorothy Hickey of 40 Salem street, well-known soprano, will be one of the soloists at the presentation of "The Hound of Heaven" under the auspices of the Boston Catholic Theatre at New England Mutual Hall, Boston, Saturday evening, May 10. "The Hound of Heaven" is a biographical drama of the life of Francis Thompson, famous poet. A Woburn girl, Miss Mary Foley, is a member of the cast.

MRS. KIRKWOOD TO LECTURE

Mrs. Samuel B. Kirkwood of Swan road and George S. Coffin, secretary of the Boston Mycological Club, are lecturing this Saturday afternoon on "Mushroom Personalities" at Horticultural Hall in Boston under the auspices of the Mycological Club and the Massachusetts Horticultural Society. The lecture, which commences at 2:30, will be illustrated by Mrs. Kirkwood's colored slides of wild fungi in their native habitats. The public is invited to attend the lecture and to bring in wild mushroom specimens for identification.

Mrs. Kirkwood, who is widely known in Winchester through her garden club activity, has been elected a member of the Executive Committee of the Boston Mycological Club, of which Mrs. Ervin H. Lewis of Quincy is president.

In response to a complaint from the School Department, Officer John Elliott found that six windows had been broken on the east side of the Noonan School building last weekend. Apparently there was nothing accidental about the breakage as a good sized rock and a dead fish were found in the building beside the broken windows.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

The Winchester Garden Club met on Thursday, April 24, at the charming home of Mrs. Herbert T. West, the landscaping of the grounds and the originality of the hostess, shown in her unusual and particularly lovely flower arrangements in the entrance hall, living room and dining room, creating many pictures to remain in the minds of the members and their guests.

A panel of well-known professional hair-stylists judged the coiffures which were arranged on picked models by the student contestants. An outstanding student in her class at Mansfield, Miss McCully is serving her hairdressing apprenticeship at the Barbara Lee Studios on Main street in Winchester. Her many friends have kept her busy acknowledging their congratulations on her prize-winning performance.

MISS MCCULLY PRIZE WINNER

Miss Eleanor McCully, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. McCully of 410 Washington street and a student at the Mansfield Hairdressing School in Boston, was awarded first prize for the best hairdressing style in a recent contest for more than 900 student hairdressers from all over Massachusetts. She received a handsome gold wrist-watch.

COFFEE PATENT FOR HANEY

The United States Patent Office has granted a patent for improving the flavor of coffee to Mr. Earl P. Haney of Wedgemere avenue.

The flavor is improved by the addition of a composition to the coffee at the time it is ground, and the addition may be made by the manufacturer, or by the store-keeper, if the coffee is especially ground for the customer at the time of purchase. Householders could add the composition themselves if it were possible to buy it retail.

A number of firms are bidding for the rights to the composition which its inventor says will give us all a better cup of coffee, not only in restaurants but also in our homes. There will be less coffee grounds, and this is important to every housewife, since the current price of coffee is around a dollar a pound.

Mr. Haney spent a year working on the formula for his composition. Best known as a manufacturer of cosmetics for the past 35 years, he has been interested in patents intensively during the past two years.

He has already been granted three patents for special manicure products, and has filed with the Patent Office for a powdered mayonnaise-type dressing, one type for civilians and one for the Army.

ORDERED TO GERMANY

Captain Robert S. Hamilton, USAF, who has been stationed in Dayton, Ohio, has received orders for foreign service and will leave Camp Kilmer, N. Case No. 23431 Reg. THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS LAND COURT

To the Town of Winchester, a municipal corporation in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth, The Commonwealth of Massachusetts, ALICE E. PERKINS, SAMUEL E. PERKINS, CLINTON H. JONAS, DORA JONAS, JOSEPH GALIAZZO, DOROTHY GALIAZZO, JOSEPHINE F. MCGONAGLE, ARTHUR J. MCGONAGLE, et al., vs. the said Commonwealth of Massachusetts and said County of Middlesex; and to all whom it may concern.

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by HARRY E. CHEFALO, Trustee of the Nelson Realty Trust of said Winchester, to register and confirm his title in the following described land:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situated in said Winchester, bounded and described as follows: Southwesterly by North Border Road, 195.54 feet; Northwesterly by land now or formerly of JOSEPH GALIAZZO, 238.91 feet; Southeasterly by land now or formerly of JOSEPHINE F. MCGONAGLE, et al., 192.62 feet.

The above described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.

If you desire to make any objection or defense to said petition you or your attorney must file a written appearance and answer under oath, setting forth clearly and specifically your objections or defenses to each part of said petition, in the office of the Recorder of said County in Boston (at the Court House), on or before the nineteenth day of May next.

Unless an appearance is so filed by or for you, your default will be recorded, and said petition will be taken as confessed and will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

Witness, John J. Butler, Esquire, Judge of said Court, the seventeenth day of April in the year nineteen hundred and fifty-two.

Attest with Seal of said Court.

ART ASSOCIATION NEWS

The new exhibition of the Art Association at the library is an interesting contrast of pastel portraits and decorative small pictures of landscapes and abstract designs by Constance Pratt and Charles Turner respectively. Mr. Turner was the speaker of the evening, and a most stimulating coordination of painting and music was made through the visual reproduction of colored slides of painters and musical recordings. Mr. Turner used Debussy's "Reflections on the Water," for the French Impressionist period, Monet, Cezanne, etc. He used parts of Strauss' "Electra" for Expressionism in Painting, and "Essay for an Orchestra" for Contemporary Abstracts.

A lively discussion of the matter of dues, family memberships, etc., and of art classes to be held in the gallery, took place, and decisions will be voted upon at the fall meeting.

The portraits are lively and excellent likenesses and will be of interest to those considering portraits of their children.

WINCHESTER AGENCIES BENEFIT

CO-OPERATIVE BANK ELECTS OFFICERS

RAYMOND MERRILL
New President of Winchester
Co-operative Bank

At a recent Directors meeting of the Winchester Co-operative Bank, Raymond Merrill was elected President. Mr. Merrill is a Harvard graduate and a retired Trust Officer of the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company. He has been President of the Boston Bank Officers Association, Vice-President of the Boston Chapter of the American Institute of Banking, a Trustee of the Winchester Hospital and Secretary of the Town Finance Committee. He is also a Trustee of the Roxbury Home for Aged Women. Mr. Merrill has been a director of the Winchester Co-operative Bank since 1911, served as Treasurer for a period, and was elected Vice-President in 1946.

In accepting the Presidency, Mr. Merrill said, "I consider it a distinct honor to be elected President of this institution, which has done so much in encouraging thrift and home ownership in our beautiful town. It is my desire that the Winchester Co-operative Bank will continue to expand its scope of service to the members of our community."

VISIT ARBORLEDGE

This week you are again invited to see and walk under the beautiful Wisteria which this year is draped over a trellis and overhangs the Rose Garden at 238 Highland avenue.

It is resting a little and not quite so full of flowers as last year. Up towards the ledge you will see a magnificent group of Rhododendrons (The Torch Azalea) as it grows naturally in the Land of the Rising Sun. Professor Sargent of the Arnold Arboretum introduced this species from Japan in 1892.

The group you will see was planted about twenty-five years ago.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Regan of Burlington announce the engagement of their daughter, Geraldine Esther, to Mr. Rudolph Vozzella, of 1 Winter street.

WIN A PRIZE

At this season of the year, when Winchester is bursting into bloom and our whole town is welcoming the spring, it seems fitting that notice should be taken of our beautiful Common.

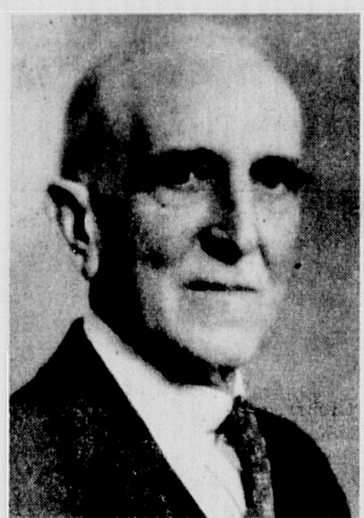

The Star offers to boys and girls a ten dollar prize for the best essay on "Our Beautiful Common."

Contestants should write their essay in one hundred words or less and on one side of the sheet only. There are no restrictions on how the subject shall be handled, and the Star reserves the right to publish the essays if it chooses. All essays shall be left at our office or mailed to the Star.

The contest shall close on May 27.

Tell us what you think of our beautiful Common and win a prize.

various phases of banking, foreign, domestic, commercial, and fiduciary. Mr. Farnsworth feels that he is entitled to a little let-up in his activities. He became Director of the Winchester Co-operative Bank in November, 1913, was elected Vice-President in July, 1937, and President in November, 1946.

ERNEST R. EUSTIS
Vice-President of Winchester
Co-operative Bank

Mr. Ernest R. Eustis, who has served as Treasurer for the past thirty-one years was elected Vice-President. Mr. Eustis has been active in civic affairs in Winchester for many years and is Secretary of William Parkman Lodge A. F. & A. M.

EDWARD D. DUNCAN
New Treasurer of Winchester
Co-operative Bank

Mr. Edward D. Duncan was elected Treasurer and Executive Officer. He joined the staff of the Winchester Co-operative Bank in 1941 having received his early training in one of Boston's leading financial institutions. Mr. Duncan has served as Assistant Treasurer since 1942 and as a director since 1948. He is a graduate of Winchester High School and Bentley School of Accounting and Finance, was a member of the First Cavalry Division during World War II, a past President of the Junior Executive Co-operative Bank Group, and is Treasurer of the Rotary Club of Winchester.

THOMAS F. RUHEN

Thomas F. Ruhen, formerly of Forest street and father of Mrs. John E. Burke, Jr., of 2 Chisholm road, died suddenly Friday morning, May 9, following a brief illness.

Mr. Ruhen was born in Roxbury and was at the time of his death the oldest living member of Roxbury Council, Knights of Columbus. He was a Fourth Degree member of the order, holding membership in Bishop Cheverus Assembly.

Besides his daughter in Winchester, Mr. Ruhen leaves a sister, Mrs. Thurbert Tubbs of Newton, and three grandchildren, Jean, Clair and David Burke, all of Winchester. The funeral was held Monday morning from the home of his daughter, with requiem high mass celebrated at St. Mary's Church. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

FORMER DOWNS ESTATE SOLD

The sale of the former Downs Estate, built as a residence by the late Jere Downs at the corner of Cambridge and Arlington streets opposite the Winchester Country Club, was announced this week. The transfer was made by the Armstrong Knitting Mills of Hyde Park, of which the late Robert W. Armstrong was head. DONOVAN — MURPHY

Multi-colored gladiolas and carnations decorated the altar of St. Charles Church in Woburn on Sunday afternoon, April 27, when Miss Dorothy Frances Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Murphy, of 30 Kilby street, Woburn, became the bride of Frederick James Donovan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy J. Donovan of 24 Wendell street. The Rev. Fr. James Garity performed the marriage ceremony at 2:30 o'clock, and the bridal music was played by Mrs. James Doherty, organist. Frank Flahive was the soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride had her twin sister, Miss Margery Murphy of Woburn, as her honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Frances Donaghey of Woburn, Mrs. Marilyn King and Mrs. Barbara Bates, both of Woburn and cousins of the bride; and the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Bernadette Haggerty of Winchester.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with a lace bodice and a full-length train. Her fingertip-length veil of French illusion was caught to a white satin helmet with a cluster of pale pink and white lilies at the back, and she carried the same flowers, combined with stephanotis.

All the bridal attendants wore ballerina-length dresses of pink or orchid nylon net over tulle with lace jackets. Their pink orchid net helmets were trimmed with clusters of deep-purple bows, matching their slippers, and their flowers were pink orchids and deep purple statice combined with ivy.

Harold Donovan of Winchester was best man for his brother and another brother, Frank Donovan of Woburn, ushered with Robert Murphy of Woburn, brother of the bride; and Arthur Haggerty of Winchester, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Golden Anchor in Danvers, the parents of both the bride and bridegroom assisting in receiving. Mrs. Murphy, mother of the bride, wore a rose crepe afternoon dress with a lace bodice and long white lace mitts. Her matching hat was trimmed with pale orchid flowers and she wore an orchid corsage of deep purple. Mrs. Donovan, the bridegroom's mother, also wore deep purple orchids with her navy blue print dress and hat of navy and white.

Mr. Donovan, who is a civil engineer, and his bride went to Quebec, Canada, for their wedding journey.

WISWELL — WETHERALD

There was Winchester interest in the marriage which took place at the Star of the Sea Church in Marblehead on Saturday afternoon, May 3, when Miss Joan Dunneport Wetherald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Royal W. Wetherald of Marblehead, became the bride of Byron Campbell Wiswell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Carlton Wiswell of Fletcher street and Marblehead Neck. Guests from Winchester were among those who attended the 4 o'clock ceremony and the reception at the Corinthian Yacht Club.

Miss Wetherald was attended by her sister, Miss Dorothy Wetherald, as maid of honor, and by six bridesmaids, Miss Ann-Eliza Wetherald of Boston, Miss Shelley Physioe of New York City, Miss Tamara Ushakoff of Beverly, and Miss Sandra Andrews, Mrs. Richard Lucas and Mrs. Ralph Magoon, all of Marblehead. The bride wore her grandmother's wedding gown of lace and ivory satin with an heirloom lace veil. The honor maid wore blue silk organza, and the bridesmaids wore identical dresses of indigo organza. George Carlton Wiswell, Jr., of Marblehead Neck was his brother's best man, and the ushers comprised James Wetherald, brother of the bride, Robert Bell, brother of the groom, and Peter Gray of Marblehead; Robert Clancy of Winthrop and Melborne Higgins of Water-town.

After a honeymoon spent yachting off the coast of Florida, Mr. Wiswell and his bride will live in Marblehead.

The bride, who made her debut in the 1950-51 season, attended Everett Country Day School and the Boston Museum of Fine Arts School. Mr. Wiswell attended Tabor Academy and was on the Tabor crew that went to England for the Henley Regatta several years ago.

His parents gave a buffet supper for the ushers and relatives and friends of the bridegroom the night before the marriage.

TO WED MAY 31

Miss Jeanne Hanington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Hanington of Somerville, formerly of Winchester, has chosen Saturday, May 31, at the date for her marriage to Robert Chincir, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Chincir of Portland, Me. The ceremony will take place at 4 o'clock in the afternoon at St. Polycarp's Church in Somerville.

Miss Hanington is well known among the town's young people, having graduated from Winchester High School in the class of 1950.

SCHOOL CLOSING DATE
FRIDAY, JUNE 13

The School Committee has approved Friday, June 13, as the official closing date for all public schools in Winchester.

BURKE — GANDLE

Miss Joyce Anne Gandle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick James Gandle of 304 Commonwealth avenue, Boston, was married to James Michael Burke, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James Michael Burke of Fairmount street, at St. Mary's Church Sunday afternoon, May 11. The Rev. John P. O'Riordan, pastor of the church, performed the 3 o'clock ceremony, for which the altar setting was white gladiolas. Miss Mary Callahan, church organist, played the wedding music and Joseph MacDonald of Wakefield sang "Paris Angelique".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride had her twin sister, Miss Margery Murphy of Woburn, as her honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Frances Donaghey of Woburn, Mrs. Marilyn King and Mrs. Barbara Bates, both of Woburn and cousins of the bride; and the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Bernadette Haggerty of Winchester.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with a lace bodice and a full-length train. Her fingertip-length veil of French illusion was caught to a white satin helmet with a cluster of pale pink and white lilies at the back, and she carried the same flowers, combined with stephanotis.

All the bridal attendants wore ballerina-length dresses of pink or orchid nylon net over tulle with lace jackets. Their pink orchid net helmets were trimmed with clusters of deep-purple bows, matching their slippers, and their flowers were pink orchids and deep purple statice combined with ivy.

Harold Donovan of Winchester was best man for his brother and another brother, Frank Donovan of Woburn, ushered with Robert Murphy of Woburn, brother of the bride; and Arthur Haggerty of Winchester, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Golden Anchor in Danvers, the parents of both the bride and bridegroom assisting in receiving. Mrs. Murphy, mother of the bride, wore a rose crepe afternoon dress with a lace bodice and long white lace mitts. Her matching hat was trimmed with pale orchid flowers and she wore an orchid corsage of deep purple. Mrs. Donovan, the bridegroom's mother, also wore deep purple orchids with her navy blue print dress and hat of navy and white.

Mr. Donovan, who is a civil engineer, and his bride went to Quebec, Canada, for their wedding journey.

ATHERTON — BUGBEE

Miss Margery Seymour Bugbee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bugbee of Symmes road, and Selwyn Ives Atherton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ives Atherton of Hanover, N. H., were married on Saturday afternoon, May 10, at 4 o'clock at the First Congregational Church by the minister, Dr. Howard J. Chidley. Lilies with cybottium fern and white stock made an attractive setting for the ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the Winchester Country Club.

Miss Bugbee was given in marriage by her father. Her princess style gown of blue satin was trimmed with embroidered French lace and she wore with it a matching lace cap, to which was caught a fingertip-length veil of imported illusion. Her flowers were white orchids.

Miss Lynne Atherton of Hanover, N. H., was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Denyse Wolff and Miss Nancy O'Rourke, both of Winchester; Miss Sally Maynard of Lexington and Miss Janet Ten Broeck of Newton Center.

All the bridal attendants wore ballerina-length cotton lace dresses trimmed with satin and carried lavender orchids, those of the bridesmaids being of deeper shade than those of the honor attendant. Andrew Stewart of Hanover, N. H., was the best man, and the ushers comprised Alan C. Bugbee, brother of the bride, and C. Philip O'Rourke, Jr., both of Winchester; Llewellyn Cole of Marblehead Neck and Philip Hugo of New York City.

After a wedding trip to New Hampshire Mr. Atherton and his bride will make their home at Staten Island, N. Y.

The bride was escorted from Winchester High School and attended Colby Junior College and the Garland School. Mr. Atherton graduated from Dartmouth College, class of 1951, and is a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

BRETTLE — BUDGELL

Miss Constance Budgell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Turner Budgell of Penn road, and Mr. Harry Maxwell Brettell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brettell of Melrose, were married Saturday afternoon, May 10, in the First Congregational Church, Bozeman, Idaho. The 3 o'clock ceremony was performed by Reverend Saul Miller, and a reception followed in the church parish house.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her white tulle gown had white lace flowers applied at the neck and hem line. With it she wore matching mitts and a fingertip-length veil of rose point lace and illusion net. She carried gardenias with a white prayer book.

Mrs. Lee Harrington of Melrose was honor attendant. She wore a gown of silver grey lace and carried lavender orchids. Mr. Lee Harrington was best man for Mr. Brettell.

After a wedding trip to Sun Valley, Idaho, Mr. and Mrs. Brettell will make their home in Boise.

Mrs. Brettell graduated from Winchester High School and Colby Junior College. Mr. Brettell graduated from Kimball Union and Northeastern University. He is now serving in the United States Air Force and is stationed at Mountain Home Base, Idaho.

The Baptist Church will be transformed to the "cock top" where performers and their friends will find a delicious buffet supper.

On Saturday morning, May 17th at 8 a. m. at the Immaculate Conception Church a Requiem High Mass will be sung in memory of William H. Costello son of Mrs. Mary B. Costello of 18 Border street, who was lost on the "USS Hobson".

Attending the Mass and representing the town were: Mr. McCrea, Commandant First Naval District, will be Captain J. P. Canty. In as much as two brothers, Robert and Warren Costello, are both overseas, Captains A. Hurd, Jr., U. S. A. and Captain Kenneth Benoit, U. S. A. F. will represent them, accompanied by Mrs. Kenneth P. CIRCUS TO CELEBRATE
EN KA'S 50th

Saturday, May 24th will see the greatest show ever produced in Winchester — the En Ka Circus. An added celebration this year is the 50th Anniversary of the founding of the En Ka Society. From a small High School Society it has grown to an active membership of 117 women, who with the help of their friends are once again running a Street Fair, the profits of which will be devoted to Winchester charities.

The grand parade will start at 10 a. m. led by the High School band, winding its way by the animal cages, the strong man, the freaks, the snake charmer, flying horses, and ending with the raising of the flag at the Town Hall.

Two flying trapeze will take care of those who like to ride Ferris wheels. The Octopus will be there for the more daring and for those who enjoy a gentle ride. The ever popular Merry-go-round.

Where you see Giraffes you'll see everything from wool for hooking rugs through baby gifts, aprons, and bibs for lobster-eaters. As you take a look at the "Fat Lady" you'll realize how she reached her astounding proportions for there you'll find lobster salad rolls, sandwiches made from sliced white meat of chicken, ham, peanut butter and chicken salad, to mention only a few kinds and a large variety of home made cakes.

On the stage of the Town Hall are the Circus's winter quarters. For sale are dishes, furniture, lamps, or any other item the performers have been willing to donate to Mrs. Daniel F. Barnard and her committee.

The Baptist Church will be transformed to the "cock top" where performers and their friends will find a delicious buffet supper.

LIGGETT — ALLEN

At a candlelight ceremony in Ripley Memorial Chapel of the First Congregational Church, on Saturday afternoon, May 10, Miss Ruth Bradford Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Sidney Allen of 393 Highland avenue, became the bride of Louis Kroh Liggett, 2nd, son of Mrs. Leigh B. Liggett of 12 Troy avenue, Waban, and the late Mr. Liggett. Dr. Howard J. Chidley read the service at 5:30 o'clock in a setting of white peonies, tulips and stock. J. Albert Wilson, church organist, played the bridal music.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Allen was attended by her sister, Mrs. Bradlee E. Gage of South Amherst, the former Elizabeth Allen.

The bride wore a gown of candlelight satin styled with a tight bodice and bouffant skirt extending into a long train. Her fingertip-length veil was caught to a matching cap trimmed with Venice lace. Her flowers were orchids and stephanotis arranged in a cascade bouquet.

The honor maid wore a dress of coral embroidered organza with flowers in her hair and carried a bouquet of African daisies and delphinium.

Frederick Appel Moore of Winchester was best man for Mr. Liggett and the ushers were John Cowley of Wrentham, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Bradley E. Gage of South Amherst, brother-in-law of the bride; John Swift of Medina, N. Y.; and Townsend Snow of Weston.

A reception was held after the ceremony in the church Parish House with the bridegroom's mother assisting in receiving. Mrs. Allen, mother of the bride, was escorted by her son, who was wearing a gown of white crepe and wore pink accessories and a corsage of pink valley orchids. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Liggett, wore white valley orchids with her rose crepe gown and matching picture hat.

After a brief wedding journey to Cape Cod Mr. and Mrs. Liggett will go on to Fort Sill, Oklahoma, where the bridegroom is on Army duty.

The bride is a graduate of Kendall Hall, Centenary Junior College and The Garland School. Mr. Liggett graduated from The Hill School, Pottstown, Pa., and attended Colgate University.

JOHN F. MADDEN

John F. Madden died suddenly on Tuesday morning, May 13th, after being stricken at his office. He was credit manager for Chandler and Company of Boston, where he had been employed for nearly 33 years.

He was born in Beverly 63 years ago, but has resided in Winchester at 3 Central street for the past 11 years.

Mr. Madden was president and director of the Retail Credit Association of Boston, and a former president of the New England Retail Credit Association. He was also a member and had formerly served as chairman of the operating council and executive committee of the Credit Bureau of Boston.

He was a veteran of World War I, serving as a Sergeant with the 26th Division 101st Field Artillery Battalion.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Hazel (Johnson) Madden, two sons, Richard J. and John A., and daughter Judith Ann all of this town. A brother, Richard T. Madden of Newton also survives.

The funeral services took place this morning, Friday, May 16th, from the Lane Funeral Home at 9 o'clock with a High Mass of Requiem held at St. Mary's Church at 10 o'clock.

Interment was in Wildwood cemetery.

CHANGE OF MEETING

The Selectmen will hold their meeting on Tuesday evening, May 20 instead of Monday evening, May 19.

SUCCESSFUL AIR RAID TEST HERE

Yesterday forenoon's test of the air raid proved a success so far as Winchester was concerned, and including the 42 towns and cities included in the test it was reported as very satisfactory. The test was held at 10:20 a. m. under the same conditions as prevailed a few weeks ago in the Winchester test.

As early as ten o'clock the pedestrians were almost entirely absent about the center, and auto traffic had noticeably thinned out. This was undoubtedly due to the publicity given the test, and many people stayed at home.

When the alarm was sounded, in the center at least, there were few moving cars and no one on foot. Drivers and passengers from the cars stopped their autos and took shelter in the center stores. Few bothered to use the accredited air raid shelters. The center presented a deserted aspect and the silence was remarkable for the fifteen minutes duration of the test.

Following the "all-clear" signal the deserted aspect of the center continued for some time, and it was not until after 12 o'clock that traffic again resumed its normal flow.

Only one criticism has been heard — the air raid signals could not be heard in all parts of the Town.

GRADE CROSSING CHANGE REQUESTED

Although little actual information regarding the elimination of the grade crossing is available, a report published in Boston papers this week states that the Boston & Maine Railroad has requested the Public Utilities Commission to move the order for the elimination from 18th place into 5th place. The Star receives little information regarding the work on the crossing. When the crossing is moved from 18th to 5th place means it will be

MAYTIME MUSICAL SONG CONTEST COMPLETED

The home of Mrs. Mary Ranton Witham, director of the Unitarian Choir, took on the appearance of a small music publishing concern on Monday evening this week when the manuscripts of the songs entered in the song-writing contest were collected and performed for the three judges who met to pick the winning numbers chosen to be on the program of this year's Maytime Musicals which is to be held on the two evenings of May 27 and May 28 at the Music Hall, to benefit the Unitarian Church.

The judges, Mr. Aram Johnian of E. C. Schirmer's; Mr. Austin Nanny, president of the Mystic Glee Club; and Mrs. Nanny, who has been associated with the musical aspect of radio work, had an interesting and difficult evening, for the material submitted was considered by them to be universally very good; however they finally chose three winning songs, which will not be publicly announced until their performance at the Musicals, although their composers have each been notified of the impending honor. The songs will be grouped together as part of the lively program being rehearsed by the members of the Unitarian Choir and friends for these popular evenings, which, as they have refreshments served as part of the program, bring to Winchester two entertainments which might very well be called its own "pops concerts". Interest and enthusiasm in the song contest has been so widespread that there is talk of making the contest an annual affair, and the sponsors of it hope that this will be an encouragement to those many song writers who spend so much time and effort on contributions which were not, this year, chosen to be performed.

REGIONAL CONFERENCE, S. O. I.

BOYS PLAN EPIPHANY SERVICE

The Eighth Grade boys are planning and will conduct the Worship Service for the Upper School in the Parish Hall of the Church of the Epiphany on Sunday, May 18, 1952, at 9:30 o'clock. Opening prayers will be led by John Tisdale; the closing prayers will be given by Allan Osborne. John Lynch will read the Scripture Lesson from Matthew 16: 13-28. The Girls' Choir will sing "The Church's One Foundation," "Let All Mortal Flesh Keep Silence," and "Oh, Master, Let Me Walk With Thee." The eighth grade girls will have charge of the altar.

As an appropriate climax to their year's study of the life of Christ, under the direction of their teacher, Mr. Benjamin T. Marshall, the boys will participate in a round table discussion of "Jesus and Our Faith." The boys taking part are: Robert Gardner, Bill Harlow, John Lynch, Robert Page, Ronald Parker, John Tisdale, Louis Towner, Peter Bramhall, Stephen Marshall, Allan Osborne, John Page, Harlow Russell, James Urmon and John Watkins.

This service, entirely planned by the students, is an innovation at Epiphany. Parents of Upper School students and interested parishioners are cordially invited.

Grand Knight Charles W. Craven of Winchester Council, K. of C., will be an official delegate to, and will serve on the committee for, the 57th annual State Convention of the Massachusetts State Council, Knights of Columbus, scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, May 17 and 18, at the Hotel Roger Smith in Holyoke.

Indians Win After Homer Tied Score in 9th

Winchester High scored two runs in the tenth inning to defeat Wakefield High 7-5 at Wakefield last Friday afternoon. It was a close call for the Indians, who had a 5-2 lead going into the last of the ninth, but a three-run homer sent the game into an extra inning.

It would have been a shame for Stowell Symmes to have lost that one, as he had pitched superb ball in giving up only four hits in 10 innings while striking out 11 batters and issuing only three bases on balls. In that ninth inning rally, Lepore bunched first base with a double on an error. After the next batter flied out, Robinson drew a base on balls. Melanson cracked a sharp hit to left field, and when Griffin missed connections on an attempted shoestring catch, the ball rolled to the fence for a home run, tying the game at 5-5.

The Indians struck right back in the tenth, under the direction of Dalton, who worked the pitcher for a base on balls as lead-off batter. Coon also waited him out carefully to draw what was only the third walk of the game by the Wakefield pitcher. DiIorio moved both runners along with a neat sacrifice. MacKenzie pinch hit and dropped a single over the infield to send Dalton home with the winning run. Coon moving up to third, McLaughlin flied deep to left field in foul territory and Coon raced home after the catch. Symmes bore down nicely in the bottom half of the tenth to retire the first two batters, nicked the third to put a runner on base, but retired the next batter on a routine ground ball to win a well-deserved victory.

COMPLETING WORK AT GRINNELL

Two Winchester girls, Anne Tonn of 53 Lawson road, and Mary Fisher of 25 Stowell road, are seniors at Grinnell College, Iowa, who are completing work toward graduation June 8.

Miss Fisher, a graduate of Moline Senior High School, Moline, Ill., is a member of the Grinnell college chapter of Mortar Board, national honor society for college women. She is business manager of Cyclone, college yearbook; vice-president of Women's Honor G, athletic honorary society for women; and has been a YWCA cabinet member for two years. A Dean's list honor scholar, she has served as a member of the administrative staff of her residence cottage, and in her junior year was co-social chairman of her class.

Miss Tonn is a graduate of the House in the Pines School, Norton. President of the Grinnell International Relations Club, she is also secretary of the Young Republicans Club, has served on various committees for the campus YWCA for three years, and has been a member of the Women's Recreation association for two.

Winchester Country Club held a New Members Day Wednesday, featuring a four-hole tournament in the afternoon, followed by dinner and an interesting discussion of the relative merits of teams in the John Abbott Tourney. The Star rather likes former champion L. J. Scott, and Otis Leary, high school golf coach, who are collaborating. Of course if "Roc" McTigue and Leo Garvey team up we will have to give the matter careful thought.

LITTLE LEAGUE THEATRE NIGHT SUCCESSFUL

Through the generous offer made to Little League by Mike Stranger, Manager of the Winchester Theatre, the Little League was substantially strengthened last Friday night. Little League received the proceeds from every ticket sold in advance for that evening in addition to having an opportunity just before the main feature, to describe Little League aims and objectives and to ask the audience to participate in the baseball program by placing their contributions in collection boxes which were passed through the audience by a group of Little League directors.

The Little League program which had been advertised for several weeks on the screen, also through the compliments of the Winchester Theatre, lasted approximately twenty minutes. Following an introduction by Mr. Stranger, Charles A. Murphy, Sr., talked on Little League which led up to the spot lighting of four Winchester youngsters modeling the new Little League uniforms. The uniforms were modeled by Doug Martell, Yanks uniform; Dick Carter, Dodgers uniform; Phil Nichols, Red Sox uniform and Joel Peckham, Braves uniform. Lew Warsky, Chairman of the Procurement and Maintenance of Equipment, supervised the showing of the uniforms.

The Little League organization is most grateful to the Management of the Winchester Theatre for the opportunity extended to them and to the generous audience who attended the show.

The number of boys trying out was reduced last week by notices sent to many of the boys who will have to practice up a little more during this next summer and try again next spring when new positions will be opened and it is hoped more teams will be included in the program.

Auction of players will have been completed by next Monday, May 19th, and the League teams thereby chosen. This will permit the managers to work out with their teams for two weeks before the opening double header on May 30th at Manchester Field which the School Committee has made available for Little League use for this year. Shore Road Field has been abandoned as being unsafe for play due to considerable shifting of the surface through the past winter.

BEFORE THE PROM

Miss Marjorie Dexter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dexter of 18 Yale street, entertained for two of her classmates and friends for dinner last Saturday night before the Junior-Senior Prom. It was a gay affair, with an accordionist from the Phil Salmun Studio playing request numbers throughout dinner and until the guests left for the dance.

TO PLAY AT LONGY SCHOOL

Three Winchester youngsters will perform in the recital to be held next Saturday afternoon as a part of the annual Open House of the Longy School of Music in Cambridge. The public is invited to observe the work of the Preparatory and Primary departments of the school in classes and lessons during the morning and to attend the recital at 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon. Winchester children who will play on this program are Judith D'Errio, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emilio D'Errio of 14 Everett street, and David and Graham Govoni, sons of Mr. and Mrs. George Govoni of Robinson Circle.

WINCHESTER BEAT WOBURN IN TRACK

Winchester High won its track meet with Woburn High on Manchester Field last Friday afternoon, 49-28. Woburn was disappointed not to be able to use its good boys in more events, but Winchester competed under official Headmaster's regulations, which limit the number of events in which an individual may participate. It is hard to see how the Orange could have made up 21 points under any conditions.

As it was Winchester really had five points more, being disqualified in the relay after an easy victory when Starter and Referee Eddie Brooks of Medford ruled the Indians hadn't passed the baton on one leg in the regulation distance. If the meet had depended on this event, there would have been quite a ruckus over this decision.

Doug Hawkins, Bruce Cortell and Dud Samoiloff were double winners for Winchester, with Hawkins continuing to improve in the shot with a heave of 44 ft 1 1/2 in. best of the year. The summary:

WINCHESTER THIRD IN RELAYS

Winchester High placed third in the Class D division of the Inter-scholastic Relay Carnival at Belmont last Saturday, Concord's well-balanced team placing first, with Natick taking second. Better luck work in the 440 yard relay might have improved the Indians' third place position in this event, while in the 880 Winchester won handsily in its heat, which unfortunately was the slow one of the two. Since the places were awarded by times and the Indians undoubtedly could have gone faster in their heat had they not pressed, it is possible that they could have challenged Natick more closely for top honors in this event.

In the 440 yard event any chance Winchester had of being up there vanished when Samoiloff and Wright collided in the baton exchange after the second leg. Wright sustained a leg injury that slowed him up appreciably and prevented Cortell from pulling into better than 3rd place. The Indians' time was 46.6s. Nick Fitzgerald ran the first of the four 110 yard legs.

Winchester won its heat in the 880 without too much trouble, but as so often happens when a team isn't pressed all the way, its time wasn't good enough to displace Natick's gures in the faster of the two heats. Hawkins, Fitzgerald, Cortell and Samoiloff ran the 220 yard legs in that order, turning in 1m 38s for the Indians' best time of the year.

Despite a corking anchor leg by big "Doug" Hawkins, Winchester wasn't placed in the mile event. Rotundi, Valcour and Perkins were the first three runners. In the two mile the best the Indians could do was 4th, with Swonger, Hooper, Sharon and Nelson running in that order. Winchester had to scratch its entry in the shuttle relay because of Wright's injury, the rules of the meeting forbidding substitution for any runner once his entry is received.

READING, 13; WINCHESTER, 10

Reading High defeated Winchester High 13-10 in a wild and woolly ten-inning game at Manchester Field on Tuesday afternoon. Although the locals' pitching was not good, it was the mental lapses and the failure of key batters to come through that cost the Red and Black a victory. The Indians reached a new high in frustration when they left 17 runners stranded on the bases. Winchester filled the bases on four different occasions and yet were able to score only one run in these four possible big innings.

It is to the credit of the Indians that they kept battling from behind to tie the score until the fatal tenth inning and even in that inning, they left the bases full without scoring. Trailing 10-6 entering the last of the ninth, the locals tied the score on hits by McLaughlin, Belino, and Keyes, a hit batsman, and an error. Stowell Symmes pitched the tenth and had hard luck as he had two out and two strikes on the batter with nobody on base and yet Reading scored three runs to win.

MUSIC ORGANIZATIONS RECEIVED HIGH RATINGS

Music organizations from the junior and senior high schools were given high praise by the judges for their part in the state music festival held at Everett on May 3. According to rating sheets received this week, five of the organizations were placed in Group I, superior or highest rating; and one was classified in Group II, excellent or second highest rating. In order to secure a rating of superior a musical organization must receive a score of between 91 and 100 from the judges; an excellent rating is given for scores between 81 and 90.

In commenting on the high school band, the judge noted its fine rhythm and phrasing, excellent tone quality, and brilliant interpretation. The high school orchestra, also rated superior, was commended for its fine discipline, superior precision, and well developed nuances. Another superior rating went to the junior high school orchestra whose performance was termed very effective, sincere, and convincing.

Among the choruses, the Octette received a superior rating. The judge noted that it had fully met the high standard set for it as a special group. In giving the girls' glee club the coveted superior rating, the judge noted that its performance was excellent and that it sang difficult numbers with ease. The junior high school boys' glee club, rated excellent, was complimented on its splendid spirit, appearance, and effort.

In addition to leading their own groups, Miss Anifantis and Mr. Felmet conducted numbers presented by the massed choruses and massed bands.

WINCHESTER TENNIS ASSOCIATION

A Juniors' Tournament will be played on the Packer Courts this Friday afternoon after school for all town children fifteen years of age or younger. The finalists and semi-finalists will be sponsored by the association in the next Longwood Juniors' Tournament and medals will be given to winners in both the boys' and girls' events.

Sue Morton invaded Longwood last weekend and went to the semi-finals in the annual Wightman Tournament for girls eighteen and under. In the doubles contest, Miss Morton combined with Ruth Jeffreys to win. Winchester can feel proud that it houses such an outstanding representative. Congratulations Sue.

Here is a reminder to you to be sure to get your name in for this year's Spring Tournament. The same events and prizes of last year will exist. Please contact Art Hills or anyone in the association well in advance of the starting day which will be Saturday, May 24. Next week's column will carry more on the details of the matches. Although the tennis clinics ended last week, tennis has just begun for some seventy town youngsters. Parents are asked to encourage this new interest. This tournament today and tomorrow for the children is one way. A knowledge of the game isn't particularly necessary; enthusiasm is. Joe Corish, last week's instructor, has personally offered a reward for the boy or girl showing the most improvement. If Mr. Corish and many others are willing to give up time, effort and money just to see children they don't even know take to tennis, the least parents can do is help.

Wednesday mornings are ladies days at the courts. Over twenty women, their kids and a sitter were present last week.

Several articles were stolen from a car parked all day last Friday in the parking lot near Manchester Field. Among the things taken were a cigarette lighter and several chrome handles pulled from the dash of the car, owned by John J

JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM A GALA AFFAIR

An evening in Paris was the theme of the 1952 edition of the junior-senior prom held in the high school gymnasium on the evening of May 10. A gay Parisian motif characterized the attractive decorations which were highlighted by a huge replica of the Eiffel Tower. Music by Chappie Arnold's orchestra, long a favorite with prom goers, kept the juniors and seniors and their guests stepping from shortly after eight o'clock until eleven-thirty.

Adding to the glamour of the occasion was the presentation of the King and Queen of the Prom and their Court, students chosen from the junior-senior classes on the basis of good looks, poise, and personality. Introduced appropriately by Principal Grindle, they were as follows: King — Prep Keyes, Queen — Joan Flaherty, Court — Midge Dexter, Dorothy Lazzaro, Janice Lynch, Betsy Freeman, Ron MacKenzie, Douglas Hawkins, and Charles Murphy.

In the receiving line were Principal and Mrs. Wade L. Grindle, Superintendent and Mrs. Forbes H. Norris, Chairman of the School Committee, Charles Jellison, and Mrs. Jellison, Mrs. Mary Neagle, Mr. Robert Conlon, Michael Neagle, Patricia McKenna, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Wheaton, Fred Wheaton, and Barbara Hammett. The Prom Committee and its advisers, Mrs. Ella Stacy and Mr. Arthur Butters, are to be commended for the excellent manner in which the arrangements were handled. Included in the committee were Betty Moss, chairman, Milton Brown, Bruce Corthell, Joan O'Neil, Dudley Samoiloff, Audrey Smith, Becky Benson, Mary Cullen, Helen Herbig, Gloria Mucera, and Sheomaker, Joan McNeill, Fred Wheaton, Sandra Davis, Paul Mahoney, and Todd Wallis.

Led by Doug Hawkins, the usher committee was composed of Bob Forester, Bob Traut, Phil Ives, Bob Johnson, Bob Derro, John DiIorio, Norman Howard, Phil Gillette, Stowell Symmes, David Russo, Roger Rotundi, Carl Zimmerman, Tom Wilder, and Tom Gallagher.

Other faculty members who assisted the Committee were Mrs. Martha Genicot, Miss Barbara Blackstone, and Mr. Edward Bartlett.

Look how little it cost Bob to make his own "big break".

Loan over $500 — $5 per $100 per year
Loan under $500 — $6 per $100 per year
(Minimum charge — $8)

Perhaps a personal loan could help you "go places" in your job. Get that needed cash from us . . . without co-signers, without red tape.

The Day Bob Rode a Winner to Work

I knew Bob was the kind of husband who could go "big time". All he needed was a break.

"I'll never make it," Bob said one day. "Everybody at the office out-talks me. They get the raises, I get the run-around."

"There's a way to stop that," I said. "We'll get a personal loan at the bank. Just enough money to pay for a course in that new sales-training school."

We went to the bank early the next day. They gave us the loan without a bit of fuss. Bob enrolled in the night course at the school that evening.

Yesterday, Bob did it. He came home beaming. "I just copped off the biggest account in the territory," he said. "That course sure taught me how to sell!"

"Wonderful," I said, thinking of how discouraged Bob was a few weeks ago.

"My first month's commissions will more than pay off the loan," he said.

"And honey, from there on in . . . we're ridin' a winner!"

All names are fictitious, but the situation happens every day.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST, WINCHESTER

Sunday Services at 11 a. m.
Sunday School is held at the same hour as the church service.
Wednesday testimonial meeting 8 p. m.
Reading room, 5 Winchester terrace (off Thompson Street). Open daily except Sundays and holidays from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m.

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the Lesson-Scripture to be heard at Christian Science services next Sunday. Among the points brought out will be the necessity of discerning the spiritual facts about life, in order that corruption and mortality may be put out of incorporation. And this mortal life, if so be that the Spirit of God dwells in you.

One of the passages read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be: "The evident fact of man's immortality will become more apparent, as material beliefs are given up and the immortal facts of being are admitted." (p. 428).

Among the Bible selections is this one from 1 Corinthians: "For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality." (1 Cor. 15:53).

ANNUAL MEETING OF TUBERCULOSIS ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Winchester Tuberculosis Association was held at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Sanford M. Moses, 8, 1045 a. m. There were six board members and three workers from Middlesex Health Association present.

At this meeting local tuberculosis needs are reviewed by the board. After discussing various projects the board voted to budget for the following needs:

1. Film for use in an X-ray program for the high school juniors.
2. Health books for the Winchester Public Library.
3. Seal sale expenses.
4. Rehabilitation work for a Winchester citizen at the Middlesex Sanatorium.

Miss Elizabeth Myers, rehabilitation counselor at the Middlesex Sanatorium, gave a brief talk on her work at the sanatorium. She said in many cases the patient is unable to return to his former work and must be retrained in a new field in order to return to normal living. This work is made possible by your seal sale dollars. We are grateful to the people of Winchester for their continued support, and we feel that they are making a real contribution toward the fight to eradicate tuberculosis.

The officers for the coming year were announced. They are as follows: Chairman — Mrs. Henry E. Moffette.
Treasurer — Mrs. Franklin J. Lane.
Board Members — Mrs. Richard J. Clark, Mrs. K. Foster Cleaves, Mrs. James H. Coon, Mrs. John I. Donovan, Mrs. Sanford H. Moses, Mrs. Harlow Russell, Mrs. William D. Spaulding, Mrs. Joseph W. Worthen, Retiring Members — Mrs. A. P. Aitken, Mrs. Chester Porter and Mrs. Mary Carpenter.

It was voted to appoint Mrs. Mary Carpenter a life member.

LOCAL RED CROSS TRANSPORTS LIVING EYE TISSUE

An emergency call from a large Boston hospital this week sent Gerald Hills, Winchester Red Cross Motor Corps driver, on an errand of mercy that meant the difference between darkness and light.

Mr. Hills met a Boston Motor Corps driver at Winchester railroad station to carry the cornea transplant the second lap of a speedy relay to Lowell, where a patient was hospitalized awaiting the operation.

Motorcycle escorts met Mr. Hills at the Lowell line to speed him to the hospital.

ART ASSOCIATION

The Members Exhibition of the Winchester Art Association went to the gallery of the Marblehead Art Association at their invitation for two weeks in May. It will be returned to the Library Gallery on Monday, and members can call for their pictures on Tuesday, May 20th.

STAFF AND KEY

A meeting of the Winchester Staff and Key Society was held Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Mardulier, Woodside road, for the purpose of electing officers for the coming year.

The following officers who had been selected by a nominating committee were unanimously voted into office. President, Miss Marjorie McGaw, Lloyd street, Winchester; Vice-President, James L. Livingston of Cambridge; Secretary, Joan Zimmerman, Highland avenue, Winchester; and Treasurer, Margaret Hodgdon, Winchester Arms, Winchester.

A vote of thanks was given to the outgoing officers for their excellent work during the past year and the many hours spent for the benefit of the society. These officers were Mrs. Henry Fernald of M. Pleasant street, Gordin Bennett, Vice-President, and Lucia Wright, Secretary.

A motion was made and passed to produce one of the Gilbert and Sullivan operettas in the fall of this year, and a committee suggested to select a choice of three operettas to be voted on at the next meeting. The committee will be appointed by the president.

Doris Zimmerman, of Highland avenue, Winchester, was appointed chairman of a committee to procure new subscribing members, and all those interested in seeing new productions of the Staff and Key will please get in touch with Miss Zimmerman by calling Winchester 6-2805.

It was decided that the group would have an outdoor picnic at Crane's Beach next month, the definite date to be announced shortly.

After the business meeting, Joseph Hancock, of Danvers gave an informal entertainment, accompanying himself on the banjo. He sang several numbers from the various Gilbert and Sullivan operettas, as well as many verses of some old sea chanteys and some of the popular songs from other musical shows.

Refreshments were served to the members with Miss Joan Zimmerman presiding, ably assisted by other members of the group.

Orders for the records from the 1952 production of the Staff and Key Society, "A Waltz Dream", with music by Oscar Straus, may be given to Mrs. Francis J. Mardulier, Winchester 6-1542-M.

RAINBOW GIRLS

On Thursday, May 8, Winchester Assembly, No. 50, Order of Rainbow for Girls put on the initiatory degrees for the Mystic Valley Lodge of Masons in Winchester. Linda Louise Leavitt, Barbara Melatchy, and Sandra Nelson of Winchester are our new members.

In April, the assembly put on the degree for Mount Horeb Lodge in Woburn. At that time, Andrea Simpson and Marion Fish of Winchester and Shirley Newman of Woburn became Rainbow Girls. During the several other initiations which have been held throughout the spring term, Call Cullen, Elizabeth Ann Kehoe, Constance Harris, Diane Harris, Elaine Manning and Lynn Robinson have been brought into the assembly.

The spring term, under the leadership of Worthy Advisor Blanche Hanlon and Worthy Associate Advisor Dorothy Dobbins has been very successful. The ritual work has been near perfection, the spirit of the girls has been excellent, and both Blanche's project and Jane Robinson's project for Grand Assembly have received marvelous support.

There will be a public installation held on Friday, May 23, at 8:00 p. m. in the Masonic Apartments in Winchester. The officers for the term from June through September will be installed. The public is cordially invited to attend.

BOARD OF SURVEY

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Survey of the Town of Winchester, Massachusetts, will give a public hearing in the Selectmen's Room in the Town Hall on Monday the 26th day of May, 1952, at 8 o'clock P. M., upon the petition of Harry B. McCracken, Trustee for Nelson Realty Trust, for approval of a plan filed with said petition, for the discontinuing of a portion of a private way known as FRANKLIN ROAD, previously approved by the Board of Survey.

Prior to the hearing the plan may be examined at the office of the Town Engineer.

By Order of the Board of Survey, this fifth day of May, 1952.

NINE GARDENS OPEN

Nine unusual and lovely gardens, with the added touch of appropriate table and flower arrangements set in various nooks or terraces, from a formal garden, great sweep of green gardens above the Country Club, to fragrant woodsy garden spots — will be open to the public on Wednesday afternoon, May 21, from 1 to 4 o'clock, by the Winchester Home and Garden Club. In case of bad weather, the gardens will be open on the following day. Route Charts may be obtained from any garden.

This delightful spring garden pilgrimage on Wednesday will not only provide a pleasant afternoon for garden lovers, but it will also benefit the Garden Club Service program of the Club, for all proceeds will supply materials for horticultural therapy in Bedford and at least eleven local veterans' hospitals. The fund is used for holiday decorations, for vines and shrubs and plantings, for greenhouses and seeds which bring pleasure to the patients in these hospitals.

Mrs. George E. Connor is general chairman of Open Gardens, and her committee includes Mrs. Alexander Atkes, Miss Louise Bancroft, Mrs. Robert Bayles, Mrs. Frederick Cole, Mrs. Edward Mansfield. Hostesses at the Gardens that afternoon will be Mrs. Rowland Patrick, Mrs. John I. Donovan, Mrs. Joseph McCauley, Mrs. Albert Parker, Mrs. Edward Newhall, Mrs. George French, Mrs. Everett Gray, Mrs. Edward McDevitt, Mrs. Marshall Pihl, Mrs. Harold M. Jones, Mrs. George LeMay, Mrs. Oleott Hooper, Mrs. William Wightman, Mrs. Charles Hart, Mrs. Roger Burgoyne, Mrs. William Holdich, Mrs. Frank Robinson.

The committee begs all those who visit the gardens to wear low heeled shoes, in deference to the lawns and gardens which the nine generous hostesses have opened to the public for the benefit of Veterans' Service. Pictures of the gardens have been taken for the Club by Mr. James Jenkins.

Mrs. Edwin Chesterman's backyard setting is a small, compact garden ideally suited to a neat gray Cape Cod home. Her garden at 229 Mystic Valley Parkway will be one of the nine gardens opened, and she will show how a Sunday morning "brunch" may be set up for a family group. Not far away and next on the tour, is the fragrant, woodsy garden and hillside walk of Mrs. Gretchen West, 24 Mason street. Here a tea party

EXHIBITION AND TEA

On Friday afternoon and evening, May 23rd, the Winchester Studio Guild will hold its biennial exhibition and tea at the studio, 9 Mt. Vernon street.

This organization was founded in 1939, growing out of a group in the Fortnightly. Mrs. Dorothy Howard, Mrs. Adelaide Bratt, Mrs. Geneva Underwood, Mrs. Clare Curtis, Mrs. Kenneth Hall were among the original members.

Under the leadership and instruction of Elizabeth Lobingier, the quality and originality of the work of the members has steadily improved. This year's exhibit reflects high credit upon the organization and upon its leader.

Committees for the exhibition and tea include:

- Decorations
Mrs. George A. Marks, Chairman
Mrs. Charles A. Underwood
Mrs. Milton Leslie Brown
Mrs. C. S. Luitwieler, Jr.

Friends of the members are cordially invited to the exhibition and tea on Friday afternoon and evening, May 23rd.

The exhibition will be open to the public on Saturday, May 24th, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

JAPANESE FESTIVAL

On Wednesday, November 19, the Women's Association of the First Congregational Church will hold its annual fair, having chosen as the theme a gay and decorative Japanese Festival.

The energetic and capable Mrs. Clarence Wickerson is general chairman of the Festival, with Mrs. Charles Crede in charge of decorations, Mrs. Jacob Van Vloten, Posters, and Mrs. David Choate, Jr., Publicity.

Everyone will be interested to know that the popular Opportunity Shop will be reopened this year under the able chairmanship of Mrs. Frank Creelman. It is suggested that the Opportunity Shop be kept in mind when sorting out your clothing this spring and summer.

Only two fires were reported over the past week-end, the first being Friday afternoon at 1:19, a brush fire near the watch-hand factory on Washington Street. The second alarm came at 5:30 Saturday afternoon for another brush fire at about the same location as the first.

WASHINGTON MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

The final meeting of the year for the Washington School Mothers' Association will be held on Tuesday, May 20, in the school auditorium. At 2:30 p. m. the Ways and Means Committee under its chairman, Mrs. James Bogue, will sponsor a food sale at which members may purchase a variety of home-baked goods; a special feature will be a 12-pound ham which has been donated by Lynch's Market.

At 3:00 the program of the afternoon will start with the mothers being entertained by the Girls' Octette from the Winchester High School under the direction of Miss Eleanor Anfantis. This group, which performed so well recently as guests at the spring concert of the Mystic Glee Club, is always worth hearing. After the performance by the Octette, the business of the annual meeting will be conducted; officers for next year will be elected. Tea will be served at the close of the business meeting.

During the year the Mothers' Association under the chairmanship of Mrs. Edward Morse have sponsored four bowling teams which have met weekly on Thursday evenings. All the bowlers have been most enthusiastic about this new activity and are looking forward to another season of keen competition next year. As a wind-up to the year's program the teams will enjoy a banquet at the Colonial Country Club on June 5. The following have bowled 100 or over once or more during the season:

The Winchester Auxiliary of the M.S.P.C.A. held its annual meeting at the home of Miss Mary Alice Fitch, 14 Sheffield West, on May 8th, at 2:30 P.M. The President, Mrs. John H. Clarke, presided and the following slate of officers was presented by Mrs. Mildred Noyes, chairman of the nominating committee: Pres., Mrs. John H. Clarke; Vice Pres., Mrs. Albert Wilson; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Alfred H. Hildreth; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Gladys M. Folts; Treasurer, Mrs. George H. Reed; Publicity, Mrs. Mildred H. Noyes; Courtiers, Mrs. Anthony M. Duquette, The Directors: Miss Mary Alice Fitch, Mrs. Howard P. Wright and Mrs. William N. Beggs. A vote was taken and the above were elected for the year 1952-53.

Mrs. Clarke brought up a matter of interest and importance to the Society. Miss Mary Alice Fitch very generously offered her home to be open on Wednesday, May 21, at 2:45 p.m., for the benefit of the Winchester Auxiliary. At that time Mrs. Herbert Lamson has graciously offered to comment on Miss Fitch's beautiful Chinese articles of Furniture, China and Costumes, and Miss Lamson, Miss Fitch and Miss Haves will wear Chinese dress. A "tea" will follow. It is hoped many friends will attend this delightful affair.

Mrs. Reed, chairman of the fair to be held May 28 at the home of Mrs. George Connor, 403 Main street, spoke further on details of the "tea" to be held in connection with it. The proceeds from this will go toward payment on the Taylor Memorial animal cage at the Angell Memorial Hospital.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Mrs. Clarke introduced Mr. John C. MacFarlane, who spoke on "Live Stock Protection" and gave a most interesting and vivid description of his work in this field. For twenty-six years he has been trying to have people realize that all animals have feeling and that farm animals suffer much more than cats or dogs. He said that 40,000,000 pigs die each year out of 180,000,000 born, and no one is concerned. The Humane Society agents are not equipped to do anything. Dr. Francis Rowley, deceased, formerly head of the Angell Memorial Hospital, and Mr. Henry Berg were the only two men who ever did anything. Mr. Berg started the Humane Society because of live stock abuse. Dr. Rowley wrote articles on abuse forty years ago, but no one was ready to go on with the work.

When Mr. MacFarlane first came East at Dr. Hansen's request he found the Brighton Stock Yards in very bad condition. They were dirty and the animals were treated cruelly. Now, after one and a half years since Mr. MacFarlane has worked with the Brighton Stock Yards and the president in an educational capacity, these yards are one of the best in the world. They have been revamped, and ramps with steps installed. Everyone thought this idea was ridiculous, but it was tested by the animals and it has worked.

Mr. MacFarlane has shown the farmer how the bruising of pigs causes loss of money, so now many of them do not kick their pigs or cattle. Three states, Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Vermont have joined Mr. MacFarlane to help against the abuse of farm animals. He said that in every 12 month period enough meat has been wasted because of abuse to the animals to feed 500,000 people for one year.

The young people, 4-H Clubs, agricultural schools, etc., are working with Mr. MacFarlane, and each Friday night over WBZ-TV he has the program called "The Animal Fair," demonstrating the effect of the method of kindness on animals. At the close of this fascinating and informative address, the society voted to give Mr. MacFarlane $50.00 for his work.

Following the meeting members enjoyed an informal hour greeting Mr. MacFarlane and friends, while a delicious "tea" was served by Miss Fitch.

MRS. CUSACK ACCOMPLISHED MISSION

Was Women's Director for State Ike Campaign

With the closing of the Boston office used by the women workers for General Eisenhower during the campaign that preceded the primaries, a news story by Alta Maloney appeared in the Boston Traveler detailing some of the activities of a Winchester woman, Mrs. William C. Cusack of Lakeview road, who was director of the women and who last January 1 was given the assignment to "get out the vote."

In her article headed "Bay State Women Pour Tidal Wave of Coffee to Sweep Ike on to Victory," Miss Maloney writes in part:

"Looking back on the telephone chain-calling, baby-sitting, coffee-pouring, signature collecting and the driving of voters to the polls, Mrs. Cusack feels the women can say 'Mission Accomplished'."

"Back in Eisenhower headquarters, are signature forms under 'Eisenhower for President' with the names of 200,000 voters who pledged themselves to vote for the N.A.T.O. commander. Thousands more are in local headquarters throughout the state."

"These the Director (Mrs. Cusack) hopes will be added to many more from all the states to be pasted together at the Republican national Convention in July 'so that there will be miles of names for Ike'."

"The idea being: 'We are confident that the delegates-at-large will take notice of the vote in Massachusetts and abide by it on the first ballot.'"

Among the women singled out by Mrs. Cusack for special praise was "Mrs. George Bradley of Cambridge, formerly of Winchester, (who) as director of meetings in the State had charge of the coffee hours which went on morning, afternoon and even after dinner, with the state delegates on hand to meet the voters."

"She figures on the basis of incomplete returns that more than 3,000 women were contacted through coffee hours."

"We don't have to tell Eisenhower to the voters of Massachusetts, Mrs. Cusack says. 'The voters chose him. We just helped make it possible for them to show us by getting out and voting.'"

"Mrs. Cusack even had earrings which said 'Ike'."

"She stopped wearing them though when she overheard her husband saying, 'Betty's so full of Eisenhower it's running out of her ears.'"

FIRE AT WILDE HOME

Fire did some damage to the home of Mr. W. Allan Wilde, well-known local insurance man, last Thursday afternoon, May 15. The fire was at 4:14. The Wilde home is located at 9 Edgell road and the fire was at the rear of the house facing on Main street. It was confined to the gutter, overhang of the roof and to a section of the roof.

Because of the contour of the land on Edgell road, the firefighters experienced some difficulty in getting at the fire from that street, and found they could work best from the aerial ladder on Main street.

During the fire, in backing up to make a hydrant, Engine 1 collided with a Police Cruiser, parked in such a way as to prevent traffic from interfering with the firefighters' work. The front of the cruiser was damaged but no one was injured.

SCOUTING ROUND-UP SATURDAY

The corner of Boston avenue and College avenue at Medford Hills will be a busy place this Saturday, May 17th, as 1500 Scouts and Cubs from Medford, Stoneham, Woburn, Winchester and Burlington present their 20th annual Scouting Round-Up in Cousins Gym at Tufts College before an estimated 5,000 people.

The afternoon program will start promptly at 1:30 with a welcome by Mr. Harrison F. Lyman, Jr., Chairman of the Winchester Board of Selectmen. Then the boys will present a fast-moving program of events, to be followed by the hit motion picture, "Winchester '73," starring James Stewart.

Mr. Harry P. Burden, Dean of Tufts College, will open the evening program at 7:00, in which the competition finals will be interspersed with feature events.

Mr. Earl P. Haney of Winchester, a former cowboy from Broken Bow, Nebraska, who was once known as "Prairie Duke," will present fifteen minutes of fast-moving western entertainment, and Troop 7 Winchester Scouts, will offer the specialty, "Casey at the Bat." There will also be a personal appearance of a Boston Braves player.

A beautiful and impressive "Court of Honor" ceremony will then be conducted for those Scouts who have attained during the past season the highest rank in Scouting, the Eagle award. Winchester Eagle Scouts who will participate in this ceremony are Henry Hooper, Earl Carter, John Becker, Stanley Mullen, Robert Gaffney and Theodore Elliott, Jr.

Rally awards will be presented to the boys who win the various competitions throughout the show. Fifty-six different booths will be on display in the huge "baseball cage" adjoining the gym, including those of Winchester Girl Scouts, Winchester Civil Defense and Winchester Red Cross.

Mr. James Muncester of Winchester, Chairman of this year's Scouting Round-Up, has announced that this year's affair promises to be one of the largest ever held.

MARYCLIFF GUILD

The regular meeting of the Marycliff Guild will take place at the Academy in Winchester on Tuesday evening, May 20th, at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Joseph Caputo will be chairman of the evening, assisted by a large committee. The officers for the coming year will be elected at this meeting.

Distinguished guest speaker of the evening will be Mrs. J. Howard Manningham of Medford, and her topic will be "Life Can Be Fun," which should prove of interest to everyone present.

TO GRADUATE FROM MT. HOLYOKE

Miss Jane Evelyn Beggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel R. Beggs, Jr., of Lawton road; Miss Sally Holmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Holmes of 3 Lakewood road; and Miss Elizabeth Lydia Norian, daughter of Mrs. Leon K. Norian of 8 Robinson circle; are among the 279 candidates for graduation at Mount Holyoke college June 2. All three girls are graduates of Winchester High School.

Miss Beggs has majored in psychology and was chosen a Sarah Williston scholar at the end of her sophomore year. She also served as house president of North Mandelle Hall in her senior year. She has been a member of the class choir and also a member of the glee club. Miss Beggs has been a member of the Dance Club and served as secretary in her sophomore and junior years. She was a member of the cast of Junior Show and has been a member of the Psychology Club, serving as president in her senior year.

Miss Holmes has majored in chemistry and was also chosen a Sarah Williston scholar at the end of her sophomore year. She was the winner of the Louise Stone Stevenson Chemistry Prize in her junior year. She was a member of the class Nominating Committee in her junior and senior years. Miss Holmes has been a member of the class choir for four years. She was a member of the cast of Junior Show. In her senior year she was a board member of the Athletic Association. She has been a member of the hockey team all four years and was head of lacrosse in her junior year. Miss Holmes was also a member of the Chemistry Club.

Miss Norian has majored in political science and was chosen a Sarah Williston Scholar. She is completing independent study for honors in political science. Miss Norian was the winner of the Winchester Club Scholarship in her freshman year and won the Evelyn Church Wilbur Scholarship in her senior year. She was winner of the Anna C. Edwards debate prize and was elected a member of Phi Beta Kappa in her senior year. She attended the Yale Student Conference on World Government in her freshman year and served on the research and social committee of the International Relations Club conference in her sophomore year. In her sophomore and junior years she served as president of the United World Federalists. In her senior year she served as business manager for the Debate Club and president of the Political Science Club. Miss Norian was a member of the cast of the Freshman plays and was on the lighting crew for the Laboratory Theater plays in her sophomore year. She served as assistant stage manager for Junior Show. She also worked with the nursery school group of the Fellowship of Faiths in her freshman year.

RAYMOND BANCROFT HONORED

It was a special occasion for a certain father on Mother's Day at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church this past Sunday.

On the occasion of his retirement as usher and head usher for a period of approximately thirty-five years, Mr. Bancroft received a lapel cross and devotional book as an expression of gratitude on behalf of the church people.

While Mr. Bancroft is still active in church life and at present is a member of the Board of Trustees, he will be missed at his usual place in the morning service.

"FISHING PHILOSOPHY"Fishermen Again Hear
Dr. Chidley

Dr. Howard J. Chidley, dean of Winchester's clergy and a long time devotee of fishing, preached another in his series of Fishermen's Sunday sermons at the First Congregational Church Sunday morning, May 4, and many in the congregation heard him, after a lapse of several years, with mixed emotions; the pleasure at hearing another of the Doctor's characteristic talks on the out-of-doors being tinged with a strain of sadness at the dwindling ranks of the fishermen who used to flock to Fishermen's Sunday sermons in the days of the late "Charlie" Lane.

The Chancel Choir, under the direction of J. Albert Wilson, sang two anthems, Bortniansky's "Lo, a Voice to Heaven Sounding" and Mr. Wilson's own composition, the lovely "Like as a Hart". At the Offertory Mr. Wilson played the "Meditation" by Dubois.

In his sermon, "Fishing Philosophy," Dr. Chidley said in part:

"Once you get the fishing fever, there's no cure for it but to go fishing. Every spring, for 30 years, when the winds of March alternate between a croon around the eaves sometimes suggesting a return of winter; and at others sing with the hint of coming spring, I begin to get uneasy. Fishing fever is on me again! There's nothing for it but to start sorting out the fishing tackle. As you go over the fly-book, you begin to hum a gentle tune. Memories of other years' outings come crowding back; robed in the radiance of sparkling waters, rich in the halo of human comradeship, and touched with nostalgia for unforgotten faces that will accompany you no more.

"But all that fades out as your enthusiasm for the coming season envelops you, and you begin to sort out your flies in earnest. Which were the ones that were the most alluring to salmon and trout last season — Parson Tom? (which ought to be a good fly for a minister) Parmachene Belle, Royal Coachman, Silver Doctor, or what? You pick them up and lay them aside in a select company, for they have all done you good service, and you treat them with the respect due them.

"So, having meticulously examined everything, you lay them carefully away, and begin to wait impatiently for the fishing season, down in Maine, to open. But at last the great day arrives! Breakfast at five or six o'clock, a 240-mile auto trip to Caratunk, Maine, a ferry across the Kennebec River, a jolting, 5-mile trip by tractor, or afoot, up a mountainous grade; then by boat across the lake to the fishing camp.

"The world about you has changed in a few hours. Wild ducks are winging their way across the lake, loons lift their crazy laugh over the water, and you pass beaver-houses, as you skirt the shore; with so-called civilization left behind, you are in God's great-out-of-doors! And now we're off! The real business of the trip has begun! The lines are let out as we leave the wharf behind, the guide slows down the motor to the proper pace for trawling — about the speed of a slow-walk — and we are told that the easiest way to fish, and a successful way, if we don't want to fly-cast, is simply to travel a streamer-fly. Of course, the professional fly-caster will turn up his nose at this, but fly-casting, all day long, is a tiresome job; and the majority of us didn't come here for work.

"Now just what is the fascination in this sort of fresh-water fishing? Every man must, of course, answer for himself. To me, it consists of several elements.

"First, it's a gamble, and gambling is a human instinct. When you go fishing, you depend on both luck and skill. You hope to be in the right place at the right time; i. e., that the fish are feeding. And let me say that, as far as I know, there is no rhyme or reason as to the time that fish are feeding. There are fishermen's calendars that purport to tell you when certain types of fish are feeding in certain waters. I think they're 'hokum.'

"Then there are some guides who will tell you that you'll never catch fish in an east wind, or some other wind. And so it goes.

"Well, there it is. I don't know the explanation of these queer quirks, and I doubt if anyone else does. It's a gamble with luck, and that's the first fascination of fishing.

"The second element in the pleasure of fishing is the companionship of going into the wilds with friends. They say that if you want to know a man, go into the woods with him. I think there's something in it. At least, I'll say this about it. There's time to get acquainted under unconventional conditions, and men's guards are more apt to be down at such times. Perhaps that is why some of the most real, and permanent friendships I have ever made have been on fishing trips. Men relax, they are more themselves, they have more time to talk; and believe me, they do talk — as much, or more, than women! The talk is innocent, it's clean, it's wholesome, it's entertaining, it's revealing — for, to a certain extent, men are off-guard under the new circumstances.

"Then there are the evening confabs, where everything in general, and a few things in particular, are discussed, and you get to know men's minds. All this adds up to understanding, and understanding is the basis of friendship.

"The third element in the pleasure of fishing is to come intimately into contact with nature. I know that's a vague term unless one defines it. What I mean is, that you have opportunity to observe the processes of life in the wilds, processes with which man has normally nothing whatsoever to do; and your respect for what is known as 'the wisdom of the wild' is tremendously increased.

"I spoke a moment ago of the wild ducks. Here are flocks and flocks of them — all busy about their own affairs — mating, building their nests, or raising their young — season after season — then migrating southward, as winter approaches. Here is a wisdom that basks the understanding of man; in other words, who or what guides them through the trackless wastes of the sky on migration? Plenty of guesses, but no absolute proof. And who or what tells the bear to store up fat, and provides said food for him before he hibernates? Again, who or what slows down the vital processes of life so that a bear can live on his fat all winter? Who or what arranged it so that bear cubs are born, say 6 weeks before their 200-pound mother wakes up, and weigh only an outlandish few ounces, so that they won't exhaust their milk-diet before the mother wakes up, to care for them? Who or what teaches the fledglings in the nest, before their eyes are open, to stretch up their bills for food? Is this one meaning of Christ's statement about the birds: 'Your heavenly Father feedeth them'?"

"I don't know what all this means, and I have touched only the edges of it; but I come out of the woods each year with a deeper feeling that the world of the wilds is a going concern, and that it is, thank God, not yet entirely in the hands of stupid men. Man can do a lot of wrecking, and he does, but when he faces the creative wisdom of the universe, he is a babe in arms!

"Then there are the stars of the great sidereal systems, of which our planet is an insignificant part. They lead to long, long thoughts, when we consider them, which we seldom do, in the hurry of our urban life.

"Paganism, in its loneliness, coined the phrase 'Mother Earth', but it seeks to make the earth a more homelike place than it can ever be. Man, for example, has been forever homeless in the dawn. It has made him a restless adventurer. And if the stars are lamps, they light an endless pathway. They do not offer shelter. They search our souls with a sense of the illimitable.

"And so, I say, I come out of the woods each year with a clearer faith, and a quieter acceptance of this turbulent world; convinced, somehow, that there is a wisdom above human wisdom here, and has even the unruly, stupid, stubborn children of men, likewise, under its care.

"All of which leads me to say that if anyone likes fishing, and claims he is too busy to go fishing, he is too busy to live. What's it going to amount to, 50 or 100 years from now, whether you made your dream-of-a-pile, or not?"

"You and I will be better off if we get away to the woods and get a larger perspective on life."

FORTNIGHTLY NEWS

Students' Art Work to be Sent Abroad

Word has recently been received by Mrs. Lester P. Leathers, Art Chairman of the 8th District, that the painting by Deborah Duke entitled "Choir Boys" has been chosen with two other Massachusetts entries to be included in the exhibition sponsored by the General Federation and made up of entries selected from throughout the United States to be sent to Women's Clubs in Europe.

The contest, the purpose of which was to promote world friendship through the Arts, was sponsored locally by the Winchester Fortnightly last October. Several students from Miss Pauline Goodrich's high school art classes submitted paintings depicting the American Way of Life. Five of these were sent from Winchester to be entered in the State contest, and five from throughout the State were sent on to the national contest.

The winning pictures in the national contest comprise the traveling exhibition which will make a tour of women's clubs abroad.

The Fortnightly is proud of Deborah Duke and wish to congratulate her for this honor.

STONEHAM 5; WINCHESTER, 4

Winchester High booted a ball game to Stoneham High, 5-4, at Manchester Field on Wednesday afternoon. In addition to making eight errors to hand Stoneham four of their five runs, the Indians left 13 runners stranded on base through the failure to hit in the clutch. Thus, in dropping two straight games, the locals have made 16 errors and have left 30 men on base but still could have won both games and been in first place in the League with a hit or two at the right time.

Winchester had a comfortable 4-1 lead until the seventh when a base on balls, six errors, and two scratch hits gave Stoneham three runs to tie the game at 4-4. The winning run came in the eighth when a base on balls with one out, a passed ball, and a wild throw on a ground ball sent the cheapest kind of run across the plate. It was a tough game for Stowell Symmes to lose as he scattered nine Stoneham hits while striking out six and passing four batters.

The town softball league will open its sixth annual season on Monday night with games being played at Ginn Field and the West Side Field as in past years. Six teams will make up the membership of the league this year, with three of them being veterans of previous seasons and the other three bringing new faces to the league.

The veteran teams are the defending champions, the Sons of Italy, the White Shirts, and the V.F.W. The newly organized teams represent the Fitzgerald Contracting Co., the Merenda Floor Co., and the Highlanders. Already the Sons of Italy have been installed as the favorites to win the championship for the third successive year, but the other five teams feel that they are strong enough this season to beat out the Sons.

The league is under the direction of the Board of Park Commissioners as in past years and they have again appointed Ted Bartlett as supervisor. Dick Halverson, Jim Walden and Jeff Gaudioso will make up the umpiring staff as the ever popular after dinner program gets underway.

Next Week's Schedule
Monday — Sons of Italy vs. Highlanders (Ginn Field); White Shirts vs. V.F.W. (West Side)
Tuesday — Merenda vs. Fitzgeralds (Ginn Field)
Wednesday — Highlanders vs. White Shirts (Ginn Field); V.F.W. vs. Merenda (West Side)
Thursday — Fitzgeralds vs. Sons of Italy (Ginn Field)

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

We all remember with great pride the trip our Scouts made to England and now we made every opportunity to show our Scouts that we care for them. A similar trip in 1954. Troop 4 is serving a buffet turkey supper at the Cabin on May 28 at 6, 6:30 and 7 p. m. Tickets may be purchased in advance from any member of the Troop or from the Girl Scout office.

In case of rain the Brownie picnic will be postponed. It is now scheduled for Saturday, May 17, from 11:30 till 2:30.

Troop 64 with their leader, Mrs. Ballard, enjoyed a visit to the Museum of Science. With their own money they purchased 2 "Stars" for the new Planetarium and a bronze plaque will name their Troop as the donor.

At the Fellsland Council Scout Roundup the Scouts who went to England in 1950 and those to go in 54 will have charge of a display showing equipment used during the trip. Mrs. White's Troop 4 is in charge of arrangements and Mary Cullen in charge of recruits.

The Scout Baby didn't quite steal the fashion show but was surely the star. The Scouts want to thank the O'Neil family for allowing their youngest Scout to appear in the fashion show which included Scouts of all ages. Filene's provided the outfits and accessories as they have in the past, and as a gesture of recognition Mrs. Maxwell McCreery, President, presented Miss Casey of Filene's with a Certificate of Appreciation. Mrs. Egan Wright (who looks like a stunning model herself) commented on the costumes as the girls appeared. Sally Beal made the attractive posters and Sheila McCreery, in pink and white, stepped through the large picture frame to the stage. Mrs. D. Ghirardini was the pianist.

A special thanks to Mr. Whitaker for the lovely flowers and containers and to Mr. Mouradian for the use of the Oriental rug. This event would never have been so perfectly presented without the expert direction of Helen Gaynor, whose one thought is, "For the girls it is worth all of the effort." This same afternoon the awards were presented to the Troops through the Juliette Low representatives for those who had 100% participation in contributing to the Low Fund.

The director of the Scout Day Camp wants all campers to realize that this year each girl may work toward their badges by completing requirements and attaining Certificates of Merit which will be awarded on the last day. All Brownies will be eligible to participate in a program of activity skills, which will prepare them for the winter program. Registrations are to be made at the office May 19-23 from 9-11:30 a. m. and 1-4 p. m. The Program Committee will meet at 1:30 p. m. at Mrs. Barbara Clark's on Thursday, May 22.

A special program of interest at the Association meeting Monday, May 19, at 7:30 will be a panel discussion on "Scouting and the Schools." Those on the panel are: Mr. Wade Grindie, Miss Blackstone, Mr. Paul Nason and Scout Sheila Scanlon.

KINDERGARTEN ASSEMBLY AT MYSTIC SCHOOL

As an outgrowth of their study of "Humpernick's" "Hansel and Gretel," Miss Barbara Sipp's kindergarten pupils presented an assembly to their schoolmates and parents on May 2.

The story of Hansel and Gretel was told by Russ Hatch, Polly Farnham, and Terry Robertson. It was accompanied by a movie made by the children and shown by Jennifer Rochow and Robbie Burr. Patricia Pearce was the announcer.

The rest of the program was composed of songs and dances illustrating parts of the story. "Brother Come and Dance With Me" was sung and danced by a group of the children. Then a song, "The Elfman," was presented, with Bobby Cowles as the elfman. Patty Pearce and Owen Flaherty, as Hansel and Gretel, and supported by a group of "angels," presented "The Evening Prayer." Finally, all the children formed a semicircle to sing "Happiness."

Miss Jean Biedsoe, a student teacher from Lesley College, accompanied the children on the piano. Fifth graders Terry Mulford, Patricia Pooler, and Claire Pearce also assisted.

Other children participating in the assembly were the following: Deborah Hitchcock, Judy Raymond, Norma Stafford, Carol Whitlock, Jean Peterson, Terry Robertson, Teddy Williams, Bill Dyson, Paul McLaughlin, Richard Halverson, Bill Larkin, Bobby Eddy, Jonathan Moody, Jeffrey Lyman, Porter Mulford, Dicky Bradley, Richard Kakes, Randy Randlett, Priscilla McGuire, John Totman, Rita Molinari, Peter Sewall, Bill Grant, Susan Lewis.

FORMER WINCHESTER GIRL MARRIED

Mr. and Mrs. Preston E. Corey of Reading, formerly of 7 Cliff street, Winchester, announce the marriage of their daughter, Evelyn Miriam, to Mr. Whitley Miller Holmes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Whitley Clarke Holmes of Charlotte, North Carolina. The small, informal wedding took place Sunday, May 11, at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Paul Sheldon of the Reading Congregational Church.

The bride wore lavender crepe and carried a nosegay of pink roses and lavender sweet peas. She was attended by her sister, Miss Beatrice E. Corey, in pink nylon shantung, carrying pink sweet peas and roses. Mr. Malcolm Morrison of Westwood acted as best man, and among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. William A. Syer, Jr., of Myrtle Terrace.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School and Syracuse University. The groom attended Northeastern University, and served with the Navy during the recent war.

CAME TO WINCHESTER FOR SISTER'S WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Plass (Madeleine Little) of Riverside, Conn., came to Winchester last week-end, as did Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Hooper (Margery Little) of Skaneateles, N. Y., the Plasses being guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald F. Davis (Muriel Little) of 94 Arlington street, and the Hoopers stopping with Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Hood, Jr., of 9 Oxford street.

The family gathering was occasioned by the marriage on Saturday, May 10, of Mrs. Martha Little Porter, daughter of Mr. William M. Little of 92 Arlington street, and Mr. William J. Speers, Jr., of 2 Fernway, son of Dr. William J. Speers of Lexington, formerly of 6 Wedgemere avenue. The Rev. N. Mitchell read the marriage service at the Church of the Epiphany.

WINCHESTER SCOUTS WIN EAGLES AT ROUND-UP

SCOUTS SHOW ADULTS!

Scouts and Cubs in Action at Scouting Round-Up

The 20th annual Scouting Round-up of Fellsland Council, Boy Scouts of America, took place in Cousens Gym at Tufts College in Medford, last Saturday, May 17th. Through-out the afternoon and evening an estimated 5,000 people watched 1,600 Scouts, Cubs, and Explorers compete in a fast-moving program of Scouting and Cubbing contests. And in the "baseball cage" adjoining the gym, the public viewed over fifty interesting booths and exhibits prepared by the boys.

Mr. Harrison E. Lyman, Jr., Chairman of the Winchester Board of Selectmen, who was originally scheduled to open the afternoon program, was unable to be present, but another Winchester Selectman, Mr. J. Joseph Taney spoke a few well-chosen words to the boys and the public, and started off the show with a bang. Phillip E. Dresser, Explorer Scout from Troop 7, Winchester also assisted in the opening ceremonies by leading the audience in the Scout Oath.

The first event on the afternoon program was the knot-tying contest for Cubs. Pack 5 of Medford proved themselves the best knot-tyers in Fellsland Council, which covers the towns of Medford, Winchester, Stoneham, Woburn, and Burlington.

MISS BUCCI SHOWERED

Miss Barbara Patterson and Miss Marguerite Dero gave a shower Tuesday evening at Miss Patterson's home on Richardson street for Miss Barbara Bucci of Woburn, well known to Winchester residents as a teller at the Winchester National Bank.

Decorations of yellow and green with a matching umbrella made an attractive setting for the party and the bride-to-be received many useful gifts. After the packages had been opened and Miss Bucci had expressed her thanks, delicious refreshments were served, featuring a decorated shaker cake.

She was also given a shower at her home in Woburn on Thursday evening, May 15.

Miss Bucci will be married to Attorney Albert Curran of Woburn at a nuptial mass on Saturday morning, June 7, at St. Anthony's Church in North Woburn.

FIFTIETH REUNION

Attending the 50th reunion of their class at Bridgewater State Teachers College, Saturday, May 17th were Miss Alice M. Crawford of Myrtle street and Miss B. Irene Berry of Maine, formerly of this town. Twenty eight members were present.

A gift of money was given by the class to be used for chimes in memory of the late president, Dr. John J. Kelly.

GET A BUDDY POPPY!

Aberjona Post No. 3719 Veterans of Foreign Wars will hold its poppy drive on May 23rd and 24th. This important drive is under the capable supervision of Chairman Clement Landry.

On Memorial Day 1922 the Veterans of Foreign Wars sold its first Flanders Field poppy. The memorial flower proved popular. In 1923 the National Encampment required that the poppies sold should be made by disabled veterans. In 1924 disabled veterans in Pittsburgh made Veterans of Foreign Wars flowers for that year's sale. These men coined the phrase, "Buddy Poppy," and in 1944 our national headquarters copyrighted the trade name. Since the first Buddy Poppy sale, the objective has been "to honor the dead by helping the living."

Funds from the annual sale of Buddy Poppies are devoted exclusively to extending our veterans welfare work and helping maintain the Veterans of Foreign Wars National Home.

MILITARY HONORS
AT COSTELLO FUNERAL

The Immaculate Conception Church was taxed to capacity last Saturday morning when a requiem high mass was sung for William H. Costello, USN, son of Mrs. Mary B. Costello, who was lost when the Carrier Wasp was in collision with the Destroyer Johnson.

Rev. Fr. Hoybert K. A. Driscoll, pastor of the church, was celebrating the soloist was Martin McCauley, bass, whose fine singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" brought the service to a most effective close.

Representing Rear Admiral John L. McCrea, commandant of the First Naval District, was Captain Joseph P. Canty, USN. Also at the mass were Captain Kenneth Benoit, USAF; Captain J. A. Hurd, Jr., USA; Master Sgt. Elliot Watts, USAF; and Sgt. William Cahall, USA, representing Seaman Costello's two brothers in overseas service, Robert and Warren Costello. Accompanying the service representatives at the mass was Mrs. Kenneth B. Toye, chairman of the Winchester Military Manpower Committee.

Delegations of Legionnaires from Winchester Post, under Commander Arthur Collins, and Veterans of Foreign Wars from Aberjona Post, under Commander Warren Bolivar, accorded military honors at the mass with their Post colors and color guards.

MRS. MARY CLEARY

Mrs. Mary Cleary of 8 Winthrop street, widow of David E. Cleary, died Friday morning, May 16, at her home after an illness of six months.

Mrs. Cleary was the daughter of John and Winifred (Skivington) Banks. She was born October 6, 1880, in Boston and grew up in that city, attending the Boston schools. Most of her married life was spent in Gloucester and Roslindale, she having resided in Roslindale for nearly twenty years before coming to Winchester five years ago. She was a member of St. Mary's Ladies' Sodality.

Mrs. Cleary leaves four daughters, Winifred J., Alice M., Mary E., and Theresa M. Cleary, all of Winchester; two sons, John P. of Winchester, and David E. Cleary of Wakefield; and a sister, Winifred Banks of this town.

The funeral was held from the late residence, Monday morning, with solemn requiem high mass celebrated at St. Mary's Church. Rev. Fr. William Walsh was celebrant, Rev. Fr. Charles Anadore, Winchester boy, Fr. John J. Grant, subdeacon. Burial was in Oak Hill Cemetery, Gloucester.

WINCHESTER BOY MISSING

No new word has been heard up to now, since Monday morning, of 15-year-old son of Firefighter and Mrs. John Pearson of 12 Park road, missing from his home since Friday, May 16. A reprimand from his mother for skipping school was the only possible excuse his parents could give for their son's running away.

The Pearsons have heard twice from their son, cards having been sent from New York. The last card said the boy was headed for Chicago and from that city might go on to the coast to visit a former Winchester boy, Jimmy Grace. A description of the missing boy has been broadcast by the Police.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Walter Vincent Weiss, 41 Water street, and Margaret Mary Smith, 189 Ferry street, Malden.

Vincent Daniel Gugger, 401 Jefferson Blvd., Annerdale, Staten Island, N.Y., and Barbara Anne Lynch, 16 Chestnut street.

SCHOOL CLOSING DATE

FRIDAY, JUNE 13

The School Committee has approved Friday, June 13, as the official closing date for all public schools in Winchester.

MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVANCE

Aberjona post 3719 Veterans of Foreign Wars has completed plans for the observance of Memorial Day in Winchester. It is the hope of the V. F. W. and Post 97, American Legion, that all of the citizens of Winchester, and in particular all veterans will join in the traditional tribute to the memory of their departed comrades.

Memorial Day, Friday, May thirtieth, will be marked by the usual parade to both Calvary and Wildwood Cemeteries. As is customary, the parade will start at the Town Hall promptly at nine o'clock and proceed via Washington street to Calvary Cemetery, where services will be conducted by Father Charles Anadore, Chaplain of the American Legion. The parade will return to the Town Hall where there will be a short pause for refreshment, and then leave promptly at eleven o'clock for the Wildwood Cemetery. The High School, thence to Wildwood Cemetery, where services will be conducted by Reverend John Snook, Jr., of the Crawford Memorial Church. The parade will then return to the Town Hall to disband at noon.

ELLIOTT — RUSSELL

At a four o'clock ceremony on Saturday, May 17th, in the Winchester Unitarian Church, Miss Phyllis Russell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wilson Russell of Manchester, road, became the bride of Mr. George Paul Elliott, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lawrence Elliott of Medford. The Reverend Robert A. Storer, minister of the church, officiated, and a reception followed in the Symmes Room.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown with lace bodice, long tight sleeves and full skirt with a train. Her chapel-length veil of illusion was held in place by a coronet of pearls, and she carried a cascade bouquet of carnations and lilies of the valley, and wore a matching headband.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Earl W. W. Chick of Roslindale, the bridesmaid of the bride, and Mrs. Ann W. Chick of Roslindale. The bridesmaids wore identical gowns in pink net and lace, and carried bouquets of carnations and lilies of the valley, and wore a matching headband.

MRS. MARY A. SABBOW

Young Winchester Matron Killed in Alexandria Motor Crash

Mrs. Mary A. Sabbow, wife of Fritz T. Sabbow and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Mullen of 71 Salisbury street, was instantly killed Saturday evening, May 17, when her automobile was in head-on collision with a truck on the Mt. Vernon Highway in Alexandria, Va.

Mrs. Sabbow, who had been living in Washington, D. C., at 2131 Massachusetts avenue, was a secretary at Fort Belvoir in Alexandria. She and three young women companions were on their way back to Washington after attending a motion picture show in Alexandria when the accident took place at 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Sabbow was driving. With her on the front seat was Miss Fay Finley, a North Carolina girl living in Washington, who was so badly injured she died before her arrival at the Alexandria Hospital.

The two young women on the back seat of Mrs. Sabbow's car were critically injured and placed on the hospital's danger list.

Both the occupants of the truck were injured, the passenger dying at the hospital on Sunday. It is reported that the truck was not loaded.

Mrs. Sabbow was 25 years old. She was born in Lynn, the daughter of William G. and Madeleine (Landry) Mullen. As a child she went to school in Meriden, Conn., and Roslindale, later attending high school in Danvers and Winchester, and being graduated from Winchester High School in the class of 1946. She also attended Cambridge Preparatory School for Girls.

A August 6, 1949, she married Fritz T. Sabbow, who is associated with the F. W. Woolworth Company. Mrs. Sabbow accompanied his wife's body north from Alexandria.

Besides her husband and parents, Mrs. Sabbow leaves three brothers, William G. Mullen, Jr., of Chicago, Ill., Thomas C. Mullen of Chicago, N. H., and Pfc. Robert H. Mullen, who is in the Army in Japan.

The funeral was held Wednesday morning from the Lane Funeral Home with solemn requiem high mass celebrated at St. Mary's Church. Rev. Fr. Charles Anadore was celebrant. Rev. Fr. William Walsh, deacon, and Rev. Fr. John J. Grant, subdeacon.

Interment was in Wildwood cemetery.

Mrs. Nellie Boody, widow of George Reed Boody, a former resident of Winchester, died last week Wednesday morning, May 14, at the home of her son, Guy E. Boody, 66 High street, Stoneham, after a short illness. She was in her 91st year.

A native of Fayette, Me., Mrs. Boody lived in Winchester from 1943 until her husband's death December 29, 1948, making her home first at 14 Park avenue, and last at 57 Hemmingsway street. Her son, Guy, was for a time in the radio service business in Winchester under the name of Boody & Cook.

Besides her son in Stoneham she leaves a son, Harold H. Boody of Lowell and a granddaughter, Marion C. Boody of Stoneham.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon from the Charles W. Messer & Son Funeral Home with the Rev. Francis Hensley of the First Baptist Church in Stoneham officiating. Burial was in the family lot in Woodlawn Cemetery, Acton.

Frank A. Kelley

Funeral services for the late Frank A. Kelley, formerly of 14 Spruce street, who passed away at the Bedford Veterans Hospital, Saturday, May 17, were held from the Lane Funeral Home, Tuesday morning, with High Mass Requiem celebrated at St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock.

Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

Mr. Kelley was born in Manchester, N. H., July 1, 1886 and had made his home in Winchester for many years. He was a veteran of World War I having served with Co. E, 314th Infantry 79th Division. He was also a printer by trade and held membership in the Boston Press Assistance Union No. 18.

Surviving are his wife, Nellie Cady Kelley, two daughters, Audrey Kelley of Winchester, Mrs. Marion Olmstead of Woburn, one son, Frank A. Jr., of Winchester, and three brothers, William Kelley of Woburn, and John and Christopher of Boston. Two grandchildren also survive.

World War II Honor Roll

The Honor Roll of World War II veterans, with Winchester military settlements, is being checked this week to bring it up to date for Memorial Day.

Winchester veterans who served prior to Dec. 31, 1946, and who received honorable discharges, are eligible to have their names added, after their discharges have been checked and verified at the Department of Veterans' Services at the Town Hall.

Hit by Amusement Rider

Mr. Bernard A. Marvin of 8 Chesterford road, and his daughter, Christine, 5, had an exciting experience while walking through the beach boulevard last Sunday afternoon when 16-year-old James Serino, 63 Haviland avenue, Lynn, was apparently thrown against them from his seat on the "Whirlaway" after first crashing a picket fence.

Mr. Marvin was not injured, but Christine received what was described as minor injuries when the fence fell on her. She was treated at the M. D. C. Police Station.

Serino was badly injured, sustaining a concussion and several contusions. He was taken to the Massachusetts General Hospital where his name was placed on the danger list.

Chief Callahan Elected

Fire Chief James E. Callahan of Winchester was on Wednesday elected a director of the Massachusetts Fire Chiefs' Association at the regular monthly luncheon and annual meeting of the association held at the Sautage Inn in Lynnfield.

More than 175 persons, including fire chiefs from all over the state, attended the luncheon, at which Chief Callahan was elected as one of the five members of the association.

Mr. Callahan is chairman of the board of directors of the association, and is also chairman of the board of directors of the association.

DANA M. COTTON

HOLDS RESPONSIBLE
RED FEATHER POST

Dana M. Cotton, 5 Oneida road, will hold one of the major positions of responsibility in this year's Red Feather campaign. Working with Campaign Chairman Augustin H. Parker, Jr., he will head the Service Division, directing fund-raising activities in public utilities, health and social services, schools and colleges, and public employee groups.

United Community Services of Metropolitan Boston is the sponsoring organization for the annual fall Red Feather campaign toward the support of 300 hospitals, neighborhood houses, family, youth, children's agencies and other health and social services.

Associated with Harvard University, Mr. Cotton is assistant director of college admissions, associate director of the summer school and director of placement for the graduate school of education. He is also executive secretary of the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and a member of the Harvard Club of Boston.

"I consider it a privilege to work with an organization that is interested in people and is desirous of rendering all possible needed help," said Mr. Cotton in accepting his new position. Last year he served as chairman of the schools and colleges section in the Service Division.

Mr. and Mrs. Cotton are the parents of two teen-age children, John Pierce and Rebecca.

FAREWELL PARTY

Barry Grace of Hemingway street, who is leaving soon to enter the service, was given a farewell party and a purse of money last Thursday evening by his fellow workers at Filene's in Winchester. The party was held at Chandler's Barn on Forest street. Barry, a popular graduate of Winchester High School, has been with Filene's for several years.

SPONSORS AND PARTIES FOR MAYTIME MUSICALS

Many well-known Winchester residents have the honor of sponsoring, and many others the pleasure of entertaining for, the fifth annual Maytime Musicals, two evenings of gay and familiar music to be held next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, May 27 and 28 at the Music Hall. The program of predominantly semi-classical music, informally arranged by the Unitarian Choir and friends under the direction of Mary Ranton Witham, is being polished this week for the large and enthusiastic audience which always attends this popular performance benefitting the Unitarian Church.

Sponsors for the evening are: Mrs. William Beggs, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Birch, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bolster, Mrs. Eberhard H. Bradlee, Mr. and Mrs. John Coulson, Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Cushman, Dr. and Mrs. William Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred N. Denley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Durbin, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Eldridge, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Godwin, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Healey, Mr. and Mrs. Litchfield, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Osgood, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest L. Pitman, Mrs. James W. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar L. Shanklin, the Reverend Robert A. Storer, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Tapley, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. D. Towne-Tilton, Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence D. Trevitt, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Wadsworth, Dr. and Mrs. John Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Prescott Wild, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Worcester.

Among those known to be making the occasion more festive by entertaining before hand are: Mr. and Mrs. William Davies, Mr. and Mrs. Wade L. Grindle, Mr. and Mrs. Healy Hovnanian, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Parrot, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Redding, and Mr. and Mrs. Philip P. Wadsworth.

Neil Borden, Jr., son of Prof. and Mrs. Neil H. Borden of 150 Highland avenue, is serving as a campaign manager in the annual Bates College mayoralty campaign and is in charge of plaque and ivy for the traditional Junior Ivy Day. Borden, a junior, is majoring in economics. He is a graduate of Winchester High, where he was active in radio, science and math clubs, tennis, and on the staff of the school paper.

SOFTBALL LEAGUE

Two excellent games featured the opening of the Town Softball League last Monday evening. The defending champions, the Sons of Italy, had their troubles defeating the newly formed Winchester Brick Co. team by a 7-6 score. The Sons trailed 4-3 going into the sixth inning but rallied for four runs in the top of the seventh.

The V. F. W. and the White Shirts performed in mid-season fashion as the Vets took a 3-1 decision. A two-run homer by "Sonny" Swyer provided the winning margin for the Vets while Ken Donaghey accounted for the White Shirts' lone tally with a circuit smash. Marty Joyce and Bob Saunders shared the hurling duties for the winners while John Sexton pitched good ball all the way for the losers.

JUNIOR TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Some eighty town's children, ranging in ages from 5 to 15 years, were on hand last Friday afternoon to participate in what proved to be the most successful juniors' tournament this town has had in years. Mickey Coon defeated Dell Mitchell 6-3 to win the girls' singles and Dick Bingham came from behind to beat Brad Johnson in a close final for the boys' event with a 6-5 margin. Lanny Keyes and Deirdre Donovan combined to capture the mixed doubles event beating Sue Clark and Brad Johnson 6-3.

Mr. Packer presented medals to the winners who will also along with the semi-finalists, receive entrance fees to the Wightman 15 years and under tournament being held at Longwood this Saturday. Any boys or girls interested in this match at Longwood should call the Longwood Cricket Club or contact Mrs. Arthur Hills immediately.

Following is the summary:

Girls' singles (first round): D. Donovan beat R. Burton, 6-1; R. Cunningham beat M. Amico, 6-2; S. McNell beat D. Wadsworth, 6-0; L. Abbott beat C. Curry, 6-0; A. Marks beat A. Swan, 6-0; C. Coen beat G. Wadsworth, 6-0; A. Fitzgerald beat L. Amico, 6-4; R. Freeman defaulted to J. Walker; L. Harmon beat S. Russell, 6-1; S. Stone beat N. Gove, 6-2; L.

The first ladies' bridge, Mrs. Bart Sullivan chairman, was held on Wednesday afternoon, followed by a delightful tea. These affairs have grown in popularity every year, so now reservations for only a fixed number of tables can be taken. The committee who helped on this occasion were Mrs. Powers, Mrs. Doyle, Mrs. Schmidt, Mrs. Rich, Mrs. Fitzgerald and Mrs. Edwards.

Steward Glen Hunt is making preparations for his weekly Saturday and Sunday evening meals. We are assured that these will be delightful affairs, and all that is necessary is to give Steward Hunt a ring and make your reservation.

Don't forget the Memorial Day family supper May 30th. Owing to the size of the hall, reservations are limited to those who call first, and this will be an outstanding event on the Boat Club calendar for 1952.

Winchester High played a six-inning 6-6 tie with Lexington High at Lexington last Friday afternoon. The game was called at the end of six innings because of wind, cold, and rain. Charley DeFilippo made his first start of the season on the mound for the Indians but had no control as he hit two and walked three of the first six batters he faced before being relieved by DiLorio.

DeFilippo's generosity spotted Lexington four runs and they added two more in the third off Milton Brown. When the Indians tied the score in the top of the fourth, Coach Bartlett inserted his workhorse, Stovell Symmes, who pitched scoreless, one-hit ball over the next three innings. The locals did well to tie the score after such a poor start with key hits coming on a triple by Dalton and timely singles by Keyes, MacKenzie, and Bellino.

BOAT CLUB NEWS

The first point score race for the snipe sailors was held Saturday afternoon. After a poor start, Bob Huggins took the lead and was never headed. Clifford Austin finished second. Unfavorable weather brought a cancellation of the Sunday morning race and the junior race Sunday afternoon. Meanwhile the snipe fleet continues to grow. There are now ten in the water, with the addition of Jim Newman's "By George" and Ted Burleigh's "See Bees" along with Rodney Long's slick craft. It is expected that 23 or 24 snipes will be racing this season.

The first ladies' bridge, Mrs. Bart Sullivan chairman, was held on Wednesday afternoon, followed by a delightful tea. These affairs have grown in popularity every year, so now reservations for only a fixed number of tables can be taken. The committee who helped on this occasion were Mrs. Powers, Mrs. Doyle, Mrs. Schmidt, Mrs. Rich, Mrs. Fitzgerald and Mrs. Edwards.

WON COLBY HONORS

Several Massachusetts students were among undergraduates honored May 21 at the annual Recognition Day at Colby College.

Among these were Norma Ann Berquist of Winchester and Katharine O. Parker of Charlestown. Both girls formerly attended Winchester High.

Miss Berquist, Colby senior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Berquist of 154 Cambridge street, was awarded the Louise Colgan prize for singing.

Miss Parker, also a Colby senior, received the Colby Community Synphonic Society prize given for unusual interest in, and participation with, the Colby Community Symphony orchestra. She is the daughter of Mrs. Gordon Parker.

Play will continue on Sunday in these tournaments with the addition of draw doubles for women (not announced last week). Sign up today. Only twenty-five cents per tournament. Phone one of the following:

WINCHESTER BEAT PUNCHARD ON TRACK

Winning first in eight of the 11 events, Winchester High School continued unbeaten in dual track competition by defeating Punchard High School at Winchester, Wednesday, May 14, 65-30.

Brayton, in the 880 and Tyler in the mile were Punchard's individual winners, the Andover boys picking up their first in the relay. "Doug" Hawkins ran the fastest quarter by a Winchester runner in recent years when he was caught in 54s. "Dick" Merrow had a 54.4s quarter in the State meet at Newton in 1941, which no one has beaten since that time. The school record is 53s credited to Archie Walling in an interclass meet in 1939.

Hawkins won the quarter and shot, and both Bruce Cortell and Dud Samoiloff won three firsts. Cortell won the hurdles in 10.8s and also won the low hurdles and broad jump. Samoiloff was first in the 220 and high hurdles and also tied for first with two team-mates, Bill Sipp and Johnny McKinley, sweeping the event.

CONCORD QUAD MEET WINNER

Concord High School's well balanced track and field forces beat Winchester by nine points last Saturday to win the annual Quadrangular Meet among Concord, Melrose, Winchester and Woburn on Manchester Field. Concord scored 39 points to 30 for Winchester, having a big edge in seconds and thirds. Melrose finished third with 17 and Woburn was last with 11.

Winchester and Concord each won three firsts in individual events, Concord taking the relay with its speedy sprinters. Winchester did its fastest time of the year, 1m 36s, only four-fifths of a second off the school relay record, made in 1935, but still was five yards back of Concord in what was strictly a two-team race. Hawkins, Fitzgerald, Cortell and Samoiloff ran for Winchester.

Bruce Cortell, after handily winning his heat in the 100, got a bad start in the final and was placed fourth by the judges, though it looked to many as though he passed McMullen of Concord just before the finish line.

Dud Samoiloff, on his heat in the 220, running the last 20 yards without a shoe which he lost when the laces let go. He won as he pleased in the final, having better than a five yard lead on Zumwalt of Concord.

The quarter was close all the way, with Winchester's Hawkins breaking on top of the field and holding the lead until the last turn when McMullen, a veteran Concord quarter-miler, challenged. Instead of running the Concord boy wide, big "Doug" stayed on the pole, and coming off the turn, McMullen got by.

Hawkins fought him all the way to the tape and it looked like he might catch the Minuteboy. However at the finish McMullen still had a stride as Hawkins legs tightened badly. The time 54.2s, while bad, is not as good as Hawkins has done this season.

Hefford, slick running Melrose boy, won the half as he pleased, literally running the field into the ground to win by 20 yards in 2m 4.4s.

The mile was a dogfight all the way with Hammond of Concord dogging Ryan, Woburn's good distance runner, through the entire distance. Ryan proved equal to the pressure and fought off the Concord boy's stretch challenge to win by five yards in the cracking good time of 4m 37.4s. Winchester's Bob Nelson, after pacing himself poorly, just failed to catch his sweat clothes on until the Concord boy's stretch challenge to win by five yards in the cracking good time of 4m 37.4s. Winchester's Bob Nelson, after pacing himself poorly, just failed to catch his sweat clothes on until the Concord boy's stretch challenge to win by five yards in the cracking good time of 4m 37.4s.

A towering antelope from Concord named Puffer was in command of the high jump all the way. Keeping his sweat clothes on until the bar was at 5 ft. 6 in, Puffer easily cleared this height and went on an inch higher to win from Winchester's Samoiloff, who got over 5 ft. 6 in, his best jump of the year.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINES NEEDED

Editor of the Star:

The AAA Unit on Border road is badly in need of reading material. Lt. Koenig tells me "Who-dunnits" and historical novels are always popular as well as current magazines.

Will you please look over your bookshelves and see if you can spare? Just take them up to Border road and the guard will call an orderly who will be more than pleased to accept them. This is a situation we should be able to take care of very easily. Thanks in advance.

Cordially yours,
Mrs. K. B. Toye, Chairman

APPRECIATION FROM LITTLE LEAGUE

Editor of the Star:

May 1, through the Star, express the appreciation of the Board of Directors and Finance Committee of Winchester Little League to all who have in any way contributed to this activity.

Our feeling is that our friends and neighbors should know the results of their contributions to our drive for financial assistance.

Our objective was to build a fund of $3,500, an amount considered necessary to organize and maintain Little League on a sound basis for the first year. As of May 20th, our friends have contributed $2,780.64—$1,000 of which came from the four sponsors. Our Tag Day was productive of $850.14; Little League Night at the Winchester Theatre, including $81.00 from the box collection, amounted to $230.50. The balance of $706. was contributed by business firms and individuals interested in the advancement of this project.

We are grateful for the splendid support of so many people but disturbed that we failed in our objective.

As in any organization, the initial cash outlay is necessarily large, and because Little League is a non-profit movement, our primary objective was to be financial. I wish all could attend our meetings to experience personally just what goes into organizing and financing a worthwhile activity of this nature.

Our friends, Mr. Editor, may be interested to know what it costs to properly equip youngsters for participation in Little League. Baseballs today are $19.00 a dozen; bats, $24.00 a dozen. Each catcher must be fully equipped including mask, protector, shin guards and glove. Of course, each youngster must be fully uniformed, and for safety, we provide a reasonable number of helmets. Then, too, our youngsters are insured against possible injury. In our major league, sixty boys must be fully "suited up." The average cost for putting a youngster on the field for the opening game is roughly $31.00. Finally, there will be maintenance and the problem of replacement. How much that will amount to we have no idea. All that we do know is that bats break and balls don't "fade away"—they really wear out.

Consideration was given to forming a minor league because so many potentially good ball players had to be earmarked for future play, but finances prohibit extending the program. Our hope and plan is that next year, with the major portion of our operational expense behind us, we can expand to include four more teams on the major league level.

MORE MONEY FOR KIWANIS MILK FUND

Left to right: Ray Murphy, Saul Gargman, Bill Murray and Chairman Joe Peel. Saul Gargman of the Master Motors, Inc., presents the check representing money received at the Master Motors for automobile inspections during the State inspection in April. The Kiwanis Club Milk Fund is now providing milk to underprivileged children in four local schools.

To any who may still wish to contribute, send us your contributions. To those who have contributed, our heartfelt thanks. You did a great job. What a thrill you are going to get when you see these youngsters in action.

TOWN LOSES IN MILLYAN SUIT

Justice Fairhurst in the superior court last Friday found for the Millyan Construction Company, and against the Town of Winchester in the bill of equity brought by the company, charging the town with flooding the company's property under development in the Highlands section.

The Millyan Construction Co., bought land in the Highlands for development some time ago, included being the Richardson property, through which the town had an easement for a water-course, which had always run through the land and which takes care of the overflow from one of the reservoirs.

Mr. Millyan, in his bill against the town, contended that the town's maintaining and using a drain pipe through his land, into which empties surface drainage water from Forest street, has caused the brook or water-course to overflow and has resulted in the flooding of his land.

The case of Millyan Construction Company vs The Town of Winchester was first heard by Harry P. Talty, a Boston attorney who often sits as a master in such cases. He found for the town.

Mr. Millyan then took an appeal to the Superior Court where Justice Morton formerly of the District Court at Woburn issued an interlocutory decree overturning the Master's report.

At a second hearing on the question of a final report Justice Fairhurst handed down a decree, finding in substance that the Town of Winchester, by continuing to maintain and use a drain-pipe for surface drainage across a corner of the Millyan land, is committing a trespass and that said trespass is largely responsible for overloading the natural volume of water in the brook running through the property with resultant flood conditions from time to time.

Though nothing official has been announced, it is reported that the town will probably take an appeal from the Superior Court finding to the Supreme Judicial court, unless some possible compromise is reached in the mean time.

NEW HONOR FOR EASTON

Harry M. Easton, 3rd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Easton of 9 Seneca road, climaxed a brilliant career in the ROTC at University of Maine on May 15 when he was awarded the Alumni Silver Saber at the annual regimental review as "the outstanding graduating ROTC cadet."

Presentation of the saber was made by Myron C. Peabody of Springfield, president of the General Alumni Association of the college. It was the feature of many awards presented during the review.

Harry, a graduate of Winchester High School, is cadet colonel of the ROTC at Maine. He was signally honored several weeks ago when he was selected for appointment as a second lieutenant of infantry in the regular Army, effective June 15. Appointments such as this go only to ROTC cadets of the very highest type as a result of hard and effective work.

Aside from his success in the cadet corps Harry has been on the college football and track teams, has been a class officer and king of the winter carnival. His accomplishments at Maine reflect much credit upon his town and the high school where he prepared for college.

WINCHESTER PILOT HAS FLOWN 180,000 PASSENGERS

When Captain George L. Govoni of 7 Robinson Circle, Winchester, veteran Boston-based American Airlines pilot, first went with the airline 16 years ago, pilots were required to enter on their flight logs the number of passengers aboard each trip. The requirement was dropped a year or two later, but Govoni continued to keep the record at the start of each trip as a matter of personal interest. (For instance, on a Boston-Philadelphia-Washington flight, he enters only the number of Boston-Philadelphia passengers, not adding those who may board at Philadelphia.)

Just recently, he added the entries for the first time, and found they exceeded 185,000 persons. Govoni thinks that he will reach a quarter of a million in about two years. He believes he is the only airline pilot who has kept a similar log for as long a time.

MYSTIC GLEE CLUB CLOSES SEASON

The annual meeting of the Mystic Glee Club, held at the Masonic Hall on Monday evening, May 19th, brought to a close a successful 12th season. The club made three outside appearances this year in addition to its annual winter and spring concerts, participating in Lenten services at the Congregational Church of West Medford and the First Baptist Church of Winchester and presenting a concert for the Woburn Rotary Club. Reports submitted indicated that the club is in a healthy condition. Ragnar T. Brandt, Sponsoring Membership chairman, was warmly applauded for the fine job he has done over the past New season. A neatly framed certificate of Honorary Life Membership, the club's highest honor, was presented to Dr. Churchill Hinds by the club president Austin E. Nanny. This is only the second such award to be made, the first having been given in 1947 by Bill Cruger, the club's original conductor.

Reports at the resignation of this year's conductor, Keith D. Snyder, were expressed by President Nanny as he presented a farewell gift from the club. Mr. Snyder is leaving for New York in another month to start work for his doctorate at Teachers' College, Columbia University.

Officers elected for the year 1952-53 season are as follows:
Pres. — Ralph E. Curtis
Vice-Pres. — Edgar D. Hinton
Rec. Sec. — Thomas Jackson
Corr. Sec. — John H. Lyman
Treas. — James A. Sewall

President-elect Curtis thanked the club for the honor of being its president. His first official act was the reappointment of the capable and popular Mary Louise Middleton as accompanist. He also indicated that the name of next year's conductor would be announced shortly.

A social hour followed the meeting, during which time the club was entertained by solos by Donald Sullivan, well-known Boston tenor. Jack Gilbert obligingly performed at the piano while the boys harmonized on many numbers, old and new. The club is grateful for the support given it by the people of Winchester and is looking forward to continued growth and success in the 1952-53 season.

CIVIL DEFENSE

State CD Official Studies
Winchester's practical experience

Your Winchester CD workers feel particularly confident that their work has already brought added security to our town when so much interest is shown in our organization by "outsiders." Previously, some neighboring communities have wished to study our publicity methods, and have sent visitors to witness Winchester's test drills.

Most recently, we have been pleased by the visit of Mr. Grady, newly appointed to the State Civilian War Aid Division, who wished to talk with Winchester's acting Director Lester C. Gustin and Civilian War Aid Division Director William P. Supple in formulating plans for state-wide Civilian War Aid procedures.

Winchester has had a "magic formula" for CD procedures — or any other activities — except that hard work of those with official duties and the community spirit of this town of ours which has made it possible to succeed.

CD has taken particular note of the fact that air-raid signals cannot be heard in all parts of the town and are taking steps to correct this situation by adding additional sirens and also adapting the Beggs & Cobb steam whistle, in conjunction with the sirens. The steam whistle would be very beneficial in the event of an air-raid warning. Alert and our power was discontinued. This would mean added protection for the town.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

The Auxiliary is having a party and dance on Saturday evening, May 24, at the Legion Home on Vine street. The music and entertainment will be excellent and many surprises are promised in addition to the usual fun and dancing.

COMMUNITY CHEST

On May 14, a goodly representation of interested townspeople and Board members, as well as representatives of six social agencies in Winchester and neighboring communities, attended the adjourned Annual Meeting of the Winchester Community Chest, Inc., to learn about the local Red Feather activities.

News of the proposed enlargement of the Home for the Aged was contained in Mr. Stone's report, while Mr. Kenerson told of the already participating in the various programs. The vigorous Cookie Drive netted a tidy sum and proceeds from a Turkey Dinner to be served May 28th at the Girl Scout Cabin will help defray the expenses of the bicycle hostel trip for the older girls.

A campaign for Sustaining Memberships among adult Scouts and parents of Scouts is hoped to secure 300 to 400 memberships for the Fellsland Council according to the reports of Mr. Mobbs and Mr. Butler.

The activities of the Winchester District Nursing Association, made possible partially by the Red Feather assistance, were analyzed by Mrs. Theodore Brown. The busy program of 4,866 visits to 428 patients has been carried on by 3 full-time and 1 part-time registered nurses. The discontinuance of the John Hancock Metropolitan Life Insurance Companies' policy of financing nursing care in the home for policy holders will introduce more problems, particularly of a financial nature, in the future.

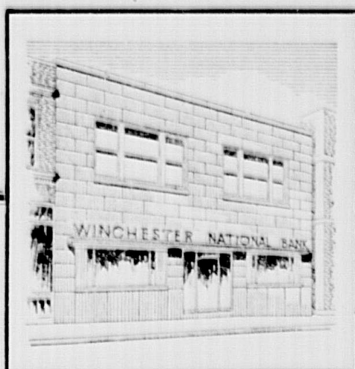

The report of the Immaculate Conception Conference of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul was given by Mr. Cullahan, telling of assistance given during 86 visits to 28 families.

The organization of the campaign to procure Red Feather funds for the operation of the agencies during 1952 is progressing admirably under the direction of the recently-announced Chairman, Mr.

Dr. Charles P.
Donahue

BRAVES COACH AND WINCHESTER SCOUT AT ROUND-UP

Popular "Bucky" Walters, coach of the Boston Braves, is shown presenting an autographed baseball to Scout George Denton of Winchester at the Scouting Round-Up last Saturday in Medford. This was one of the rewards Scout Denton received for selling next-to-the-most tickets for the show (201 tickets). He will also receive a free week at Camp Fellsland this summer for his outstanding "salesmanship."

TROOP 3 BUILDS CAMPSITE AT SCOUT ROUND-UP

PARKHURST MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Lewis Parkhurst Mothers' Association was held in the assembly hall on Thursday, May 15 at 2:30 p. m.

Mrs. Leonard Mead, Vice-President, presided in the absence of Mrs. G. M. Herick. After reports were read by Mrs. William J. O'Malley the secretary, Mrs. Robert Lowry the treasurer, and various committee chairmen, the nominating chairman presented her slate for the following year which was unanimously elected.

The new officers for the year 1952-1953:

President, Mrs. Edward T. Peabody.

Vice-President, Mrs. Stanley E. Neill.

Recording Secretary, Mrs. Arthur P. Schmidt.

Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. John D. Stevens.

Treasurer, Mrs. John W. Harrison.

Nominating Committee

Mrs. Adelbert R. G. Brink

Mrs. Harry L. Mueller

Mrs. Lester G. Whittaker

Mrs. Fred J. Schiffman

After the election of the new officers, Mrs. Mead turned the meeting over to the new president, Mrs. Peabody.

Mr. Charles Koch and Mr. Richard Conti were introduced and gave short talks on the Little League, its history, plans, procedure and future. Robert Hodges and Vandy French modeled the uniforms that the Little Leaguers will wear. The first game will be a double-header, May 30th at Manchester Field. The Little League is sponsored by clubs and organizations in each town and there are now 3,333 Little Leaguers in the United States.

Dr. Harry L. Mueller gave a very amusing and informative talk on "Facts and Fancies in Allergy". He pointed out that practically everyone has an allergy and detailed the modern treatment of them.

Delicious sandwiches and coffee were served by Mrs. Arthur Schmidt, the social chairman, and Mrs. Robert Orr.

Winchester friends of Lt. Peggy Carroll of the WAVES, presently located in Washington, will be pleased to learn that she is on Admiral Fechtler's staff and is stationed at the Pentagon. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Carroll of Lincoln street and the sister of Helen Jay Carroll, who is director of Physical Education and coach of girls at Winchester High School.

The following Cubs of Pack 9, Winchester, won the "Walking Plank": Bobby Gardner, Jan Havarth, Harry Bar, Richard Watkins, Charles Carr, and Billy Leighton. The Cubs of Pack 1, Winchester, presented a novel skit entitled "Flag Raising on Two Jims". The following Cubs participated: Chip Mead, Bill Wilson, Billy Burrows, Carl Mason, Dickie Bates, John Miller, and Joseph Albani.

Bugling preliminaries for Scouts were won by Troop 3, Winchester, Troop 6, Winchester, Troop 4, Medford.

Cub Pack 7 of Stoneham presented a colorful "Snack Sea Island Skit" depicting a "jungle dance".

Pack 9, Winchester won over 11 teams in the tug-of-war. The hard pulling Cubs were: Russell Anderson, Anthony Albani, Joseph Albani, Thomas A. Black, Roger Mitchell, William Wilson, William Burrows, Michael Brink, John Miller, and David Bates.

Fifteen teams competed in the fire by flint and steel preliminaries. Winchester Troops swept this event; Troop 12 winning first place, Troop 3 second, Troop 4 third, and Troop 7 fourth.

Two first aid demonstrations were presented. Troop 4 of Winchester conducted a demonstration of "Stretcher Bearing" by Scouts Quentin Roberts, John Watkins, James Downes, James Guire, David Melan, John Zerk, and Howard Bates. Troop 6, Woburn, demonstrated "Artificial Respiration".

The preliminaries in the Rope Climb for Explorers was won by Troop 6, Woburn, Troop 7, Medford, and Post 8, Medford.

Troops 6, 7, and 3 of Winchester; Troop 24, Medford; and Troop 5, Stoneham; were knot-tying preliminary winners to compete in the evening finals.

Troops 4, 21, and 8 of Medford, and Troop 3 of Winchester won the preliminary Morse signalling competition. Troops 4, 8, 21, and 7 of Medford; Troops 3 and 12 of Winchester; and Troop 1 of Woburn won the preliminaries to the Scout tug-of-war contest in the evening.

The units going into the finals of the Rope Climb for Scouts were: Troop 5, Stoneham; Troop 3, Winchester; Troop 4, Winchester; and Troop 8, Medford. The preliminaries in the fire-by-friction contest were won by Troop 8 of Medford and Troop 12 of Winchester.

The afternoon program ended with the presentation of Blue Ribbon awards to the winners of the Cub contests described above. During the supper period, the Scouts and public viewed the hit movie, "Winchester '73", starring James Stewart.

Evening Program

Dean Harry P. Burden of Tufts College opened the evening program with a short and appropriate talk, followed by the pledge to the flag led by Eagle Scout John Becker of Troop 6, Winchester.

Opening the evening program were the Bugling finals with Tom Hooper of Troop 6, Winchester, proving himself the best bugler in the Council. Dave Gregory of Troop 4, Medford, was second, and John Chapin of Troop 3, Winchester, third.

Troop 3, Winchester; David Leavitt, Don Murray, Jerry Marks, and Larry Longworth won the fire by flint and steel final with Troop 4, Winchester, second; and Troop 7, Winchester third.

Morse signalling for Explorers was won by Troop 4 of Medford. Post 5, Medford, was second, and Troop 7, Medford, third.

Troop 7 of Medford presented a demonstration by its excellent Drum and Bugle Corps which got a big hand from the crowd for its excellent playing and perfect floor work.

The Explorers' fire by friction was won by Harold Anderson of Post 8, Medford. Richard Foster of Troop 7, Winchester, won second place. In the Scout Fire by friction contest, John McCarthy of Troop 12, Winchester, set a new record by lighting his fire in 21 seconds to beat Brooks Bowen, Troop 8, Medford.

The Explorers of Troop 7, Winchester, who have held the Council's fire by flint and steel championship for five years in a row, upheld their title in a closely fought contest. The Council champions are Stanley Mullen, Phillip Dresser, Cecil Pride, and Richard Foster of Winchester. Post 5, Medford, was second, and Troop 8, Medford, third.

Mr. Earl P. Haney of Winchester, former cowboy, arranged in full cowboy regalia to entertain the throng with his interesting and fascinating tales of western life. "Prairie Duke", as Mr. Haney is sometimes called, also demonstrated how to use a six-shooter and gave a convincing demonstration with the bull whip.

Troop 6 of Winchester won top honors in the Scout knot-tying competition with Scout knot-tyers in the Council when Peter Gowin, David Fortiere, Douglas Canning, Dan Adams, John Forward, Stevenson Davies, Kirby Baker, and Richard Niles competing. Troop 4, Medford, was second and Troop 5, Stoneham, third.

"Bucky" Walters, Coach of the Boston Braves, gave a talk that inspired both the boys and the adults, also presenting autographed baseballs to the Council's two top ticket sellers, David Robinson of Medford and George Denton of Winchester.

Troop 7, Medford, won the Explorer knot-tying contest with ease. Troop 21, Medford, was second, and Post 3, Medford, third.

Troop 7, Winchester, presented "Casey at the Bat". While Ed Galliano read the famous poem over the "mike", these Troop 7 Scouts acted out the scenes with the aid of a sheet and a flashlight.

Dick Low, Don Farnham, Bob Thompson, John Foster, Ben Carr, Albert Dushun and Roger Galotti as the mighty Casey.

The finals in Morse signalling by "wig-wag" were won by Troop 8, Medford. Troop 3, Winchester, was second, and Troop 21, Medford, third.

Explorer Bob Greenberg of Post 4, Medford, won the bugling contest over buglers from Troop 7, Medford, and Medford's Troop 4, second, and Troop 3, Winchester, third.

Explorer Post 5, Medford won the older boys' tug-of-war contest from Troop 7, Medford.

Scout Troop 12, Winchester, won the tug-of-war for Scouts, its team comprising Robert Winn, John DiBona, Kenny Keyes, James Walsh, Danny Doherty, Thomas Diviney, Peter Cullen, John McCarthy, Everett Mitchell and Billy McCormack. Troop 1, Woburn, was second, and Troop 4, Medford, third.

Then, in a solemn and impressive Court of Honor ceremony, P. Joseph Corrigan, President of Fellsland Council, presented the highest award in our organization, the Eagle badge — to these three Winchester Scouts: James Ekstrom and Richard Foster of Troop 7, and William Ross of Troop 6. The Eagle represents several years of concentrated devotion to Scouting and a thorough knowledge of Scouting skills, and these three lads have a right to feel proud of the new badges on their chests and the hearty applause they received from the large crowd who saw them attain their goal. In addition, the Council honored the following Eagle Scouts who won their badges during the past season: Earl Carrier, Henry Hooper, John Becker, Stanley Mullen, Robert Gaffney, and Theodore Elliott of Winchester; Robert Doherty, Robert Traer, James Haverly, and Christopher Russo of Woburn; and James Cokash and James Anderson of Medford.

Medford Troop 8 won the rope climb final with Troops 5 and 3, Stoneham, second, and Winchester's Troop 3, third.

The rope climb for Explorers was won by Troop 7, Medford, with Troop 5, Medford second; and Troop 6, Woburn third.

The presentation of the ribbons won by the boys throughout the day concluded the program.

BAY STATE HISTORICAL LEAGUE

Mr. Charles Tapley of Danvers presided at the largely attended Annual Meeting of the Bay State Historical League on Saturday, May 17 in Northampton at the Jonathan Edwards Church.

The young Chaplain of Smith College, the Rev. William Cole, gave an interesting sketch of the life of Johnathan Edwards, who was born in Connecticut in 1703, and died in 1765.

In 1751 he went to Stockbridge to preach and to be a missionary to the Housatonic Indians for six years. During that time he wrote the well known "Original Sin" and "Freedom of the Will". In 1758 he left to become President of Princeton University, but died of small-pox a short time later.

The Cornet Joseph Parsons House built in 1658 stands beside the Isaac Damon place built in 1812, and both are owned by the Historical Society and are filled with beautiful antiques, glass, china, silver, utensils, records and documents. They also had a most interesting collection in their museum in Memorial Hall, which included a costume worn by Mrs. Calvin Coolidge at an inaugural ball.

Tea was served by the well-known Dr. James Huntington at his summer home in Hadley, called "Forty Acres", and also known as the Porter Phelps Huntington House, as these related families are the only ones to live in this house built in 1752 and not changed since 1799. This makes it very valuable to students of Colonial architecture.

The members of the Winchester Historical Society attending were Mr. Frank Crawford, Mrs. Francis Smith (Helen Winn), Mrs. Rony Snyder, and the Misses Laura Tolman, Eleanor and Louise Bancroft.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NEWS

A date to remember is Wednesday, May 28. Mrs. John B. Wills, 238 Highland avenue will open her garden for the public from 2:00 to 4:30 p. m. for the benefit of "Cooperation With War Veterans' Committee." Refreshments will be served. Come and bring your friends.

Upon taking her new office Mrs. Wills paid tribute to the retiring president, Mrs. Richard W. Wyman, for her ability, untiring effort, and enthusiasm which have made the past two years outstandingly successful.

After the acceptance of the annual reports these officers were elected:

President, Mrs. James B. Wills; Secretary, Mrs. David W. Morse; Assistant Treasurer, Mrs. Austin T. Bunker.

Program, Mrs. Avery Weisman; Publicity, Mrs. Robert B. Lowry; Hospitality, Mrs. Ray E. Brown; Membership, Mrs. Richard W. Wyman.

Evening Study Groups — Mr. and Mrs. T. Kirby Davidson; Daytime Study Groups — Mrs. Pitirim A. Sorokin.

Dr. Robert Cummings, speaker of the afternoon, entertained the club with his account of his recent visit to the Pentagon, and gave them a clearer insight into many current national problems and policies.

Tea was served by the Wellesley alumnae.

WINCHESTER WOMEN'S COUNCIL

The Winchester Women's Council has sent out letters, this week, to all its members, explaining its plans for the coming year. The calendar which this group sponsors is a service which makes all members eligible to list dates of their future activities, so that they and their sister members may be informed of all events which they may wish to attend and may better avoid conflicting dates. This calendar, which has been at Mary Spaulding's Book Store, is being moved to the Winchester Library on June first, and entries may be telephoned to the Main Desk or written down in person at the desk.

As soon as it can be compiled, a list of the Presidents and Secretaries of all member organizations will be sent to each group. If we have overlooked any women's organization in town in our mailing, we should be more than happy to include you. For information call Mrs. James H. deRevere, Secretary, Winchester 6-1877.

WHS 1927 REUNION

Plans are now complete to hold the reunion of the Winchester High School Class of 1927 at the Music Hall on Bacon street Friday evening, June 13.

Kenneth Cullen of 24 Stevens street is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements, with Lucia McKenzie of 24 Symmes road, secretary. Either will appreciate addresses of classmates away from Winchester.

SCOUTING THE SCOUTING ROUND-UP

The gym and "baseball cage" at Tufts College in Medford was a busy place last Saturday, May 17th, when the Scouts and Cubs of Fellsland Council, comprising the towns of Winchester, Stoneham, Woburn, Medford and Burlington, presented their 26th annual Scouting Round-Up. Elsewhere in this paper a complete report of the fast-moving program is given. In addition, here are a few "off the cuff" items of interest noted by this reporter.

The Biology Dept. of Tufts College had an interesting booth on the human body. The body of a man, painted on a huge wooden board, explained the circulatory system by means of a clever arrangement of glass tubes with red liquid flowing through them. There was also a machine that tested spectators' sense of balance and muscle control. Tufts also had an Engineering Dept. exhibit featuring model road construction, and a well-presented exhibit by the Tufts Psychology Dept.

Lt. Charles McCarthy and Capt. R. Pate Ordway of Rescue No. 1, Medford Fire Department, gave their day off to present a fire protection exhibit. Scout Allen Osborne of Troop 7, Winchester, prepared a booth on forest fire prevention complete with posters and folders for distribution to the public. In addition, the Boston Fire Sparks Association had a fire prevention display with actual fire boxes and a fire station "register" in operation.

Shirley Wilson and Barbara Raymond of Winchester were the attractive attendants in charge of an interesting booth sponsored by Winchester Civil Defense that highlighted a Geiger Counter in operation.

Les Hines, Scoutmaster of Troop 8, West Medford, was kept busy helping his boys operate a busy "Journalism" booth that published special editions of Troop 8's "Bugle" newspaper at regular intervals throughout the show.

The center of the baseball cage was devoted to some interesting camping exhibits, one of the most spectacular of which was a 20 foot signal tower made of tree limbs and lashed together with rope without a single nail by the Explorers of Post 8, Medford.

Other camping exhibits included an actual Baker tent and fireplace erected by John Swazey, Tom Hooper, John Becker and Peter Gowing of Troop 6, Winchester; a campsite of 5 actual pup tents and two fireplaces erected by Troop 5, Medford; a Baker tent campsite by Post 5, Medford; a mountain tent and mounted photos of the troop's camping trips by Troop 5, Stoneham; two Baker tents and a reflector fireplace by Troop 3, Winchester, under the supervision of Edgar Hinton, Scoutmaster, assisted by Andy Harting, John Chapin, David Levitt, Don Murray, David Sweetser and Benny Johnston, plus other Troop 3 Scouts; and an excellent Baker tent campsite by Troop 12 of Winchester.

Pack 1 of Winchester had a Cub Handicraft booth featuring model planes and stamp collections by Cubs Billy Burrows, Bill Wilson, Roger Mitchell and other Pack 1 Cubs under the supervision of Cubmaster Black of Winchester.

Pack 5, Stoneham, had another fine handicraft booth under the supervision of their Den Mothers. Pack 7, Stoneham, had a unique and fascinating Cub booth featuring a puppet and marionette theatre.

Pack 11 of Woburn had an unusual Indiancraft booth featuring a full-size teepee and dozens of genuine "tom-toms" made by the Cubs themselves.

The Cubs of Pack 21 in Medford had a double-size Handicraft booth highlighting a model forest fire scene and a model western ranch complete with cowboys and horses.

A free week at Camp Fellsland, the Council's summer camp in Amesbury, was won by these boys for selling the most tickets to the Round-Up: Dave Robinson, Troop 8, Medford, 235 tickets; George Denton, Troop 3, Winchester, 201 tickets; and Richard Niles, Troop 6, Winchester, 200 tickets.

William Davies of Winchester, Chairman of the Judging Committee, "imported" a group of judges from other Scout Councils, experts in the many different Scouting and Cubbing skills. The judges were headed by Thomas Duncan of Boston Council and included Ralph Ricker, Walter Dolbier, Lt. Robert Erickson and Jack Glavin of Salem Council; Benjamin Nathan of Boston Council; Albert Crapeau of Haverhill Council; Charles Gallagher of Swampscott Council; and Robert W. Harvey of the North Shore Council.

Troop 1 of Woburn had an interesting display of Handicraft made by the boys, and Squadron 4 of Stoneham had a double booth on Aviation. This unit is one of the few in this part of the country who specialize in aviation.

WINCHESTER GIRL WAC OFFICER AT DEVENS

It should be of interest to Winchester generally and to newly inducted Winchester boys in particular that the lady officer those who go to Fort Devens see in the Reception Center there is likely to be 2nd Lt. Pauline T. Donahue of Winchester, who is one of three WAC officers at Devens. She is assistant to the Adjutant General at Fort Devens and Executive Officer of the WAC detachment there, comprising two officers and 25 enlisted women, most of whom have duties at the Reception Center.

Lt. Donahue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Donahue of Mystic avenue, completed her officer training at Fort Lee in early February and spent a month in recruiting activities at Hartford, Conn. Then she went to Fort Devens, well known to her family since her father and her brothers, Fred, Jr., and Robert, spent the opening days of their Army service there, and all were discharged from the Fort.

That Lt. Donahue has lost none of the good looks her Winchester High School classmates will remember is attested by the fact that she was chosen by Brig. Gen. Meyers, commanding officer at Fort Devens, to model for WAC uniforms in a special exhibition on the parade grounds at the Fort on Armed Forces Day.

Arthur L. Griffin of Euclid avenue, won third prize for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch in the color division of the 1952 NPPA Photographic Contest. News Photographers from all over the United States submitted more than 1,500 photographs to be judged.

ON TEST TRIP OF SS UNITED STATES

Mr. W. H. Dermot Townley-Tilson, manager of the Pocahontas Steamship Company of Boston, was one of the official guests last week on the test cruise of the SS United States, which sailed out of Newport News, Va., on Wednesday and was at sea Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The cruise was momentous since the magnificent new United States broke the official world's speed record established by the Queen Mary.

The guests, among whom were the Governor of Virginia and Vincent Astor, were royally entertained during the test cruise. Mr. Townley-Tilson believes the United States is the most comfortable as well as the fastest passenger boat now afloat.

The Highway Department has been busy this week painting street markings and signs about the center.

Eighteen Models of Other Makes of Cars Cost More!

Official price lists show that there are eighteen different models of American motor cars, produced by five separate automotive manufacturers, which actually cost more than the lowest-priced Cadillac—when similarly equipped.

If you find this difficult to believe—then you're in good company!

For the record also shows that, during the past few years, literally hundreds of thousands of motorists have taken title to these costlier models. And there can be little doubt that many of them did so simply because they failed to realize how relatively modest the cost of a Cadillac can be.

They simply assumed that exclusive in quality means exclusive in price! And it is doubtful if a single misunderstanding ever cost so many motorists so much!

It cost them, first of all, the satisfaction of owning a Cadillac! For there is no substitute for the sense of pride and well-being that comes from owning a motor car that is universally recognized as the "Standard of the World."

It cost them, too, the pleasure of driving a Cadillac! And this, beyond any question, is the greatest penalty of all! For in missing out on the many thrills to be found behind its wheel—they're missing out on motoring's finest rewards.

And, of course, it also cost them Cadillac's many long-range economies—its almost unbelievable gasoline mileage, its unsurpassed dependability, and its legendary long life.

We know that you wouldn't want to make such a costly mistake in the selection of your next car. But you'd better be careful—because there are eighteen different ways to make it!

So when the time comes—investigate! And if you pay the price of a Cadillac—be sure that you get one!

'STATE OF THE UNION' ENTERTAINS CAPACITY AUDIENCES

A travesty on personal integrity, "State of the Union" by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse held for the body politic a peculiar fascination in an election year. As presented by the Unitarian Players under the very capable direction of Mr. Robert A. Storer in Metcalf Hall last Friday and Saturday evenings before capacity audiences, this popular stage play of a few years ago was revised to "reflect the political issues of the year 1950."

In general, the theme of "State of the Union" is conflict. It is a conflict between the honest convictions of an aspirant to the highest elective office in the land and the political expediency of professional vote getters. More than that, it is a conflict caused by abuse of the great democratic process known as freedom of speech.

A man with high regard for the truth in statecraft, Grant Matthews (William E. Spaulding) has one blot on his family escutcheon, a too well known acquaintance with an influential newspaper, a woman, divorcee Kay Thornydyke (Jacqueline H. Sibley), without whom he is unlikely to be elected and with whom he will lose his appeal as a family man. On the other hand, the dilemma is his wife, Mary Matthews (Lucille Townley-Tilson) who, cool at first to the speech-making of her semi-estranged husband, thaws to his honest appeal to the good sense of Americans and leads him away from moral deterioration, a likely consequence if he heeds the advice of campaign manager James Conover (John A. Ricker, Jr.) and public relations man Spike MacManus (Bradford Darling).

Grant Matthews' decision to do what he believes will strengthen America, particularly the American home, creates the satisfactory ending.

Despite its length, "State of the Union" ran smoothly from beginning to end, even the extensive scenery changes between the acts were accomplished smoothly and efficiently by the large stage crew. The Saturday evening audience saw a first act in which the running time was shortened an estimated ten minutes.

As James Conover, the man with his finger on the public pulse, who knows which issues to discuss and which issues to avoid, Mr. Ricker did a superlative job, playing the role straight and not as a comic.

Bradford Darling, as Spike MacManus, publicity man, had to be constantly on and off stage and, though given the situations "to steal the scene", avoided the pitfall. Jacqueline Sibley, as Kay Thornydyke, was attractive, politically astute, and glamorous to a degree, but not too glamorous.

Mr. Spaulding, playing Grant Matthews, the business man willing to be "drafted" for the presidency, handled his role well, giving a sense of rightness that really set the pace of the entire play. A veteran of many Winchester stage productions, Mr. Spaulding was well cast and fulfilled expectations.

Charlotte Hill, as the maid Nora, led up to her biggest moment with an increasing vivacity, so that when she obligingly told Mrs. Matthews of Mrs. Thornydyke's recent visit to Mr. Matthews, she was in character.

Lucille Townley-Tilson was called on to change moods constantly and did her work so convincingly that she had the audience with her all the way. In the party scene and in her scene with Mrs. Alexander she was amusing, particularly by her "business" which, if overdone, could have distorted the theme of the play to make it appear comic.

Jack Mills and Prep Keyes as the bellboy and the waiter performed their duties carefully and on cue, appearing only when needed.

Mr. Allan Mowatt, as Sam Parrish, typified the effusive, hand-shaking successful business man. Richard Barnard, as Swenson, was a fitting symbol of the head waiter's craft.

Mr. Kenneth Hall, as Judge Alexander, adopted a very nice accent to fulfill his role as self-important judge and as wife prescriber Mrs. Alexander was perfect in her role and she, too, took full advantage of her amusing characterization while using remarkable restraint.

Diana Mansfield, making only a brief appearance in a subordinate part as Jenny, was poised and adequate.

Mrs. Draper, portrayed by Irene L. Kline, and William Hardy by P. Eric Anderson, were performed well as dinner guests and leaders of pressure groups. Senator Lauterback, a tall and stately politician trading on party respectability, was effectively recreated by J. Chandler Hill.

Changes of the scenery designed by George Hayden, Jr., represented a bedroom in Mr. Conover's home in Washington, the living-room of a Detroit hotel-suite, and the Matthews' living-room in a New York apartment building.

FORMER WINCHESTER RESIDENT OUTSTANDING SUGAR EXECUTIVE

Earl Boden Wilson, born in Winchester May 30, 1891, is recognized nationally as one of the outstanding executives of the sugar industry. The son of John Thomas and Pleasantine (Cushman) Wilson, he started his career at the age of 19 as a surveyor in Alaska and the southwestern part of the United States. In 1916 he joined the U.S. Army and, after serving during the entire period of the First World War, was discharged in 1919 with the rank of major of cavalry.

Mr. Wilson entered the sugar business with the firm of Ham and Seymour of New York City in 1920. Advancing steadily within the industry during the ensuing years, he was elected vice-president of the National Sugar Refining Company in 1929, which office he held until 1943, when his services were made available to the Federal Government for the duration of the Second World War. In the latter connection he served in such capacities as principal industrial specialist for the War Production Board, consultant to the Board of Economic Warfare, and director of the sugar division of the Commodity Credit Corporation, U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Since 1946 Mr. Wilson has been president and director of the California and Hawaiian Sugar Refining Company, with headquarters in San Francisco. In addition, he is a member of the board of directors of the Wells Fargo Bank-Union Trust Company, also of San Francisco.

Mention should also be made of the fact that he holds membership in the Sons of the American Revolution, Society of Mayflower Descendants and the American Legion; and he is widely known as the author of "Sugar and its War-time Controls from 1941 to 1947."

Married to Margaret Peew in 1920 and the father of three children, Mr. Wilson makes his home in Burlingame, California.

KIDDIE LAND

The new turnpike Kiddie Land on Route 2, Concord turnpike in Cambridge, next to the Bowladrome, is now open. It is a perfect place to entertain the children and parents, too, for a couple of hours. Ideal, too, for birthday parties, church and school events and special celebrations. All the popular rides — big merry-go-round, old-fashioned buggy cart ride, fascinating kiddie whip, a real water boat ride, thrilling airplane rides and auto rides just like Daddy's. Kiddie Land is now open daily at noon, Saturday at 10 a.m., with plenty of parking space. Remember, Kiddie Land, Route 2, Concord Turnpike, Cambridge, next to the Bowladrome.

MAY LUNCHEON

The graduating class of St. Mary's School held its May luncheon on Wednesday afternoon, May 21st. The dining hall was decorated with an assortment of multicolored balloons. The class colors, blue and gold, were prominently displayed. A center-piece of sweet peas graced each table together with a class flower for each graduate. As the pupils marched in, the grand march, "Our Director," was sparkingly played by Janice Reardon.

Grace was offered by Rev. Dr. John P. Jordan. A delightful chicken pie luncheon was served by Mr. Stratford, who proved to be a most congenial caterer. The Sisters of St. Mary's School were present during the festivities.

Francis Valour, class president and winner of a four year scholarship to Matignon High School, addressed the class. Following the address, the graduates presented a musical. Piano selections were played by Maureen Looney, "Waltz Reflections"; Eunice A. Maletta, "Swaying Daffodils"; Margaret Werner, "Two Guitars"; Janice Reardon, "Saltarelle Caprice"; Mary Supple, "Scherzo in E Minor"; and Andrew Connolly, "Habenero" from "Carmen." JUNIOR FLORENCE CRITTENTON ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Winchester Junior Circle Florence Crittenton League was held May 20th at the charming home of Mrs. John K. Colony, 6 Mystic Valley Parkway.

In the absence of the President, Mrs. Moulton Herrick, and the Vice President, Mrs. William Speers, the business meeting was conducted by Mrs. R. M. Boutwell, Treasurer.

The past season was the most successful the Junior Circle has ever enjoyed. Money taken in from the projects of the year totaled more than $2300; and donations to Welcome House and the Maternity Home came to $1875, one of the largest gifts of a Junior Circle.

New officers for the coming year were elected and installed and they are: Mrs. Robert G. Ingraham, Jr., president; Mrs. William Speers, vice president; Mrs. Joseph Butler, secretary; Mrs. Richard Kirkpatrick, treasurer.

At the close of the business meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Charles R. Whitten and her committee. Pours were Mrs. Ronald Davis and Mrs. Donald McLean.

LITTLE LEAGUE OPENING DOUBLE HEADER MAY 30

At 1:30 p.m. on Friday, May 30th, the first ball will be pitched at Manchester Field to open a new adventure in sportsmanship and team play for Winchester youngsters. The opening game will be between the Yanks and Braves followed by the Dodger-Red Sox game.

The sixty boys making up the four teams were obtained by the individual managers who "purchased" the players at auction under the supervision of Mr. Kenneth Hall, Players' Agent, in accordance with National Little League rules and regulations. An indication that this system of choosing players is about as fair as can be devised is the interesting fact that all sections of the town and all school districts are evenly represented among the players.

The following statistics of the number of boys chosen from each school are interesting, particularly in view of the fact that no attempt could be made to select even numbers from each school:

Washington	8
Wellesley	7
Parkhurst	6
Lincoln	6
Wynan	5
Noonan	5
St. Mary's	15 (8 grades)
Junior High	7
St. Charles	1
Belmont Hill	1

The second double header will start at 2:00 p.m. on June 1st with Braves vs. Dodgers followed by Yanks vs. Red Sox.

The remaining games will be played on weekday evenings with the possible exception of postponed games.

Dr. F. Milne Blanchard, who was one of a party of Winchester gentlemen who spent last week fishing at Pierre Pond, Maine, is credited with taking one of the largest fish ever caught in that pond. He got an 8½ pound salmon, and at last reports is still fishing.

ARCHBISHOP VISITED
WINCHESTER MISSIONARIES

Archbishop Richard J. Cushing paid a visit last Sunday to the newly established Medical Missionaries of Mary on the former Jerre Downs estate on Myopia Hill, meeting the Mother General and the eleven nuns, seven of whom came from Ireland. In the immediate future a novitiate for postulants who wish to enter the order will be instituted on the estate.

The Medical Missionaries of Mary work in such far away spots as Tanganyika on the East Coast of Africa and Nigeria, on the West Coast, as well as in jungle areas. They serve leper colonies in Oregon, Abakaliki, Obudu, and kindred places. Among the 250 members of the order are Sister-Doctors and Nurses who prepare the young Medical Missionaries for their future apostolate.

Archbishop Cushing was met at the Downs estate by Rev. Fr. John P. O'Riordan, pastor of St. Mary's Parish, who welcomed him to the parish and accompanied him on his tour of inspection. The Archbishop celebrated solemn benediction in the room of the house now established as a convent, being assisted by Father O'Riordan as deacon, Rev. Fr. William H. Walsh as sub-deacon and Rev. Fr. Charles E. Anadore, deacon of exposition. The Mother General announced a public function of dedication and consecration in June, at which Archbishop Cushing will officiate.

It was through the invitation of the Archbishop that the Medical Missionaries came to Boston four years ago and located at 36 Commonwealth avenue. The Mother House of the order is at Drogheda, County Louth, Ireland, to which the Mother General returned this week. As Mary Martin of Dublin she founded the order in a humble home in Collon, County Louth, Ireland, and in 1940, at the invitation of Bishop O'Callahan, established Our Lady of Lourdes in Drogheda.

The order works in hospitals, doing both medical and dental work, having special training in maternity work and child welfare clinics as well as in the care of lepers.

The work of the Medical Missionaries has been so extensive and unique and beneficial, that the operations of the order have been factually produced in the film "Visitation" by Andrew Buchanan, but every detail of the moving picture was supervised and laid out by Mother Mary Martin, who took on the tremendous task of portraying the work in addition to her multiple administrative and spiritual callings.

With the return of the Mother General to Ireland the Winchester Community will be directed by the Superior Sister Mary Teresa.

WINCHESTER WOMAN
STRUCK BY CAR

Miss Ouida Kimbro of 15 Irving street was seriously injured shortly after 12:30 p.m. Sunday afternoon when she was struck by an automobile while crossing Cross street near the New Hope Baptist Church.

According to the police Miss Kimbro was crossing Cross street from the northerly to the southerly side of the street. The car that struck her was a Pontiac station wagon, owned by John and Robert Cummings of Cambridge road, Woburn.

The operator, Patricia V. McKinnon of Glenside avenue, Pinehurst, told the police she was driving east at the time of the accident, Miss Kimbro being struck by the right front fender of the car. With the operator were Lucy Colucci of 107 Swanton street, and Susan Borasso of 129 Mishawam road, Woburn. All three in the station wagon said they did not see Miss Kimbro until she was in front of the car.

Miss Kimbro was taken to the Winchester Hospital in the police ambulance by Patrolman Clarence Dunbury and firefighters James Haggerty and Michael Connolly. She was unconscious when she was placed in the ambulance, but had regained consciousness when she reached the hospital.

She was treated by Dr. Charles Rooney who found she had sustained a fractured right shoulder, two broken bones in her left leg, a concussion and numerous abrasions and contusions. It was reported Monday that she was getting along quite well despite her severe injuries.

ROBERT M. EDGAR

B & M. PROMOTION

The election of Robert M. Edgar of 21 Oxford street as Vice-President-Assistant to President, of the Boston and Maine Railroad effective June 1, was announced recently by T. G. Sughrue, President of the Road.

Mr. Edgar, who has been Assistant to the President since 1946 started his railroad career on the Boston and Maine in 1929 as a clerk in the Freight Traffic department. His record is one of steady advancement through different positions. In 1939, he was transferred to Montpelier, Vt., and in 1938 he was promoted to be Division Freight Agent of the road with headquarters in Concord, N. H. In 1941, he was made Assistant General Freight Agent at Boston and was appointed Assistant to the Vice-President in charge of Traffic of the Boston and Maine Railroad in 1942. In 1944, he was appointed Assistant to the Executive Vice-President of the Maine Central Railroad with headquarters in Portland.

In 1946, he was named Assistant to the President of the Boston and Maine Railroad, the position he has held until his present election to the position of Vice-President.

Mr. Edgar graduated from Dartmouth College in 1928, is a member of Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity and is President of the Dartmouth Alumni Association of Boston. He is a Director of the Boston Garden Arena Corporation, Boston Properties, Inc., and is a member of the New England Council and is a member of the Algonquin Club of Boston and the Cumberland Club of Portland.

He is married and has two children, Carolyn, a freshman at Middlebury College, and William, a pupil in Junior High School.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hanson of 25 Thompson street will observe their 28th wedding anniversary Sunday, June 1. The occasion will be observed quietly with a family gathering at the Hanson home.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanson were married in 1924 at Manchester-by-the-Sea. They have been residents of Winchester for the past three years. Previously they had lived in several parts of the country where Mr. Hanson was a professional pianist, doing solo work as well as playing in vaudeville and orchestras.

The Hansons have one son, Harold, Jr., having been in 1933. Mr. Hanson, who is of a quiet disposition, is much interested in charity work.

MISS RYAN ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Ryan of Winchester announce the engagement of their daughter, Eileen Ursula, to Mr. William F. Judge, son of Mrs. William F. Judge of West Somerville.

Miss Ryan is a graduate of Regis College and Mr. Judge studied at Harvard and Boston University. A late summer wedding is planned.

EN KA THANKS WINCHESTER

Aided and abetted to the fullest extent by Old Mother Nature and the townspeople of Winchester the En Ka Society was able to put on the most sensational fair in its history. On Friday evening the crowds began to gather and by Saturday noon one wondered if by any chance there were any residents left at home.

The parade, led by the high school band and composed of clowns, Committees and their cohorts, opened the Circus officially at 10 a.m. By that time the workers on the midway were ready to run the games of skill and the rides were started. The Auxiliary Police, under the direction of Robert A. Johnston, kept the crowds moving easily toward their whirling objectives and managed to keep a passageway clear for those who were intent on buying candy, cakes, gifts, or having their fortunes told thus enabling them to get to the various booths comfortably.

The Red Cross, headed by Francis Weaver and Gerald Hills, banded a number of scraped knees and at the other end of the Fair grounds in the last, William Wil, Maurice Kerr and Thomas Righter tried to locate the small owners of lost pocket books and the large owners of lost small fry.

BLOODMOBILE HERE THURSDAY

With the Red Cross Bloodmobile expected in Winchester next Thursday, June 5th, at the First Congregational Church from 7 p.m. to 7 p.m., the local chapter was very happy to receive the May Bulletin of the Middlesex East District Medical Society, which was forwarded by Dr. Roger M. Burgoyne today.

This interesting bulletin, which is circulated among the members of the district society, which includes Winchester, Woburn, Wilmington, Reading, Stoneham, Melrose and Wakefield, has a review of the four-year-old Red Cross Blood Program by E. Roland Harriman, President of the Red Cross.

"From August 1, 1950, to January 31, 1952, through Red Cross regional and defense programs, approximately 1,430,000 pints of blood were collected for the Department of Defense, and through regional programs nearly 1,966,000 pints were provided for defense through cooperating blood banks during the same period."

"After World War II, the Red Cross received 5,012,505 packages (250 cc. each) of salvaged war surplus plasma from the Army and Navy. The following table shows the distribution of dried plasma and the quantities of serum albumin and gamma globulin processed by the Red Cross and distributed through state health departments and regional blood centers."

	Totals	Commercial Value
Dried Plasma (1946-Dec. 1948)	250 cc. units 3,172,341	$63,446,820
Serum Albumin (Feb. 1947-Jan. 1952)	20 cc. units 13,382	107,056
100 cc. units 156,770	6,270,800
Immune Serum Albumin (Apr. 1944-Jan. 1952)	2 cc. units 3,261,362	13,045,448
		$82,870,124

This chart shows that the Red Cross has collected over eighty-two million dollars worth of blood, if it had to be bought on the commercial market. Through the Red Cross, however, all this blood is given to the patients — overseas and at home — free of charge. Sometimes there is a hospital charge for administering it, but the Red Cross never sells blood.

So won't you call your local chapter today and make an appointment for next Thursday. The number is Winchester 6-2709.

INJURED IN FALL AT STATION

Peter Kirk, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kirk of New Meadows road, was seriously injured Friday morning when he fell while driving on the iron fence between the tracks at Winchester Station.

Peter had been getting a ride to school since some one stole his bike, and last Friday his father drove him to Winchester Station, leaving him to walk the remainder of the way to the Junior High School where he is a pupil in the 8th grade.

Instead of using the overhead crossing, Peter, as many other boys often do, climbed the metal fence at the track level at a point almost in front of the outboard crossing. He got up after the fall but walked only a few steps when he fell again.

Waiting for a train at the station was Mr. Stuart Edington of Dix street who had seen Peter climb the fence and fall in getting down, but thought little of it until he saw him fall again after getting up.

His own familiarity with youngsters made Mr. Edington realize in a moment that something definitely was wrong with Peter and he immediately got over the fence himself and went to the boy's assistance.

He found Peter in great pain and lost no time in getting him into a taxi driven by Michael J. Quinn and accompanying him to the Winchester Hospital, using his only recently acquired knowledge of first aid obtained in one of the town's Civitan Club courses to ease the boy's pain as much as possible.

At the hospital Peter was attended by Dr. William F. Hickey, Jr., and by Dr. Richard E. Stiles. It was found he had sustained a ruptured right kidney and his condition was serious, continuing so through Saturday and Sunday. Following a transfusion, Peter improved and Monday afternoon he was admitted to the hospital as a patient of Dr. Stiles.

At the hospital Peter shared a room with Lt. Joseph Derro of the Police Department, waiting to go home after an operation. The police officer, as long as he remained at the hospital, did everything possible to make his youthful companion as contented and comfortable as possible.

PICTURES FOR HEMROULLE

As a gesture of reciprocity for the beautiful oil paintings sent the churches of Winchester by the people of Hemroulle, Belgium, a group of Winchester women, with the cooperation of Ernest Dudley Chase, is going to make it possible for Lt. Col. John D. Hanlon to make a return gift to the church in Hemroulle.

The pictures sent to Winchester during the World War II were very old paintings depicting the Stations of the Cross which had hung in the church in Hemroulle during the German invasion of the village in World War II.

They were sent to the Winchester churches, one to be hung in each, as constant reminders of the friendship existing between Winchester and Hemroulle.

It was the thought of the group of women, headed by Mrs. Whitelaw Wright and Mrs. Paul Howard, that it would be fitting to send to the people of Hemroulle pictures of the Winchester churches, in which their gift pictures hang.

Recalling pencil sketches of the town churches, done by Ernest Dudley Chase for publication in one of the engagement calendars published by the Winchester National Bank, the local ladies appealed to Mr. Chase for small reproductions of his work.

Instead Mr. Chase did fine individual reproductions of the churches, framing them suitably with non-breakable covering. Beautifully drawn, as is all the Chase art work, these pictures will be given to Col. Hanlon for his old friends in Hemroulle. For it was Col. Hanlon's borrowing of sheets from the people of the Belgium village to camouflage his troops during an engagement with the Germans in World War II led to the growing friendship between Hemroulle and Winchester.

MRS. MINNIE L. HARTSHORN

After a long illness, Mrs. Minnie L. Hartshorn, mother of Mrs. Frederick S. Hatch of 20 Jefferson road, died suddenly at the age of 84 on Sunday, May 25, in Manchester, N. H., where she had spent most of her life. A descendant of Major Andrew McClary who was killed in the Battle of Bunker Hill, she belonged to the Molly Stark Chapter of the D. A. R. She was an ardent worker in the First Congregational Church and a member of the Old Residents Association of Manchester.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Walter Joseph Donovan of 49 Granville road, Cambridge, and Marguerite Ann Shea of 193 M. V. Parkway, Joseph Agrippino Conti, 19 Sixth street, Medford, and Theresa Rose DiBenedetto, 29 Harvard street. Dominick Panaleo, 129 Mt. Vernon street, and Carmella Francis Femia, 108 Decatur street, Arlington.

ARIZONA SWORD AFOAT

George M. Byrne Did the Impossible

They said it couldn't be done! They said when the big freighter loaded with sulphur went down a year ago in the Cape Cod Canal it couldn't be gotten up whole, but Contractor George M. Byrne, a successful marine contractor whose home is at 4 Copley street, had completed two many difficult underwater jobs to believe the experts, at least absolutely. He gambled on his ability to perform the impossible, or at least the unlikely, and as a consequence he now owns the raised freighter and her cargo, together valued at $2,500,000. Most of the sulphur cargo had been removed by Mr. Byrne and his salvage crew before the vessel was raised.

In addition to the value of his salvage Mr. Byrne will receive $227,000, paid by the Army Engineers for clearing the hulk from the canal.

Through all sorts of wind and weather since last fall Mr. Byrne and his salvage crew worked at the herculean task of raising the Arizona Sword, sunk in a collision. Disappointment after disappointment was their lot, but each setback seemed only to increase their determination, and even with success staring at them, only ten days ago, when a vital pump broke down to stall operations, they refused to concede defeat. Patiently they worked to complete emergency repairs and patiently they continued their efforts to raise the big freighter until success crowned their efforts at 4:44 last Saturday, May 24, when the Arizona Sword was hoisted to the surface by the wild cheering of an estimated 2,000 persons, the honking of countless auto horns and the tooting of tugs standing by to aid.

George Byrne had done it again! The 82-year-old former chairman of the Board of Selectmen knew he had been in a scrap, but then, there are few things Mr. Byrne enjoys more than a real fight against odds. He admitted when you tackle the forces of nature, especially at sea, you are asking for trouble and generally get it, and didn't brag over his success in raising the Arizona Sword.

He did brag, his salvage crew highly, saying they are "the best bunch of men a man could have!" They would have to be to stay with their "skipper".

SELLERS MARKET LONG TIME
WINCHESTER BUSINESS

When Sellers Market closed the doors of its shop on Washington street at the end of business last week one of Winchester's oldest uninterrupted businesses run by one family went out of existence.

John Seller, whose granddaughter, the former Olive Seller, is married to the most recent head of the business, Donald R. Wilkins, opening the new Sellers Market, previously he had conducted a market in Woburn.

In Woburn he had associated with him in the business his son, Albert, and when the father died, he took over the business, conducting it successfully for 40 years until his death on November 11, 1948. During most of those 40 years Albert's brother, Herbert B. Seller, who was with him in the business, being an expert meat cutter, Herbert died in April of 1945.

Sellers Market through the years always stood for quality at reasonable prices. It enjoyed the patronage of many long established Winchester families who found its business standards to their liking and who enjoyed the friendly mutual interest that has been part of the old line small business establishment staffed with home town people.

Many will regret that the health of the most recent proprietor has necessitated the closing of the old line small business establishment staffed with home town people.

FIRST BAPTIST
STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL

On Tuesday evening, June 3, the Eight-O'clock Couples Club of First Baptist Church will sponsor another strawberry festival, to be held on the lawn of the parsonage at 15 Fairmount street. Strawberries, ice cream, coffee and cookies will be served.

This event has become one of the most popular affairs of the church year and a large gathering is anticipated. In case of rain, the festival will be held the following evening, Wednesday, June 4. All First Baptist adults, youths and young people are cordially invited.

FLAG DAY

The Winchester Lodge of Elks will hold its annual Flag Day exercises on Friday evening, June 13th. The program will commence with a parade from the town hall to Manchester Field at 7 p.m. Many local organizations will join with the Elks and the music will be furnished by the Woburn City Band and the Immature Connection Drum and Bugle Corps. A complete detail of the program will be announced at a later date. The Elks invite all townspeople to join with them in a tribute to the American Flag.

FORBES H. NORRIS

ELECTED ROTARY INTERNATIONAL GOVERNOR

Forbes H. Norris, Superintendent of Schools in Winchester, was elected Governor of the 28th District of Rotary International, world-wide service club organization, at Rotary's 43rd Annual Convention, which concluded its sessions in Mexico City, Mexico, yesterday. He will serve for the 1952-53 fiscal year and will take office July 1st.

Dr. Norris has been active in the work of the Community Chest, Red Cross, Y. M. C. A. and Boy Scout organizations in Winchester. He is a member of the Rotary Club of Winchester.

As a District Governor, he will visit the 32 Rotary Clubs in the 28th District, one of five in Massachusetts, to advise on Rotary service activities and administration. With the continued growth of the Rotary organization in all parts of the world, Rotary membership today stands at an all-time high. More than 356,000 business and professional executives are members of 7,500 Rotary Clubs in 83 countries.

The activities of all Rotary Clubs are directed toward the betterment of communities, the promotion of high standards in business and professional life, and the advancement of international understanding and peace. A current activity of world-wide interest is the Rotary Foundation Fellowship program, which provides grants for one year of study abroad, as ambassadors of good will, to outstanding college graduates. In the six years since this program was established, Rotary Fellowships have been awarded to 394 young men and women from 48 countries, with grants amounting to more than $1,000,000.

BARBEAU — MEIGS

At the home of her parents on Saturday afternoon, May 24, Miss Melissa Elizabeth Meigs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Remington Meigs of Hancock street, was married to Wilfred H. Barbeau, Jr., of Boston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred H. Barbeau of Smith street, Haverhill. The Rev. John R. Cook of the Second Congregational Church officiated at the 2 o'clock ceremony and the bridal music was played by Mrs. Edith Bolster.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of nylon tulle, fashioned with a Chantilly lace bodice and panels of matching lace. Her fingertip veil was caught to a helmet of Chantilly lace and she wore matching lace mitts, and carried a sunburst bouquet of lilies of the valley centered with pink sweet peas.

Miss Jennifer A. Meigs of Winchester was her sister's only attendant. She wore a ballerina-length dress of aqua nylon tulle with a shoulder stole and a matching cape with a face veil. Her sunburst bouquet was of pink roses.

Kenneth Liatos of Springfield, college roommate of the bride, was best man, and the ushers were Clarke Robinson of Mt. Prospect, Illinois, cousin of the bride; and George M. DeCamp of Winchester.

A reception was held at the home immediately after the ceremony, the parents of both the bride and bridegroom assisting in receiving. Mrs. Meigs, mother of the bride, wore navy lace with a bolero and matching hat. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Barbeau, was also gowned in navy.

After a brief wedding journey Mr. and Mrs. Barbeau will live on Beacon Hill in Boston.

Both the bride and bridegroom graduated from Bates College in the class of 1951, and Mr. Barbeau, who is an editorial writer for New England Council in Boston, has just completed graduate studies at the Boston University School of Public Relations. Mrs. Barbeau graduated from Winchester High School in 1947.

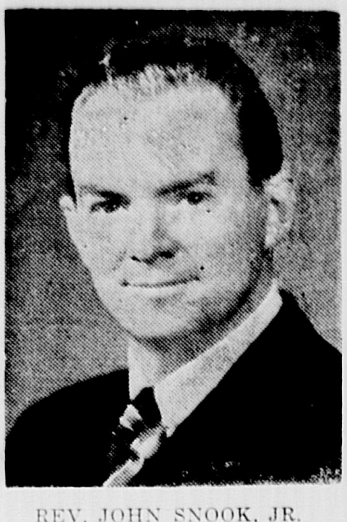

EPHAPHY RECTOR RESIGNS

It was with deep regret that the vestry of the Parish of the Epiphany accepted on Sunday the resignation of the Rev. Dwight W. Hadley as rector. The resignation, effective August 1, was necessitated by ill health. Mr. Hadley has been rector for the past 21 years, and the parish, as well as the community, will miss his influence.

Recent
Births

Mrs. and Mrs. Burdette Crawford Poland of Princeton, New Jersey, announce the birth of a son, Bruce Crawford Poland, their first child on May 10 at the Princeton Hospital. The paternal grandmother is Mrs. Seymour Markle Jenkins of New York City (the former Georgiana Crawford of this town), and the baby is the great-grandson of Mr. Frank E. Crawford of Winchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert B. Moore of Brighton are the parents of a son, Jeffrey Alan, born May 22 at the Wyman House. Mrs. Moore is the former Martha Fay, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Fay of Fells road. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lewis K. Moore of Penn road.

REV. JOHN SNOOK, JR.

REAPPOINTED TO WINCHESTER

Rev. John Snook, Jr., pastor of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church, was reappointed to serve the Winchester Church for another year at the annual New England Conference of the Methodist Church held at Worcester.

Rev. Snook is a graduate of Asbury College, Wilmore, Kentucky, and Boston University School of Theology. He served at Marblehead during his student days at the school of theology and was then appointed to Winchester. While attending college in Kentucky, he served several suburban churches.

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATION

The Senior class has selected Manchester Field for its graduation exercises which will be held on June 8, beginning at 6:30 p.m. In the event of inclement weather, the no-school signals (2-2) will be sounded, and the exercises will be postponed to the first good day following.

Rehearsals for graduation will be held next week for most of the class. A special rehearsal for the entire class will be held at 7 p.m. on June 6 for the convenience of those students who are already at work.

Class night is scheduled for 6 p.m. on June 7 in the high school gymnasium.

WINS OBERLIN SCHOLARSHIP

Richard Rush, Winchester High School senior and son of Captain and Mrs. Richard M. Rush of Woodside road, has been awarded a four-year, full-tuition scholarship at Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio. An honor scholarship, this is one of approximately 20 given by the college each year on the basis of outstanding academic achievement, personal recommendations, and a need.

PARTY FOR MISS BUCCI

Miss Barbara Bucci, teller at the Winchester National Bank, left the bank at the close of work Thursday in anticipation of her marriage to Albert Curran of Woburn at St. Anthony's Church in North Woburn on June 7.

Her associates at the bank gave her a party and a gift Wednesday afternoon, with ice cream and cake being served at the conclusion of the festivities.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

The annual meeting of the Winchester Garden Club was held on Thursday, May 22, at the beautiful home of Mrs. Harold F. Meyer, the landscaper of the grounds sloping down to the lake a delight to see, with the azaleas and rhododendrons and lilies of the valley bordering the paths, and red dogwood and the first rose to bloom, the lovely little yellow rosa hugonis, adding its fragrance to the air. Dessert was served by the hostess, the dining table a picture, with its artistic arrangement of gerbera and lilies of the valley, and the beautifully decorated cakes, with coffee poured by Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini. At the annual meeting, presided over by the retiring president, Mrs. Charles R. Main, the following officers were elected:

President—Mrs. Samuel B. Kirkwood
Vice President—Mrs. Harold F. Meyer
Recording Secretary—Mrs. Angelo W. Ghirardini
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Arthur Pitman

Treasurer—Mrs. Waldo V. Lyon
The program for the afternoon, presented by Mrs. Laura S. Cochran of the Powers School, was not along the line of self-improvement, which seemed to appeal to her audience. The club was also fortunate in having as guests two members of the State Federation of Garden Clubs, Mrs. Alfred D. Cole, President, and Mrs. Richard R. Greer, Director of the East Middlesex District. They spoke briefly of their work and their interest in the different clubs and their activities.

The Winchester Garden Club has reason to be proud of two of the members who have recently received awards for their exhibits, the new president, Mrs. Samuel B. Kirkwood, whose exhibit in the Invitation Class of the State Federation of Garden Clubs at R. H. Stearns at Chestnut Hill won a gold medal; and Mrs. Norman M. Mitchell, a former president, who received first prize in the class for Neighboring Garden Clubs in the Spring Flower Show of the Women's City Club, and the tricolor, which is awarded for the best exhibit in the show.

The Winchester Postoffice recently received its third new mail delivery and collection truck from the Government.

EXHIBITION BY STUDIO GUILD

In the ninety pictures in the Studio Guild's biennial exhibition on May 23rd, many mediums, techniques and subjects are employed. Black and white drawings, watercolors, oils and gouache make an interesting variety, while the subjects, including abstracts, landscapes, still lifes, portraits, humorous pictures and flower studies, add to the versatility of the group.

Two semi-abstracts by the director, Elizabeth Lobincier, are the best part of the show. Among her many styles, these represent her newest type of painting, fresh and vigorous with the emphasis on beautifully developed rhythm of form and color.

In the oil group the still lifes are painted well. Helen Enman's "Box Lunch" and Margaret Bailey's "Still Life" show excellent drawing and understanding of texture. Geneva Underwood's palette knife painting of "Fruit and Pottery" is fresh and brilliant.

The water colors far outstrip the other pictures. In this medium many of these amateurs show definite promise of professional standing. They are all so lovely, that it is hard to pick those outstanding. However, for a purely personal opinion, we choose Adelaide Bratt's "Tulips" as the best one, full of emotion, fresh and beautiful in every way. Emily Mark's "Fall in New Hampshire" and her "Long Beach Reef" are delightful pictures, painted with inspiration and assurance. A semi-abstract, "Study in Green and Blue", by Isabel Monks, give great pleasure.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle B. Elliott of Toledo, Ohio, were in Winchester over the week-end, stopping with Mrs. Elliott's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Ives, Jr.

FRUIT AND FLOWER MISSION

Once again it is the season of the year when we are invited to share our gardens with those who are less fortunate.

To many aged or ill persons who are shut-in at home or in the hospital in the city of Boston the weekly arrival of a blossom or two means more pleasure than we can realize.

The Fruit and Flower Mission was established in 1869 by Miss Helen Tinkham, a Milton teacher who visualized the joy that could be brought to beauty-starved tenement house dwellers. She organized a small group of women who met each week to make up the bouquets. The Massachusetts Horticultural Society became interested in the work and the Trustees offered the use of a room in their building for permanent headquarters.

Hampers are sent to railroad stations of many suburban towns and are shipped to the city free of charge by the railroads. They are delivered to Neighborhood centers where volunteers arrange and distribute the contents.

Winchester is organized for her part in this pleasant work under the capable leadership of Mrs. Robert B. Williams. Following is the schedule of dates for the churches and garden clubs together with the name of the chairman of each group.

June 3 - 10 Crawford Memorial Methodist Church, Mrs. Leonard Griffiths, Winchester 6-1950-J
June 3-11, Mrs. Richard A. Smith, Winchester 6-3514
June 24 Unitarian Church, Mrs. Miller E. Miller, Winchester 6-1211
July 1 - 8 Second Congregational Church, Mrs. Bony Snider, Winchester 6-2005
July 15 Winchester Garden Club, Mrs. John B. Willis, Winchester 6-1222
July 22 Winchester Home and Garden Club, Mrs. John B. Willis, Winchester 6-1222
July 29, August 5, First Congregational Church, Mrs. John B. Willis, Winchester 6-1222
August 12, St. Mary's Church, Mrs. W. G. Laird, Winchester 6-2670
August 19 Church of the Epiphany, Mrs. Gerald Y. Hills, Winchester 6-1165
August 26 St. Mary's Church, Mrs. W. G. Laird, Winchester 6-2670
September 2-9 New Hope Baptist Church, Mrs. Simon Barksdale, Winchester 6-1728-W
September 16-23 First Baptist Church, Mrs. Roswell Harding, Winchester 6-2948-M
September 30 Church of the Epiphany, Mrs. Maxwell McCreary, Winchester 6-2092

Hampers to receive our gifts of flowers, vegetables or fruit will be at the Winchester Railroad Station every Tuesday during June, July, August and September, except June 17, which is a holiday. Flowers should be at the station not later than 8:30 a. m.

AUXILIARY POLICE NOTES
This is the first time this column has appeared under our new masthead, which is the work of one of our members, Jay Kilian. Reproducing an Auxiliary Police badge, it makes an attractive heading, which will identify this column henceforth.
Townspeople visiting the En Ka Street Fair had a good opportunity to see their Auxiliary Police in action. Making themselves useful in many different ways, those participating certainly aided in keeping traffic unobstructed, assisting people across the street, and maintaining order in the grounds. Two Auxiliaries led the high school band in the circus parade Saturday morning, which officially opened the fair, and added to the colorful appearance.
Next Friday, Memorial Day, the Auxiliary Police have been invited to participate in the parade, and will take part in both the march to Calvary and to Wildwood.
At two of our recent meetings, Dep. Chief Wadsworth showed movies. One meeting featured the Secret Service film, "The Secret Service Story," which was most interesting, showing the training required for a new member before being accepted into this organization. The film was obtained through the courtesy of the Aetna Casualty Co. The second meeting, scenes of the April air raid test featuring local activity, held the interest of all. The Auxiliary Police certainly figured prominently in this film. Two other pictures were also shown, one on the atom bomb, and the other one, a war training film.

At the morning test raid, held May 15th, 20 members of the Auxiliary Police reported for duty. This bodes well for the town, should an actual emergency ever arise.
We welcome back our volunteer secretary, Betty Titilash. The records will be kept in much better fashion from now on.
There is still an opportunity for a few more placements in the Auxiliary Police force. If you are interested in police work, shooting, traffic control, and serving your town in a highly interesting manner, apply at the Pistol Range, which is located on Park street, next to the Thrift Shop, on Thursday evenings from 7:30 on, or to the regular Police Station, where further information may be obtained. It is a genuine satisfaction to belong to an organization that is public-spirited and active, and you will enjoy your association with the Auxiliary Police, we are sure.

Miss Janice Mary McCarthy of 7 Stevens street received the Associate in Commercial Science degree from Boston University College of Practical Arts and Letters at special exercises held Thursday, May 29, for students who have completed their two year course at this, and the College of Music. About 120 men and women received degrees from the two colleges.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Mrs. Edmond Wright, who was general chairman of our most successful Fashion Show this month, announces that the pictures taken of the event have been on display at Filene's. Orders for copies may be left with the clerk at the credit desk downstairs.

In reporting this all-Scout event we neglected to give due credit to one of our most talented Senior Scouts, Sheila Scanlon. It was Sheila who designed and produced the appropriate posters that were used as the theme of the show. Mrs. Eugene Pollard and Mrs. Alexander Aiken were responsible for arranging the flowers. Other members of the general committee were Mrs. Thomas Hill, Mrs. Austin Nanny, Mrs. Robert Low and Mrs. Daniel Gaynor.

A little good weather brings in a flock of reservations for the picnic in the cabin—some for overnights and some for day programs. The troops led by Mrs. Beal, Mrs. Lawson and Mrs. Dallen are on the list for May. Mrs. Cullen's Troop invited their boy friends and Troop 50 and their friends as guests for an evening of dancing at the Cabin Saturday, May 17.

The Washington School rally was such a success that we foresee other schools adapting this excellent plan. The Dads' Club proved their interest by doing a mighty fine job of decorating. All Brownies and Scouts of this school were included in the program and, judging by the crowd, each Scout was accompanied by both parents.

Once again our Scouts welcome the opportunity to show, in a tangible way, the thanks we owe to the En Ka Society. We are on the receiving end so often that we always look forward to the annual Street Fair so that we may show by our patronage that we appreciate the continued interest and support of En Ka.

In a very informal discussion of schools and Scouting, those attending the association meeting learned just what cooperation has accomplished, as well as areas in which more cooperation can be developed. The five members of the panel were generous enough to answer questions, and we want them to know that we are most grateful for their contributions.

Parade Plans are: No Brownies may parade, only Scouts in uniform and accompanied by Leaders

WINCHESTER CITIZENS MEMORIALIZED

Gifts in memory of 15 former Winchester citizens were made to the Massachusetts Heart Association during the past six months to help in the conquest of heart disease, Charles A. Gates, executive director said yesterday.

Those honored by family, friends and business associates included: Robert W. Armstrong, Christopher J. Billman, Myrtle L. Donahue, Mrs. John J. Gallagher, Thayer S. Hall, Caroline J. Kellogg, Frank S. McManus, Mrs. Philip McManus, Francis G. Norton, George W. Richardson, Margaret L. Shea, Emily M. Tardiff, John A. Tardiff, Mrs. Thomas Whittle.

Mr. Gates stated that an increasing number of individuals and organizations are using this method of "doing something about heart disease" while honoring the memory of loved ones who have died of the disease.

He pointed out that each gift, whether large or small, is acknowledged by the Heart Association to the donor and a card with the donor's name, but never the amount of the gift, is sent to the nearest of kin.

"Memorial gifts may be made by mail or in person to the Massachusetts Heart Association, 650 Beacon Street, Boston, or to the local Heart Chapter," Mr. Gates said. "If the gift is made by mail, include the name and address of the nearest kin and the donor, as well as the name and former address of the deceased," he concluded.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL ASSEMBLY

At an assembly on Wednesday afternoon, May 21, Mrs. Louise Mathews' fourth grade pupils presented three interesting plays to an audience of parents and schoolmates.

As the conclusion to a science unit on bird study, the first play portrayed a meeting of the Grade IV Bird Club. Several club members presented topical reports on special phases of bird study, and the club members also helped a visitor identify a strange bird. Club members were Alice Morse, David Leaf, James Reynolds, Janet Rotondi, Elizabeth Osborne, William Johnson, Ronald Fairfield, and Billy Ernie. The part of the visitor was played by Susan Mucera.

In the second play, "Waiting for a Parade," Patricia Cutter, Marguerite Magliozzi, Nancy Lane, Carol Gilbert, Marian Clagston, and Suzanne Foster gave good suggestions of things to do during the long wait for a parade to pass by.

The third play was inspired by the book "Singing Wheels," which the class had been reading. From the Singing Wheels stories, about pioneer life in America, the pupils, with the help of their teacher, wrote the play which featured a "sugaring off" party and a square dance. The following pupils portrayed the Singing Wheels characters:

Ann Abbott was the announcer for the three plays.

Elmer Carlson of this town is vice president of the newly formed Alumni Association of Boston University's School of Public Relations and Communications, the members of which are holding a three-hour reunion program at the school on Exeter Street commencing at noon tomorrow, May 31st.

A Message To Our WINCHESTER CUSTOMERS

To Thank You For Your Cooperation
In The Changeover To Natural Gas

The changeover of the Town of Winchester to Natural Gas has been completed.

Although every step was carefully planned, the successful completion of this tremendous undertaking would not have been possible without the whole-hearted cooperation we received from our customers.

We are well aware that practically every family experienced some inconvenience during the changeover to Natural Gas. The cheerful spirit in which this was accepted and the universally helpful attitude of our customers are deeply appreciated. We wish to thank each of you personally for the part you have played in bringing this great undertaking to a successful completion.

There are, of course, still a few cases in which the residents are still away or the final adjustment of the burners has not been made. These cases are being taken care of as rapidly as the conditions in each case permit.

OUR THANKS TO OTHERS WHO HELPED

Like all large undertakings, the changeover to Natural Gas was accomplished by team work. In addition to our customers, thanks are due to the newspapers for their excellent efforts in keeping the public fully informed on all phases of this project... to the Police, Fire, Postal, Highway and other Public Departments... to Conversions and Surveys, Inc., an organization of specialists employed by us to do the actual conversion work... and to our own employees for their untiring efforts in keeping the work on schedule.

SOME APPLIANCES MAY NEED FURTHER ADJUSTMENT

All gas burning appliances should operate as satisfactorily with Natural Gas as they did with manufactured gas. Because of the many different types of gas burners which had to be converted, there may be some which need further adjustment.

If the adjustment of your Gas range, hot water heater or any other Gas-fired appliance is not entirely satisfactory, please let us know about it.

Simply call our Special Conversion Telephone Number ARlington 5-9200 or mail us a post card and a Service Man will come to your home as promptly as possible.

MELROSE BEAT WINCHESTER

Indians Now Out of League Contention

Winchester High dropped out of the contention for the Middlesex League title by losing a 5-3 game to Melrose High at Manchester Field on Tuesday afternoon. The same old bugaboo of errors at crucial moments and failure to hit in the clutch caused the Indians to give away a game they should have won. The locals collected nine hits to six for the visitors, including a triple by Serika and a double by Mackenzie, but handed Melrose four of their five runs and failed to capitalize on scoring opportunities.

The Indians had their big chance to win the game in the seventh when the first four batters reached safely for one run. With the bases full and none out, however, the Indians failed to score again as the next two batters struck out and the third batter grounded out. Again in the ninth Winchester had the tying runs on base with one out but a fast double play on a well hit ball by DiSilva ended the contest. Stowell Symmes on the mound for the Indians deserved a better fate as he struck out eight batters over the first six innings while allowing six hits. As has been so often the case this season with Symmes pitching, his mates gave him poor support. Charlie Murphy pitched hitless and scoreless ball over the final three innings.

WINCHESTER TRACKSTERS

EDGED MELROSE

Winchester High won a hair-line, 39.28 victory over Melrose in a track meet at Melrose Tuesday afternoon, the Indians' win in the final event, the relay race, deciding the issue. Questionable judging rattled the locals of the first time this year but the rest of the team, with the exception of the doubles combination of Nancy Morse and Sylvia Crowell, came through in the clutch to win the match.

Featuring the meet were Heford's 52.75 quarter to beat the Indians' "Double" Murphy put 41.7, 10.1 in, to win the shot, a clean sweep for Winchester, with Hawkins and Jost Michelson finishing behind Murphy. Dud Samoiloff won the 220 for Winchester's first place.

The winning relay team comprised Cortell, Nick Fitzgerald, Hawkins and Samoiloff, who turned in a creditable 1m 39.28 "Fitzzy" in the 220, Swonger in the half, Sipp and Samoiloff in the high jump and Cortell and Ackerman in the broad jump were Winchester's other place winners.

PLACED IN GBI MEET

Coach Henry Knowlton entered ten of his track team in the Greater Boston meet last Saturday at Russell Field, Cambridge, and several of the boys placed in the various events.

The meet was divided into classes — freshman-sophomore, junior and senior. Winchester's Bob Becker was second in the freshman-sophomore mile, won in the record time of 4m 50.2s, and "Anchor" Murphy was fourth in the senior shotput, in which another new record was set.

In the high hurdles Neil Muncaster got the Indians a third in the junior competition, and Dud Samoiloff was second in the senior class. Both classes saw new records established, so the Indians, who have done so little competitive hurdling all season, did all right. Bruce Cortell was fourth in the senior 220 yard hurdle event, also won in record time. Bruce had to compete in a runoff to make the senior 100 yard final and unfortunately drew the slower heat which he won going away. Had he been pressed he might have done better. Winchester totaled 11 points in the three classes.

GIRLS DEFEAT WINSOR FOR THE FIRST TIME

On May sixteenth the Winchester High School Girls' Tennis Team defeated the girls at Winsor in very close match which they won going away. The teams were quite evenly matched and the girls on both sides had to work hard for every point. The girls from Winchester are to be congratulated as it is the first time that a team from Winchester has scored a victory over the girls from Winsor.

GIRLS' TENNIS TEAM

DEFEATS BELMONT

The Winchester High School Girls' Tennis Team placed its undefeated record by defeating the Belmont High School Team in a close match on May twenty-second. Sue Morton, captain and number one player of the team, was defeated for the first time this year but the rest of the team, with the exception of the doubles combination of Nancy Morse and Sylvia Crowell, came through in the clutch to win the match.

S. Sullivan (Belmont) defeated Sue Morton 6-0 3-6 7-5
B. Freeman defeated M. L. Bolye (Belmont) 6-3 5-7 6-3

GIRLS' TENNIS TEAM

STILL UNDEFEATED

The Winchester High School Girls' Tennis Team scored its second decisive victory of the year by defeating Arlington on May twenty-third. The Arlington team proved little consolation for the Winchester girls who made a clean sweep of the match by winning 5-0.

S. Morton defeated J. Moore (Arlington) 6-3 6-4
B. Freeman defeated J. Williams (Arlington) 6-0 7-5
P. Morton defeated R. Hanlon (Arlington) 6-3 6-3

COUPLES' CLUB DANCE

The Couples' Club of the First Congregational Church will hold their annual spring dance at the Parish House on Friday evening, June 6th. Plans are being made to start the evening off with cooperative covered dish supper before the dance. Mrs. Erskine H. Kelley is arranging for the hostesses for these supper.

Dancing is from 9 until 1, and the decorations in the hall are certain to create an atmosphere of fun and relaxation. The subscription is $2.50 per couple. Mr. and Mrs. James Gustin are in charge of the dance, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bates, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ahnau, Mr. and Mrs. John Morabito, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hodges, Mr. Lawrence Small, and Mrs. Philip Hovnanian.

MISS DILLINGHAM ELECTED

Ann S. Dillingham, '55, a freshman at Colby College, Waterville, Maine, has been elected secretary of the International Relations Club for the coming year.

Ann is the daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Paul W. Dillingham of Fort Hamilton, formerly of Winchester. Ann and her roommate, Nancy Winters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elton C. Winters of Akron, Ohio, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hamilton of this town, are members of the Delta Delta Delta Society.

WINCHESTER ART ASSOCIATION

The June Exhibition will be a fine display of paintings by members of the Boston Watercolor Society which will be on view from June 3rd to June 25th. There is no member's meeting to open the June show but everyone is invited to view the pictures during the month.

A few members still have not picked up their paintings from the local exhibition at the library.

FORTNIGHTLY NEWS

The Sixtieth Annual Meeting of Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs was held at the New Ocean House, Swampscott last week. The theme of the Convention was "World Adjustment to Democracy."

Fifteen hundred women from all parts of Massachusetts attended this Convention, and Winchester Fortnightly was very well represented.

Mrs. Harold H. Given, Past President of The Fortnightly, was elected Eighth District Director for the second term.

Fortnightly members attending the Convention were: President, Mrs. Sidney A. Burr; Past Presidents, Mrs. Clifton S. Hall, Mrs. Marshall W. Symmes, Mrs. Kenneth Hiscoe, Mrs. P. H. Rhodes, Mrs. Edward Grosvenor, Mrs. Walter Winship and Mrs. Warren C. Whitman.

Other officers and members were: Mrs. Forbes H. Norris, Mrs. Frank D. Madge, Mrs. William Priest, Mrs. Robert H. Perkins, Mrs. E. Adele Emery, Mrs. Fred W. Cole, Mrs. J. Stewart Chaffee, Mrs. W. A. Frizzell, Mrs. Raymond Merrill, Mrs. Frank I. McCullough, Miss Louise Bancroft and Miss Eleanor Bancroft.

We are proud to report that the Winchester Fortnightly won Second Prize in Class II in the contest sponsored by the State Federation, Division of Art, which honors the clubs doing the most for promotion of art.

"Rocks and the Ocean", a Water Color by Joseph D. Broudo, from the Penny Art Fund Exhibition was selected as a prize by Mrs. Frederick W. Cole, Art Chairman of the Fortnightly.

The Fortnightly also had the distinction of being one of only seven Clubs in the State Federation to receive the American Artists Professional League Award for Distinguished Participation in American Art Week, November 1-7, 1951.

NOONAN SCHOOL NEWS

Station KDQ was on the air at the Noonan School on the morning of May 27, when the pupils of Miss Mary McAuley's kindergarten class presented their assembly. Ellen Gaudet announced the program in which 31 of her classmates participated.

During the program a group of songs was sung by Betty Cheever, Michael Saraco, Bobby Ray, Ted Bolivar, Peggy Bolivar, Donny Lonnberg, George Moran, Anne Donovan, and Herman Nelson.

Kevin Cullen spoke about the zoo that the children had made in the kindergarten playroom, and then Gail Bond, Tod Bolivar, Kathleen Doherty, Tommy Mearls, Bobby Rae, and Mary Ann Caputo showed original paintings of animals and told stories that they had composed.

Mary Jean Duran and Buddy Kimball showed how well they had learned to bounce balls to music, and Gail Bond and Barbara Foster skipped rope.

Next a group of kindergartners had some rhythmic fun to music. Included in the group were Jimmy Callahan, Janice Rae, Carl Ericson, Ginny Giuliani, Ritchie Fiorenza, Nancy Joyce, Eddie McKenzie, Marion Morrell, Francis McLeod, Mary Jean Rielly, Tommy Pearson, Lynne Martell, Vinnie Roscillo, and Nancy Goodale.

In conclusion, Mary Ann Caputo sang and did an acrobatic dance to "Peter Cottontail", and Ellen Gaudet performed a lively tap to "Cruising Down the River."

FORUM NEWS

William H. Johnston was elected president of the Senior Forum of the First Congregational Church and Gail Bond and Barbara Foster skipped rope.

Other officers elected were Catherine Goss, vice president; Turgery Sanger, corresponding secretary; Tina Tonon, recording secretary; Richard Fernandez, treasurer; and John Becker, assistant treasurer. The banquet, highlight of the Forum year, was attended by 236 members and parents. Graduating seniors were recognized by Mr. Leon Fernandez, superintendent of the Forum, and by Rev. Lawrence Small. The feature of the closing event of the year was a musical production entitled "Information," written and directed by retiring President Richard Rush.

The numerous committees are engaged in concluding the various activities for 1951-52 and also making preparations for the coming year.

An informal beach party will be held June 14, at which time Rev. and Mrs. Donald B. Tarr of Battle Creek, Michigan, former assistant Minister and Director of Education at the First Congregational Church, will be special guests.

MYSTIC SCHOOL MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION SPRING MEETING

On Tuesday afternoon, May 27, the Mystic School auditorium, attractively bedecked with lovely bouquets of lilac, dogwood, tulips, and narcissus, was the scene of a gay and delightful fashion show.

After opening the annual meeting of the Mystic School Mothers' Association with a gracious welcome for all, Mrs. Colver P. Dyer, President, presented little corsages to those mothers whose children leave Mystic School this year.

Regular and annual reports of the various school officers and chairmen were read and accepted. Officers and chairmen for the year 1952-53 were elected as follows:

President — Mrs. H. Gardner Bradlee
Vice-President — Mrs. Earle F. Littleton
Secretary — Mrs. George E. Niles
Treasurer — Mrs. Raymond G. Chairman
Ways and Means — Mrs. Frederick Bailey
Nominations — Mrs. Henry Kelly
Publicity — Mrs. Albert Fisher
Refreshments — Mrs. Howard Davis
Teachers' Luncheons — Mrs. Rolf Eliassen
Contact Mothers — Mrs. Richard Frazier
Sixth Grade Dancing — Mrs. Melvin Sears

To express her appreciation to all who had helped to make the closing year so successful in every way, Mrs. Colver P. Dyer, retiring president, read an appropriate original poem.

A series of thanks was given to Mrs. Dyer for her untiring efforts and singular accomplishments as president.

Before the afternoon's program was presented by the committee of Mesdames William Doten, Jr., John Hogan, Rufus Somerby, John Salmonetti, and Watson, with Mrs. Dyer as chairman, Superintendent Forbes Norris drew numbers for the three door prizes, which were received with enthusiasm.

As the curtain parted for the opening of the Tots and Teens fashion show, Mrs. John Loustana, as a very realistic old lady, sat rocking wearily before her old shoe house, from which her children were later to appear, fashionably and seasonably attired, after the old lady's spirit-lifting but pocket-saving shopping trip to one of the Tots and Teens shops. Mrs. John Thirardini provided bright and appropriate piano music for the various costumes modeled, giving an air of authenticity to the show, which closed with a sprightly tap dance routine by Lois and Diane Folkmorn.

Following this, Mrs. Curtis Ware and her refreshment committee, Mrs. Philip Boone, Mrs. Stevenson Corey, Mrs. Howard Davis, Mrs. Richard Carver, and Mrs. W. L. Usher served memorably delicious refreshments.

Mystic School pupils whose good fortune it was to model the Tots and Teens summer wear, and whom it was the Mothers' Association's pleasure to have as an important part of the program were:

ENTERTAIN AT DINNER

The Rev. John W. Cook and Mrs. Cook entertained a group of seniors of Boston University School of Theology and their wives at a dinner party recently. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Booth Islington; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mauck, Columbus, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. John Meulder, Pontiac, Michigan; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Collett, Tucson, Arizona; Mr. and Mrs. George Maddox, McComb, Mississippi. Also present was Mrs. Eugene Collett of New Burlington, Ohio, mother of Samuel Collett. All of the men will be graduated from Boston University on June 2 and will take churches in various parts of the country.

WHY THE PRIVATE PRACTICE OF MEDICINE FURNISHES THIS COUNTRY WITH THE FINEST MEDICAL CARE

(This essay by Suzanne Wadsworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Todd Wadsworth of Norwood street, won second prize in the recent essay contest sponsored by the Middlesex East District Medical Society.)

The Constitution of our country together with the Declaration of Rights guarantees to each citizen certain rights and privileges. In too many cases these are taken for granted without much thought or appreciation of the sacrifice and effort that made them possible.

It is the freedom of choice that has enabled American to enjoy the finest medical care in the world today. Private practice has provided initiative and advancement that could never exist under any other system. Now that there is agitation for socialized medicine, we are faced with the loss of certain of our rights and the progress in medical fields which private practice has made available to us.

Under the compulsory system — where deductions are made from payrolls regardless of any voluntary system we may be contributing toward — we are not assured of any such standard of medical care as we now enjoy. The lifeblood of all individual achievement is competition, and when that is removed, a stagnant condition is all that can be expected. The greater effort toward advancement in research and in the medical fields under the competitive system can not be found when his every direction and step is dictated by government.

The country leads the world both in the number of doctors as a total, and the number in relation to the population. For every 100,000 people we have 140 doctors, with a total of 197,695. There is no question of there being many problems to solve and ill to correct. But there is a greater chance of solving those problems and correcting those ill under private practice than in any other form. Certain health problems are due to poor living conditions, ignorance, and in certain cases, to indifference to correct procedures. These, of course, are problems that have to be solved by government rather than by the private physician. It is every body's problem to aid the private practice of medicine by public education and regulation to correct living conditions, and overcome ignorance and apathy.

Private practice costs less than Government regulated systems. Voluntary plans offering free choice of service and physician are working out well, and in providing private treatment with no undesirable restrictions. Voluntary systems include the Blue Cross system, and various fraternal, labor, and industrial groups. There is a wide scope of coverage offered, and again, competition between groups keeps rates down.

To summarize the contrast between compulsory and voluntary health programs, we find the former means: Compulsory Health Insurance Means:

1. Second-rate medical care.
2. Decline of medical education, training, research.
3. Invasion of personal privacy in medical practice.
4. Political control of medical systems.
5. A growing political hierarchy of Government administrators.
6. Constantly mounting payroll taxes.
7. Extension of controls over other professions.

Voluntary Health Insurance Means:

1. Guaranteed protection from financial shock in time of illness.
2. Low budget-basis cost and certain knowledge of the costs.
3. Absolute guarantee of the benefits.
4. Free choice of service and doctor.
5. Freedom from new payroll taxes.
6. Privacy in personal medical affairs.

We have everything to lose and nothing to gain by destroying what we now enjoy — the finest medical care in the world, as it flourishes under the competition system of private practice.

*"The Voluntary way is the American Way."

SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFITS

Mr. James T. Phelan, Manager of the Cambridge Office of the Social Security Administration, 2 Trowbridge street, advises that a great many people will be eligible for benefits under the new-start provisions of the Old Age and Survivors Insurance Program of the Social Security Law, beginning July 1, 1952.

He states that in most cases it is advisable that applications be filed on or after July 1, 1952. For those persons who, and self-employed

We do not of course know what explanation the youth experts have for the current panty and bra raids of our college men. Doubtless there is some sound scientific reason for the raids on the part of the boys and the encouragement they have been getting from the girls. In passing, however, we just wonder how the boys in the service feel about it all, especially those who are fighting in Korea so that our better mental types can get the "higher education" so desperately needed to ensure the future of the Country.

Complaints have been coming in from many parts of town about playing baseball in the street, and some parents seem indignant when the Police put a stop to the youngsters' activity. It never has been safe from the standpoint of property to play ball on the street, and there is in addition now a very real danger to the players from the ever-increasing number of automobiles on our streets, both moving and parked. It isn't safe for youngsters to play in the streets at all, and it isn't fair to add playing kiddies to the other unavoidable hazards of the high way, with which motorists have to contend. Many parents recognize the danger element and keep their youngsters off the street. It is to be hoped that a serious, or perhaps fatal accident involving some kiddie will not be necessary to make the others see the light.

FROM THE SCOUTS

Editor of the Star:
May I take this opportunity of thanking you and your staff for the many considerations given to our Scout Organization and most of all in relation to our Annual Scout Exposition which this year went under the name of Round Up, by the amount of publicity you made available to the general public.

Therefore, in behalf of all the Cubs, Scouts and Leaders in Winchester we want to thank you for your favorable help.

Winchester Hospital

WHAT IS A HOSPITAL?

It's another building you hardly notice before—
Until one day you find yourself inside.
Lying there helplessly—
Or sitting and standing and pacing and waiting and hoping.

You know it's not just another building—it's more like a Church.
Where no one, except death, is ever turned away.
Where life enters timidly, and is coaxed to remain.
Where men and women spend their lives saving the lives of people they never saw before.

Where who you are and what you are seem rather unimportant.
Where forgotten things—like the miracle of opening and closing your hand—become new and exciting.
Where the starkest sadness, the gentlest touch, the selfless devotion.
Take you back to when you were a child and you looked up to see your Mother and Father smiling over you.

This is a hospital—and when you leave you may forget all about it.
But it never forgets you. It stands there ready, day and night, to help whoever needs help.
Doesn't their generosity deserve some of yours?

INTRODUCING NEW RECRUITERS

Editor of the Star:

It gives the Military Manpower Committee great pleasure to introduce to the people of Winchester the new personnel at the Medford Recruiting Station. These men are now, and will be, of great importance in the lives of our sons.

The new Station Commander, M Sgt. Elliot N. Watts USAF, was born in Everett, Mass., entered the Army in April 1942 and was subsequently assigned to the 5th Army Division as a tank commander, went to the European Theatre with the 707th Tank Battalion and served 20 months overseas participating in 4 battle campaigns. Discharged in 1945, he reenlisted in the USAF in 1946 and was assigned to HQ USAF (Pentagon) for 4 years, 10 months. Sgt. Watts was assigned to recruiting duty September 1951 and now lives at 61 Harlow street, Arlington, AR 5-7945-R.

S Sgt. Alfred D. Bonacci, USAF, was born in Union City, N.J., enlisted in USAF October 1945, subsequently assigned to Scott AF Base and attended radio school. He then spent 13 months in the European Theatre and on return in 1947 our Society is over, I am pleased to inform you that to date we have raised over $5,500, or approximately 10% in excess of our quota, for Winchester. There are some past contributors from whom we fully expect to hear and other good prospects are still out of town. By the end of the 1952 fund raising year, the end of August, I am hoping that our figure will approximate the $6,200 raised last year, the highest for any ever contributed.

On behalf of our Winchester Committee, I would like to offer you my sincere thanks for the generous space allotted us weekly to our wonderful story to our townsmen and to keep them abreast of our progress. This was no small help, indeed. And through you I should like to thank each organization, business and individual for every contribution received.

We are all proud of Winchester for the generous support given for such a worthy cause.

Cordially yours,
William H. Buracker
Chairman for Winchester

OUR BEAUTIFUL COMMON

It appears that Star readers see little of beauty in our Common. In response to our offer of a prize for the best essay on its beauty but three readers have entered and submitted essays.

The judges have made no decision, being hard put to determine whether the essays were written on spring or on the Common. One contestant admires the bubbling fountain and another the dainty blossoms. The judges are not sure these essays refer to Winchester or some other place, for our Common has no bubbling fountain and certainly no dainty blossoms. Aside from this feature all contestants mention the comfortable benches upon which one can sit, and this feature is undoubtedly found on our Common.

The judges will give further consideration to determine just how far our Common enters into this wonderful spring season.

For the benefit of those who have offered criticism regarding the Common we report that it has been found impossible to fill the usual flower beds this year on account of the trees and their roots! Whether a move will be made to cut down some or all of the trees or not has not been decided, but in either event, flowers or removing the trees will undoubtedly cause more work for the Park Department.

TO GRADUATE FROM COLBY

Two Winchester girls, Norma Berquist and Sally Jackson, will be among those receiving the degree of Bachelor of Arts from Colby College at commencement June 16. Both girls graduated from Winchester High School in 1948.

Miss Berquist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Berquist, of 154 Cambridge street, has been secretary of her class as well as of Student Council and Student Government, secretary-treasurer of the Women's A. A., a member of the Glee Club, Phi Omega sorority and Phi Sigma Iota, on the Dean's List and Interim Committee and in the Varsity Show for two years.

Miss Jackson, whose parents are Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Jackson of 212 Main street, transferred to Colby from University of Vermont, where she was a member of Phi Beta Phi. She was a member of the Colby Glee Club, Choir and Outing Club.

BRINGS RESULTS

TELEVISION FRONTIER NOW REACHES AROUND THE WORLD

Television is pacing off new paths of communication over the face of the world with twenty-league boots. Only a quarter of a century ago, the first crude silhouettes appeared on glass screens in London, New York and Washington. This year, Tanganyikans may see a television show.

At latest count, 17 countries other than the United States have television transmitters on the air, the National Geographic Society reports. The list includes England, France, Germany, Russia, Italy, Denmark, the Netherlands, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia, Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Brazil, Argentina and Japan.

As this country lifts its television freeze and opens the way for more than 2,000 stations at home, at least 13 additional nations are planning TV tests. Nigeria and Morocco in Cyprus and the Dominican Republic, Thailand and India are among them.

Unlike radio, a television broadcast is limited to the fact that the earth is round. It's signal can reach little beyond the visible horizon — perhaps 60 miles, or 20 leagues, at best. Then it shoots off in space. In conquering new fields, television towers are built from deserts and jungles, seacoasts and mountaintops.

Coaxial transmission lines — hollow tubes carrying electronic impulses at the speeds of light — span the United States. Aboveground, 107 reflector-topped microwave towers zigzag between New York and San Francisco. Both systems carry television programs to local transmitting stations. Both have been seriously proposed for sending TV around the world.

Curiously, it was a telegrapher at Valencia, Ireland, at the far end of the first transatlantic cable, who first set the stage for modern television in 1878. He discovered that the element selenium transmitted more or less electricity depending upon the amount of light falling on it.

Using that early observation, made even before the first wireless radio message had been sent by Marconi, inventors in many countries have been laying the foundations for today's television industry. Marconi dreamed for centuries of being able to project their vision afar. Slowly, over 50 years, the dream became reality.

More than half the people in the United States will be within range of television under the recent airwave allocations of the Federal Communications Commission. Much higher percentages of population are already blanketed in such countries as England and the Netherlands. Within the coming year, the Voice of America estimated recently, as many as 25,000,000 people in other countries will see TV regularly.

Television is finding strange and wonderful uses. A submarine sunk in the English Channel was found by an underwater "eye" last year. Surgeons in New York may watch a delicate heart operation taking place in Los Angeles.

Customers can walk into a London bank and see their loan sheets on a television screen, although the files are kept 12 miles away. Factories, arsenals, atomic energy laboratories and electric power plants have put cameras to work as silent, unblinking watchmen. The Army, Navy and many universities are teaching classes by television, foreshadowing the day when mass education in the nation's living rooms may be possible.

UNEXPLORED BRAZIL JUNGLE AREA GREAT PROMISE

A vast area south of the lower Amazon River is one of Brazil's most promising but little known frontiers, says the National Geographic Society.

An airplane traveling from Barreiras, in the western part of the state of Bahia, 350 miles northwest to Santarem, 400 miles inland from the mouth of the Amazon, would fly over high, grass-covered plateau, broken by jungle-lined rivers and mountain ridges, dense tropical upland forests and a network of impenetrable jungle of the lower Amazon.

The first part of the flight would take the plane from Bahia into the northern plateau of Goias state, a sparsely settled area into which are moving cattle ranchers and hardy farmers. These pioneers must either build their roads as they penetrate the wild country, or fly in to the few scattered airports and build their roads on foot.

The airports are important. They provide bases for the only means of rapid travel in the area, although the rivers are navigable for small craft.

Crossing the Araguaia River from Goias to Para state, the plane would descend slowly over ranges of hills with names like Serra do Trifun and Serra dos Garajás to the basins of two great Amazon tributaries, the Xingu and the Tapajós.

Here is pure, rainstepped jungle, unmarked by cities, peopled by Indians, some exceedingly hostile and some friendly. Wildlife includes crocodiles, lizards, monkeys, jaguars, numerous snakes and millions of insects. Inter-continental luxury planes daily fly over the area, striving to keep high above it.

Few Settlements

Settlements are sparse and tend to cling to the banks of the rivers. A glance at the map shows wide areas without so much as a village. Hundreds of miles of jungle separate the settlements, and those lacking airstrips can be reached only by laborious river travel.

Rubber grows wild in the jungle and the area has great potential mineral wealth. Diamonds of commercial value are found in the river beds and in alluvial soil.

This section of Brazil also has been proposed as one of the world's future breadbaskets because of its food raising potential. But the jungle will have to be conquered before large-scale farming can move in.

CYPRUS MIXES ANCIENT WITH MODERN CULTURES

Ancient Gothic churches on the island of Cyprus crowd modern, glass-bricked buildings, which in turn are shadowed by centuries-old minarets.

The contrast between the old and the new on the sun-drenched British crown colony, 45 miles south of the Turkish coast and 65 miles west of Syria in the eastern Mediterranean, is emphasized by Jean and Franc Shor in an article, "Cyprus, Idyllic Island in a Troubled Sea," in the May National Geographic Magazine.

In the bustling port city of Famagusta, the Shors note, copper-smiths follow their ancient trade in open-fronted shops next door to modern stores selling the latest in English woollens and American novelties. Brightly painted native boats of design unchanged for hundreds of years are moored next to smart motor launches.

Greek People

Cyprus is now British, but the nation people are mostly Greek, with a minority of some 80,000 of Turkish extraction. Because of its strategic position, the island has been conquered and ruled over the centuries by the ancient Egyptians, the Romans, the Crusaders, the Venetians, the Turks and others.

The people, particularly in rural areas, remain unchanged by variations in government. They till their fields and tend their flocks — from which comes the famous Cyprus wine — as their ancestors did before them. Their arts of handicraft are handed down from generation to generation.

In the town of Pithi the Shors saw a good example of the ancient arts of the Cypriotes. There girls worked out intricate designs on looms without printed patterns. The mother and teacher of one of the young weavers explained that girls have to memorize more than a score of designs before they are allowed to touch a loom.

Women Work

Work of women also has made the mountain hamlet of Lefkara famous. The intricate lacework produced in this village is known throughout the world. The women, folk, from eight to eighty, ply their needles while the men gossip and sip Turkish coffee in the open-air coffee shops.

The slow and easy life on Cyprus, so appealing to visitors, has proved tiresome to many of the island's young men, particularly those who traveled with the British armed services during the war. Many have emigrated to Britain, Australia, South Africa and elsewhere to find employment as farmers, cooks and waiters.

The ability of the Cypriotes to cook was noted by the Shors in Nicosia, the island capital. There they were taken to a shop specializing in kebabs, lamb roasted on a skewer before a charcoal grill and served on flat Cyprus bread with onions, parsley, and lemon juice. The visitors found little need for other food at dinner time throughout their stay.

It took the starch out of me . . . when Joe drove by in his new car

"Why don't you put it in a museum?" he yelled at me, just as I was pulling up in front of Gloria's house. She was coming out her front door and heard him.

"Those convertibles are nice," she said, slamming at my jalopy door that doesn't shut so good.

"So's a winter home in Florida," I said.

"Look, Bill Bennett," she said, "I'll bet you make every bit as much as Joe does. You could have a new car like that, too. It would help you sell that big order."

"Thanks for the vote of confidence. But that kind of money doesn't grow on trees, girl friend."

"But you could finance a new car right at the bank. That's what Joe did. His sister told me. He said the folks at the bank are so pleasant to deal with. And the monthly payments aren't hard to take either."

Next day I went to the bank. Gloria was right. Both she and these new convertibles are nice.

All names are fictitious, but the situation happens every day.

GEOGRAPHIC ODDITIES AND BRIEFS

When the United States Military Academy opened at West Point in 1802, it had a total enrollment of 12 cadets. In 1952, the Academy is celebrating its sesquicentennial with a Corps numbering 200 times that many, says the National Geographic Society.

The 15 tribes of Indians who inhabited what is now the Mexican state of Oaxaca believed at the time of the Spanish conquest that they were descended from trees. As a result many trees, particularly large or old ones, were held in veneration.

The great winter wheat crop of Kansas is actually an immigrant, observes the National Geographic Society. The first hard winter wheat to be planted in Kansas was brought from Russia by German Mennonites.

The Alaskan fur seal, spending much of its life in the water, does not swim at birth and must learn as a pup. Contrary to the general belief, says the National Geographic Society, mother seals do not teach the young to swim.

Malaria mosquitoes scourged the beautiful Mediterranean island of Cyprus from the dawn of history, but modern insecticides in the years since World War II have completely eliminated the disease.

The fiery, familiar miracle to millions east of the Rockies and in many foreign lands, is unknown in England, northern Europe, and our own far West. Those areas know the glowworm, as the firelight firefly female and larva are called, but the dying males are virtually tireless, the National Geographic Society says.

Although the voices of most turtles are at best a slight squeak or sigh, the wood turtle, which ranges from Maine to West Virginia makes a whistling call audible 30 or 40 feet away, says the National Geographic Society.

The Navy, which governed American Samoa for more than 50 years, has moved away entirely, leaving the island possession the responsibility of the Interior Department. For many years Samoa's chief value to the Navy lay in the coaling station at the excellent harbor of Pago Pago.

RED CROSS ANNUAL REPORT 1951-1952

The year 1951-1952 has been an outstanding year for the Winchester Chapter of the American Red Cross. Each of the Chapter Services has answered faithfully and successfully the many demands made upon them during the year.

The three meetings of the Board of Directors held September 19, October 16, and February 19, and the two Executive Board meetings held January 29 and April 15, were very well attended. Mr. Lewis K. Moore, the Chairman, presided at all the meetings.

On November 6 the Winchester Chapter had the great pleasure of entertaining Mr. William J. Phillips, Secretary of the British League of Red Cross Societies who was in the United States on a two month study tour. Mr. Phillips was very anxious to spend a day with the Winchester Chapter, and he could study and observe the activities of the various services. Winchester Chapter felt greatly honored to be the chapter chosen by the Area Headquarters.

Mr. Phillips was brought to Winchester by the Area Representative, Mr. Donald Hurd, and he spent the day interviewing many of the Service Chairmen. He was especially interested in the Junior Red Cross and the Home Service. Mr. Phillips has a permanent seat at the International Red Cross at Geneva, representing Britain for the Junior Red Cross Societies and had much of interest to bring to Winchester concerning the International Red Cross situation. He spoke particularly of the difficulty Red Cross was having in its attempts to deal with Russia.

The year 1951-1952 has been the biggest disaster year in the history of the Red Cross with the exception of the War Years. There were the floods of the summer of 1951, the tornado in March and the terrific floods in the middle-west later this spring. For the mid-west floods of 1951 the Chapter received a request for $2,400. Through public subscription the Chapter contributed $2,000. The difference between the $644.26 and the $2,000 was made up from the Chapter funds. This spring the Chapter received a request for $1,200 which was the quota allotted it by National for Tornado Relief Funds. This likewise was met by Chapter funds. Due to the floods this spring which were worse than those of the summer of 1951, it is expected that the Chapter will shortly be receiving another request for funds to assist in this latest disaster.

This year Winchester Red Cross Fund Day was Sunday, March 9. Mr. Henry A. Dellicker was Chairman of the Fund Campaign and his enthusiasm, organizational ability and tireless efforts were instrumental in making the Winchester Chapter for the second year in a row, the first chapter in the State of Massachusetts to reach its goal. To date the Chapter has received $22,001 from the Campaign. Mr. Dellicker was most ably assisted by Mr. John Volpe, Honorary Chairman, Mr. William E. Davies, Chairman of Precincts, Miss Helen Monroe, Treasurer of the Fund, Mr. Edward C. Cullen and Mr. Thomas G. Gignou, Chairman of the Fund of Special Gifts and Mrs. William E. Spaulding, Chairman of Organizations. However, without the many hours of work donated to the Red Cross by the 640 volunteers, consisting of staff aides, captains and solicitors, the Campaign goal would not have been reached. Thus, it is to them as well as to the able leaders that Red Cross is once again grateful. Miss Monroe, the treasurer of the Campaign, should be particularly thanked for handling her job so competently and graciously. Mrs. S. Kennedy Tully, who planned and executed all of the publicity for the Campaign and gave so willingly of her time, deserves a great deal of thanks. The Red Cross also wishes to thank Mr. T. Parker Clarke for the many hours he has spent redistricting the precincts so that the Fund Campaign can be more efficiently handled in following years. It is of particular interest to note that the cost of the Campaign this year was less than 1% of the total collected.

Winchester Blood Donor days were June 1, August 23, and January 11. On these days the Bloodmobile was at the First Congregational Church from the hours of 12:30 to 7:30. Although the Bloodmobile is staffed with its own doctors and nurses, the Winchester Chapter furnishes the services of three trained nurses, Gray Ladies, Staff Aides, Nurses Aides, Motor Corps drivers and Canteen workers, 42 volunteers for that day. Mr. T. Parker Clarke is Chairman of the Blood Program and it is due to her untiring efforts and a constant searching for new blood donors that the Blood Donor Days have been so successful. One hundred and seventeen pints of blood were obtained on June 1, 93 pints on August 23, and 176 pints on January 11. During the Fund Campaign the solicitors obtained the names of 350 new prospective Blood Donors so the Donor Day in June should meet with still greater success. The Red Cross is most grateful to the Congregational Church for allowing the Bloodmobile to use the Parish House with its facilities. A debt of gratitude is due Mr. Leon Smith, the Custodian of the First Congregational Church and an Honorary member of the Canteen, who not only makes the coffee for the Blood Donor days but also gives of his time most generously all during the visit of the Bloodmobile.

In addition to the Blood Donor days in Winchester, the first Wednesday of every month the Winchester Chapter sends one Motor Corps driver, five Nurses Aides, two Staff Aides, two Canteen workers and two Gray Ladies to staff the Blood-center at Dartmouth street.

The Winchester Chapter is most proud of the services it renders to the Winchester Hospital. The Motor Corps has made 86 trips transporting blood for the hospital. To date, 117 pints of blood have been furnished and delivered free of charge to the hospital. Besides this, seven O-Negative walking Blood Donors have been provided the hospital upon request. Twenty-three Gray Ladies have given 956 hours of service as receptionists at the hospital under the supervision of their capable Chairman, Mrs. T. Parker Clarke. Mrs. William F. Hickey, Jr., Chairman of Nurses Aides, has done a splendid job staffing the hospital with 37 nurses Aides who have given 991 hours of service during the past year. Moreover, a class of thirteen Nurses Aides were graduated on April 1st at a most impressive ceremony at the Winchester Hospital.

One of the most important projects of the Winchester Chapter is to render service to the Bedford Hospital. Mrs. Donald W. True, Chairman of Production, deserves a great deal of commendation for the great amount of work that has been produced by the Wednesday Sewing Group. Under her leadership, the 18 women in these two groups gave 3,620 hours of their time and made the following articles: Bedford Hospital 270 Bathrobes and 55 pairs slippers made from scrap material 48 sweaters 146 afghans 146 pairs draperies - material furnished by Hospital

On Tuesday afternoons at the Town Hall, Mrs. W. E. Ramsdell heads a group of volunteers who make surgical dressings for Bedford Hospital. There is also a group making surgical dressings in the Symmes Corner section of town, under the able direction of Mrs. Richard W. Wyman. Together, these two groups have given 1,800 hours and have made 51,850 surgical dressings. The Motor Corps has taken the patients at Bedford on 45 outings and picnics during the past year. Mrs. R. E. Sawyer, Chairman of Canteen, and her group have contributed a great many hours of their time in order to make the teas and picnics at Bedford a most delightful occasion for the patients. In June there was a most delightful hamburger picnic for 125 patients, given and cooked in the grove. The usual Christmas was given in one of the wards with decorations and food. Then, in April, a very lovely tea was given for the patients and their guests. There were more than 300 present at this party. A group of six Gray Ladies go weekly to the Hospital and do everything in their power to make life a little more comfortable for the patients. Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Fourth of July, the Junior Red Cross sent favors, nut cups, cards, napkins and candy for the trays. In addition, they supply the hospital with playing cards and comic books. Finally, the chapter itself brings cigarettes, candy, playing cards, birthday gifts and prizes for the Veterans.

Winchester Chapter was asked by the National Defense Office to make boxes for servicemen who would be on the high seas on Christmas Day. These were supplied by Red Cross, Epiphany Church Service League, Baptist Church Women's League, Winchester Girls Society, Winchester Grange and Abernethy Ladies Auxiliary V. F. W. 3719. Mrs. Donald E. Dalrymple, Chairman of Junior Red Cross, has had a busy and most successful year with the many projects in the schools. In addition to the services to Bedford, 112 gift boxes were packed by the Junior Red Cross and sent to children in foreign lands.

Under the able leadership of Mr. Francis D. Weaver, the Chairman, six Red Cross instructors were provided to give eight classes in First Aid for Civil Defense. One hundred and thirty-two First Aid certificates were issued. Water Safety had an unusually successful season due to the able leadership of Mr. Lawrence Palmer, the instructor. Classes began June 22nd and continued for eight weeks at Palmer Beach. The season closed with a big meet at Lexington. Seventy-six Winchester children received their swimming certificates. The two Red Cross Safety trophies for the best boy and girl swimmers were awarded to David Goveates and Ann Neville.

The National Convention was held in New York City June 24-27. Mrs. Lewis M. Foster, Chairman of Nursing Services, and Mrs. Donald E. Dalrymple, Chairman of Junior Red Cross went as Chapter delegates. John Mills and Gloria Mucera were the Junior Red Cross delegates. Roberta Conn and David F. Burke went to Wellesley College as Junior Red Cross delegates to the Red Cross Training Leadership Conference which was held from July 24 to August 3. Winchester Chapter is indeed fortunate to have Miss Natalie Jewett as Chairman of Home Service with Mrs. J. Edward Downes as her assistant. Miss Jewett's many years of experience in dealing with servicemen and their families, has helped immeasurably to make this Service one of the most important in the Chapter. Home Service deals mostly with verification of requests for leave, health reports of servicemen and their families, counseling of families, and financial assistance at times of emergency. Her efforts have been delayed. More than 79 servicemen and their families have received assistance from the Winchester Chapter. Home Service has also sent letters to the families of the boys in service explaining to them not only what services can be offered to them and their sons by the Red Cross but also what Red Cross can do and cannot do for them.

For the past two years the National Organization has been urging all Chapters to revise their By-laws. Mr. Wayne E. Davis has been Chairman of the By-laws committee and sincere appreciation is due him from the Chapter for the many hours of thought, interest, patience and work that the revision has taken. The change in the By-laws fall into two principal categories: 1 - A change in the Board of Directors. Henceforth, the Board of Directors shall consist of 21 members - seven non-members to be elected each year to serve for a term of three years. No member is to serve for more than two terms. 2 - Principal officers: The Chairman, Vice-Chairman, Secretary and Treasurer shall be elected annually by the Board of Directors from its membership, at the first meeting of the Board. The Chapter is most grateful to the Board of Selectmen of the Town of Winchester for permitting the use of the Red Cross rooms, rent, heat and light free. Mr. Lee Mellett and Charles Souza have been most cooperative and helpful during the past year and the Red Cross extends to them their sincere appreciation.

Red Cross thanks Mr. and Mrs. William C. Cusack most deeply for the use of the Music Hall, not only for the Annual Meeting but for the Campaign Fund rally held here on February 26th.

For another year The Winchester Star and The Woburn Times have been most generous in giving the Red Cross publicity in their papers. The Chapter wishes to thank them most sincerely for this service.

Mr. Pexton has given hours of his time each month in making calls upon him as Treasurer. The Chapter truly appreciates his efforts in this behalf.

There was one note of unhappiness for the Winchester Chapter during the year 1951-1952. That was the eight weeks illness of Mrs. Gladys F. Dutton, the Executive Director. Everyone who went to the office during her absence missed her cheery smile, her calm efficiency and her enthusiasm for everything dealing with Red Cross. All Red Cross is delighted to see Mrs. Dutton back again for all of us she is "The Red Cross". However, the Board is indeed grateful to Mrs. Philip H. Johnson who carried on so admirably during Mrs. Dutton's absence. Her long hours of willing service and her sincere desire to do her best for the Chapter and the Red Cross will long be remembered and appreciated.

The Chapter is indeed fortunate to have had the inspirational leadership of Mr. Lewis K. Moore, Chairman. Mr. Moore's enthusiasm and devotion to the Red Cross has been felt by all those who have associated with him. The Chapter owes him a real debt of gratitude for his many hours of loyal service.

It has been a great honor and privilege to have served as your Secretary during the past year.

Respectfully submitted,

FROM CORBRIDGE, ENGLAND

The Angels Inn
Corbridge, England
May 1, 1952

Dear Everybody:

There has been so much to do, so much to be done in that I am way behind on reporting.

Since my last letter from the South of England, we have travelled approximately 2,000 miles. And in a country as small as Britain, that is a great deal of mileage.

Travelling all along the south coast westerly, we went to many of the picturesque fishing villages as well as Torquay, Plymouth, and Falmouth. Plymouth was fearfully damaged during the war. On the way down we stopped off at Exeter where we saw the lovely cathedral which fortunately was spared much damage.

Then westward as far as we could go to Land's End about sunset. This is a bleak peninsula sticking out into the Atlantic, rocky and savage looking and in a westerly gale, it must be an awesome sight for the sea pounds against the rocky shore with a mighty roar.

A little later and not much farther north, at St. Michael's Mount. An old castle in a lovely estate had been taken over, thoroughly modernized and fitted and made a lovely spot to spend the night overlooking the harbor.

Here I saw one of the lifeboats used in time of stress to go to the rescue of crews on ship. It was one of the loveliest craft I've ever seen. About 15 feet beam, 45 feet long, it weighs several tons because it was driven by a diesel engine operating two screws. It was mounted on a trailer with caterpillar tread.

WINS NORWICH HONOR

Richard S. Lovis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Lovis of 221 Old Billerica road, is a candidate for the degree of bachelor of arts, with a major in government, at Norwich University's commencement, to be held here Sunday, June 8.

Mr. Lovis, a 1948 graduate of Winchester High School, won rating at Norwich as a Distinguished Military Student, and he held the rank of lieutenant in the Cadet Corps. A Dean's List student, he is picked for the Signal Honor Platoon, and he served on the editorial board of the student newspaper. His fraternity is Sigma Phi Epsilon.

In addition to his Norwich degree, Mr. Lovis will receive a commission as a second lieutenant in the Regular Army. He will enter active duty soon after his graduation from Norwich.

SPRING LUNCHEON

On Tuesday noon, May 22, at her home on Lorain road, Mrs. Maurice T. Freeman was hostess to Dr. and Mrs. Forbes Norris, Mr. Joseph C. Forte, Mrs. Maude Dyer, the supervisors and the fourteen members of the Mystic School, at the spring luncheon given for them by the Mothers' Association. Delightful May weather combined with the colorful terrace and garden to make for perfect setting for the delicious luncheon out of doors.

Mrs. Colver P. Dyer and Mrs. Everett A. Tisdale, as outgoing president and luncheon chairman, were guests of honor. Members of the committee were Mrs. Rowland V. Patrick, Mrs. Carl H. Purring-ton and Mrs. William Davies.

ANNUAL MEETING SMITH COLLEGE CLUB

Mrs. Harold Farnsworth will be hostess for the Winchester Smith College Club's annual picnic meeting which will be held, weather permitting, in her garden at 4 Central Green on Wednesday, June 4th at 12:45 p. m.

Following the outdoor luncheon, Mrs. Stanley E. Neill, President, will call for reports of all committee chairmen as well as financial reports of the club's major scholarship projects, the Community Concert series and the Plant Sale and Luncheon.

B.C. HIGH MOTHERS MEET MONDAY

The Mothers of Boston College High Students from the area north of Boston will meet Monday evening, June 2, in St. Agnes Hall, Arlington at 8 p. m. They will be addressed by the Dean of the School, Father Gilday, S. J. Refreshments will be served and a Social Hour will follow.

Mrs. Gertrude Barry and Mrs. Viola Van Ummerson are serving on the Reception Committee.

us was the Isle of Arran with the hills rising sheer out of the water to a height of 2,400 feet. And just north of this was Argyllshire and the Highlands. The day was lovely and clear and we could see hills after hills rising to the interior with Ben Lomond partly snow covered in the distance.

At the Cloch Lighthouse we turned eastward along the "tail of the duck" to Glasgow to make a crossing. Here we passed the old shipyards at Greenock, Clydebank, Port Glasgow, Clydebank and in Glasgow itself because here is one of the great ship building centers of the world. Here were built two Queens, battleships and ships for almost every land on earth except Russia.

We spent no time in Glasgow. It's a teeming, busy manufacturing city of well over a million population but there was little here we wanted to see. Instead, we drove to Loch Lomond and down Loch Long to Dunoon where I spent three summers fifty years ago, to see the old castle of the MacDonalds. In the small towns, all the small shops are shut from 12:30 to about 2:00 for tea and lunch.

When we arrived at the London Airport, immediately the talk turned to food and what a lucky break that was and how once before they had by magic managed to get a little extra bacon, etc. The meat ration was equal to one medium size chop. But in most cases, you have no choice but take what the butcher chooses to give you and often, I am told, it is not fit to eat.

The night we stayed at an old smugglers' rendezvous known as Hoop's Inn. It was a delightful place and one of the guests was a Canon of the Church, and his wife. They were nice enough to ask us to share the open fire with them in the little lounge and we got talking. The Canon was whimsical and amusing. We talked of many things for a little while and then of the old custom of entertaining friends at dinner. "But, you know," he said, "that's what we once had. There's no fun nowadays because if you want to give a friend a meal, you can't do it out of your ration. You have to come to a place like this and it's not the same."

"In the old days, you enjoyed the hospitality shown to you but you didn't talk about the food. Now if you host serves you meat, your wife says, 'You parkle and you say Meat, my word, you must have been lucky. Where did you get it?' And then around the table everyone who can begin to tell you how he got an extra bone to make soup or an extra piece of suet to make a pudding. We congratulate the hostess who cajoled the butcher into giving her an extra kidney. Yes, the talk always turns back to food. It's the principal topic of conversation."

We came to Scotland. Edinburgh friends met us in Glasgow to join us in a trip through the Highlands. On our journeys we had seen frequently the travelling meat autos which served the country people who came out to see what was to be had. We thought that at least was better than taking anything the butcher wanted to send you.

We waited for him so he couldn't get by and explained that we only blew the horn to attract his attention. Then one of our friends got out and asked if he could spare any meat. He turned out to be a regular gentleman for he cut off part of a leg of lamb (not by any means a whole leg) and gave us a bone for soup into the bargain! We gave his little boy who was with him a bar of chocolate and by the time he had eaten it I think it was the first he had seen for a very long time. The tremendous heights to which they were built and the hundreds of tombs and memorials within them, all linked to the history of a nation that goes back over centuries.

Instead, I would like to write to you about British conversation and food.

About 5 o'clock yesterday, we were coming along a highway and on the alert for an A. A. man. "A. A." means Automobile Association and they have special telephone booths along the highway to which all members have keys. If in trouble, get to the nearest A. A. man. One of the many patrol men will come on his motorcycle with side car equipped with tools to help you out. He always carries two gallons of spare "petrol" in case a member needs it.

Well, we finally saw the motor and side car near a patch of woods. We stopped and blew the horn. And almost immediately, the A. A. man appeared out of the trees. "I was just having my tea," he said. That's Britain. In the small towns, all the small shops are shut from 12:30 to about 2:00 for tea and lunch.

The night we stayed at an old smugglers' rendezvous known as Hoop's Inn. It was a delightful place and one of the guests was a Canon of the Church, and his wife. They were nice enough to ask us to share the open fire with them in the little lounge and we got talking. The Canon was whimsical and amusing. We talked of many things for a little while and then of the old custom of entertaining friends at dinner. "But, you know," he said, "that's what we once had. There's no fun nowadays because if you want to give a friend a meal, you can't do it out of your ration. You have to come to a place like this and it's not the same."

"In the old days, you enjoyed the hospitality shown to you but you didn't talk about the food. Now if you host serves you meat, your wife says, 'You parkle and you say Meat, my word, you must have been lucky. Where did you get it?' And then around the table everyone who can begin to tell you how he got an extra bone to make soup or an extra piece of suet to make a pudding. We congratulate the hostess who cajoled the butcher into giving her an extra kidney. Yes, the talk always turns back to food. It's the principal topic of conversation."

We came to Scotland. Edinburgh friends met us in Glasgow to join us in a trip through the Highlands. On our journeys we had seen frequently the travelling meat autos which served the country people who came out to see what was to be had. We thought that at least was better than taking anything the butcher wanted to send you.

We waited for him so he couldn't get by and explained that we only blew the horn to attract his attention. Then one of our friends got out and asked if he could spare any meat. He turned out to be a regular gentleman for he cut off part of a leg of lamb (not by any means a whole leg) and gave us a bone for soup into the bargain! We gave his little boy who was with him a bar of chocolate and by the time he had eaten it I think it was the first he had seen for a very long time. The tremendous heights to which they were built and the hundreds of tombs and memorials within them, all linked to the history of a nation that goes back over centuries.

Instead, I would like to write to you about British conversation and food.

About 5 o'clock yesterday, we were coming along a highway and on the alert for an A. A. man. "A. A." means Automobile Association and they have special telephone booths along the highway to which all members have keys. If in trouble, get to the nearest A. A. man. One of the many patrol men will come on his motorcycle with side car equipped with tools to help you out. He always carries two gallons of spare "petrol" in case a member needs it.

Well, we finally saw the motor and side car near a patch of woods. We stopped and blew the horn. And almost immediately, the A. A. man appeared out of the trees. "I was just having my tea," he said. That's Britain. In the small towns, all the small shops are shut from 12:30 to about 2:00 for tea and lunch.

When we arrived at the London Airport, immediately the talk turned to food and what a lucky break that was and how once before they had by magic managed to get a little extra bacon, etc. The meat ration was equal to one medium size chop. But in most cases, you have no choice but take what the butcher chooses to give you and often, I am told, it is not fit to eat.

"Tanks For The Memory"

"You never even hear of a 'tank-town' nowadays," said Bill as the 515 passed the big glass-walled enginehouse in the North Station yards. We were homebound bound from work, and Bill was in a reminiscent mood.

"I was born and brought up in a tank-town," he went on. "Not far from Boston, either — but the locomotives used an awful lot of water in those days."

"It was wonderful fun to watch the big double-header might freight come through, west-bound for New York State. Our little town was in a hollow, with a two-mile upgrade on each side."

"The freight would stop at the top of the eastern grade and the two locomotives would uncouple and come on alone. All the kids in town would be on the depot platform, tossing off railroad slang and lingo as the engines took on water at the big wooden tank. Then at last they'd run back up the line and couple onto the cars again. Pretty soon — it would be about dark on a summer evening — pretty soon we'd see the first great puffs of black smoke, and after a few seconds we'd hear them. They'd be getting up speed as fast as they could on the downgrade, so they wouldn't stall on the upgrade to the west."

"We'd see the headlight coming nearer and faster, and the noise would grow louder and louder. And then with a long whistle and a roar the train would come charging past the depot — engines wide open, snorting and puffing, smoke and cinders everywhere, brake shoes rattling, dust flying, cars swaying and groaning, wheels grinding — really a terrific racket."

"There'd be 60 to 70 cars, sometimes — a big load, for those days. I tell you, it always gave me a thrill to watch that freight go by."

Bill paused after this monologue and looked out the window.

"All gone, now," he remarked finally. "Only a few wayside tanks left on the whole B and M system."

"Why?" I asked.

"It's the diesels," he explained. "They don't need to take on water — and diesels today pull every B and M train, except some commuter trains and a few local freights."

"That's progress, of course — the B and M is one of the most highly-dieselized railroads in the country — and I'm all for it."

"But this cold efficiency sure does away with some of the glamour and excitement!"

Philip H. Gallagher, Winchester. Mrs. Emily H. Marks, Winchester. Henry Shea, Lexington.

Mr. Bonnell, the retiring President, welcomed the new members to the Corporation, and introduced Mr. John M. Kingman, the new Head of the South End House, who, with Miss White, the Camp Director, outlined the plans for the 1952 season. A House Committee was appointed to see to the improvement of the living quarters in the camp and it is hoped that a program may be developed that will be carried into the next few years and will result in a complete modernization of the Camp.

MISSION UNION GUILD

Mrs. James S. Allen, Director of the Mission Union Guild of the First Congregational Church, entertained her board of officers for 1952-53 and the retiring board at her home at 333 Highland avenue on Thursday, May 22nd.

A business meeting was held at 11 o'clock to discuss plans for the coming year after which a delightful salad and dessert luncheon was served by the hostess: Mrs. Allen. Those present were: Miss Helen Hall, the Mesdames James S. Allen, Richard Ashendon, Ray Brown, Arthur Cameron, Donald C. Davis, Everett Goss, H. J. Grimes, Frank Gunby, Fred Hatch, Edgar Hinton, Robert Lowry, Norman Padelford, Wayne B. Thompson, George E. Trout, Mabel Ward, B. Edward Zinn.

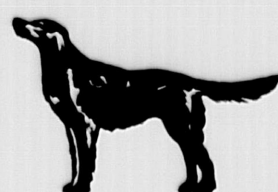

Miss Jean Garvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo F. Garvey of Hillside avenue, will receive her degree from Emmanuel College Tuesday afternoon, June 3, at the Boston Opera House. His Excellency, the Most Reverend Richard J. Cushing, D.D., will present the degrees.

A very delightful afternoon was enjoyed Wednesday at the home of Miss Mary A. Fitch, Sheffield West.

Mrs. Herbert Lamson of Highland avenue, gave a talk on Chinese objects of art and showed beautiful embroideries and tapestries collected while she was living at the University of Shanghai, a number of years ago. Also remarkable objects of teakwood and China were explained. Among them the figures of the "Eight Immortals" representing certain good wishes.

Everyone enjoyed Miss Fitch's beautiful home and appreciated her kindness in donating the afternoon for the benefit of the society. A delicious tea was served, amid lovely flower arrangements.

OLD STORE TO CLOSE

The dry goods store of G. Raymond Bancroft will close June 30th, according to information given by Mr. Bancroft this week. He will go out of business. His store is one of the oldest doing continuous business in Winchester, having been started in 1889 by his aunt, Fanny J. Bowser. Mr. Bancroft took over the business in 1910. Until two years ago the store was conducted on Vernon street, but has since moved to its present location on Park street.

FISHING TRIP

Cam Ross and Brad Hersey, just returned from a fishing trip at Tim Pond Camps, Stratton, Maine, report the trout fishing excellent and a trip climaxed by catching their daily limit the morning of their departure.

Mr. B. R. Callender of Winchester was also there with another party. Mr. J. Waldo Bond and party are booked for a later arrival.

Malcolm S. Nichols of Wildwood street, executive director of the Family Society of Greater Boston, presented a paper at the National Conference of Social Work in Chicago on May 26th. The subject of his paper was, "The Contribution of the Family Service Agency to Family Life Education."

TEACHERS' CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

At a meeting of the Winchester Teachers' Club in the high school auditorium on May 14, the following slate of officers for 1952-53 was accepted:

President — Ruth Graham.
Vice-President — David Kotkov.
Secretary — Myrtle Dodge.
Treasurer — Constance Savard.
Program Committee Chairman — Frances Houghton.

Directors — Eleanor Anfantis, Henry Knowlton, Agnes Walsh, Charlotte LeClair, Agnes Cochran, Minnetta Jurgenson, Mary Doherty, Roland Nault, Edna Smith, Joan Rouzie.

Representative, State Legislation Committee — George Snyder. Public Relations Committee (for two years) — Alfred Meurling, Fred Felmet, Joseph Forte, Thomas Morse.

Salary Committee (for two years) — Norma Littlefield, Charles Bonnett, Francis Finigan, Edward Burns.

Scholarship — Barbara Blackstone.

Nominations — Mary McAuley. Gifts — Madeline Noland. Retirement — Arthur Butters.

Phyllis Roberts was appointed chairman of the Public Relations Committee. Henry K. Fitts will serve as chairman of the Salary Committee.

Another feature of the meeting was the talk by Mr. Theodore Borad, executive director of the State Aid Campaign. Mr. Borad described the background of events which led to the recent campaign for state aid for teachers' salaries. Though the bill presented by the teachers failed to receive the approval of the legislature, he stated that the campaign was successful in arousing interest and support for an expanded program of state aid.

TO GRADUATE FROM SMITH

Mrs. William M. Wood, Jr. (Lois Hottel), daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Hoyt C. Hottel of 27 Cambridge street, will be a candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Arts at the 74th Smith College Commencement June 9.

During her junior and senior years Mrs. Wood was a member of the Glee Club and as a junior and sophomore participated in the Rally Day Show, the annual college celebration of George Washington's Birthday. She was an English major at Smith.

SIXTH GRADE MOTHERS MEET MR. DICKMAN

On Tuesday, May 20, the Noonan School mothers were hostesses at the first joint meeting of sixth grade mothers from all other elementary schools, invited to meet with the principal of the Junior High School, Mr. Raymond Dickman.

Following a pleasant conversation period over coffee and doughnuts, Miss Leomore Rich, principal of Noonan and Washington, welcomed the large group and introduced Mr. Dickman.

He characterized the next two years as "exciting, interesting, stimulating, exasperating and tiring", but assured the mothers that this transition does not feel so abrupt to the children as to the parents. Subject matter builds on what was learned in fifth and sixth grades, but emphasis in secondary schools tends to shift from the individual child more toward learning.

Twenty to thirty minutes of homework are allotted to certain fields on certain days, mainly for the purpose of instilling proper work habits. Parents may help by assigning the child a specific spot for study, be it kitchen table or bedroom desk, and by sharing an interest in constructive attitude toward the work.

Anticipating the questions that recur annually, Mr. Dickman strongly urged that the Pamphlet on Phases of Junior High School Life, which is very specific, be read by the parents with the child when it is first brought home at the opening of school. He further recommended that bicycles always be locked, and suggested $1.00 to $1.25 a week for spending money, with the addition of 8.75 to $1.00 if lunches are bought.

Mr. Dickman made an earnest plea for the strengthening of family life, in order to give the children a much needed sense of security and assurance that any and all problems can be talked over. He urged a "share with me" approach to household tasks, rather than just "do it." The father is particularly important to girls as well as boys during this period of assorted sizes and widely differing stages of development, ranging from late childhood to early adolescence.

Family living is supplemented at the Junior High by the use of "home" rooms, a good number of men teachers, and the working together of principal and faculty as a family, to strengthen the awareness of the brotherhood of man.

The school and teachers are doing everything they can, and welcome a discussion of individual problems, but by appointment only, as the hour after school is usually reserved for special help of students.

There are, however, certain things that "can't do a blooming thing about": like squeezing 407 children into 11 rooms, single rather than double gym periods, having to provide shop and home economics space for the Senior High, and trailing through all kinds of weather across the street to the High School cafeteria for lunch at 11:05 a.m.

The mothers were warned to beware of extreme exaggeration that is typical of this age as gangs and untidiness of boys; secretiveness and stolid independence of girls.

In conclusion, Mr. Dickman proposed, as the only real problem, the correlation of teachers and parents with the child's expectation.

LINCOLN SCHOOL MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

The members of Lincoln School Mothers' Association gathered in the Lincoln School Auditorium on Wednesday, May 14th for the final meeting of the year.

The meeting was called to order at 3 o'clock by Mrs. Ralph P. Webster, Jr., president. Mrs. Webster called upon the members of the outgoing "board" to come forward and give a brief report of their activities throughout the past year.

The president then introduced Mrs. Stanley Mullen, Mrs. Mullen, acting on behalf of Mrs. William Sweet, chairman of the nominating committee, announced the following officers for the coming year:

President, Mrs. John Flaherty. First Vice-President, Mrs. Kenneth Cullen.

Second Vice-President, Mrs. Bruce Pendergast.

Recording Secretary, Mrs. Charles Fish.

Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Austin Nanry.

Treasurer, Mrs. Dominic Runci.

Auditor, Mrs. Joseph Gagliardi.

At the close of the nominating committee's report, Mrs. John Flaherty, the newly elected president, announced the names of the members of her "board":

Chairman of Ways and Means — Mrs. S. Kennedy Tully, Mrs. Leo Danton.

Chairman of Programs — Mrs. Vincent Carroll.

Social Committee — Mrs. George Carter, Mrs. Archangelo Amico.

Chairman of Room Mothers — Mrs. Randolph Kazanian.

Chairman of Publicity — Mrs. William Coody.

Chairman of Nominating Committee — Mrs. Stanley Mullen.

Mrs. Flaherty then presented to Mrs. Ralph Webster, Jr., the retiring president, a gift from the Mothers' Association in deep appreciation of the very fine work she has done as president during the past year.

Mrs. Webster on behalf of the Lincoln School Mothers' Association presented to Mr. Forte, principal of Lincoln School a check to be used for the purchase of the encyclopedia "Junior Britannica" for use in the Lincoln School library. The gift was presented in memory of John Hamilton Lynch, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Lynch of Nelson street. John was a pupil in the first grade at the Lincoln School, who lost his life in a drowning accident during the past winter.

This concluded the business meeting, and Mrs. Webster then introduced the speaker for the afternoon, M. W. H. Tinker, Jr., Director of the Cambridge Y. M. C. A. camp at Dunstable, Mass. Mr. Tinker gave an interesting and timely talk on "Camp Life for Boys and Girls".

Refreshments were served by the social committee. Mrs. Ralph Webster and Mrs. John Flaherty, poured.

Mrs. John Monro, chairman of the social committee and her assistant Mrs. Lawrence Palmer are to be complimented on the delicious refreshments that have been served at every meeting throughout the past year. They have added greatly to the enjoyment of the social hour.

Pre-school age children were cared for during the meeting by "Dot" Cullen and her girl scouts in the kindergarten room.

FOR TOMORROW one thing is sure...

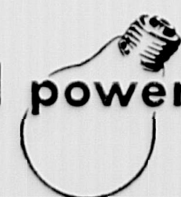

1941 1951 1961

One reason is that New England population keeps growing. It has climbed 10% between 1940 and 1950. But the use of electricity grows far faster than population... up 83% over the same period! It just seems that people never reach any stopping point in putting electricity to work for them — in their homes, in business, in industry*, in science. So there just has to be a substantial increase in electricity production each year to meet your needs. This keeps your business-managed electric companies planning far ahead — measuring New England's future and building plants and distribution systems to match. It's a matter of keeping faith with nine million New Englanders who rely on electric power.

*Plenty of electric power for industrial use is essential for New England to keep its place as one of America's busiest workshops. More than half of New England's electricity is used in commerce and industry... which provide more than 90% of New England jobs!

New England will use more ELECTRICITY than today!

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

At the meeting held on Monday, May 19th, six new members received the honors of the first degree which was exemplified by the officers of the council.

Bad weather which has been having has not deterred the several members who have been lending a helping hand in a little cleanup work at the property recently acquired by the Medical Missionaries of Mary on the old Deane estate. Members will continue each night on this project until completed. All brothers who can assist in this work should bring their own rake, etc.

Winchester Council was well represented at the State Convention held in Holyoke last week end. Grand Knight Charles W. Craven and Past Grand Knight Harry E. Boyle were the elected delegates present, who were accompanied by Past Grand Knight Alfred J. Pullo, James F. Mawn, Edward F. Dalton, Philip S. Savage, James L. Coughlin, Anthony J. Keane and former State Warden George F. Young. Because of the many members present at the convention, the only housing accommodations, George Young could get were in the Fire house. George reports that no alarms were sounded so he had a good night's sleep.

An exemplification of the second degree for the new candidates and members of the council has been announced, which will be held at Waterfield Hall on Sunday, June 1st.

DADS' CLUB PACK NINE

A most successful season was climaxed at the Pack meeting, on Friday, May 16, in the auditorium, filled with parents and guests.

Den six gave a fine "skit" on "Feats of Strength," and the High School Tumbler, John Farrell and Dick Errio, thrilled the boys and guests, with their unusual routine. Probably the best "skit" of the year was put on by the "Blue Shirts" of Den 2. This seven piece band of Cubs entertained the meeting with very fine musical numbers.

One boy from each Den explained and demonstrated the crafts of the month, and some very unique projects were shown.

Den 2 won the cup for attendance, and the team for the Scout Round Up at Tufts College was picked. This team won a Blue Ribbon the following day.

Chairman Henry Fitts introduced Mr. Ben Marshall, who explained to the boys that a new Scout Troop would be ready in September, sponsored by the Dads Club.

The Cubs served their guests refreshments, sang their special songs, and went home satisfied with a year well spent.

Cub Masters Bravacos and Richards, with Frank Parsons, gave out the following awards:

Den 2 — Darrow, Kirkpatrick, Wolf Badge, One Year Star; Jon Horvath, Bear Badge; John Swift, Gold Arrow; Jim Bogue, Gold Arrow; Peter Ives, Bear Book; Bill Leighton, Denner Stripe, One Year Star; Chip Sweet, Denner Stripe.

Den 3 — George Neville, Wolf Badge; Steve Campbell, Bear Badge.

Den 4 — Richard Keene, Wolf Badge, Gold Arrow; Dave Lundin, Two Silver Arrows; Herb Thompson, Gold Arrow; Guild Nichols, Gold Arrow.

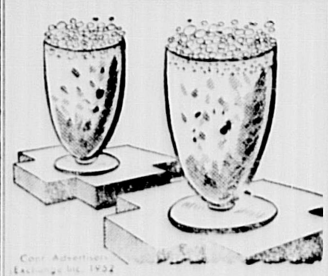

Den 1 — Eric Wittet, Gold Arrow; Sandy Campbell, Silver Arrow.

Den 5 — Bob Chase, Wolf Badge.

Den 6 — Jim Reynolds, Denner Stripe.

AWARDED DEFENSE CONTRACT

The Rex Machine and Tool Company at 95 Hemingway street, Winchester has received a government contract for $25,661.00 and the contract has been approved by the Defense Production Administration. Paul G. Carney, regional director of the M. P. A. announced that certificates of necessity for contracts for expanded defense facilities amounting to $6,961,512.00 have been approved. The Winchester contract which is for the manufacture of steel castings is in this group.

FRIENDS OF WINCHESTER HOSPITAL

The second annual meeting of the Friends of the Winchester Hospital was held Thursday, May 15th at the Music Hall.

This organization came into being for the sole purpose of interpreting the Hospital to the Community and assisting it in any way possible. There has never been a membership drive and yet there are now 487 members of whom 350 are active in some way. There are twenty-one sustaining and nine life members. The membership comprises women from Wilmington, Stoneham, Rending, Woburn, Wakefield, Winchester and neighboring towns.

There have been two general meetings held this year, one in February and one in October. The speakers were Mrs. Sonia Weiss who gave a report of the American Hospital Association and Dr. Paul White whose subject was "How to Live with your Heart." Both interesting and instructive meetings.

A series of informal parties for all Hospital Personnel was held with members of the Service Committees acting as hostesses. The Ways and Means committee has engineered progressive suppers and cook-outs during the summer and a delightful waltz evening was held in October which it is hoped, will be an annual affair. Dahl, the well known Boston Herald cartoonist gave a talk and there also was a series of progressive bridge parties. The money raised by the Ways and Means committee is used exclusively as a gift to the Hospital. This year the gift will be an oxygen tent.

The Volunteer Service Committee with Mrs. James B. Harlow as its able Chairman had 179 working members who aided in many departments, the blood bank, clerical work, shop supplies, linen room, mending, flowers, making and distributing favors to patients on holidays and surgical dressings. They furnished the decorations at Christmas time and placed fresh flowers in the lobby each week. These flowers were donated by the Winchester Home and Garden Club, The Garden Club, Weston's of Reading, the Winchester Conservatories, Foleys and Forresters, to whom grateful thanks are accorded. The Chairmen of the various service committees are Mrs. Dominic Runci, Mrs. Clarence Wicker, Mrs. Theodore Barleigh, Jr., Mrs. Arthur Agnew, Mrs. Bruce Young, Mrs. Donald McLean, Mrs. Ralph Swan, Mrs. Allan Wilde, Mrs. W. Earley of Reading and Mrs. Robert Michelson of Wilmington.

The publicity Committee under the Chairmanship of Mrs. Earl G. Carrier has kept the public and membership informed of the Friends Activities throughout the year by sending Press notices to the Winchester Star and seven other newspapers in nearby towns whose people are served by the Winchester Hospital.

Credit is due the young people of the Junior Red Cross, the Girl Scouts and a group under Miss Elizabeth Ann Hood all of whom have contributed to the Friends and the Hospital this year.

Miss Ruby Willis gave an interesting History of the Hospital. It was started in 1911 as a cottage hospital. In 1917 a small Hospital was built on the site and this was enlarged in 1928. Later it was enlarged again and soon the final addition will be completed. Last year 3,770 in-patients were cared for, 1,109 from Winchester the rest from out-lying communities. There were 1,049 out-patients, some of which were accidents and some X-ray. There are now 81 beds and 31 bassinets. With the completion of the new wing there will be 108 beds and 38 bassinets. The new building is now practically completed.

The following officers will serve during the coming year, President, Mrs. Fulton Brown, Vice-President, Mrs. Warren Shoemaker, Recording Secretary, Mrs. Charles Greene, Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Paul Leverette, Treasurer, Mrs. Frank Kelley, Jr., Directors, Mrs. Erskine White, Mrs. Ernest Richmond, Jr., and Mrs. Gustav Kaufman.

Work will continue during the summer and the Friends will welcome new members. The only necessary qualification is an interest in the Hospital and a desire to be of assistance.

Charles T. Hughes, first assistant clerk of courts for Middlesex County, who announces his candidacy for clerk of courts. His statement reads: "As Frederic L. Putnam, clerk of courts for Middlesex County, has announced that he will not be a candidate for re-election, I am announcing my candidacy to succeed him. I have been first assistant clerk of courts for five years and have served in the clerk's office for 32 years.

IS YOUR CAT HEALTHY?

After long experience, cat owners acquire a sixth sense about their animals, and know instinctively when something is wrong. It's possible to become so accustomed to the normal behavior of your cat that you will immediately notice any change.

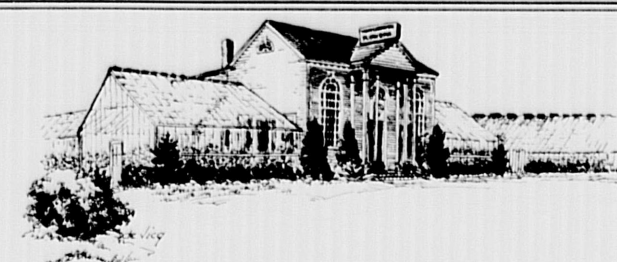

A cat may catch many human diseases, and a few that are cat diseases only. Please note this very important warning! A good veterinarian is the best diagnostician! Call him as early as possible if anything seems wrong.

But don't be alarmed by the thought of illness. A well-cared-for cat is seldom sick. Common sense in feeding, keeping your cat away from cold and from drafts, and especially keeping him away from diseased cats who might infect him, plus a little training of yourself in the art of recognizing early symptoms, are the best insurance against trouble.

A cat who is healthy has regular habits. He sleeps, washes, plays and eats at regular times. Don't be surprised if he changes one habit for another. But notice any unusual change in his daily routine: it just might be a symptom of illness.

A healthy cat plays every day. He purrs if petted, and often for no apparent reason at all. He promptly eats the food you put down for him, and looks forward to his meals eagerly. He sleeps in a relaxed position, lying on one side (not on his stomach, with his feet curled up under him! That, if it persists, is a warning signal.). When he awakens, he stretches and yawns. He washes every day. His hair is glossy and soft. He is alert, responsive and good-natured.

The absence of these signs of good health are danger signals, warning you to call a veterinarian at once. But when you are used to recognizing the evidences of good health, you need waste no time in unnecessary worry.

LAST DISPATCH
On the cold Atlantic
East of St. John's N. F.
Monday, May 12, 1952
Dear Everybody:
This will be my last dispatch for this trip. We expect to reach St. John's about noon, though at the rate we seem to be travelling, it might be mid-summer before we get there.
I think I brought you up to London in my last letter. We reached there very late last Saturday because after coming down from the north through Durham and York and Lincoln and Cambridge, we stopped for dinner with friends at Elstree. This town outside of London is the Cinema Centre of England.
The small dinner party was interesting. One of the guests was a former member of the War Cabinet and he had also been Minister to the U. S. during a part of the war. At first, I didn't realize who he was but I had been. He launched into a discussion of American politics and seemed pretty well posted except for the latest developments.
But the talk veered to conditions in Britain and I asked why it was that Britain with all its coal underground still had to import coal. It was then that he went into detail. It seems he had been Minister of Fuel and he really knew his subject. He said no comparison could be made between British and American mines, that the coal seams were entirely different in many ways. Coal seams in America are thick to 40 feet and not far below the surface. In Britain, most of the seams are but 2 feet thick and much deeper. Further than that, the English coal is much more volatile so that the master of ventilation is a very great problem because of the great amount of explosive gas. At the moment, the industry is trying to develop a way of burning the coal where it lies and getting the power out without removing the coal from the mine at all. This can be done all right but what baffles them is how to control the fire so that all the seams will not be ignited and unquenchable.
This scheme when successfully developed will make of Britain an electrical country because the power would be developed where the coal lies and distances for transmission are not too great. At the same time, Britain is developing its water power. At Loch Lomond in Scotland, we saw four very large flumes coming down the mountain side to a power house on the lake level. A lock at much higher level has been directed through the tunnelled mountain to get a level that I guessed was about 350 feet. Near Ayr in Robert Burns' country, we passed several high dams finished or under construction. Near Mt. Snowden in Wales, they are constructing a harness the rain fall which in this particular area is 200 inches per year.
Sunday we drove to Windsor. At times the rain came down as if we were in the tropics. We stopped several times because of it but the deluge did not stop nor dampen the ardor of the many cyclists who on weekends ride by the thousands. Covered with slickers or oil skins but no hats or caps, they plod on regardless.
I wouldn't want to be in the hat business in England. It seems to be a very minor part of the economy for even on the busy street of London, few men seem to wear hats or caps.
Monday we drove about London again, stopping at convenient places to go afoot into nearby places like Westminster Cathedral. It would be futile to try to tell you about Westminster Cathedral. We saw only an hour there. He had a particular reason for wanting to see the resting place of David Livingstone and we found it almost in the middle of the Cathedral Nave. I think one could spend at least a fortnight in this magnificent edifice, but in preparation one should spend months in studying the history of Britain for here are tombs and memorials and statues to many of Britain's great.
Here are the resting places of many of all creeds, Protestants, Catholics, and Jew (Disraeli is interred here) alike are gathered here in memory of a proud people. Big Ben who saw the Houses of Parliament, the Horse Guards where the mounted sentries kindly move their steeds out of the Sentry

When people we met learned of our driving ourselves, they marvelled that we could cope with the traffic. But even on the Strand and Piccadilly and Oxford street, the traffic is not as bad as in many of our cities. There are but few one-way streets but an American can easily be confused by the direction in which cars parked at the curb are headed.
Except on a few principal streets, if you want to park you just pull into the first vacant space you see. It may be on the other side from you, but that's all right. If you can get through the center line of traffic and you usually can, just pull across and park on what we would call the wrong side.
There are no parking meters anywhere. You don't see policemen checking parked cars and apparently in designated parking areas, there is no time limit whatever. All in all, Britain is an easy place to drive a car if you can just get used to the left hand driving and controls on the gear shifts that are the reverse of what we have.
Monday night we dined with friends at one of the choice little eating places that are frequented by notables. At a nearby table was the one-time premier, Clement Attlee. The Socialists talk of equal opportunity and equal sacrifice, but they don't seem to be doing it. He was still there when we left.
So ended our stay in Britain for on the morrow we went by train via St. John's, N. F., and Halifax. We had travelled by car 2,601 miles in Britain from London to Land's End, then north through the Midlands well up into the Highlands of Scotland, thence to Edinburgh and back to London.
In so far as possible, we travelled but little on the main through routes. We seen a lot of the country and the little towns, talked with people in many walks of life and we think we know them better.
They realize that a hard time they still, but they are not discouraged. They seem to have a calm hope and confidence and they are brave about it.
I asked Sir Ben Smith, the ex-cabinet member, "Will it be five years or ten or what?" His answer was, "I think four years will be enough, then we will be on the high road again."
I think I will leave you here. See you soon.

ENTERED IN STATE MEET

SATURDAY

Coach Henry Knowlton has entered thirteen boys in the annual State Interscholastic Track and Field meet Saturday at White Stadium. An all day affair, the meet starts with trials in the morning, commencing at 10 o'clock, and a good deal of the best competition is in the forenoon when competitors battle for place in the finals and finals to be run off during the afternoon.

White Stadium is in Franklin Park, is relatively new and a fine place to view a meet. It can be reached from Boston via Columbus and Blue Hill avenues.

Coach Knowlton has entered Dud Samoiloff and Neil Muncaster in the 120 yard high hurdles and Bruce Corbett and Ted Wilder in the 180 yard low hurdle event. Kent Wright and Jack Beggs will run the 100 and Nick Fitzgerald is entered in the 220. Big Doug Hawkins will run the quarter and if he can return to form ought to be a piece of it. Claron Swonger is in the 880 and Bob Nelson and Johnny Becker in the mile.

Samoiloff will compete in the high jump, and Corbett and Lou Ackerman in the broad jump. Hawkins and big Paul Murphy are entered in the shot.

Winchester will compete in Class D, and its relay team for this event will comprise Corbett, Fitzgerald, Hawkins and Samoiloff. It will take a good group to lead this quartet home.

PUPILS AT STATE CAPITOL

Twenty-eight pupils from the sixth grade of the Wynnan School enjoyed a visit recently to the historic State House in Boston, led by Mrs. Mary DeSalvo of the school faculty. School mothers accompanying the group were Mrs. Burton N. Gove, Mrs. Walden B. Hersey, Mrs. A. H. Monson, Mrs. Harlow Russell and Mrs. Charles N. Sweetser.

Guided by Officer George Hoyt of the Capitol Police, the group viewed the Senate and House, Hall of Flags, Library, Doris Hall and other points of interest.

Of special interest was a visit with Secretary of State Edward J. Cronin, who took time out from a busy schedule to explain the functions of his office and to pose for pictures with his young visitors.

ROTARY NOTES

Seldom have the members of the Winchester Rotary Club been so impressed by the ability and sincerity of a speaker as they were on Thursday, May 22, when John F. Conlin, M. D., addressed them.

Dr. Conlin is a fellow townsman and Director of Medical Information and Education, Massachusetts Medical Society. He is also President of the Massachusetts Society for Medical Research.

His address was "Current Problems in Medical Research," an abstract of which follows:

Medical research has made tremendous progress in recent years. The first half of the Twentieth Century may well come to be known as the Golden Age of Medicine. This progress has been especially notable in Massachusetts, which is generally regarded as one of the world's leading medical centers.

Many and at times serious problems have been encountered in the constant effort to push back the barriers of ignorance and to open up new and promising vistas. Funds, personnel and an adequate number of research institutions have all at one time been problems. Funds from various sources have become increasingly available. Various foundations, the numerous voluntary health agencies and various federal and other grants have provided most generous support. An increasing number of devoted and highly skilled workers have concentrated their efforts in the field of research. Every medical, dental and public health school, many excellent teaching hospitals, various foundations, many governmental agencies and our great pharmaceutical manufacturing houses have been engaged in active medical research programs.

New research tools have been added in recent years which have broadened our horizons. The ultracentrifuge, the electron microscope, new chemical syntheses and particularly the radioisotopes have been of tremendous assistance in research progress. The availability of radioactively "tagged" elements from the atomic piles has greatly helped basic studies in the life processes of cells and in the mechanism of abnormal cell behavior in cancer and other diseases.

Unfortunately the story is not yet entirely a happy one. Certain most important research studies of intense personal value to everyone, and particularly to our young men who are still dying in Korea, have been unnecessarily delayed and even prevented because of serious shortages of certain animals for research studies.

The problem of animal experimentation is unpleasant and unpopular. Because of this fact for many years physicians and research people have been reluctant to tell the public. As a result, until very recently the anti-vivisectionists enjoyed an almost unopposed position. They vilified scientific workers and conducted a campaign of deliberate distortion and misrepresentation which is almost without parallel in any study of the muddled waters of the rivers of propaganda.

Some of you may have encountered an especially particular case of this sub-human form of activity in this field. I refer to the detestable device of anonymous communications. Some months ago a number of our housewives had their homes invaded by a post-card message which attacked me and made a number of demonstrably false statements concerning my attitudes and activities with regard to pets. The card was outrageous.

I signed "A Resident." I seriously question the accuracy of even that much of a signature. But it is impossible that a community as intelligent and progressive as Winchester may harbor a character which would stoop to such an act.

The record is abundantly clear concerning anti-vivisectionist activities. I sponsored and actively supported, as a member of a Special Commission appointed by Governor Bradford, an effort to legalize the practice of tattooing or "identacoding" household pets in order to make their ownership a matter of clear and permanent record and to help to do away with the detestable traffic in stolen pets. There are numerous other examples which I might cite.

Any one of a number of anti-vivisectionist misrepresentations might be cited. Dead and autopsied animals have been photographed and the photographs have been taken in a vivisection laboratory have been widely publicized, with an accompanying admonition to "Stop This Cruelty!" Photographs of animals under full anesthesia with mouth gags in place — with no mention of the anesthetic — have been widely used. The deft use of statements taken out of context or of opinions which were later repudiated have been widely utilized. An oft-used quotation from "The Late" Dr. Henry Jacob Bigelow (died 1890) is a typical example of this form of distortion.

These tactics were not without effect. An occasional physician of extremely dubious standing and reputation has been found on the side of the anti-vivisectionists. More than a few nurses have become members of anti-vivisectionist groups. Occasionally completely uniformed members of the clergy have appeared in the ranks of the opposition over the years — an extremely small number of very elderly clergymen are still among their adherents. Repeated surveys have shown that anti-vivisectionists are numerically an almost negligible segment of the population. But their well-financed and highly vocal propaganda and pressure tactics enjoyed an extraordinary degree of success until a counter-attack setting forth the truth at issue was launched. Legislators have been notably sensitive to anti-vivisectionist pressures over past years. It has not been unusual to find a legislator in strong favor of a state medical school law which would give legislation to make animals from public pounds available for medical teaching and research. This is a provision without which it is extremely doubtful if another medical school could function or receive recognition or approval.

Anti-vivisectionists maintain that it is immoral and sinful to perform any experiment on any animal for any purpose. They demand that such experimentation be prohibited by law. The answer to this is contained in the first chapter of the first book of the Holy Bible wherein our first parents were given dominion over the lower creatures. Cardinal Newman has said that animals are given to us for our use and we may use them as we see fit, providing we give a rational account of what we do. This I propose to do briefly.

Of the very many thousands of experiments done each year in our laboratories only a number very much less than 5 percent involve the use of the dog or the cat. The rest are concerned with chick embryos, rats, mice, guinea pigs, hamsters, ferrets, rhesus monkeys, sheep, cows horses and so on. In only rare cases is pain and suffering involved. In these cases anesthesia is used and pain control is used if the animal's survival is needed for observation purposes.

Of the less than 5 percent experiments which must of necessity use the dog or cat for definite and proved scientific reasons, more than 90 percent of these are "acute" or non-survival experiments. The dog or cat is first given a sedative. The animal is then fully anesthetized and remains under anesthesia until the procedure is completed at which time he is painlessly killed by an overdose of the anesthetic agent. There are no experiments in which the animal is kept alive and then subjected to more humane form of death than the gassing, drowning, gunshot, clubbing, chloroforming, electrocution or other slaughter methods used to dispose of unwanted animals in our dog pounds and elsewhere.

Of the small number of dogs and cats which are used in survival experiments, when the animal is sedated or anesthetized, care and sedation is given, comparable to that received by the human patient. This fact is attested to by many hundreds of competent observers. Our laboratories are open to newspapermen, teachers, humane society representatives, to the investigator for the New England Anti-vivisection Society and to invited legislators into our laboratories. Many of these have come. There are no attics or cellars. There are no "ghouls, butchers and sadists". There is no cruelty or tortures. There are existing laws which prevent cruelty to animals. If cruelty actually existed we would long since have been prosecuted.

The record of benefits from animal experimentation is simply overwhelming. Everything we know or do in modern medicine stems directly or indirectly from humane experiments on animals. No new drug or surgical procedure is ever tested on a human. Many tests of drugs on animals are required by law. Our million known diabetics in this country would not have insulin to keep them alive without experiments on dogs. Our epileptics would not have seizure-controlling drugs such as dilantin, mesantoin and tridione without experiments on cats. Electroshock procedures, blue baby operation which give normal life to our pathetically crippled congenital cardiac infants, surgical treatment for hydrocephalus or water on the brain, the sulfa drugs, penicillin and all the long list of "miracle drugs" — antibiotics, blood transfusion and plasma — all these and nearly everything else we have, including all our anesthetics and all the rest were developed in and through animal studies.

Much has still to be done. Research in the field of polio, heart disease, high blood pressure, cancer, surgical shock, the use of artificial heart-lung machines, the artificial or mechanical kidney, the new plastic tubing and various "spare part" surgical techniques and much else continues under vigorous study in our laboratories. Yet at a time when more than 100,000 dogs and cats are being senselessly slaughtered each year in Massachusetts there are never enough of these available for our urgent needs. It is too expensive to breed our own dogs. It cost more than $75 to raise a dog to 6 months maturity. Even then the animal differs not at all from an unwanted, unlicensed, untrained, unowned and unloved animal running at large which is to be executed under the law as a menace to the public health. We purchase animals from licensed dealers. The animal is constantly harried and heckled by the anti-vivisectionists. Despite our best efforts and constant vigilance and investigation we occasionally get a stolen animal in one of our laboratories.

This is an incredibly stupid situation. No one questions the right of the state to enact a law which condemns stray animals to death. We have such a law now. We ask only that the ever-present danger of the stealing of someone's pet for sale to one of our laboratories be forever prevented by making a very few thousand dollars annually already being executed available for humane and necessary research. We do not want anyone's pet! We do not want any animal which an owner wants to be "put to sleep". We are asking for a small appropriation of the animals now being executed.

New York State in recent weeks has enacted legislation making this possible. A number of other states and cities have also passed such legislation. Massachusetts urgently needs such legislation. The medical, dental and public health schools, the teaching hospitals and other research institutions and the Massachusetts Society for Medical Research, urgently beseech your active interest and support and that of all whom you can enlist in teaching the necessity of such legislation and urging its passage when next it is introduced.

This research benefits animals. The veterinarian treats pets with drugs and surgery which were first tested on other animals. Cancer, blindness, worms, diabetes and many other diseases similar to those in humans are found in pets. The use of penicillin and many other drugs developed through experimentation on animals is used in the treatment of animals just as in humans.

I submit that the humanity which benefits the animal and the human through humane research is immensely more reasonable and considered than the maudlin, misguided and horribly false sentimentality which places the so-called welfare of the animal above benefits to humans as well as to other animals.

WINCHESTER MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION ANNUAL MEETING

The Central Board of the Winchester Mothers' Association will hold its annual meeting on Wednesday, June 4th, in the high school auditorium.

Prior to the meeting refreshments will be served in the courtyard at 2 p. m., followed by the business meeting at 2:30 p. m. Guest speakers will be Dr. Forbes H. Norris, Superintendent of the Winchester schools, Mrs. Phillip Woodward, member of the School Committee, and Miss Barbara Blackstone, Dean of Girls at Winchester High School.

Mother's of all school children in Winchester are most cordially invited to attend this meeting and urged to reserve the following date: Wednesday, June 4, at 2 p. m., place, Winchester High School Auditorium.

TO PLAY DURING FESTIVAL WEEK

Winchester pupils appearing at various times during the Arlington Academy of Music Festival week are Daniel Mantini, Francis Mangano, Judith Swan, Joseph Venardi, Richard Violante and others.

Miss Thelma Whitman, young Philharmonic Scholarship winner, is among the advanced pupils to appear in the Festival, and as guest star on the same program will be Robert Vincent, popular baritone.

Vocal night will be Friday, June 13, at which time many local pupils will appear, as well as Mr. Edwin O. Wing, faculty member and director of the vocal department.

There is no charge for tickets to the Festival, which may be obtained at the Arlington Academy of Music, 386 Massachusetts avenue, Arlington.

GEOGRAPHIC ODDITIES AND BRIEFS

The strange cold light produced by fireflies is caused by oxidation of a substance called luciferin, which science has not yet succeeded in making artificially, says the National Geographic Society. Cold light can be man-produced in a 100-watt filament lamp.

Australian bushmen enjoy a diet which includes ants, caterpillars, cicadas and other insects, as well as snake meat.

Michigan leads all States in salt production, says the National Geographic Society. Layers of soot-white sodium chloride underlie much of the Lower Peninsula.

A shipwreck was responsible for the disappearance of the Musk Ox from one of its best feeding grounds, Banks Island in the Canadian Arctic. Sir Robert McClure abandoned his ship on the shore of Banks Island and marched with his crew to safety overland. Eskimos discovered the ship, and traveled from all parts of the Canadian Arctic Archipelago to collect the iron in the wreck. Once on the island, they destroyed the abundant herds of musk oxen, says the National Geographic Society.

A fish which can live in either air or water inhabits lakes and rivers in tropical Venezuela and Brazil. Called the Buco, it burrows into mud during the dry season, using lungs instead of gills to breathe until the rainy season begins again.

Pearls are sometimes found in the Caribbean cone — inhabitant of the "singing" seashells that once graced many a living room. But, says the National Geographic Society, despite their beauty they are not as valuable as oyster pearls. The conch pearls are comparatively soft, and fade in time.

Monks were the timekeepers of the Middle Ages, and monastery bells told the time to all living within their range, says the National Geographic Society. The word clock really signifies bell, and comes from the Old French cloche, the German glocke, the Medieval Latin clocca, and the Old English cluce.

DROUGHTS AS WELL AS FLOODS PLAGUE MISSOURI RIVER BASIN

"Big Muddy is rising!" Ever since pioneers first straggled up the Missouri River and built fur-trading posts on its banks, the cry has been heard.

The calamitous April surge of waters across bottom lands of the Missouri, the Mississippi, and their northern tributaries has caused damage to compare with that estimated in billions of dollars as a result of Missouri Basin floods in 1951 and 1947. In many lesser floods, as well, the Missouri has been notorious for its havoc.

The Missouri River's watershed covers all Nebraska and large parts of eight other states, adding up to one-sixth of the Nation's area. Notes the National Geographic Society. The fact that droughts as well as floods periodically plague the basin adds urgency to water resource control plans in a region that produces much of America's grain and meat.

A hundred small storage reservoirs already dot the upper reaches of the Missouri Basin, where local floods that make few national headlines account for a big part of the damage. Flood-retaining levees line both shores of the final 700 miles of the Muddy Mo's 2,500-mile course.

A unified plan of the Army Engineers, the Reclamation Bureau, and soil experts provides for 105 multi-purpose dams, 15 of which are built or in progress. As recently as last January, the President set up a Missouri Basin Survey Commission for further study of plans for the protection of the area's land and water.

Fort Peck Dam in eastern Montana illustrates the 105-dam plan. It produces power and stores water in winter and spring, letting it out in summer and fall when the river is low. The world's largest earth-fill dam, it rises 250 feet on a base four miles long and nearly a mile thick. Hungry Horse Dam in Montana, Garrison Dam in North Dakota, and Okeche Dam in South Dakota are gigantic Missouri Basin barriers now under construction.

Big Muddy and Muddy Mo, nicknames, are no misnomers. Flooding down the Mississippi in 1973, Marquette noted with amazement the volume of brown water that poured from the Missouri's mouth. On an average day, it is estimated, 275,000 tons of silt-ridden mud pour from the mouth of the Missouri into the Gulf of Mexico in the past century. Flowing between high dikes at New Orleans, the Mississippi's bottom is several feet higher than the downtown street level.

That real progress has been made in taming this watercourse is apparent in the fact that for 25 years main-line levees of the lower Mississippi have been unbreached by flood peaks that caused major disasters upstream. Barring new heavy rains, they are regarded as more than equal to the 1952 spring crest.

In another respect the Missouri's rampages could be worse. Weather Bureau river forecasters now can accurately predict levels along rivers well in advance. Where history records eight floods, chiefly in Asia, that have taken more than 100,000 lives each, loss of life has been extremely rare in recent destructive Missouri Basin floods.

SAMOILLOFF LOWERED SCHOOL HURDLES MARK

Though his effort won't show in the official records of the Class D division of the State Track and Field Meet last Saturday at White Stadium in Boston, the fact remains that "Dud" Samoiloff, big Winchester High School hurdler, lowered the D record for the 120 yard high hurdles with a 16.6 performance.

"Dud" won by eight yards in setting his record and probably would have made better time had he been more closely pressed. He lost his official State record when he was disqualified because a mistake had been made in the Winchester entries which had him and Neil Muncester entered in the 180 yard low hurdle event instead of the high hurdles and placed Bruce Cortell and Tommy Wilder in the high.

It should have been just the other way around, and the boys spoke about the error to one of the hurdle officials before their races. Either the official misunderstood the boys, or the boys did not understand his directions, for they all went to the post thinking everything had been straightened out, only to find, after Samoiloff's fine win, that they had been disqualified for competing in an event, other than those in which they were entered.

Rules are rules, of course, but even so, it seems too bad to deprive Samoiloff of a State D record just because he was entered through error in a different hurdle race from the one he ran. The official to whom the boys appealed should have requested them to go with their coach to the meet referee before the races were run, in an effort to enable the kids to compete, or he should have told them very definitely that they would have to run the events in which they had been entered, or scratch. The boys believed they had done all that was necessary to ensure competition.

Samoiloff will get credit for his record on the Winchester High School track record list, his 16.6 displacing the mark of 16.8 set by Harry Easton in 1948. Since Winchester seldom has hurdle events in its dual meets, the Indian runners get little opportunity to compete in them through the season, making both the efforts of Easton and Samoiloff the more creditable. Aside from Samoiloff's victory, Winchester had little to cheer over. "Doug" Hawkins was second in his heat in the 440, but only fourth in the places which were awarded by times.

Claron Swonger ran a 2m 9.7s half-mile, his best time of the year to place 3rd in this event, and Samoiloff finished in an eight-way tie for 4th place in the high jump. The Winchester 880 yard relay team of Cortell, Fitzgerald, Hawkins and Samoiloff finished second in this event.

Bob Nelson ran a 4:56 mile, his best of the year, but wasn't able to place with this time. Bruce Cortell got into the finals of the broad jump but was outside the places. Winchester scored 8½ points to finish 10th among the Class D schools.

When Alan G. Burkhardt of 18 M. V. Parkway arrived at the Wedgemere Station parking lot Tuesday morning to get the Ford convertible he had parked there the night previous, he found four new tires he had left on the back seat of the machine had been stolen. Mr. Burkhardt had locked his car, but the thieves slit the canvas top near a window catch and opened the machine that way. The police were notified. The tires were valued at about $125.

BELMONT TOPPED WINCHESTER

Winchester High dropped a 2-2 decision to Belmont High at Manchester Field on Monday afternoon. Charlie Murphy started on the mound for the Indians but his lack of control caught up with him in the fourth when a base on balls, an error, a single, and three successive bases on balls were good for three Belmont runs. Charlie DeFilippo relieved with the bases loaded and retired three straight batters on fly balls without a score for a nice bit of relief pitching.

In spite of four errors, Belmont played good ball as they rattled off three double plays to snuff out Winchester scoring opportunities. In addition, the locals had their usual trouble of not hitting in the clutch and were able to collect only two runs on eight hits, three walks, and four Belmont errors. Prep Keyes had two hits for the Indians, including a triple, while John DiIorio also collected two hits which gives him four out of five in the two games since his return to the lineup.

The Sons of Italy and the V.F.W. renewed their rivalry of several years' standing with another spintangling game at Ginn Field last Wednesday when the S.O.I. won 5-4 in ten innings. The Vets had a 3-2 lead going into the seventh, but the Sons tied it up at 3-3 in the last of the seventh. Both teams scored single runs in the ninth to make it 4-4, but the Sons just beat the darkness to score a run in the last of the tenth to win.

The tables were reversed on Monday night, however, as Manager John Sexton of the White Shirts twirled two-hit ball to shut out the Sons of Italy and give his team a big 3-0 victory. Sexton last Wednesday when the S.O.I. won 5-4 in ten innings. The Vets had a 3-2 lead going into the seventh, but the Sons tied it up at 3-3 in the last of the seventh. LITTLE LEAGUE SEASON OPENS

Chairman Lyman of the Board of Selectmen appeared to be in good form when he pitched in the first ball for a called strike to start the Yanks vs Braves game and the first Little League season on Memorial Day. It is estimated that 500 persons witnessed the games, overlooking the bleachers that had been provided. It is expected that additional bleachers, a home run fence and scoreboard will be added to the field within the next week. Installation of the home run fence would have interfered with the high school baseball team, which completes its schedule this week. The plays and players as well as general announcements were announced over the Little League amplifying system which was purchased with funds donated by the Winchester Rotary Club for that purpose. Souvenir programs were sold at the game. Season schedules were distributed gratis, courtesy of Luther W. Puffer, Jr., Inc., local insurance agency.

The Little League mothers, under the leadership of Mrs. Robert Fallows and Mrs. George Neville, are arranging to sell ice cream and possibly other refreshments to raise funds to help make the Little League organization financially sound so it can carry on and possibly expand. It is hoped that one mother from each team will volunteer her time for each game to carry on this supporting function. These ladies are being assisted by Mrs. Keane (Braves), Mrs. R. Thompson (Dodgers), Mrs. G. Peckham (Red Sox) and Mrs. C. Morton (Yankees). All of this group were at the field taking care of the ice cream sale on Memorial Day. On Sunday, June 1st, Mrs. Keane, Mrs. French, Mrs. Torpeter and Mrs. Morton were on hand.

The Wyman School mothers association, under the chairmanship of Mrs. R. Ingraham, assisted the Little League by passing containers among the spectators both on Friday and again on Sunday for donations to carry on the Little League program. Assisting were Mrs. A. Johns, Mrs. L. Longworth, Mrs. D. McLaughlin, Mrs. D. Gaynor, Mrs. S. Bingham, Mrs. A. Sullivan and Mrs. R. Smith.

Little League is extremely grateful to all these women who have so generously come forward to help out and make Little League a family program.

TEELE COMES BACK

Paper Trade Champ Again After Year's Lapse.

A year ago at the Boston Paper Trade outing at the Charles River Country Club, Royal P. Teele, perennial president of the Palmer Beach Horseshoe Association and for many years the Paper Trade champion, was stripped of his title in honor of what the erudite Mr. Luke P. Glendon would call a "disgraceful defeat," which is the Gaelic for disgraceful defeat. It is true they switched the competition on Royal from singles to doubles in an effort to knock him from the throne he had so long graced, but the fact still remains that Mr. Teele and his partner, perhaps not the best pitcher in the world at that, were beaten in the very first round of play.

Royal came home from the outing very low indeed and the constant needling of his Paper Trade associates kept his sore spot riled up and festering. He brooded over his downfall and took a solemn oath to get back his championship if it were at all possible.

Came this year, and the Paper Trade assembled Monday at Charles River. Mr. Teele was amongst those present and drew as a partner for the horseshoe pitching one John Calligan of Eastern Manufacturing Company. Mr. Calligan laid no claims to greatness as a pitcher, but said he would do his best and the competition began.

Four times the Calligan-Teele team went to the post for one-game matches and four times they won, all this despite the fact that Royal had little opportunity this spring because of the weather to get in his usual secret practice with "Wild Willie" McLaughlin, the Pride of Stow and Champion of all Nabnasset. Mr. McLaughlin has long readied Mr. Teele for his Paper Trade Championship efforts and Royal felt his lack of McLaughlin coaching might prove fatal in this year's championship bracket.

For a time it seemed his forbidding had some foundation in fact. The Teele-Calligan opponents, victors by the way over the team that put out Teele and his partner a year ago in the first round, went immediately ahead 6-0, and then led 12-5.

The Teele shoe, however, was behaving, and he and Mr. Calligan kept pegging away, tying the score at 12 as excitement rose to fever heat. The opposition then made a very earnest effort, to go ahead, 19-15, and when their best pitcher dropped two shoes an inch from the stake on each side the entire gallery was offering to sell Mr. Teele short, with no takers.

Royal, however, was conceding nothing. Tilted the viceroy of his lobsterman's cap to keep the sun out of his eyes, he delivered his first shoe, a leaner, but better than the two nearest shoes of the opposition.

At this point Mr. Teele was faced with a very pretty little problem.

LITTLE LEAGUE PLAYER LOSES GLOVE

The Police were notified the first of the week that one of the Little League players lost his glove at the Memorial Day double-header on Manchester Field. The glove is valued at $19, which reminded the reporter of his boyhood baseball days when any kid in the crowd that had a glove that cost a dollar was always the third kid one picked for choosing up sides, after the boys who owned the bat and ball. Talk about your more abundant life!

Current issues of the Star include news of the boys and girls graduating from college and school all over the country. Our list never is complete, unfortunately, and we are yearly queried by parents as to why their son's, or daughter's name has not appeared among the graduates. Much of the graduation news we do print is sent to us by schools and colleges. A few parents send in graduation items. We are able to get other names from lists appearing in the Boston papers. The last method is very difficult and we make no pretense of getting all Winchester names that appear on these lists. We ask the indulgence of parents and friends of Winchester graduates, and suggest that they send in their graduation news to ensure publication.

The Little League got away to a particularly auspicious start in Winchester Memorial Day afternoon with a good crowd on hand to see the boys go through their paces. Two things we noted that detracted from the picture, which on the whole was very pleasing. One was the indiscriminate seating of non-players on the benches. They definitely should be kept for the players and their managers and coaches, and the time to start to do so is right now! Once other kids and adults, too, realize they cannot sit on the players' benches they won't try to do so. The other sour note was the indiscriminate wandering about the field of young children and others not so young, necessitating the game's being interrupted several times to clear the diamond. That ought not to be hard to stop either! Finally, let us keep these bikes away from the field. If not, they should at least be kept well away from the playing area. They are a real menace along the baselines and around the area behind the plate.

The whole town is proud of the Winchester High School Band. The unit is well turned out and plays well at full strength. It has always been a credit to the school and town wherever it has appeared. All this hasn't just happened. Fred Felmet, superintendent of music and director of the band, has worked like a galley slave, first to raise the band above the usual mediocrity of such organizations, and then to keep it there. You do not get results Mr. Felmet gets without incessantly hard work as well as the natural musical ability with which he is endowed. The town, and especially the high school, is fortunate to have him. He is working under a big handicap imposed by lack of suitable space for an instrumental program and not much general enthusiasm for music in the town. We mention these things only because they are barriers enough to strew in his way without adding to them the irresponsibility of some of the boys and girls who are members of the band. On Memorial Day eleven members of the band failed to show up to play, and of these eleven, six were cornet players. The cornet section is the backbone of a band, as for the most part it is the lead section, playing the melody. As a consequence the band's performance was not as good as it should have been, both musically and from a standpoint of marching. This was unfortunate. No engagement the high school band has through the year is more important than its Memorial Day appearance. At that time it is on inspection for the whole town and under the scrutiny of many visitors with more than a passing knowledge of band music. Every member, able physically, ought to be in his place in line

Memorial Day. Parents should see to it that their youngsters keep this engagement and all others to which the band is committed. Membership in the band carries with it a very definite obligation. The boy or girl who does not fulfill this obligation is harming the band, but is harming himself or herself still more. The parents who permit their youngster to skip band engagement because he has something he had rather do, or that they had rather he would do, are also contributing in large measure to the formation of a poor character habit on the part of their progeny. This criticism fortunately does not apply to a majority of the band parents, or band members. Many parents have worked hard in every way for the band, and no one could be more appreciative of their efforts than Mr. Felmet. He deserves the solid backing of band parents, and he must have it if he and the band are to progress, as they can. After all there is no sense raising money to equip members of the band if a sizeable group of those so equipped are going to the band down whenever something comes along they but rather than show up to play an engagement to which they and their director have been committed.

DECEPTIVE TAXATION

[The following article, entitled "Deceptive Taxation," is from the June issue of the Reader's Digest. It is a condensation of a copyrighted article published in Newsweek March 17, 1952, a report on taxes by Newsweek's business editors, who made a careful study of the problem. The report is concise, factual, revealing and opportune. It is intelligible, and for that reason merits widespread circulation. Permission to reprint the article in the Star has been granted by Newsweek and the Reader's Digest. "More than is generally realized," the Digest says, "taxes, hidden and otherwise, are changing the traditional American way of life."]

Not one taxpayer in a hundred suspects the extent to which buried taxes are cutting into his earnings. He kids himself, thinks, at least isn't footing the heaviest part of the nation's tax bill. It is the big corporations and the millionaires, he figures, that get hooked for He's wrong. Through hidden taxes, he, the American consumer, is shouldering the bulk of the load.

Today the average American is turning over 32 cents out of every dollar he earns to one tax collector or another. The federal income tax is bad enough. More insidious, however, are the hidden levies that hit the taxpayer when he isn't looking. They are imposed on many factors and merchants, which are quietly passed along to the consumer in the form of higher prices. These also include the excise taxes slapped on by many states and cities.

When a man walks into a showroom and plunks down $2000 for a new auto, nowhere near that amount reaches the pockets of the dealer, the manufacturer and the suppliers of parts and raw materials. Some $624 has already stuck to the fingers of the federal, state and local tax collectors. By the time he shifts into gear, the new owner will have joined in paying taxes on at least 200 separate transactions that went into creating the car.

Hidden taxes multiply rapidly. For example, there are more than 475 taxes on the construction and material costs that go into a new house. A new spring for a man carries 150 hidden levies, a man's suit 116.

On some items the invisible taxes total more than the real value of the product. This is true of a ton of coal, a gallon of gasoline, a pack of cigarettes (see box). On a loaf of bread, a quart of milk, or a pound of beef the tax comes to at least half the real value.

Real Value	Taxes	Price
Cigarettes (pack)	$.99	$ 1.25
Bread (loaf)	.09	.15
Milk (qt.)	.14	.23
Beef (lb.)	.58	.92
Gasoline (gal.)	.12	.26
Phone (month)	6.60	9.55
Liquor (fifth)	1.05	3.35
Coal (ton)	9.00	15.00
		24.00

The Tax Foundation, a private research group that keeps an eye on Government spending and taxing, has figured out the load of hidden taxes on families in several income brackets. Here are the foundation's findings:

On a $3500 income, the family pays out $79 in hidden taxes—$249 to merchants and manufacturers, $802 in retail sales and excises, $140 for social security, and $108 in realty and minor taxes. The family's income taxes, incidentally, total only $229.

On $4500, hidden taxes come to $1039; income taxes to $455.

On $7500, hidden taxes total $1392; income taxes, $869.

On $15,000, hidden taxes come to $4012; income taxes to $2606.

With today's visible and invisible taxes, the era is clearly past when a man can hope to get rich on savings out of his salary. Even maintaining a stable standard of living has become no mean feat. The man who has three dependents and earned $5000 before the war needs $11,200 to live on the same scale now. If he made $25,000 in 1939, he will have to pick up $98,000 this year to live as well as then. And if he was in the $100,000 class in the prewar days, he'll have to bring home a million now.

For the single man, the job of keeping ahead is even tougher: the $5000-a-year man needs $13,500, the $25,000-a-year man $28,000.

One expert argues that up to five billion dollars a year in Government spending could be salvaged by eliminating waste and carelessness. He cites the encouraging example set at Newburgh, N. Y., a city of 31,000. Three years ago the Newburgh city council laid on a two per cent retail sales tax. Sales started promptly to drift away to rival communities. Newburgh businessmen took the matter in hand. They made a survey of municipal affairs on a realistic, nonpolitical basis, combing every office and asking: Where does the money go? How much does each job cost the city? By last November these men were able to spot $450,000 worth of waste in a city budget of two million dollars. This was the exact amount brought in by the sales tax. Since then, a new city council has been elected and repealed the sales tax.

Whether Washington will profit from such lessons remains to be seen. It is important. Time is running out. Responsible economists warn of danger in the air. It is widely agreed that a tax load of 25 cents on the average citizen's dollar is about as far as a government can safely go. Up to this point, taxes pay their way and act as brakes on inflation. Above it, taxes push up prices and sap incentive. They make a man think twice before risking his cash to make a profit. They scare off and dry up the flow of equity capital into new plants, equipment and products. And this flow is the foundation on which America's industries are built and on which their future growth depends.

Americans are now taxed an average of 32 cents on the dollar—seven cents above the danger line. Persons with higher incomes, the biggest potential investors, are socked much harder. Unless there is a retreat, unless the Government forces itself to loosen its grip at least partly on the taxpayer's pocketbook, industry's future growth and development stand in jeopardy.

The United States is in real danger of biting off its nose to spite its face.

GIVE THOUGHT TO PETS BEFORE VACATION STARTS

An appeal to pet owners planning a summer vacation to give thought to arrangements for the care of their pets was made today by Carleton E. Buttrick, President, Animal Rescue League of Boston. Mr. Buttrick suggested that those who have a pet and intend to spend a vacation away from home without the family cat or other animal with them, should be sure to make arrangements for the pet well in advance of their departure date. Animals, and cats in particular, have an uncanny way of sensing any change in their ordinary routine. Consequently it is a good idea to keep cats, as well as other animals, under restraint or surveillance while out of doors when vacation time is imminent so that the animal will not be among the missing when the moment of departure is at hand.

If left behind when the family closes the house, the dog or cat often becomes a stray or a neighborhood nuisance. Mr. Buttrick said. Most cases of desertion of animals are unintentional, due principally to lack of foresight in making the necessary arrangements. If the pet is to be boarded, Mr. Buttrick advised that arrangements for so doing be carried out well before the actual time of departure. If for any reason the animal must be disposed of, it should then be taken to the nearest animal welfare organization where it may be placed in a new home or humanely put away.

JAPANESE FESTIVAL

The Japanese Festival to be held November 19 at the First Congregational Church got off to a flying start this week with a full roster of committee chairman enthusiastically outlining their preliminary plans.

Mrs. Clarence Wickerson, general chairman of the festival, presided at the meeting at which were announced the complete list of chairmen as follows: Decorations, Mrs. Charles Crede; Posters, Mrs. Jacob Van Vliet; Publicity, Mrs. David Choate, Jr.; Opportunity Shop, Mrs. Frank Greenwood; Luncheon, Mrs. Paul Nasson; Supper, Mrs. Marshall Symmes and Mrs. Wellington Caldwell; Coffee Bar, Mrs. Richard Davenport; Food, Mrs. Howard Bartlett; Tea, Mrs. Norman Padelford; Apron, Mrs. Hugh Grimes and Mrs. Mabel Ward; Paper, Mrs. Richard Johnson and Mrs. Gilbert Hood, Jr.; White Elephant, Mrs. Daniel Roop; Parcel Post, Mrs. Daniel Morse, Jr.; Children's Fair, Mrs. Carleton Bolivar; Plants, Mrs. George Traut; Gift, Mrs. Allen Eaton and Mrs. Paul Leverette; Book, Mrs. Dana Sawyer; Children's Luncheon, Mrs. Edgar Hinton and Mrs. Robert Scott; Doll Clothes, Mrs. Gilman Wallace; Candy, Miss Althea Kelley and Mrs. Ernest Parker; Mrs. Carl Sittinger is treasurer of the festival.

The Parcel Post table will welcome packages mailed back from your summer excursion. Send to Mrs. Daniel Morse, Jr., 3 Sanborn place, and specify for man, woman or child.

There will be plenty of room on the White Elephant table for all those things you no longer want around, and Mrs. Daniel Roop would be glad to pick them up. We'll keep you posted from time to time, so keep your eye on the Japanese Festival column in the Star!

LOUISE LANE TO GRADUATE

Miss Louise Frances Lord Lane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin J. Lane of 4 Dregel avenue, will be graduated from Centenary Junior College, Hackettstown, New Jersey, on Saturday, June 7, at Commencement Exercises to be held at 3 o'clock on the West Campus. Miss Lane was assistant editor of the yearbook and a member of Theta Epsilon Nu sorority. She was also a member of the staff of the campus newspaper and was Hall President in her freshman year. She was a member of the Student Council, the Aquatic Club and the basketball team. She plans to enter the Garland School in Boston next fall.

TURNING SOIL FOR ADDITION TO LUTHERAN CHURCH OF THE REDEEMER

GROUND BROKEN FOR CHURCH ADDITION

Mrs. Ruth Enstrom of Holton street, daughter of the late John A. Hall and a widely-known resident of Winchester, as superintendent of the church school, took part in the ground-breaking ceremony last Sunday morning, marking the beginning of construction of a new wing on the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer in Woburn.

The Rev. Ralph Hjelm, pastor, turned the first sod at the close of morning worship in the presence of church and city officials, the latter including Mayor Francis H. Murray, Jr.

The new wing will house an addition to the presently overcrowded church school, as well as a meeting room, church office and recreation area.

Nel E. Nelson of Reading, formerly of Woburn, headed the Building Committee, who have chosen Sime Francis of Woburn as general contractor, and Bernard Eckberg of Winchester as architect.

During the brief ceremony Mayor Murray brought the greetings of the City of Woburn to the parish and expressed his personal congratulations. A message was also read from Rev. Dr. Eskil G. Eckberg, President of the New England Conference of the Lutheran Church. Among the present were Rev. A. J. Hallington, pastor of the church from 1923 to 1927, and several who were parishioners when the present church was constructed.

FLAG DAY

On Friday evening, June 13, the Winchester Lodge of Elks will honor the American Flag by holding its annual Flag Day Exercises on the High School Field. The program will commence with a parade from the Town Hall to the Field at 7:00 p. m.

In the parade with the Elks will be the Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars with their Auxiliaries, the Boy Scouts, and other organizations which will be listed in the Parade Roster in the June 13th Winchester Star.

The music will be provided by the Woburn City Band and the Immaculate Conception Drum and Bugle Corps. During the evening the championship Immaculate Girls Drill Team will give an exhibition drill.

The oration of the American Flag will be given by Past Exalted Ruler Frank P. Hurley of Winchester Lodge, and a speaker will be announced at a later date. Winchester Lodge invites all of the townspeople to join with them in this tribute to our Flag, the American Flag.

YOUTH FELLOWSHIP OUTING

The Youth Fellowship of the First Baptist Church will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bosseman, at their summer home in New Hampshire. The young people, accompanied by members of the Youth Activities Committee of the Church, will meet at the Church promptly at 6:45 a. m. on Saturday, June 7. All cars will leave the Church at the same time going and will all leave the Bosseman's home at the same time for the return trip.

The young people will bring their own box lunch for the noon meal. The evening meal will be furnished by the Men's Brotherhood. Bring bathing suits, towels, sweaters, etc.

Let's make this a safe and happy occasion.

JUNIOR HIGH FASHION SHOW

Seventh grade girls at the Junior High School, under the direction of Miss Judith Kinney, presented their fashion show to an appreciative audience of mothers and friends on May 26. The models were a group of girls selected from the seventh grade sewing classes, and the costumes displayed were all made by the girls themselves.

Arranged to represent store windows, the costumes were appropriate for country wear, city wear, camp life, Grandma's Day, and life in Nova Scotia. Comments from interested observers at the show were very flattering to all of the girls and their instructor for the skillful workmanship, fashionable patterns, and fine presentation.

Among the outstanding costumes were the following: a green plaid blouse worn with a green skirt, a yellow pique skirt, a blue jumper, a yellow figured flannel night gown, and a white waffle cloth jumper with a rose worn at the waist.

To introduce the show window features, Mary Laird, Janet D'Errico, Jill Sibley, and Susan Standwood presented a brief play. Carol Eaton was the commentator throughout.

Girls modeling the costumes were:

Hostesses at the tea which followed the shows were Judy Dellicker, Hart Birme, Marjorie Reynolds.

FARRIN LEADS TEAM IN STATE TOURNAMENT

The State Tennis Tournament for high schools, rained out on Saturday, got off to a good start on Monday last, three rounds being completed by the end of the afternoon, all eight of the seeded players emerging into the quarter-final round. Play continued on Tuesday, and this writing the semi-finalists are getting ready for their all-important matches. They are Tommy Kerr of Belmont, seeded number one, playing Jimmy Farrin of Winchester, seeded number three; and Louis Bortnick of Boston Latin, seeded number two, playing John Marshall of Newton, seeded number four.

Farrin's win over Billy Kerr of Belmont in the quarters kept Winchester in the race for team honors, tied with Belmont at nine points apiece. Farrin looked good against the younger Kerr and should give the older brother a real battle in the semi-finals. The Newton team stands in third place as we go to press, but Newton has an outside chance of tying Winchester or Belmont for first place if Marshall can come through. Watch next week's Star for final results.

CUB PACK 3

Cub Pack 3 held its annual Father and Son banquet Wednesday night, May 28, at the Social Hall of the First Congregational Church. The primary attraction of the evening was the presence of big Walt Dropp, who, following the dinner, gave the Cub boys words of advice about their favorite game of baseball. After the talk the boys addressed many excellent questions to him, which he answered well and with good humor.

Prizes were presented to the boys who sold the most tickets for Skit Night. The top prizes went to Doran Mullen, Steve Hood, John Baldwin and Carl Gustin.

Mr. Brad Bentley read with much pride the record of tests passed during the year by members of the pack. They were as follows:

Robert—25
Wolf—24
Wolf-Gold Arrow—23
Wolf-Silver Arrow—23
Bear—17
Gold Arrow—8
Bear Silver Arrow—7
Lion—1
Lion Silver Arrow—1

It was recognized with regret that "Larry" Cooper, who has done so much for Cub Pack 3 throughout the years, was unable to be present. He was presented with a gift in recognition for his work.

Cub activities until next fall.

MYSTERIOUS FORCES RAISE GREAT LAKES WATER LEVEL

Rising water washing at the doorsteps of cities from Duluth to Chicago, from Sault Ste. Marie to Toronto, gives increasing evidence of a Great Lakes mystery. America's five inland seas are brimming over.

Born of the melting Ice Age, the Great Lakes contain half the fresh water on earth, the National Geographic Society says. Behind the hard-rock sills of Niagara Falls and the "Soo," lying in huge stair-stepped basins, is enough water to cover the continental United States 10 to 18 feet deep.

Levels of the Great Lakes fluctuate from year to year, month to month, and day to day. In the last year, the lakes have risen to more than four feet above normal. As the runoff of a wet winter flows in from a 325,000-square-mile watershed, all five lakes have been creeping ever higher.

While damage spreads, irate property owners sue the U. S. Government. State and Federal agencies investigate; Congress passes resolutions. Yet experts say that all the work of man on the Great Lakes — dams and canals, dikes and dredging — have affected water levels only a matter of a few inches over the last century.

That the measures its changes in feet. Etched in ancient shorelines, carved by channels that once ran wide and deep where dry valleys and great cities stand today, are the scars of the lakes have risen and over a period of 35,000 years, wind and storm slobber the waters back and forth in their beds. Rain and drought are constantly changing the levels of the lakes.

There are no tides in the Great Lakes pulled by moon and sun, but they are small. Of far greater effect are low and high pressure areas moving across the waters with the changing weather. As the lake surface is pushed down in one place, it rises in another. Such oscillations are called seiches.

River Reservoirs
In the end, the Great Lakes can be regarded as the bulging headwaters of a single river. From the western tip of Lake Superior, they form the upper basin of the St. Lawrence — natural reservoirs feeding and controlling its relentless outflow to the sea.

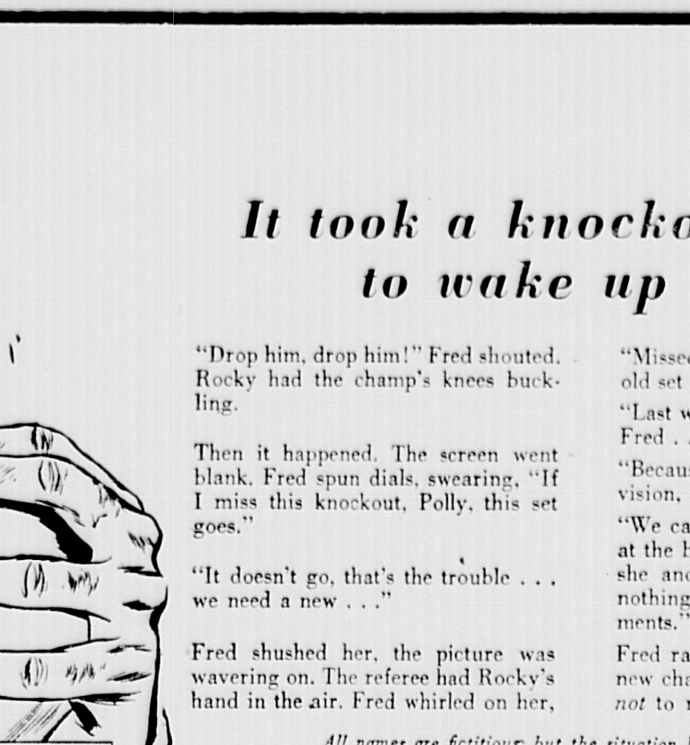

Over the limestone lip of Niagara pour 112,000 cubic feet of water a second. It surges into Lake Ontario, and out again through the sieve of the Thousand Islands. Far above, and from all the shores, water comes into the lakes from countless streams and brooks, rivulets and forest-bordered rivers.

Between the two, source and ceaseless outflow, a balance is struck. When wet years follow each other closely, the lakes rise; in dry decades, they fall. Against beaches and towering bluffs, the water level floods and ebbs, never quite the same, never still.

HOME FROM KOREA
First Lieutenant Paul G. Blake of Grove street, a graduate of Thayer School of Engineering, Dartmouth College, '47, recently returned to inactive duty after serving 18 months with the United States Marine Corps. The last 9 months of Lt. Blake's tour of duty were with the 1st Marine Division in Korea. He served as a platoon leader with D Company, 1st Engineer Battalion.

D Company was one of two Engineer Companies that were always attached to Regiments that were on the front lines, and supported all 3 Marine Regiments at various times while Lt. Blake was with them.

Prior to his tour of duty in Korea he attended the Officers' refresher course at Quantico, Virginia, and the Associate Engineers' Course at the Army Engineer Center, Fort Belvoir, Virginia.

It took a knockout punch to wake up Fred

"Drop him, drop him!" Fred shouted. Rocky had the champ's knees buckling.

Then it happened. The screen went blank. Fred spun dials, swearing. "If I miss this knockout, Polly, this set goes."

"It doesn't go, that's the trouble . . . We need a new . . ."

Fred shushed her, the picture was wavering on. The referee had Rocky's hand in the air. Fred whirled on her.

"Missed the knockout punch . . . this old set is all shot!"

"Last week I told you the same thing. Fred . . . and you just laughed."

"Because we can't afford a new television, Polly."

"We can if we get an appliance loan at the bank. Jane tells me that's what she and Tom did. She said there's nothing to it — and you get easy payments."

Fred raised Polly's right hand. "The new champ at showing a champ how not to miss a knockout punch."

All names are fictitious, but the situation happens every day.

BOAT CLUB NEWS

The feature event of the Memorial Day week-end was the family supper and card party on Friday evening. About 80 members enjoyed an excellent baked ham dinner, nicely served by Steward Glenn Hunt. Following this, tables were set up for the bridge and canasta enthusiasts. The prize for the best canasta score went to Dawson Blumire. The Bridge prize was won by Lloyd Walsh.

The snipe race, scheduled for Friday, had to be cancelled for lack of wind, but was run off Saturday under ideal conditions. Of the eight starters, three skippers took an early lead over the rest of the fleet, and crossed the finish line only a few seconds apart. Rod Long took first place, Cliff Austin second, and Bob Huggins third. On Sunday, the race followed a similar pattern. Bob Huggins gained an early lead and held it to cross the line in first place. Rod Long was second and Cliff Austin third.

A committee, headed by Mrs. Robert Hall, has arranged for the "Junior Jinx Dance," to be held at the club from 8 to 12 p.m. on Friday, June 13. This will be for the younger members, from 13 to 18 years, and the Robert Soxers. There will be prizes and refreshments, and, best of all, a well-known dance band approved by Petrillo. On Saturday, June 14, there will be another dance for adults. This will be an outstanding event. In addition to the usual refreshments, door prizes, etc., the Entertainment Committee announces the "Miss Winchester Boat Club of 1952" will be chosen. Further information may be obtained from the steward.

V. F. W. AUXILIARY

On Sunday, May 25, the Middlesex County Council held their installation at George Dillay Post in Somerville. Sue Fiore was installed as Color Bearer. On May 28, District No. 3 held their installation. Sue Fiore being installed as Chaplain and Anna Notemeyer as Historian.

ANNUAL MEETING OF SMITH COLLEGE CLUB

Mrs. Arthur T. Hertig, Jr., will be the new president of the Winchester Smith College Club, and Mrs. Austin Broadhurst the new vice president, according to the vote of the club at the annual meeting at the home of Mrs. Harold Farnsworth on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Frederick J. Schiff, and Mrs. Robert B. Kittredge will continue as secretary and treasurer for another year. The club also confirmed the following appointments presented by Mrs. Gilbert Tapley, chairman of the Nominating Committee: Mrs. Robert M. Smith, chairman of the Scholarship Committee, whose other members are Mrs. J. Waldo Bond and Mrs. Melville Hughes. Mrs. Neil H. Borden will be chairman of next year's Community Concert Series with Mrs. Clarence P. Whorf as her co-chairman. Mrs. Frederick J. Walsh will continue as Publicity Chairman.

Following a steak luncheon served picnic style, the retiring president, Mrs. Stanley E. Neill, conducted a business meeting. The club applauded the reports of the Community Concert Series and the recent plant sale and luncheon, both of which made substantial contributions to the club's scholarship fund. A sizeable gift was voted to be sent to the college, and the usual donation was voted for the Winchester Scholarship Foundation.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SCHOOL

The George Washington Mothers' Association and Dads' Club played host to the graduating sixth grade of the school recently at a special "Circus Party" at the Boston Garden.

The entire sixth grade was taken to the Barnum and Bailey Circus and treated to all the thrills that go with that greatest of shows. Under the supervision of Mothers and Dads the class enjoyed a great day, and will always remember the party as a fitting climax to their elementary school days.

The mothers and dads hope to continue the custom of a "Special Party" for every graduating class in the future at the George Washington School.

METHODIST COUPLES' CLUB PICNIC

The Married Couples' Club of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church will have its closing meeting and picnic at the Harold Parker State Forest, a week from tomorrow (June 14th).

The group will meet at the church at 2 p. m. and travel in private cars.

Fire places, swimming, trails, soft ball and such will comprise the activities of the day.

GRADUATES TODAY

James Olivier of 5 Mystic avenue is a member of the graduating class of Nichols Junior College, Dudley, and will receive his A.B.A. degree at the annual Commencement day exercises June 6. While at Nichols, Olivier was on the honor roll and was a member of the basketball team, captain of the baseball team, "N" Club, and Athletic Council. Olivier is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Olivier, and formerly attended Winchester High School.

ACTIVE AT KIMBALL UNION

Arthur D. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hall of 63 Swan road, is among those graduating from Kimball Union Academy in Meriden, New Hampshire, on Sunday, June 8.

Hall has been active in football, hockey and the Kimball Union Outing Club; also in the Glee Club and as business manager of the student newspaper. Hall was a member of the team which won this year's first Preparatory School Hockey Tournament at West Point.

TO GRADUATE FROM TUFTS

Miss Janet M. Blackham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earle C. Jordan of 967 Main street, a graduate of Winchester High School in the class of 1948 will be a candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Science at the 100th Tufts College Commencement June 8.

Miss Blackham has majored in chemistry and biology and has accepted a position as a medical technician at St. Elizabeth's Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Jordan will entertain in their daughter's honor at a small party following her graduation on Sunday.

PIANOFORTE RECITAL

Eunice M. Kiley, teacher of pianoforte, will present pupils from her Main street studio in a recital in the social hall of the First Congregational Church on Thursday evening, June 19, commencing at 7:30 p. m.

"CHIP" HONSINGER NAVAL ACADEMY APPOINTEE

Vernon (Chip) Honsinger, former Winchester boy, has received notice of his eligibility for appointment by President Truman to the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. "Chip" made an enviable record as a student during his 2 years at Winchester High as a sophomore and junior. Upon the transfer of his father, Captain L. V. Honsinger, from the Charlestown Navy Yard to Washington last year, Chip enrolled for his senior year at Ballis Preparatory School in Chevy Chase, Maryland.

Indicating the excellence of his 2 years of training in Winchester High and his natural leadership, he ranked 2nd in his class of 109 at Ballis and was elected president of his class. He also stood 2nd on the presidential list of 364 applicants for Annapolis. Seventy-five are accepted from this list, which is made up entirely of sons of servicemen. On the Naval Reserve list of 566 applicants Chip stood 5th. One hundred sixty are accepted from this list.

In his examination for the Academy, Chip also received the honor of being the only applicant in the United States to receive the grade of 4.0 (100%) in two subjects, Geometry and Algebra.

B. U. DEGREE FOR SCHOOL NURSE

Mrs. Ethel Rice Savage of 224 Massachusetts avenue, Arlington, school nurse in Winchester for many years, received the degree of Bachelor of Science in Education from Boston University School of Education at Commencement Monday.

Mrs. Savage came to the Winchester schools in 1921 when John R. Fauser was superintendent of schools. A native of Maynard, she graduated from the Waltham Training School for Nurses in 1910 and has taken summer courses in School Nursing at Hyannis State Teachers College.

In addition to the courses at Boston University that led to her degree, Mrs. Savage has taken university extension courses at Harvard and Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

GRADUATED FROM BROWN JUNE 2

Guy Philip Livingstone, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy P. Livingstone of 12 Chestnut street, was awarded the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Livingstone, an alumnus of Winchester High School, received a hockey numeral and was manager of freshman hockey in his first year at Brown. As a sophomore and junior, he was assistant manager of the Brown hockey team, and in his senior year, he was co-manager of the hockey team.

Robert L. Stoffregen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Stoffregen of 3 Penn road and formerly of 16 Percy road, Lexington, was awarded the degree of Bachelor of Science in Engineering. Stoffregen, an alumnus of Lexington High School, is a member of Sigma Nu Fraternity.

Miss Monson was graduated from Winchester High School before entering Wheelock College. She plans to teach in Newton. Wheelock prepares teachers of children from three to eight years old.

Mrs. Hutt attended the Northfield School for Girls before entering Wheelock. She was president of the Senior Class and vice president of her class as a junior. Recently she was crowned queen at the Wheelock May Day. She was a member of the Glee Club and Dramatic Club.

GARLAND SCHOOL GRADUATES

At the 79th Commencement exercises of the Garland School, a junior college, 409 Commonwealth avenue, Boston, three local young women were awarded degrees yesterday, June 5.

Miss Alberta L. Vaccaro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Vaccaro, 63 Wedgemere avenue, received the Associate in Science degree in Art, having majored in Fashion Design; Miss Susan M. Halloran, daughter of Rear Admiral (ret.) and Mrs. Thomas F. Halloran of 3 Edgemoor hill road, received the Associate in Science degree in Home-making; and Miss Susan McCauley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. McCauley of 19 Lakeview road, was awarded a Certificate for Advanced Work, having completed the one-year course.

WINS GRINNELL HONOR

Mary Fisher of 25 Stowell road was on May 29 awarded the Grinnell-Herald-Register prize for excellence in journalism at Grinnell College during the annual Honors Convocation in Darby Gymnasium.

Miss Fisher's leadership as business manager of the Cyclone, campus yearbook, led to the inclusion of more pages of copy and pictures in this year's book than have been contained in any previous issue. It was for her achievement on the Cyclone that she received the award, given annually to the Grinnell student who has shown the greatest promise in journalistic activity and has made the greatest contribution to the college during the year through such work.

A senior at Grinnell and a graduate of Moline, Ill., Senior High School, Miss Fisher is a dean's list honor scholar and a member of Mortar Board, national honorary society for senior women.

MISS BURBANK TO GRADUATE FROM BOUVE

Miss Barbara L. Burbank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.G. Burbank of 12 Wolcott road, will be graduated this coming week-end from Bouve-Boston School of Physical Education, Medford. She will receive her bachelor of science degree from Tufts College, with which Bouve is affiliated.

Miss Burbank is a graduate of Winchester High School, where she was prominent in athletics. This year she has been head of the dance group and captain of the Blue Team. She took part in the dance program on Class Day and will participate in the centennial pageant at Tufts.

Miss Burbank has been appointed physical education instructor at the Shipley School, Bryn Mawr, Pa., for next year.

GRADUATING FROM WOOSTER

Miss Barbara Leslie Haskell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Haskell of 9 Lakeview Terrace, is a candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Arts at the College of Wooster's 82nd annual commencement Monday morning, June 9.

While at Wooster, Miss Haskell majored in sociology and was active in the Women's Self Government Association, Sociology Club and the Peanut Social Club. She is a graduate of Chapel Hill High School in Waltham with the class of 1948.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

The Board of Directors is entering all Leaders and Co-Leaders.

at the Girl Scout Cabin on Wednesday, June 11th. The meeting will begin at 1:15 p. m. Come and bring your "Nose-Bag" or your material for a cook-out lunch. There will be Professional Cooks on hand, completely at your service! Enjoy an afternoon of leisure, and allow us to provide you with delicious dessert and coffee. Come join us, Rain or Shine!

Camp Joy Day Camp will begin June 17th, for all Scouts. There are still a few vacancies. Applications will be received from June 9th through June 15th. Physical Exams for Day Campers will be held at the Girl Scout Office on Saturday, June 14th. Time: 9:30 — 10:30 a. m. for Brownies, and for all other Scouts 10:30 — 11:30 a. m.

Mrs. Barbara Metcalf McDonald wishes to take this opportunity to sincerely thank all Brownies, Girl Scouts, and adults who contributed to her generous gift. Mrs. McDonald will leave June 6th, on leave of absence, to conduct her private camp, Camp Nokomis on Lake Winnepesaukee, returning on September 2nd. The Girl Scout Office will remain open every morning from 9:00 until 11:30 a. m., under the direction of Mrs. Austin Narry, until school closes.

We are very proud indeed of all the 4th Grade Brownies from every school in Winchester who have "Flown-up" into Intermediate Girl Scouting during the past month. Your big sisters give you a very cordial and enthusiastic welcome.

A truly impressive Candle-light ceremony was held on May 27th, at the Cabin, for the graduation of the 8th Grade Scouts of Troops 2, 7, 43, 44, 46, and 50 who now go on to the rank of Senior Scouts. We are particularly proud to have five girls receive their "Curved Bar", which is the equal of the rank of Eagle Scout among the boys, and the highest rank a girl may attain in Scouting. The girls now receiving congratulations for this distinguished work and honor are:

Lydia Wyman
Andrea Chapin
Judy Cairness
Johanna Clark
Gail Collins

Miss Emily Hanson of Governors Avenue returned to New London, N. H., last Friday for the annual Alumnae Week End at Colby Junior College.

CHILDREN TO CONDUCT SERVICE

The Church School of the Winchester Unitarian Church will take over the morning service this coming Sunday. The very youngest children from the Lower School will present a simple ritual under the direction of Mrs. Percy Hill and Mr. Brandegee Lovely.

The Upper School classes will give brief presentations of their work in choral speech, dialogue and dramatic forms.

The Junior Choir under the direction of Mary Ranton Witham will sing two anthems and the Motion Choir will repeat a Litany which they presented at the New England Junior Choir Festival in the Arlington Street Church of Boston. The Motion Choir work is under the direction of Rev. Robert A. Storer.

Dr. Eugene G. Rochow representing the Religious Education Committee and Brandegee Lovely director of the Church Schools will speak.

A service of Christening of young boys and girls as well as infants will be held at the conclusion of the service.

As usual plants will be distributed and Bibles presented to all young people who will graduate to the Upper School.

UNITED WORLD FEDERALISTS

The annual meeting of the Winchester Chapter of the United World Federalists was held at the home of Mrs. Charles E. Greene, 329 Highland Avenue, on May 27. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

Chairman—Mrs. Wallis Moulding
Secretary — Mrs. George H. Snelling
Treasurer—Mr. A. Miles Holbrook
Chairman Membership — Mr. Robert B. Williams
Co-Chairman Program — Mrs. Charles E. Greene, Mr. John L. Lobingier

Chairman Publicity—Miss Alice A. Main
Mr. Robert B. Williams was appointed to represent the Winchester Chapter at the annual meeting of the National U. W. F. to be held in Philadelphia on June 20 and 21.

When the Winchester Chapter of U. W. F. met on May 7th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Williams, a very stimulating talk was given by Mr. George C. Holt, the Executive Director for Massachusetts.

RIGHT DIRECTION

The directions on the label of a prescription are as important as the medicine itself. For unless taken exactly as directed by the doctor, the very purpose for which the medicine is intended may be defeated. "Take as directed" — as often as indicated in the right dosage each time. Reading the label is a recommended practice whenever you take any medicine — prescription or home drug.

APPOINTMENTS AT YOUR CONVENIENCE

Spread Your Fuel Oil Bills

in equal, easy, monthly payments throughout the heating season

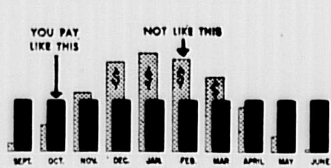

On the average here's about how much of your year's oil you use each month for heating your home.

Often these three months may prove inconvenient to your pocketbook.

However, when you use the PETRO Budget Plan your payments are spread uniformly over 10 months.

... in equal installments that pay in full for your yearly oil consumption.

And remember... this handy budget plan doesn't cost you a penny. It's another service for the users of Petro fuel oil. Take advantage of this plan, phone us for the details.

PARADE NOTES

There was plenty of scanning the skies while the marchers were waiting for the parade to Calvary, and things were far from promising from the weather angle about that time.

Big Lt. "Ed" O'Connell of the Police, something of a weather prophet from his long fishing experience, sniffed the air a few times and sent back to headquarters for his raincoat, which he secreted in the prowl car, to be handy, just in case.

Patrolman Tommy Parsons was in the prowl car ahead of the parade, and the police escort marching behind Lt. O'Connell comprised Patrolmen Irving and John Hearn, Billy Callahan, Tom Hannan, Jack McHugh and Roland Roy. Officer Henry Dempsey had the important job of guarding the food at the rear of the town hall, though he was pressed into duty before the parade could get under way. Motorists show little disposition to give way to marchers, even on Memorial Day.

Everyone remarked about the fine music of the 507th Air Force Band from East Boston, under Warrant Officer Thomas Brennan and Sgt. Robert Clark, drum major. The Air Force musicians have been to Winchester several times now, and each time have given a good account of themselves.

That was a surprisingly good turnout for the VFW Auxiliary band in both parades. President Mary Harold led the group with the colors being carried by Mary Tofti, Grace De Sojo and Dawn Horn carried the big blue and gold Auxiliary banner, and the CPO accompanying the girls was Tom Macario. The Auxiliaries wore khaki uniforms and made a good showing.

Past Comdr. Jake Horn of the VFW, as marshal of the parade, was busier than a cranberry merchant getting everything to run off smoothly, and "Jake" did an excellent job of it. Military etiquette had to be strictly observed with regular troops marching, and it's always a job to get everything started on time.

The Auxiliary Police in their blue corsage hats, white jackets, crossed suspender-type belts and long clubs, made a good showing under Chief Bob Johnston. In the first parade several of the boys were prepared for eventualities with raincoats strapped to the belts.

The Legion in the parade to Wildwood had 27 men in the detachment under Senior Vice Comdr. Bob Burr. Of these 20 were World War I vets, a fine showing. P. T. Foley, just getting around after a long illness, was in line as was Past Comdr. Lester Gustin, who broke an ankle last winter and was commencing to hobble toward the end of things.

Past Comdr. Sam Murphy was Arthur Collins' aide, and Homer Davidson was aide to Warren Bolivar, Collins being commander of the Legion, and Bolivar of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Vets colors were carried by Paul Haggerty and Joe McEllinney, ex-Marines, with the Horn twins, Richard and Robert, as guards. Charlie Meek, Jr., and Bert Froberg carried the Legion flags, with Joe McKee and Dick Feeney as guards.

Chief Jim Callahan led the Fire Department detachment in person, with Captains Eddie Noonan and Ed Fitzgerald behind him. The men all wore white shirts for the first time with their blue uniforms, and it made a lot of difference in their appearance.

High School Band Leader Fred Felmet was pretty unhappy over the fact that 11 members of his band did not show up to parade, despite long-standing notice. Six of the 11 were cornet players, so necessary for the melody in band music, and "Freddie," with his sensitive ear, wasn't pleased with the ensemble. Fortunately few can appraise band music like he, and the student bandmen in their scarlet coats dressed up the parade nicely. George Johnson was the drum-major.

With six cornets missing, there was a big strain on those left in that section, which made the job of playing taps four times as well as carrying the first cornet load, doubly difficult. Stephen Dunn and Thomas Hooper did mighty well with this taxing assignment, a strictly last-minute detail, and deserve all kinds of credit for pinch hitting for their absent mates. Hooper is only a 7th grader at junior high. Dunn is a high school sophomore.

Those units from Immaculate Conception Parish made their usual fine showing, their colorful uniforms and snappy performance calling attention to them all along the line. The precision marching of the girls Drill Team was especially noticeable and indicated why this group has been so successful in competition with the best. Tommy Sullivan was the drum-major, and leading the Colors and colorguards, all girls by the way, was Lorraine DiZio. Captain Mary Welch led the Drill Team, and Constable Joe Callahan was keeping a watchful eye on the entire unit. Both the Drum Corps and Drill Team are all business while performing.

Lt. Charles Hubbard commanded the M. P. Company, a 26th Division M. N. G. unit. Under him were Lt. Donald Kelly and Lt. Bernard Kohler. The outfit came from Boston, and it was interesting to see their technique when they were called on to clear a way for the drum corps and drill team to get out of the town hall grounds. They really were effective.

In charge of the company from the Carrier Shangri-La was Lt. (j.g.) Roy E. Dimond, with Ensigns J. W. Ferry and B. C. Smith. The sailors for the most part had green stripes on their sleeves, which marked them as Air Force personnel. They marched well and were a nice bunch of boys.

Lt. Dimond explained the failure of the Shangri-La to send a Marine detail by saying there were insufficient Marines on the ship to do so. The Marine color bearers and guards, respectively two sergeants and two corporals in dress blues and white caps, made a very fine appearance, and marched with the usual Marine precision.

It wouldn't be a Memorial Day parade in Winchester without Company G of Woburn, and the boys from the Tanning City made their usual good showing. Lt. John P.

Flaherty was in command with 1st Sgt. John E. Murphy.

The VFW Detachment was led by Joe Zaffina and Past Comdr. Mark Kelley. The Star reporter had no trouble at all picking out the Star's Larry Penta as he swung by midway down the line.

Only Scout unit to make both cemeteries was St. Mary's Troop 12, led by the one and only "Sketchie" Fiore.

The Selectmen rode to both cemeteries in a big shiny new Lincoln provided, as usual, by Ralph Bonnell, local Ford and Lincoln Dealer. Their pals in the crowd gave the Board a good-natured razz as they got out of the machine to walk up the hill into Wildwood.

Tom McKee, in line with the Legion, paid his respects to a couple of Legion "buddies" who were in the crowd at the entrance gates at Wildwood. The two absentee members didn't look quite quick enough to escape Tom's roving eye.

The Legionnaires were loud in their praise of the department of the sailors from the Shangri-La, who were guests at the Legion house after the marching. The boys were pleasant, but strictly on their good behavior, and to cap it all off they polished the Legion grounds where the refreshments were served without being ordered to do so. Just good guests, that's all!

That was probably the last look you will get at Captain Robert Sheldon Hamilton, USAF, for some time. "The Deacon" made his last official home town appearance at least in the parade to Wildwood. He leaves soon for duty in Germany.

Not so many Scouts in line this year as usual. Neither boys nor girls had big turnouts. Perhaps the long week-end had something to do with it, though Scout leaders, especially among the girls, have been of two minds about the desirability of marching. Mrs. Kenneth Cullen, Mrs. Barbara Clark, Mrs. Max McCreery and Mrs. Reinhardt Schumann, Jr., were the Girl Scout leaders in line.

Two former presidents, Rita Meek and Ruby McKee, led the Legion Auxiliary group with the incoming president, Dot McCormack. The two youngsters marching just behind the Legion were Charles Meek, 3rd, in full Legion regalia, and Tommy McKee.

"Al" Guann, the old "retread," with his beret and heavy boots as special features was in line. He wasn't pleased with the marching of some of his younger "buddies" and didn't hesitate to give the boys "the word" about it. He gave "Mex" Kelley an especially bad time after going up the hill into Wildwood.

Scout leaders with the boys that we noticed were Bob Fiore and Jim Denton, with Larry Cooper leading a group of Cubs. We offer our apologies to any Scout leaders we missed, but the Scouts left after the breaking up of the parade so quickly we didn't get a chance to check.

CAT CHAT

by Evelyn Gustafsson, Director, Kalico Kat Research Institute

Company Manners

If you want your cat to have "company manners," it's best to start teaching him good everyday manners. Consistency is the key, note of all cat training. Be kind, but firm, in your attitude. The cat will always respond to affection, and when he knows he has it, he'll try to please you. But if he's careless, or makes a mistake, he will not understand an angry scolding on your part. To your cat this simply means a change in your feeling for him.

One of my cats was unusually sociable, and seemed to feel his duty to play host to visitors. He always sat in a chair when there were guests, and turned his head to look at the person who was speaking. This intelligent cat was permitted to sit on a chair at the dinner table. He knew how to behave like a gentleman, and did. But some people object to the presence of an animal when they eat. It's up to you what you decide to allow your cat to do or not to do.

Many cats instinctively retract their claws when they touch people. It almost seems as if they knew they might hurt. A cat's claws ought to be clipped; but even so, it's wise to teach him not to dig them into people just as an expression of affection! On the whole, it's a good idea to train your cat not to jump into human laps until he's invited. There still are alleo-phobes in the world. ("Scaredy cats" is what I call them.)

If your cat sits on a chair you don't want him to use, put him down, and speak to him firmly. Do this over and over again, and sooner or later your cat will understand. Find a single word to convey your disapproval ("No") is a good one, and your cat will learn it more quickly than if you use a number of different phrases.

Use this system whenever your cat misbehaves. Persist in it, and you will have a happy, friendly relationship with a cooperative cat.

TAKEN FROM TRAIN TO HOSPITAL

Last Saturday afternoon Officers Henry Dempsey and William Callahan took the police ambulance to Winchester Station, in response to a report from the B. & M. tower man that a passenger was seriously ill on an outbound train.

At the station the officers took James Gorman, 53, of 172 Waltham street, West Newton, from the train and to the Winchester Hospital, where he was treated for a diabetic shock by Dr. Milton J. Quinn.

BAPTISTS PLAN CENTENNIAL FAIR

Don't be surprised if, come fall, you notice a number of otherwise typical Winchesterites going about town dressed in the hoop skirts, multi-layered petticoats, and bonnets; the celluloid collars, derby hats and handlebar mustaches of a hundred years ago. They'll probably simply be members of the First Baptist Church getting themselves into the spirit of the series of events planned for this fall to commemorate the church's one-hundredth anniversary.

One of the concluding highlights of the church's centennial year, for example, will be the gala Centennial Fair scheduled for some time in December.

The fair, which will have all the old-time spirit, all the colorful rustic flavor of a folksy church festival of the mid-nineteenth century, will feature dozens of gray booths where all sorts of interesting things will be offered for sale — from aprons and toys and handwork to plants and groceries, candy and gift wrappings. The fancy goings-on, the same kind of wholesome, neighborly frolic that a hundred years ago was a sign for great-granddads to start currying and brushing old Dobbin and that set great-grandmas to bustling and buzzing around the house like a chicken with its head cut off, will commence early in the morning and run right through 'til late in the evening — with something happening every minute in between.

Folks for miles around are expected to attend the affair, to ramble around and inspect the candy table, the food table, the children's table, the apron, handwork and exhibits, the kiddies' corner, the grab table, the Christmas and gift wrappings display, the grocery store, and, of course, take a peek "Up the Attic Stairs" at the fascinating and fabulous collection of valuable and not-so-valuable "white elephants." And, in addition, the Baptists would take it mighty kindly if their friends would accept their invitation to join them at lunch, mid-afternoon tea, and especially at the extra-special smorgasbord supper that will mark the start of the evening's festivities.

Mrs. Libby McCloud, chairman of the Baptist Centennial Fair, has already begun to organize her committee, which, so far, includes the following Winchester Baptists: Muriel Hart, Mrs. Walter Lee Bailey, Florence Chase, Betty Josephson, Sue Sanborn, Mrs. Newman, Mrs. Florence Garrison, Walter Josephson, Paul Butterworth, Ruth Andrews, Dorothy McArthur and Mrs. Gunnar Abrahamson.

As great-granddads would say, "Course, it's a right smart time 'til December. But December will come. Least-ways, it always has. And when it does, you just might be smart to shake a leg and get on down to that there Baptist Centennial Fair. I hear tell it's goin' to be a hum-dinger!"

AT CAMP GORDON

Cadet Ralph E. Wilbur, son of Mr. Harland A. Wilbur, of 11 Cambridge street is scheduled to report to Camp Gordon, Georgia, June 20-21 to attend the Signal Corps Reserve Officers Training Corps summer encampment.

Cadet Wilbur, a student at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is a member of the school's ROTC unit. His attendance at the six-week long camp will be a major step toward qualifying him for a commission as a second lieutenant in the U. S. Army Signal Corps Reserve.

He is one of more than 1,000 ROTC students from almost 70 colleges and universities throughout the country who will receive intensive training in military subjects and the operation of Signal Corps communications equipment.

AT FORT BELVOIR

Major Stephen E. Root of 14 Seneca road is on a two weeks tour of duty at Fort Belvoir, Va., where he is applying the theory and classroom instruction he has been receiving as a reserve officer in the 418th Engineer Aviation Brigade. A petroleum engineer, Major Root, in civil life, is associated with the Badger Manufacturing Company of Cambridge.

WON HOLYOKE HONORS

Two Winchester girls have been given awards by Mount Holyoke college, it was announced at the 115th commencement exercises June 2.

Miss Elizabeth Norian, daughter of Mrs. Leon K. Norian of 8 Robinson Circle, who received her B. A. degree last Monday with honor, has won the Evelyn Church Wilbur Senior Scholarship for excellence in American history.

A political science major, Miss Norian has been selected for the Mount Holyoke-Amherst internship program in Washington. She will work in the office of the chief of the division of management research in the office of the Secretary of the Interior. A member of Phi Beta Kappa and president of the political science club this past year, Miss Norian has also been awarded a scholarship for further study from the University of Chicago to study political science.

Miss Louise Kugler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Foster, 28 Winslow road, is one of seven freshmen to win a Bernice Maclean zoology award. The prize was made for her project study for the basic zoology course, which was a comparison of the animals living beneath a rock in the water and beneath one on land.

WINCHESTER BOYS GRADUATE

Six Winchester boys were graduated at Belmont Hill School's 29th Commencement ceremonies last Friday. Elisha George Pierce, III, of Main street, was awarded the coveted Headmaster's Medal as the member of the graduating class who best represents the ideals of the school.

John A. Goldthwait of Swan road graduated Cum Laude, was elected to the Cum Laude Society, and received the Mathematics Achievement Prize for obtaining the highest mark on the C. E. E. B. Advanced Mathematics Test.

Other Winchester boys to graduate were David Cummins of Yale street, Richard F. Haskell of Lakeview Terrace, and Kenneth F. Johnson of Jefferson road.

Also during the two day ceremonies it was announced that Goldthwait, Anthony L. Fletcher of Wedgewood avenue, and John A. Tisdale of Jefferson road had earned Honor Pins for outstanding scholastic work.

ON DUTY IN KOREA

Major John W. Lynch, whose wife lives at 26 Forest street, recently arrived in Korea and has joined the X Corps headquarters. Major Lynch is serving with the corps' judge advocate section. He previously was post judge advocate at Camp Edwards.

He entered the Army in 1942 and fought in Italy during World War II. He participated in campaigns at Naples and Rome-Arno.

Before entering the Army, Major Lynch practiced law in Cambridge. He is a graduate of Harvard Law School, Dartmouth College, and Dean Academy in Franklin, Mass.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Troop No. 1 Chatter, Last Saturday, Troop No. 1 with a group of boys set out for a day at Crane's Beach. Though the weather was calm and beautiful in Winchester, when they reached the beach such a strong wind was blowing that it blew sand down their throats, in their eyes and ears, and cut their legs. But undaunted, they plunged into the cold Atlantic, which was really warm once you got numbed enough. After a fine but gritty lunch they played softball and explored up and down the beach.

Because of the wind they returned to Winchester for their cook-out in Nancy Morse's back yard, which was a great success. The highlight of the evening being a surprise birthday cake for Marcia Cunningham.

The group was composed of Girls:

Mary Cullen
Betty Freeman
Barbara Hammet
Althea Hickey

OLDER SCOUTS TO VISIT WEST POINT

Many local "Explorers", (Boy Scouts 14 years of age and older), are looking forward with a great deal of anticipation to this year's "Wings of West Point Explorer Encampment."

Last year, over 240 boys from all over New England attended the encampment, sponsored by Fellsland Council, the Boy Scout council of which this community is a part. Well over fifty boys from the towns of Winchester, Medford, Stoneham, Woburn, and Burlington, alone, took part in last season's trip, and this summer more than 300 boys in all are expected to take part.

Last year, the Scouts flew in a C-47 from Bedford Airport, landing at Stewart Airbase on the Hudson in Newburgh, N. Y. The group spent a busy, interesting, never-to-be-forgotten week camping in barracks at the U. S. Military Academy and participating in an exciting program of flying activities which included actual instruction in base operation, control tower operations, weather, instruments, physical training, engine maintenance, and the operation of our modern aircraft. A special treat was a side flight to Mitchell Field. And every day the boys enjoyed delicious, wholesome meals served especially for them in the Army mess hall. At the end of the week, the boys were reviewed by the Colonel in charge of the Base and were awarded certificates signifying their week's accomplishments.

The Explorers were then flown back home to Bedford with many happy and exciting memories of a thrilling experience the kind of experience every young lad dreams about.

P. Joseph Corrigan, President of Fellsland Council, will be Executive Director of this year's "Wings of West Point" encampment, with Allen Smith as Director of Camping and Clarence Thompson as Activities Director.

Many applications for the trip, which will take place from August 2nd to August 9th, have already been received at Fellsland Council headquarters on South Border road in Winchester. However, there is still room for a few more boys, and any local Explorer, Air Scout, Sea Scout or other Scout who is fourteen years of age or older, and who would like to share the thrills and excitement of this summer's "Wings of West Point" encampment, is urged to contact his unit leader or the Scout office immediately.

Two book reviews will be included in the program of the Winchester Toastmistress Club's meeting to be held on Tuesday evening, June 10, at the home of Mrs. Beulah Thompson, 42 College avenue, Medford. Mrs. Lillian Last of Medford Hills will review "Joy Street" and Mrs. Frances Murphy of Medford will present a review of "Mistah Jolson". Mrs. Olive Anderson of Winchester will be the alternate speaker. Toastmistress for the evening will be Mrs. Paula Bennett of Winchester. Evaluators will be Miss Hilda Hope of Winchester and Miss Edna Brownell of Belmont. Mrs. Eve Harrison of Winchester will be the timer.

MRS. DWINELL ELECTED

Mrs. James F. Dwinell, Jr., of Fernway, has been elected to serve on the Parents' Council of the Belmont Hill School Parents' Association for 1952-1953. Mrs. Dwinell will represent the parents of boys in the Second Form, of which her son, John, III, is a member.

WON MAINE U. LETTERS

Two Winchester boys were among those awarded major sports letters at the recent annual spring sports recognition banquet of the University of Maine. Arthur Withington, II, was awarded his "M" in track, and Bill Bird, in tennis.

CLASS OF 1952 OBSERVES CLASS NIGHT

Members of the Class of 1952 observed the traditional Class Night on June 7, when they gathered in the high school gymnasium for an evening devoted to the enjoyment of good food, excellent entertainment, and some good-natured entertainment. Among those seated at the head table were: Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Norris, Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Jellison, Mr. and Mrs. Wade L. Grindle, Mr. and Mrs. Will Skerry, class president, Michael Neagle, Harold Quigley, Michael Briggs, Cynthia Hill, Sona Norian, Norman Brown, Carolyn Padelford, Jost Michelson and Fred Wheaton.

Class president Michael Neagle presided at the festivities, and Mr. Richard Ulin of the faculty was in general charge, assisted by Miss Helen Carroll and Mr. Henry Knowlton.

Friendly greetings, words of commendation, and counsel of hope for the future were offered by Superintendent of Schools Forbes H. Norris, School Committee Chairman Charles Jellison, and Principal Wade L. Grindle. The Class Will was read by Sona Norian, the Class History by Harold Quigley, and the Class Prophecy by Norman Brown.

One of the finest moments in a memorable evening came when Carolyn Padelford, Editor-in-Chief of the Aberjona, presented the Class Book to Mr. Will B. Skerry, "Latin scholar, philosopher, and friend," Mr. Skerry's response was worthy of the dedication.

The Class Gift of two "Leko" Lights and a Sky Drop for the stage was presented by Jost Michelson and accepted by Fred Wheaton, president of the Junior Class.

Following the more serious part of the evening's program, the entertainment committee, led by Frank Lentine, offered a variety show which included a trumpet solo by Todd Wallis, some cowboy numbers by Don Smith, songs by the "Four Sinners," and an assembly skit presided over by Dudley Samoiloff. Distribution of copies of the 1952 Aberjona brought the evening to a close.

HELD OPEN HOUSE

An open house was held at the home of Ronald MacKenzie following the graduation exercises at the Winchester High School at Manchester Field on Sunday evening.

Many out of town friends and relatives as well as classmates were present. He received many wonderful gifts.

MRS. BARNES WILL SPEAK ON MONDAY, JUNE 16

This I Believe...

Business Woman Says There's Little Room
For Insecurity in Full, Productive Life

A civic and professional leader in Boston, Mrs. Muriel S. Barnes, a grandmother, reveals here her personal creed. This is one of a series of statements prepared for broadcast by thinking, useful people in all walks of life. The program is presented by Edward R. Murrow over WEEI at 4:25 p.m., Monday through Friday.

By Mrs. Muriel S. Barnes

Public Relations Expert: Civic Leader; Homemaker

My career as a wife, mother and housekeeper has been a full and satisfying one. I shall always regard it as my major accomplishment in life. However, a decision to seek a place in the business world was made at a time in life when I could have looked forward to at least semi-retirement to enjoy my family and homemaking duties.

This decision was made not because of any need of extra spending money. Rather, it sprang from a life-long aversion to having time on my hands which could not be harnessed for something out of which I could derive personal satisfaction. The results produced by this decision have greatly strengthened the conviction that prompted it in the first place. For I do believe that I as an individual may expect to gain from life pretty much what I am willing to put into it... in terms of labor, of positive thinking, of happiness, of love and devotion, of consideration for and service to my fellow beings.

The gains that come to me through my efforts may appear insignificant when standing alone, but I like to feel that collectively these gains become part of the mighty economic, social and spiritual strength of our freedom-loving nation.

I feel, therefore, that I owe it not only to myself and my loved ones to utilize my time wisely... to put my best efforts into every hour of daily living, but also in a great measure I owe these efforts to insure the continued growth and security of our Democracy.

David has majored in history and government.

SANG FIRST MASS IN WINCHESTER

Standing before a priest-Dieu, Father Cassidy imparted his priestly blessing to men, women and children, many of whom had known him as a boy and who had been neighbors and friends of his family for years. Little of the unity which gave the new priest to visit with his old friends, and it was ten minutes past six before his last blessing was given. Strangely enough this last blessing was imparted to Father Cassidy's cousin, Mr. Edward Murray of Belmont, who was accompanied by his wife and four children. They had been the first to greet the young priest when he emerged from St. Mary's in the morning after celebrating mass.

After greeting Father Cassidy the guests assembled on the flagstone terrace of the music hall, where refreshments were served, strolled about the spacious grounds of the Music Hall, an ideal spot for such an affair.

Father Cassidy was born in Winchester May 22, 1914, son of John F. and the late Mary (Doherty) Cassidy.

He graduated from St. Mary's Grammar School and from Winchester High School in the class of 1931. For seven years after leaving high school he worked before finally deciding to prepare for the priesthood.

In 1938 he entered St. Joseph's Seminary, where he remained until 1942, reviewing past work and preparing to enter St. Bonaventure's College, from which he was graduated with the degree of A. B. in 1945. For three years thereafter he taught in St. Theresa's High School at Coral Gables, Florida.

In 1948 Father Cassidy entered St. Francis Seminary in Loreto, Pa., transferring to St. Mary's in Baltimore the following year. He completed his theological studies at St. Mary's in 1952 and his ordination followed on May 31 at La Crosse, Wis. It was while at St. Francis Seminary in Loreto, Pa., that Father Cassidy chose to become affiliated with the La Crosse Diocese, headed by the Most Rev. John P. Treacy, STD, and it was for this reason that his ordination took place in the Chapel of Christ the King there. Incidentally Father Cassidy's class of 15 was the largest to be ordained in the history of the diocese.

Father Cassidy will work in the La Crosse Diocese, but has had no definite assignment as yet. Presently he is enjoying a well deserved rest with his family in Winchester.

MISS ENGLAND BOUVE GRAD

Miss Carolyn June England, daughter of Mrs. Marshall J. England, formerly of 1 Ledgewood road, was graduated from the Bouve-Boston School of Physical Education, Medford. She received a Bachelor of Science degree in Education from Tufts College, with which Bouve is affiliated, at the 100th Tufts College Commencement.

Miss England is a graduate of Abbot Academy, Andover, Mass., where she was prominent in athletics and a school song leader. She has been a member of the Bouve Dance Group for three years and was the narrator for the Dedication Program of the school last fall, of which Senator Leverett Saltonstall was the principal speaker. Miss England was entered by the school to compete in the New England Women's Invitational Swimming Regatta, held on the Mystic Lakes this spring. She took second place in individual high honors, and brought Bouve to within two points of the championship.

Miss England will return to Tripp Lake Camp in Poland, Me., where she will again be head of the sailing department. She has been appointed physical education instructor at the Marlborough School, Los Angeles, California, for next year.

BALLET RECITAL

Eight Winchester young people, Lee Dresser, Suzanne Dresser, Betsy Aiken, Anne Marie O'Loughlin, Joan Rooney, Charlotte Nutter, Kay LeMay and Karin Richmond were among the pupils of the Mary Corbett Burns School of Ballet who participated in a recital program at John Hancock Hall in Boston last Saturday evening. Miss Nutter, aged 13, danced and also played the piano in the Concert Classical Ballet number.

Church Services

SUNDAY, JUNE 15, 1952

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST, WINCHESTER

Sunday Services at 11 a. m.
Sunday School is held at the same hour
as the church service.

Wednesday testimonial meeting 8 p. m.
Reading room, 5 Winchester Terrace off Thompson Street. Open daily except Sundays and holidays from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m.

How God's protection and tender care are illustrated in the Bible — from the earliest narrative throughout the Scriptures to the book of Revelation — will be brought out at Christian Science services, Sunday.
Subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "God the Preserver of Man."

One of the selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy is this one: "Divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need. It is not well to imagine that Jesus demonstrated the divine power to heal only for a select number or for a limited period of time, since to all mankind and in every hour, divine Love supplies all good."

"He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty." is the Golden Text from Psalm.

LEGIONNAIRES WIN TWO PRACTICE GAMES

The Winchester Legion baseball team plays its league opener at the North Woburn diamond against the Woburn Legionnaires on Sunday afternoon. Reverse's game at Winchester last Tuesday was cancelled due to the fact that the Reverse aggregation had been transferred to its Suffolk County League. Tonight's game at Reading has been postponed until July 9th because of school functions.

The local "nine" has played Reading twice in practice games and has been victorious in both contests, winning the first one 5-2 and the other 5-4.

In the first game Dave Pratt pitched a 3-hit ball game and connected for two singles at bat. Others in the hit column were Di Silva, Dilorio, Farrell, McLaughlin, Belino and Carroll.

"Charlie" Di Silva started on the mound for the locals on Sunday afternoon but was relieved in the fourth by "Ski" Carroll when Charlie was temporarily injured sliding into second base. Helping to get the five runs to defeat Reading in this second encounter were the timely hits of Dilorio, Procopio, Bushell, Barbara, Di Silva, Pratt and eighth grader Joe Bellino, who connected for two safeties and had a stolen base.

We shall be looking for you on Sunday afternoon at the North Woburn Playground, where we meet the Woburn Legionnaires. Be there to cheer us on to our first victory of the current season.

LITTLE LEAGUE RESULTS

Joey Flaherty held the Yanks to a single hit by Bill Morton as the Dodgers won a 1-0 ballgame in the Little League series Thursday evening on Manchester Field.

The Braves edged the Yanks, 8-7, in a Little League game Tuesday evening. Each team made six hits and had big five-run innings. The Dodgers beat the Red Sox 6-1, Tuesday night on Manchester Field in a Little League game. Both Davenport and Peckham pitched well.

WINCHESTER BLANKED READING

Delorey Held League Champs to Two Hits

Behind the superb two-hit pitching of Norman Delorey, Winchester High defeated Reading High, the newly-crowned Middlesex League Champions, at Reading last Wednesday by a score of 6-0. In fashioning his impressive shutout Delorey struck out eight batters and issued three bases on balls while facing only 31 batters, as two of the six Reading players to reach base were wiped out by double plays. It was a splendid exhibition by Delorey, who did not allow a hit until the sixth inning, and he received sparkling support from his teammates.

Winchester scored twice in the opening inning when Griffin dropped a hit into center field, Keyes drew a base on balls, and Dalton tripled to left field. The Indians added a single marker in the third when Keyes tripled to left center and scored on a wild pitch. A fourth Winchester run came across in the fifth when Dalton singled to center and scored when Dilorio's sharp single to left broke through the left fielder for a two-base error. The final two Red and Black runs came with two out in the seventh when Dalton drew a base on balls, Dilorio dropped a surprise punt for a hit, Dalton scored and Dilorio moved to third when an attempted pick-off throw by the catcher went into right field, and Serieka's single scored Dilorio.

It was an impressive victory for the Indians, who played the game of ball they gave promise of producing before the season began. It is ironic that Reading copped the Middlesex League pennant this year, for the locals have beaten them four out of six times in the past two years, including two Junior Legion contests, but have not played consistently good ball and have dropped games to weaker teams. Delorey gives excellent promise for next year and was brought along carefully this year by Coach Bartlett, who used him in relief several times before starting him against Woburn and Reading and he came through nicely in both contests.

Winchester Readers of last Saturday's Boston Post saw their fellow townsman and special delivery carrier at the Winchester Post-office, Edward S. Winn, holding not a trusty 38, with which he is a widely known crack shot, but a flower-pot and strange looking plant of some kind. The caption placed the plant as a rare three-leafing amaryllis, a rarity about to "Ed". We know all about his prowess with a revolver, but didn't know he went in for growing rare plants. "Ed" is evidently a versatile fellow!

MISS NIVEN RETIRES

WHS CAFETERIA MANAGER

With the close of school June 13 Miss E. Gladys Niven, cafeteria manager and home economics teacher at the high school since 1924, will write final to a teaching career which began 43 years ago.

A graduate of the Framingham Normal School in 1909, Miss Niven received her B.S. degree from Columbia University in 1923. Her first teaching position was in the public schools of Westbrook, Maine, and after that she taught at the Whitman and Milton High Schools. The principal in the latter school was Wade Grindle. Miss Niven was employed as Winchester High School's cafeteria manager and home economics teacher in 1924, the same year that Mr. Grindle became principal.

Miss Niven recalls that, for several years after she came to Winchester, the cafeteria was housed in a small area at the north end of the present school building. Another significant change in the management of the cafeteria occurred in 1947 when the school joined the Federal Lunch Program through which the cafeteria secures federal support. This has made possible the serving of a complete basic meal for 25 cents. A major improvement this year has been the installation of a soundproof material on the cafeteria's ceiling. Though she was reluctant to set a figure, it can be safely estimated that Miss Niven has supervised the preparation and serving of more than two million meals at the Winchester High School.

In addition to her membership in the local, state, and national branches of the National Education Association, Miss Niven has been a member of the American Home Economics Association and its state and regional affiliates. She also takes an active part in a cafeteria managers' association composed of the leading schools around Boston.

During her years of service at the high school, Miss Niven has gained an enviable reputation among pupils and school personnel alike for all-round efficiency and conscientious devotion to duty. Those who came to know her best enjoyed her Yankee wit and frankness of speech.

As to her plans for the future, Miss Niven says only that she is looking forward to her retirement and that she expects to remain active and busy. Already she has been signed up as a volunteer worker for the Malden Red Cross Canteen. After spending part of the summer on Cape Cod, she will return home in Malden. In the winter she hopes to do some traveling.

In friendly tribute to her co-worker the personnel of the cafeteria recently organized a party for Miss Niven at the Red Coach Grill in North Andover. They and the janitorial staff at the high school presented her with a lovely handbag.

At the final luncheon for faculty members and their wives, Miss Niven will again be feted, and on Monday evening the school committee will recognize her years of service. Her good wishes should be added those of all of Winchester together with thanks for a job well done.

SUMMER SWIMMING LESSONS

The Winchester Chapter, American Red Cross, will be supplying swimming instruction, diving and water safety for the benefit of Winchester residents. This year classes will be held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at Palmer Beach and on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at Leonard Pool.

COLBATH — BRIGGS

At the First Congregational Church on Saturday afternoon, June 14, Miss Janet Briggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Briggs of Allen road, became the bride of Robert Gray Colbath, son of Mrs. Henry Colbath of Tewksbury. White gladioli and carnations, with ivy streamers on the pews, made an attractive setting for the 3 o'clock ceremony, which was performed by the minister of the church, Dr. Howard J. Chidley. J. Albert Wilson, church organist and choirman, played the bridal music.

Miss Briggs was given in marriage by her father, and had for her honor attendant her sister, Miss Muriel Briggs, Miss Joan Harris and Miss Diane Gulaker, both of Winchester, were bridesmaids.

The bride wore a princess style gown of white satin with a train of imported French lace, and carried a bouquet of calla lilies.

All the bridal attendants wore dresses of white organza over or- chid and white gladioli. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of purple gladioli, pink sweet peas, and white gladioli. The bridesmaids carried a cascade bouquet of purple gladioli, pink sweet peas, and white gladioli. The bridesmaids carried a cascade bouquet of purple gladioli, pink sweet peas, and white gladioli.

Everett M. Twombly of Winchester was best man for Mr. Colbath, and the ushers were Richard Briggs of Winchester, brother of the bride, and Donald W. Aldrich of Tewksbury.

A reception was held after the ceremony in the parish hall of the church, the bride's parents assisting in receiving with the mother of the bride, the best man and the bride attendants.

Mrs. Briggs, mother of the bride, was given in navy blue crepe trimmed with hyacinth shantung. Her hat matched her gown and she wore an orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Colbath, wore a slate-blue sheer crepe dress with matching hat trimmed with pink and a corsage of pink sweet-heart roses.

After a motor trip through Maine and Canada Mr. and Mrs. Colbath will live at 39 Leydard road where they will be at home after July 1.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School and of Fay Secretarial School. Mr. Colbath, a civil engineer, prepared for the college at Wilbraham Academy, is a graduate of Northeastern University and saw service with the United States Army in Japan.

HAWKES — EVANS

At an afternoon ceremony on Saturday, June 14, at the Evangelical Church in North Andover, Conn., Miss Barbara Jean Evans, daughter of Mrs. LeRoy Evans of New Haven, and the late Mr. Evans, became the bride of Hugh McLellan Hawkes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Hawkes of Norwood street. The Rev. J. Arvid Jones officiated at the ceremony which took place in a setting of palms, white stock and snapdragons.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. A. Gunnar Johnson of New Haven, the bride wore a ballerina-length off-the-shoulder gown of white eyelet embroidered organza with fitted bodice and illusion neckline. Her fingertip-length veil was arranged with a circlet of stephanotis and she carried a cascade bouquet of the same flowers complemented with white gladioli.

Mrs. Joseph C. Negri of East Haven, Conn., was matron of honor, wearing pink organza with hat to match and carrying pink roses.

Richard N. Hawkes of Worcester was best man for his brother, and the ushers were Arthur W. Hawkes of Walpole, another brother, and Joseph C. Negri of East Haven.

After the ceremony a reception and buffet supper took place at the home of the bride's mother, where the decorations were freshly cut spring flowers.

The bride is a graduate of Hill-house High School in New Haven, Conn., and is a senior at Tufts. He served three years with the United States Army in Europe.

WINS YALE DIVINITY HONOR

The Rev. David Brodie Johnston, of Winchester, who received a Bachelor of Divinity degree at Yale University's recent 251st Commencement Exercises, has been given the Wolcott Calkins Prize in preaching by the Yale Divinity School.

Mr. Johnston is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Johnston, of 384 Highland avenue, Winchester. He was in the United States Army for three and a half years during World War II, serving 18 months in the combat zone of France, Germany and Austria.

After studying at the University of Dijon, France, he entered Tufts College, where he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and received his Bachelor of Arts degree. He entered Yale as a student at the Emerson School for Boys in Exeter, New Hampshire.

FERGUSON — HOWE

A Winchester girl came back to her old home town to be married last Saturday afternoon, June 14, when Miss Barbara Dennison Howe daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Dennison Howe of Littleton, became the bride of John Prentice Ferguson, son of Mrs. Emmet Ferguson of Scarsdale, N. Y. The ceremony, which took place in a setting of white peonies and cymbidium ferns at the Music Hall on Bacon street, was performed at 4 o'clock by the Rev. Harry E. Edenberg of Winchester, a retired Episcopal clergyman, and the bride music was played by Mary Ranton Witham, organist and director of music at the Unitarian Church.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Howe wore a gown of duchesse lace and nylon tulle over satin, with a fitted doree jacket of matching lace and an attached panel train of accordion pleated tulle. Her fingertip-length veil was caught to a satin Juliet cap, and she carried two white orchids with a cascade of stephanotis.

Mrs. Frederick O. Wuensch of Indianapolis, Ind., was matron of honor, and Miss Ann Gardner Perry of South Salem, N. Y., small niece of the bride, was bridesmaid. Bridesmaids were Miss Nancy L. Snider of New York City; Miss Jetta W. Sloan of Barrington, R.I.; Miss Mary Louise Howe of Littleton, sister of the bride; and Miss Shirley Marchant of Winchester.

The honor attendant wore a yellow dress of lace and net with a matching lace jacket and a headpiece of flowers and yellow net. Her bouquet was of blue delphinium and Marguerites, centered with a yellow rose.

The bridesmaids wore aqua dresses fashioned like those of the honor attendant, with matching headpieces. Their bouquets combined yellow roses with Marguerites and baby's breath. The flower girl wore a yellow lace and net frock and carried a small reproduction of the honor attendant's bouquet.

A reception was held immediately after the reception. The bride's mother, Mrs. Howe, wore beige lace and chiffon with a matching hat and a purple orchid. Mrs. Ferguson, mother of the bridegroom, wore a white orchid with her dusty rose lace and chiffon gown, and matching accessories.

After a wedding journey through the Adirondacks and Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson will make their home in Bronxville, N. Y. Mr. Ferguson is associated with the sales department of the Carter Ink Company in New York City.

101st BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Mary G. Meehan, very probably Winchester's oldest resident and surely among the oldest in Massachusetts, observed her 101st birthday Sunday, June 15, at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Francis G. Meehan, 58 Salem street.

No formal observance was planned, but neighbors and friends, including many from Lowell, Mrs. Meehan's former home city, called throughout the day to offer congratulations and best wishes. Mrs. Meehan greeted her many guests and enjoyed to the fullest chatting with them and reminiscing about old times.

Not that Mrs. Meehan lives in the past! Far from it. She is keen on politics and baseball and can, with all comers. She has a real zest for living and enjoys both people and events to the fullest.

Born in Farmington, N. H., Mrs. Meehan went to Lowell as a girl and lived there until coming to Winchester three years ago. Her husband, the late John Meehan, had a memorial monument business in Lowell, and both he and Mrs. Meehan are well known there.

Though none of her grandchildren live in the Middle West, she was able to be with Mrs. Meehan on her birthday, two granddaughters, Mrs. Lillian Laqua and Mrs. Katharine Finkel, both of Minneapolis, visited Mr. Meehan, Mrs. Finkel during February and Mrs. Laqua only two weeks ago.

Mrs. Meehan's daughter, Mrs. Mary McMahon of Minneapolis, died only a week after her mother's 100th birthday.

Besides her son in Winchester, Mrs. Meehan has four grandchildren, three great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

The Star is proud to add its birthday congratulations and best wishes to those of Mrs. Meehan's other friends.

SURPRISE PARTY

Miss Phyllis Ann Gilbert, a graduate of Winchester High School, class of 1952, was given a surprise party Friday, June 6, by Miss Gerry and Miss Marie Carcia, at their home on Oak street. Miss Gilbert left Wednesday, June 18, to enter the Women's Air Force.

Guests at the party included Miss Marie Frongillo of Stoneham, Miss Lucy Tricco of Malden and Miss Mary DiOrto of Rosindale; also Mrs. William Magno and the Misses Louise Crignano, Rose Carol Staffieri, Connie Gorrasi, Mary Marabell, Helen Lunsford, Ida Staffieri, Theresa Cossari, Pauline Cossari, Mary Buzzotto and Carol Ann Gilbert, all of Winchester.

Mrs. Miller E. Miller of the Unitarian Church, telephone WInchester 6-1211 is in charge of collecting the flowers to be sent to shut-ins in Boston on Tuesday, June 24 — Everyone is invited to bring flowers to the Winchester Railroad Station before 8:30 on that date.

GOULD — CROSEY

Miss Mary McCreedy Crosey, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Drescher Crosey, 168 Chestnut street, Rutherford, N. J., became the bride of George Dana Gould of Lakeview road, son of Ernest Wellington Gould and the late Mrs. Gould of Winchester, Saturday, June 14 at 8 o'clock at First Presbyterian Church, Rutherford, N. J. The Rev. Charles Alexander Ross of Elizabeth, N. J., former pastor of the church, who married Dr. and Mrs. Crosey and christened the bride, officiated. The Rev. Fred Masters Holloway, pastor, assisted. A reception for 300 guests followed at Upper Montclair Country Club, Upper Montclair, N. J.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin wedding gown, fashioned on princess lines, with a high neckline featuring a softly rolled collar, long sleeves, pointed at the wrists, and a cathedral train. Her fingertip-length veil of French lace was carried calla lilies and lilies of the valley.

Miss Sally May Brown of Rutherford was maid of honor and Mrs. Tilly of Ridgewood, N. J., matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Diane Collings and Miss Mary O'Connor of Englewood, N. J.; Miss Edith McCarg of Providence, R. I.; Miss Lydia Manson of Chatham, Miss Cynthia Towell of Cleveland, Ohio, Miss Margaret Dupont Kitchell of Wilmington, Del.; Miss Elizabeth Madden of Kansas City, Mo., and Miss Carmen Alvarez of San Salvador, El Salvador.

The honor attendants wore bois de rose nylon marquisette frocks and matching velvet leaves with face veils. They carried pink roses. The bridesmaids were similarly attired in shell pink and carried deep pink roses.

Paul Abbott, Jr., of New York City was best man. Ushers were Charles D. Crosey, Jr., of Palo Alto, California, brother of the bride; James Fuchs of Chicago and New York; Irving F. Moore and Russell Conway Moore of Duluth, Minn.; Harry deForest Baldwin and Harry deForest Baldwin of New York City; Elliott G. Emerson of Winchester, and Clifford Dangler of Cleveland, Ohio.

After a wedding trip to sea land, Ga. Mr. and Mrs. Gould will live at 41 Fifth avenue, New York City.

The bride is a graduate of Dwight School for Girls, Englewood, N. J., and Briarcliff Junior College, Briarcliff Manor, N. Y. Mr. Gould was graduated from Phillips Andover Academy, Andover, Mass., and Yale University. He is a member of St. Elmo fraternity.

BRADY — CARROLL

Miss Beatrice Anne Carroll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Carroll of 101 Harvard street, and Robert Francis Brady, son of Mrs. Catherine Brady of 44 Winn street, were married Sunday afternoon, June 8, at 6 o'clock in St. Mary's Church by the pastor, Rev. Fr. John P. O'Riordan.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Carroll wore a gown of nylon tulle with a fitted bodice and full skirt. Her fingertip-length veil was caught to a small matching helmet-style hat and she carried a white prayer-book topped with a matching orchid.

Miss Eleanor Subrizio of Winchester was maid of honor, Miss Susan Nixon of Winchester, cousin of the bride was bridesmaid. Miss Darlene Stevens of Woburn, niece of the bridegroom, carried the bouquet, and William J. Carroll, 3rd, also of Woburn and nephew of the bride, was ring-bearer.

The honor maid wore an off-the-shoulder dress of yellow net over tulle with a small cape and fitted bodice and a full skirt. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of mixed flowers and wore matching flowers in her hair. The bridesmaid's costume was a fitted bodice and full skirt, and she carried a small bouquet of the same flowers.

The bride was a graduate of Winchester High School, class of 1949. Mr. Brady, who is a member of the Massachusetts Trucking Co. in Reading, graduated from Woburn High School.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the Town Line, the bride's parents and the mother of the bridegroom assisting in receiving.

After a month's trip to California Mr. and Mrs. Brady will live at 101 Harvard street in Winchester.

GLEN H. PHILLIPS

Glen H. Phillips of Pueblo, Colorado, whose wife, the former Mildred Smith, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer E. Smith, formerly of 106 Ridge street, died Monday afternoon, June 16. He was 57 years old and had been meteorologist in charge of the Government Weather Bureau in Pueblo since his discharge from the service after World War I.

Born in Pueblo, Mr. Phillips was soon to retire from his position with the Government Weather service. He and his wife were married June 27, 1942, and had spent most of their life in Pueblo. Mr. Smith having taught in the Pueblo schools. His wife is his only survivor.

Funeral services were held Wednesday in Pueblo, where the interment was in the family lot in the cemetery there. Attending the services were two of Mrs. Phillips' brothers, Master Sgt. Arthur L. Smith, USAF, stationed at Topeka, and William E. Smith, Jr., with his wife, and Wilmer E. Smith of Wakefield, Mrs. Phillips' sister-in-law, Mrs. Percival A. Smith of Calumet road, also went west for the services.

FRANK MOLEA

Frank Molea of 32 Irving street, an employee of the Atlantic Gelatine Co., died suddenly Monday, June 16, of a heart attack while at work at the company's plant in West Woburn.

The finished job is really a thing of beauty as well as of sturdy construction. The woodwork, finished in dark oak, is precision fitted and the fittings are all of brass or copper. Air compartments and storage space for life preservers have been built into the boat and to add the finishing touch the trailer, on which it is hauled, has been given a coat of aluminum paint to match the hull of the boat. Firefighter Walter "Cubby" Carroll has headed the crew of workmen in charge of the job, which is a credit, both to the department and town. Incidentally it cost the town only the price of the materials. There was absolutely no labor charge!

LIFE SAVING BOAT COMPLETED

The Firefighters at the Central Station have completed their job of overhauling the department's life-saving boat, stripping the boat to the hull and rebuilding it.

CULLEN BRINGS CONVENTION TO BOSTON

County Commissioner James A. Cullen of Bacon street, who with Thomas B. Brennan, chairman of the County Commissioners, is attending the annual convention of the National Association of County Officials at San Antonio, Tex., wired his home office Wednesday to announce that he and his associate had been successful in their bid to bring the 1953 Convention to Boston.

A year ago Mr. Cullen put on a one-man fight to bring this year's convention to Boston, missing by a narrow margin and arousing a lot of admiration for his tenaciousness. This year he and Mr. Brennan faced strong opposition, especially from Seattle, Washington, but finally pulled the coveted award out of the fire. Mr. Cullen, a former chairman of Selectmen, is serving his third year as County Commissioner.

MISS KILEY, MR. O'NEIL ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Kiley of Arlington announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Elaine Kiley, to Gerald Francis O'Neil of Winchester, son of Mr. Jeremiah J. O'Neil of Florida, formerly of Winchester.

Miss Kiley is a graduate of Regis College. Mr. O'Neil receives his degree this month from North-eastern.

MRS. BRIDGET DOLAN

Mrs. Bridget Dolan, wife of Francis Dolan of 1 Dunham street, died Sunday afternoon, June 15, at her home, following a two months illness.

Mrs. Dolan was the daughter of John and Mary (Riley) Gaffney. She was born January 6, 1880, in County Cavan, Ireland, but came to this country in 1896 as a girl of 16. She had been a resident of Winchester for over half a century, living for more than 25 years on Hancock street, and for the past four years on Dunham street. She was a member of Quaker Court, M. C. O. F., of Woburn, and of St. Mary's Sodality, having many friends among older residents of both Woburn and Winchester.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Dolan leaves two daughters, Mrs. Frank D. Riley (Mary Dolan) of Chelmsford and Sister Mary St. Constance of the Order of the Good Shepherd, and two sons, Mr. N. Y., the former Ann Dolan; four sons, Thomas W. of Rockport; Sgt. John J. Dolan of the Winchester Police Department; Francis, of Winchester and Charles J. Dolan of Dallas, Texas; four grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Annie Dugan of Somerville and Mrs. James McGovern of Waltham; and two brothers, Michael Gaffney of Woburn and John Gaffney of County Cavan, Ireland.

The funeral was held Wednesday morning from the M. G. Moffett Funeral Home with solemn requiem high mass celebrated at St. Mary's Church.

Rev. Fr. Joseph McCall was celebrant, Rev. Fr. Charles An-dore, deacon; and Rev. Fr. Henry Cassidy, subdeacon.

Interment was in Calvary Cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Fr. John P. O'Riordan.

'27 HELD REUNION

The Class of 1927 — Winchester High School held its 25th Reunion, Friday evening June 13th at the Music Hall. After a social hour, renewing old acquaintances, the boys and their guests enjoyed a lobster dinner.

The president of the Class, Charles Doherty, after saying a few words of welcome, introduced William DeCamp as Master of Ceremonies. Mr. DeCamp called upon Mrs. DeGrindle, who gave a very interesting talk to the class.

After Mr. Grindle's talk, Kenneth Cullen read the class prophecy and Anna Pitarino Low followed by reading the class poem. Prizes were awarded to Janet Goddard Burbank and William DeCamp for being married the longest, to Dorothy Bond McNeilly and James Kearns for the most children, and to Charles Smith and Virginia Hunkins Smith for coming the greatest distance, they having driven up from Arlington, Va.

The evening ended with a pleasant hour of conversation and dancing.

The members of the committee were: Kenneth Cullen, Chairman; Eleanor McKenzie, Secretary; Eleanor Healey Urson; Katherine Weid Muehring; Kathleen Cassidy Fortiere; Dorothy Bond McNeilly; Herbert Nelson; William DeCamp; Charles Doherty.

RECEIVED "VICTORY MEDAL"

Mrs. Jacob Van Vloten of 69 Westland avenue received last Friday, June 14, the "Victory Medal" awarded by Dr. Elliott Joslin, famed head of the Joslin Clinic for Diabetes, to persons afflicted with this disease who have completed an intensely rigorous examination to see whether any permanent damage has been done by the diabetic condition over the 25 year period.

If there has been, the medal is not awarded. Mrs. Van Vloten came through the test with flying colors, and the purpose of this article is to encourage diabetes through her experience to realize that through correct medication and rigorous adherence to diet it is possible to live healthy, happy lives in spite of the disease.

Before receiving the medal, a candidate submits to a complete and intensely rigorous examination to see whether any permanent damage has been done by the diabetic condition over the 25 year period. If there has been, the medal is not awarded. Mrs. Van Vloten came through the test with flying colors, and the purpose of this article is to encourage diabetes through her experience to realize that through correct medication and rigorous adherence to diet it is possible to live healthy, happy lives in spite of the disease.

37 YEARS A POLICEMAN

Sgt. Thomas F. Cassidy completed 37 years in the Police Department today. He was appointed June 20, 1915, and promoted to sergeant January 7, 1924. He is considered one of the most efficient officers in the department, particularly in investigation, one of the most important of police duties.

COMING EVENTS

June 21, Tuesday, 8:45 p. m. Special meeting of Winthrop Lodge, No. 24, Masonic Apartments, Ralph L. Purinton, Master.

June 24, Tuesday, 8:30 a. m. Flowers for the Flower Mission to be left at the Winchester Railroad Station.

ENTERTAINED BOARD

On Tuesday, June 9, Mrs. Charles Weimer, president of the Winchester Senior Circle of the Florence Crittenton League, for the forthcoming year, entertained her board with a morning coffee at her home on Manomet road. Mrs. Forrest Pittman presided at this delightful occasion, and later in the morning Mrs. Weimer presided at the business meeting to prepare the program for the year's activities.

After the minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Robert Fletcher, and the various committees heard from, an interesting discussion was held on the annual fall year which will take place this year on Tuesday and Wednesday, December 2nd and 3rd, in the Dorothy Quincy Suite and John Hancock Hall in the John Hancock Building. The theme will be a "New England Village" and the time from 10:00 to 6:00 each day.

These are days to list on your fall calendar now, for they include many highlights — among them a fashion show on Wednesday, December 3rd by Oleg Cassini, the famous dress designer, who is well known for his originals by fashion-wise women the world over.

New officers and committee chairs include Mrs. Charles Weimer, president; Mrs. Donald F. Connors, first vice-president; Mrs. Herbert Ladsforth, second vice-president; Mrs. Robert J. Fletcher, recording secretary; Mrs. Henry Marconetto, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Laurence M. Fessenden, treasurer; Mrs. J. Howard Macaulay, ways and means; Mrs. B. Peck Clark, membership; Mrs. Frank R. Creedman and Mrs. Francis C. Chase, co-chairmen transportation; Mrs. Frank O. Adams, publicity; Mrs. Woodford L. Wilcox, singing; Mrs. Clifton W. Linnell, tea; Mrs. Frederick W. Aseltine, social service; Mrs. Forrest L. Pittman, bazaar chairman; Mrs. James M. Beale, bazaar vice-chairman and year book; and Mrs. Mary Ranton Witham, music.

ELKS OBSERVED FLAG DAY

Winchester Lodge of Elks observed Flag Day on Manchester field June 13 with public exercises, following a parade from the town hall.

Led by the Auxiliary Police, headed by Chief Robert Johnston, and the Woburn City Band, Edson Kimball directed the parade which included Winchester Lodge of Elks, Colors of Winchester Post, A. L.; and Winchester Post, V. F. W.; Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary; Civilian Control Corps; American Boy Scouts; and Immaculate Conception Bugle and Drum Corps and Girls' Drill Team.

A highlight of the evening was the drill put on by the Immaculate Conception Drill Team, the girls as usual being very precise in the marching and maneuvers.

MRS. LILLIS S. HORNE

Mrs. Lillis S. Horne of 226 Billings street, Atlantic, Mass., widow of the late James C. Horne, formerly of Winchester, was struck by a car on Quincy Shore Drive early Tuesday evening, June 13. She was dead on arrival at Quincy City Hospital.

An Eastern Star service was held Monday evening at DeWare Funeral Service, 576 Hancock street, Wollaston. Services were held at Wollaston, where Mrs. Horne died, June 13, 1952, at 1 p. m. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery, Winchester. Rev. Walter L. Bailey officiated.

Survivors are Mrs. Margaret J. Nauflits, sister-in-law, Mrs. Elmer D. Ripley, niece, Miss Satia MacLaughlin, niece, all of Winchester; and a nephew, Mr. Alexander MacLaughlin of Norwood, R. I.

WELLESLEY CLUB LUNCHEON

On Thursday, June 5, the Winchester Wellesley Club held its spring meeting at a luncheon at Hartwell Farms. After a short business meeting, Mrs. Roger Burton reported on the 29th Annual Alumnae Council, held at the college on February 7-9. With the closing of the freshman houses in the town of Wellesley and the opening of the new dormitories, the whole college community will be on campus next year for the first time since 1891. By effecting economies in its domestic staff, Wellesley is returning to its original realistic principles of self-reliance and self-service. Mrs. Burton explained most clearly the methods of selecting students from among the applicants. Since this has been a banner enrollment year for Wellesley, geographical distribution has had to be given marked consideration, and many eligible students have been rejected for lack of room in the freshman class.

Following Mrs. Burton, Miss Uta Oberdorfer from Bavaria, a junior at Wellesley, spoke of her delight in America and her admiration for the freedom and friendliness of academic life, so different from the German system in which teacher and student keep aloof from each other. Miss Oberdorfer described her home, the town of Traunreut, between Munich and Salzburg. It is the youngest settlement in Bavaria, the oldest house no more than two years old. Born from the overcrowding of the cities, it is being built by people from all walks of life, upon the principles of the American frontier. In its short life it has become famous as a cultural and educational center. Miss Oberdorfer, returning this month, feels that Traunreut will be most receptive to her account of American intellectual freedom and she plans to incorporate our methods in her own teaching career.

The Children's Day plants which added so much beauty to our services, were the gift of Mr. Charles A. Barnham, in loving memory of his little daughter, Alice. This is a tradition with Mr. Barnham and brings much pleasure to our young people.

ELECTED WELLESLEY ALUMNAE SECRETARY

Mrs. James C. Sargent of 68 East End avenue, New York City, formerly of Winchester, was elected secretary of the Wellesley College Alumnae Association at the annual meeting held June 14 at Alumnae Hall on the Wellesley campus.

Mrs. Sargent, the former Rebecca Jackson, is the daughter of Mrs. Henry Arthur Shepherd of Staten Island, N. Y., and the late Alton Jackson, formerly of Herrick street. She lived in Winchester as a girl and is the niece of Dr. Arthur Jackson of Main street and Theodore Chilcott of Mystic avenue. Her cousin, Betsy Chilcott, has just completed her sophomore year at Wellesley.

Before her marriage Mrs. Sargent taught English at the Stoneleigh Prospect Hill School in Greenfield and at Oldfield School, Glenwood, Md., being also an officer in the WAVES.

This month she received an M.A. in English Literature from Columbia University, having her B.A. from Wellesley in 1940. She is secretary of Women of the Parish, Church of the Epiphany, New York City, and a member of the parents' committee of the Children's Home School of the Child Education Foundation. From 1945 to 1949 she was a member and secretary of the Wellesley Alumnae Committee on Long Range Planning of the Curriculum.

Miss Joan Bledsoe, 34 Salisbury street, is enrolled as a new student at National College of Education, Evanston, Illinois, for September, 1952.

CAT CHAT

by Evelyn Gustafsson

Director, Kalico Kat Research Institute

I Learned About Cats From Oscar

The first cat who ever owned me came from the Animal Rescue League in Boston's Carver street. When I went there, I was shown into a room where cats of all kinds and colors were on display. A few of them came up to me, and rubbed against my ankles. But, over on the window sill sat a gray kitten, who looked at me, blinked, and then turned to look out at the Customs House in the distance. He may have realized that he had come down in the world, to be here in an orphanage, awaiting adoption. But he asked no favors. I named him Oscar, and kept him with me for the twelve remaining years of his wonderful, independent life.

Yes, Oscar was independent. He walked by himself. But not without looking over his shoulder every now and then, to be sure I was there, too. He demanded his rights, his meals on time, his freedom of action. But he woke me to tell me when smoke started coming upstairs from a lower apartment — so that I was able to call the fire department in time.

He thrust himself defiantly between me and a somewhat demented peddler who had come to the door, because the peddler's voice had a threatening sound in it. He listened for unlikely sounds in the hallway that just might herald danger. He came shouting if something started to burn on the kitchen stove.

When I got home in the late afternoon, he would be sitting just inside the door, waiting. And when death in the family overpowered me with grief, he jumped on my Grindle paid tribute to the late Sam Tompkins, an outstanding member of the Class of 1944. Then he introduced Russell Tompkins, who presented the Sam Tompkins Baseball Trophy, an award which has been established by the Tompkins family in Sam's memory. This year's recipient is Stowell Symmes.

Acting for Miss Anifantis, who was unable to be present, Mr. Thomas Morse presented awards to members of the Octette and the Glee Club. Then, in his capacity as director of speech, he presented Harold Quigley with his trophy as state champion in extemporaneous speaking. To Sona Norian went the Best Thespians Award.

Other speakers at this long assembly were track coach Henry Knowlton, softball coach Loretta Carleton, boys tennis coach Henry Pitts, girls tennis coach Mrs. Dorothy Hills, and baseball coach Ted Bartlett. Trophies emblematic of the individual and team championships in the State Tennis Tournament were presented to James Farin, champion, and to Charles Mirak, team captain.

WINCHESTER BLANKED
AT WOBURN

Winchester High dropped a 2-0 decision to Woburn High at Woburn Friday afternoon, June 6 in the final game of the season for both teams. As has been the case over the last five years, these arch rivals played excellent ball against each other as they split their two-game series for the year, the Indians having copped the first game by a 4-1 margin.

Lefty Dick Johnson pitched brilliant ball for the Tanners as he limited the Indians to two singles, Symmes getting the first in the seventh inning. Aside from the scintillating "Butch" McLaughlin, Symmes almost matched Johnson's twirling until the eighth, when he tired and gave up four of the seven Woburn hits in that inning. Thanks to two great throws to the plate by "Jocko" Serika, however, Woburn scored only one run in that inning as Serika cut down two runners at the plate with rifle-shot poga to catcher Peter Coon to nip two successive Woburn runners.

For the second year in succession "Butch" McLaughlin beat the Indians practically single-handedly, scoring both of the Tanners' runs. In the first inning he worked Symmes for a base on balls, stole second on the first pitch, and scored a single to right field. In the eighth the Woburn captain climaxed a great high school career by belting a long home run to right center to put Woburn into front 2-0 and relieve the pressure on Johnson.

"Most-Wanted" of Them All!

It will probably occasion no surprise on your part to be told that the Cadillac car is the most wanted and sought-after automobile on the American highways.

But you might be surprised to learn how widespread the desire to own this great motor car has become during recent years.

Statistics indicate, for instance, that there are more than twenty million motorists in America who would like to call a Cadillac their own. And were the whole of the world's motorists to be considered, this number would grow well-nigh beyond comprehension.

There is reason to believe, in fact, that Cadillac may be wanted by more people than any other product manufactured in America today. It might well be called the great desideratum of the American people.

Naturally, a motor car has to offer many wonderful things in order to occupy such a unique position in the hopes and aspirations of so many persons.

INVESTMENT HOUSE OPENS BRANCH OFFICE

Announcement was made today by Draper, Sears & Co., members of the New York and Boston stock exchanges and associate members of the New York Curb exchange that it will open a branch office at 40 Church street, Winchester, on July 7th.

The resident manager will be John L. Donovan of 5 Lakeview road whose association with Draper Sears & Co., began in 1938. Up to 1926 Mr. Donovan was master of a grammar school in Lawrence but he resigned in that year to enter the bond business.

Mr. Donovan has resided in Winchester since 1940 and has been active in community service. He was a Trustee of Winchester Hospital for six years, a member of the Scholarship Foundation four years, and President of the Eastern Middlesex Harvard Club four years. His special interest appears to have been advancing the welfare of the schools, its pupils, and their teachers.

Draper Sears main office is in Boston but branches are maintained in Lowell, Fall River, Milford and Manchester, N. H.

BARTLETT ON RADIO

Ted Bartlett, Winchester's Little League president, was a guest of Sportscenter Len Masters on Station WCOF Tuesday evening at 6:30. Masters has been sponsoring a series of Little League broadcasts and "Bart" spoke for the activity in Winchester.

During his remarks he told of the local organization resulting from a chance conversation in which he and "Charlie" Koch of the Winchester Sport Shop were involved, and he praised the Rotary Club and its president, Al Elliott, for their efforts in promoting the Winchester Little League to its present success. The league is grateful, Mr. Bartlett said for the splendid support of the town, both financial and from the standpoint of attendance at games.

At the studio with Mr. Bartlett was Charles Carlson, shortstop on the Little League Red Sox team, who answered the usual questions. Charles came naturally to his love of sports, his father, "Spikie" Carlson, having captained the football, wrestling and baseball teams at Boston University.

ATTENDS SWIMMING INSTRUCTORS' SCHOOL

Miss Joan McNeill of 11 Lawrence street is attending the National Aquatic Camp at Hanson, Mass.

The troop as a whole received a blue ribbon for its camping exhibit.

ANNUAL MEETING HOME AND GARDEN CLUB

It has been a year of real accomplishment and the members of the Winchester Home and Garden Club celebrated by holding their annual meeting and election of officers in Draught last Wednesday. There Miss Edna Cutter opened her 200 year old house and garden and welcomed the membership in with good old fashioned hospitality.

After a short business meeting the club elected officers and Committee Chairmen for next year: Mrs. Alexander P. Aiken — President, Mrs. Percy Buehler — Vice-President, Mrs. John Chipman — Second Vice-President, Mrs. Marshall Symmes — Recording Secretary.

Miss Louise Bancroft — Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Robert Baylie — Treasurer, Mrs. Frederick Cole, Mrs. Olcott Hooper — Horticultural.

Miss Roger Burgoyne, Mrs. Barton Gove, Mrs. Charles Hart — Nominating for 1953, Mrs. Edward McDewitt, Jr. — Membership, Mrs. Edward Mansfield — Program, Mrs. Frederick Churchill — Press, Mrs. William Holdich — Social.

Mrs. John Willis — Garden Club Service, Mrs. Norman Mitchell — Exhibition, Mrs. Clifford Williams, Mrs. Edwin Chesman — Winchester Hospital Service, Mrs. Frank Robinson — Home for the Miss Helen Munroe — Auditor, Nominating Committee — Mrs. Theodore Elliott, Mrs. Mrs. Wellington Caldwell, Mrs. Mrs. Clifford Williams.

After a box luncheon topped off by cake and coffee served and provided by Mrs. George French and her committee Miss Cutter showed the group about, pointing out some of the old features such as the sliding inside shutters, old beams, well, and whale oil lamp. In the garden there were exclamations of delight over the discovery of fragrant cinnamon roses, out size pansies, tall foxgloves, the white variety of gasplant, and the curious Douglas honeysuckle.

Last on the afternoon's full program was a visit to the Fairmount Gardens of Mrs. Nesmith in nearby Lowell. Unusual and very choice specimens of Iris, Oriental Poppies, and Plantain Lilies are the features of this display.

ARIZONA SWORD REACHED BOSTON

The Arizona Sword, big freighter recently raised from the Cape Cod Canal by George M. Byrne, marine engineer, of Copley street, was towed to Boston June 17, and finally made fast at an East Boston dock at 120 Border street. Towed by a tug, the freighter left the Canal at 6:25 a. m. and arrived at her dock at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The trip covering approximately 50 miles.

A crew of a dozen men with Mr. Byrne's son, John D. Byrne, made the trip to Boston on the Arizona Sword, which was sunk in a collision about a year ago and raised by Mr. Byrne after a series of disappointing incidents that made many believe the former Selectman wouldn't be able to raise the ship.

Mr. Byrne himself said that his men actually raised the freighter in a day, but it took a year to get ready to do the job. Even Lloyd's of London was interested and it is reported that this internationally known house did not believe Mr. Byrne could raise the boat. The contractor had to post a half million dollar bond before he could start the work, which however did entail the actual raising of the boat, but merely its removal from the canal.

Asked what he planned to do with the ship, Mr. Byrne told the Star that he planned to sell her. "There isn't enough water in the Aberjona these days for me to get any use from her," he said, "and I doubt if I could get her into Woods."

Mr. Byrne plans to clean the boat which is deeply encrusted with muscles, barnacles and starfish. Sandblasting will probably be necessary for this job. The hole which is well up forward and in the side of the ship is no problem. Mr. Byrne being chiefly concerned with her two 56 ton diesel engines. Immediately upon getting the ship above water these would be taken down thoroughly with fresh water and given heavy coats of oil, to prevent damage from the combination of salt water and air.

Mr. Byrne believes it may cost $125,000 to put the ship in shape to sell. The freighter cost $1,250,000 to build in 1946, and informed persons place the cost of duplication at $2,000,000.

Some of the load of sulphur with which the freighter was loaded has been sold by Mr. Byrne, who plans to get rid of all of this salvaged cargo. Meanwhile George is having a quiet chuckle at those who said he'd never raise the ship, though it's possible he might not if everyone hadn't been so blamed sure he wouldn't!

MULLEN RECEIVES PATENT

On May 27, 1952, the United States Patent Office granted patent number 2,598,189 on a "Photographic Process" to William G. Mullen, of Salisbury street, this town.

This invention pertains to an improved method of making intaglio printing plates by a photographic process. Intaglio plates are characterized by the fact that the printing areas are sunken below the general surface of the plate; and the resulting work is commonly known as engraved or raised printing.

According to Mr. Mullen, the prior photogravure printing plates had not been entirely satisfactory. For example, when made of stone, wood or metal, they are expensive and their use is limited generally to applications where economic considerations are not of primary importance. On the other hand, when made of certain chemical composition and resins, there have been such adverse properties as rapid deterioration, variations in sensitivity, short life on the press, and an inferior quality of workmanship.

To overcome these limitations of the prior practice, Mr. Mullen has devised a novel and improved method of producing photogravure printing plates. Although the details of his practice are understandable by those skilled in the science of chemistry, basically, it may be said that he makes use of a water-resistant support with three superposed coatings thereon. In his patent specifications, he describes in detail the various steps of the involved materials and shows the various transformations that they undergo, but for the sake of brevity, it should be noted that when the copy or pattern of the work to be reproduced is placed on the topmost coating and when the assembly is exposed to light in conventional manner, there occurs a change in the area that underlies the pattern. Subsequent treatments result in chemical reactions that produce the desired intaglio plate.

This patent has been assigned by mesne assignments to A. B. Dick Company.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

William D. Eaton of Foxcroft road and his son, Charles S. Eaton of Myopia road, were prominent in reunion activities at Harvard this week. Mr. Eaton senior was vice chairman of the 50 year class of 1902's reunion while his son acted the group in charge of 1932's celebration.

Mrs. Madeline H. Dolan, wife of Police Sgt. John J. Dolan of 341 Washington street, underwent an emergency operation at the Winchester Hospital last Saturday night. Mrs. Dolan, who is the School Department's administrative assistant at the George Washington and Noonan Schools, is reported as out of danger and getting along as well as can be expected.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

Not to be daunted by a week which has been overflying with a Senior Dance, a Junior Jinx Dance, and a Ladies' Bridge, the salty crew of the Winchester Boat Club is forging ahead with a scrumptious menu and terrific plans for dancing under the stars at the Fourth of July Clambake. Commodore Ned Morse and his committee, which includes Bart Sullivan and Jim Fitzsimmons, have announced that this year's lobsters are going to be bigger than ever. You'll be sorry if you don't get your reservation for this hoodlum in at the club house before July 1.

The boat club membership is forever expanding—thirty new family memberships were approved at the directors' meeting last Thursday night.

One hundred and teen teenagers had the time of their lives at the Junior Jinx Dance Friday night. Alan Darro's three-piece band kept them stopping with the elimination, snowball, and John Paul Jones novelty dances. Mrs. William Hall and her committee, Mrs. George Austin, Mrs. Vincent Scanlon, Mrs. George Snelling, Mrs. Carl Freyer and Mrs. Kirby Davidson, are already prepared to run future hops for the young fry.

Not to be outdone, the senior members had a heyday at their shindig Saturday night. Forty-five couples danced to the melodies of "The Meltones," enjoyed punch and chocolate covered, and got a big kick out of the main bathing beach contest. Mrs. Ned Morse carried off the title of "Mrs. Winchester Boat Club" and the male beauties were awarded turnips and cabbage heads!

The ladies gathered for their third bridge of the season at the club on Wednesday. Mrs. Mabelle Long was chairman of the day, and was assisted by Mrs. William Spaulding, Mrs. William Davies, Mrs. George Field, Mrs. Russell Pearl, Mrs. Edgar Emery, and Mrs. Orville Harrison. Delectable strawberry shortcake was the highlight.

Rodney Long kept up his winning streak in the snipe races. He placed first Saturday, closely followed by Bob Huggins. Cliff Austin sailed in for third position. Bob Huggins, a new member, led the first Sunday. Cliff Austin and Ned Morse took second and third honors.

DAY CAMP PROGRAM FOR YOUNGER BOYS

For the third year boys will enjoy the very extensive day camp program of Camp Innotu when it begins next Monday morning at the Woburn Y.M.C.A. located at 553 Main Street, Woburn.

Over fifty-five boys have called the "Y" and have expressed a desire to attend the camp, and only twenty to twenty-five more places are open, according to B. U. Smith, general secretary of the "Y" and director of the day camp program. Smith stated last night that boys from Wilmington, Burlington, Stoneham, Winchester and Pinehurst have already registered in addition to Woburn boys. "By opening day next Monday," Smith continued, "we will have the largest camp group and the best staff that we have had in the three years of operation."

RADCLIFFE GRADUATE

Charlotte M. Zimmerman WHS '48 daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Carle C. Zimmerman of 6 Cliff street graduated from Radcliffe with the class of '52 on the 18th of June. For her four years in college she was consistently on the Dean's honor roll.

She was active in the Philosophy Club and a contributor to the Radcliffe News.

This summer she plans to study Italian and to spend some time at the family summer home "Black Hawk Farm" in Gilmanton, N. H. In the fall she goes to Washington as a research analyst in the government service. In the academic procession at the Radcliffe ceremonies, her father represented the Department of Social Relations of Harvard.

Suzanne Dresser and Lee Dresser of Cambridge street were both dance soloists at the John Hancock Hall on June 7th. They are students of the Mary Corbett Burns School of Ballet.

NEW POTATO CHIP PLANT

Work has already begun on the proposed new $100,000 potato chip plant of The John E. Cain Co., to be located at 400 Mystic Valley Parkway, Medford. This expansion has been necessitated because of the phenomenal growth of the Cain Potato Chip business, one of the divisions of The John E. Cain Co., for nearly forty years manufacturers of Cain's Mayonnaise and other fine food products at their main plant in Cambridge.

Occupying a three-acre plot of ground, the new Cain plant, which is due to be finished in August, will be one of the most modern of its type in the country. The building will be a one-story structure of light buff brick outlined with red brick, providing 20,000 square feet of floor space.

Among the features will be large plate glass windows affording a profusion of natural daylight for inside plant operations as well as an excellent opportunity for passers-by to watch the various steps in the manufacture of Cain's Potato Chips. Equipment will include the latest type of stainless steel potato chip cookers, conveyors, and packing machines.

"We plan to landscape this property when the new plant is finished and will welcome at that time all visitors who wish to tour the plant to see every operation in the manufacture of Cain's Potato Chips," says John E. Cain, Jr. "With this location and further expansion we will be better able to meet the ever increasing demand for Cain's Potato Chips."

LINCOLN SCHOOL CLASS VISITS PIONEER VILLAGE

Sixth grade pupils and their teacher, Miss Lydia Whittemore, enjoyed an exciting visit to Pioneer Village in Salem on June 3. Transportation was provided by a loyal group of mothers, who gave up the entire day in order to make the excursion possible. Included were Mesdames Christanson, Gowing, Fish, O'Connor and Russo.

Arriving at the village, the youngsters were placed under the guidance of Mr. Sponhall, the village custodian. He led them on an interesting tour of this village, which is an exact replica of a colonial village in about the year 1640. Among the many things he pointed out were the quaint houses, the pillory and stocks, the hand pump, the blacksmith shop, and the crude shadlers used by the settlers before their houses were built. Another object of interest was the large ship, not a replica but a real old-time vessel, which was moored at the dock.

After their morning tour of investigation, the youngsters ate their lunches at Pioneer Village Park. Later they enjoyed a short swim before leaving for home. They were most grateful to Mr. Sponhall, the custodian, to the mothers, and to Miss Whittemore for a happy and instructive day.

GIRLS' TENNIS

Tryouts for the Winchester Girls' Junior Wightman Cup Team will be held at the Packer Courts Monday, June 23, at 10 a. m. Any girl from ten to eighteen years old is welcome to try out. The tryouts with other towns will be held on four Tuesdays in July, with practice matches during each week.

This is a perfect opportunity for you girls who stay home to improve your tennis game and have a wonderful time, too. If you have any questions, please call Dot Hills, Winchester 6-1547-M.

As the halfway mark is reached in the Town Softball League, the teams continue closely bunched for the final playoff position. Five of the teams are so evenly matched that the race will no doubt go right down to the final game before one of the teams is eliminated. Because the teams are so evenly balanced this year, the games have been much closer and the competition much keener than in past years.

WORTHINGTON AND SHEAN WON MEMBER-GUEST

Dave Shean of the home club paired with Captain Joe Worthington, Air Force captain from Dayton, Ohio, and former Texas State amateur champ, to win the annual member-guest golf tournament at the Winchester Country Club last Sunday. Preliminary and quarter final rounds were played Saturday.

First eight holes went to Dan Connor and Larry Warren of Woburn who beat Ralph Bonnell and O. K. Ciever of Tedesco in the final 4 and 3.

A. J. Conlon and Ed O'Callaghan of Woodland finished the final four. Harry Cheloff and Francis Dolan, unattached, 20 holes. Cheloff finished match alone when Dolan was cut loose by mother's death.

R. McKown and George Eagan, Oakley, were third flight winners, defeating Jack Dolben and Norton Kidder, unattached, in the final 2 and 1.

K. Fulton and H. Spaulding, Buffalo, won the fourth flight from Lou Goertz and Frank Harrison, Longwood.

Ralph Wilde and N. MacNeill beat J. V. Holden, Jr. and Irving Pletz, Bear Hill, in the fifth flight final, 2 and 1.

H. B. Stevens and H. E. Knight, Bear Hill, were sixth flight winners, beating A. M. Bond and J. Reddy in the final, 5 and 3.

MERCHANTS OVER READING IN OPENER

The Winchester Merchants baseball team won its league opener last Sunday at Loring Field, defeating a strong St. Agnes Club of Reading by a score of 3 to 2.

Norman Delorey pitched brilliantly, holding Reading to three hits, two of which were of the scratch variety. Delorey had 14 strikeouts over the nine innings while walking only four men.

Both the starting catcher Danny Boggs and "Jokey" Serikie who replaced him were injured and had to leave the game. Tony "Hegan" Ciruso took over the catching duties and for one who never before caught did an outstanding job.

The game was interesting and well played, and the locals did a good job for their first outing.

LOCALS LOSE TO IMPERIALS

In a six inning twilight game Monday evening at Leonard Field the Winchester Merchants were defeated by the Somerville Imperials by a score of 5 to 4.

Stowell Symmes, pitching for the locals, should have been out of the fifth inning without further trouble, but when two outs, the Somerville boys scored four runs on a two base error and four successive hits. Symmes struck out four of the first seven men to face him.

The locals were not hitting, having only three hits for the six innings played and left eight men on base. Twice they filled the bases but were unable to score.

The Merchants will meet Arlington Friday evening at Leonard Field.

LEGIONNAIRES WIN 2 OF 3

LEAGUE CONTESTS

The Winchester Legionnaires opened their current League season against Woburn on Father's Day afternoon and were victorious in a heated contest by a 12-10 score.

The locals were without the services of hard-hitting pitcher-outfielder Charlie DiSilva due to illness. The Winchesterites found opposing pitcher Johnson for the first time and scored four in the fourth, two in the fifth, four in the sixth, and two in the seventh while Woburn scored one in the first, one in the third, two in the fifth, three in the seventh, and three in the eighth.

The locals fanning ten and walking seven and allowed nine hits. Pratt also came through with three singles as did Procopio and Connors. Bushnell had two safeties and those able to hit the hit column with one each were Bellino, DiIorio, Farrell, Carroll, and McLaughlin. Connors and Procopio hit a double each.

The next League contest was against Somerville at Loring avenue on Tuesday evening but the locals had difficulty finding the fast slants of Mills of Somerville who allowed but one single and that by Jim Carroll, Winchester's pitcher. Somerville held the locals to a 5-0 shut-out. Carroll worked on the mound for Winchester fanning four and allowing one to reach first on four balls. Effective Mills, on the other hand struck out eight Winchester batters and issued one base on balls. Neither team hit for extra bases.

On Wednesday evening the locals traveled to Malden and left the scene of action with a 3-2 win. Dave Pratt pitched the distance and struck out eight and issued three bases on balls, while giving up six hits in the nine innings. The locals got five timely hits to bring in the tallies. The two runs scored by Malden came through the error of Pratt.

Hitting for the locals were Bellino, DiSilva, Pratt, Farrell, and Bushnell with one apiece. Pratt's hit was a double with all others being singles. Winchester scored one in the third, and two in the fifth. Malden crossed the plate twice in the seventh.

Lowell visits Loring Avenue tonight (Friday) at 6:15 so be there to see a good ball game and watch Winchester come through with its third win in four starts.

ENTERED IN INTERCITY LEAGUE

A group comprised of ex-high school players together with some present baseball players, started a school has organized a baseball team to be known as the Winchester Merchants.

These boys have committed themselves personally to spend $300 for uniforms and have paid their entry fee to the league.

The league will be made up of the following teams: Winchester Merchants, Reading, Melrose, St. John's of Cambridge, Lexington, Town Team, Arlington Town Team, Arlington Hoboes, The Imperials and Palmer Clubs of Somerville, North Cambridge, and the West End Club of Boston.

All these teams have players of high school, college and semi-pro calibre. It is anticipated that the Merchants will play forty games in league competition. The necessary expense for balls and umpires must be carried by the home team and has been almost entirely underwritten by a group of generous and sympathetic local merchants and business men.

Home games will be at Loring and Leonard Fields.

The squad numbers among its members Norman Delorey, Stowell Symmes, Bobby Farrell, Bill Burke, Charlie Murphy, Danny Bergs, Jack Serikie, Tony Ciruso, Jake Chisholm, John DiIorio, Charlie McLaughlin, John Dalton, George Tansey, Charlie Griffin, Charlie Mino-li and "Woody" Giacalone.

Sunday games will start at 2:30 p. m. and the evening games at 6:15.

LITTLE LEAGUE

Little League Mothers and friends have been doing a marvelous job of backing up the boys with needed financial assistance as well as providing the large group of fans with refreshments at the league in spite of set-backs such as having the coke machine broken open and contents stolen on two occasions within a few days.

Mrs. Gerald Fallows and Mrs. George Neville, who have been taking charge of the refreshment operations will be most appreciative of a helping hand for one evening or more from other Little League mothers and friends. To volunteer call Mrs. Thomson, WI 6-0981-R (Dodge); Mrs. Keane, WI 6-3352 (Bever); Mrs. Peckham, WI 6-0607-W (Red Sox); or Mrs. Morton, WI 6-1808 (Yanks). In addition to these ladies, the following mothers have already volunteered to help: Leverone, Mrs. Baird, Mrs. Winn, Mrs. Tofuri, Mrs. French, Mrs. McGrail, Mrs. Del-Rossi, Mrs. Harrigan, Mrs. Power, Mrs. Ardini and Mrs. Carter.

PLAYSCHOOL PARTY

On Thursday, June 12, the Little Folks Playschool had its end of the season party. After a pleasant coffee hour for the grown-ups and refreshments for the children, songs and games offered entertainment and fun.

Mrs. Richard Chase, Mrs. Charles DuToit, Mrs. John Hogan, Mrs. Frank Thorp, and little Marianne Thorp were an appreciative audience for the singing and marching of Richard Chase, Charles DuToit, Janet Hogan and Peter Thorp. Marianne - 9 months old - was wide-eyed with interest, a model of behavior for any child or grown-up, and seemed to greatly enjoy the jolly morning.

How Bill beat a thief to the dresser

Bill sensed there was something wrong as soon as we walked into the house last night. "Wait here," he said and moved away into the darkness.

I could hear him fumbling with the bedroom switch. Suddenly the lights blazed on. Bill was muttering. I rushed into the bedroom. It had been ransacked.

"Bill!" I screamed, pointing at the drawer where we kept our valuables. "our money, our bonds, my ring... everything gone!"

Bill came over and put his arm around me. "No they're not, honey," he said. "After you left this morning I took those things up to the bank. I rented a safe deposit box."

"Not really... you mean it's... we're not..."

"No, we're not cleaned out," Bill said smiling. "But I almost didn't beat this thief to the dresser."

Bill went out in the hall to call the police. I heard him say, "No officer, he didn't get anything. We keep our stuff in a safe deposit box... not a dresser."

I smiled. It was nice to be able to.

PARENT-FACULTY ASSOCIATION
ENTERTAINS HIGH SCHOOL STAFF

As a gesture of good will toward members of the high school staff, a group of mothers representing the Parent-Faculty Association entertained faculty members and their wives at luncheon on June 13.

At tables set in the gymnasium and beautifully decorated for the occasion, the guests enjoyed a delicious luncheon prepared and served by the following ladies: Mrs. J. Warren Shoemaker, chairman, Mrs. Albert S. Crockett, Mrs. James H. Coon, Mrs. Frank D. Hawkins, Mrs. Walter P. Keyes, Mrs. Mabelle M. Long, Mrs. Charles A. Murphy, Mrs. Alexander Samoiloff, Mrs. George E. Traut, and Mrs. Carle C. Zimmerman. Other mothers of this year's graduating class also contributed to the luncheon.

After the luncheon it was Mr. Grindle's happy privilege to make the presentations of gifts from the faculties of the junior and senior high schools to Miss Niven. He also expressed the appreciation of the entire staff for the many fine things which the Parent-Faculty Association has done for the school during the past year.

When his turn to speak came, Mr. Norton Denney, guidance director, startled some of his colleagues, though probably not all of them, with the announcement of his engagement to Miss Barbara Blackstone, a member of the faculty. Blackstone has resigned her position at the high school, and they will be married this summer. Warmest congratulations and best wishes were expressed by every one present.

As the final speaker Dr. Norris commented on the fact that, although only one of last year's graduating class had indicated plans to teach, the young members of the F. B. I. of '52 are planning to become teachers.

In his opinion the ranks of the teaching profession will be satisfactorily filled only if present teachers show pride and competence in their work.

We may well be proud of the F. B. I., which does so much to protect the rights of our citizens under law, and in sharp contrast with those employed in "iron-curtain" countries.

Refreshments followed, and all enjoyed a chance to meet Mr. Pelletier informally, and talk with him on various phases of police work.

Considering the busy schedule on which members of the F. B. I. operate, we feel that we were extremely fortunate to have Mr. Pelletier honor us with his visit.

Our thanks are due to Chief Harold and Sgt. Bowler for the interest and co-operation they have shown us. Also a word of appreciation should be given to Civil Defense Director Lester Gustin, Jr., who has rendered every possible assistance to our growth and development. Last, but by no means least, we should not forget our own Chief, Bob Johnston, who has "faded the board" for us on more than one occasion, and whose interest and leadership have been a fine example.

AUXILIARY POLICE NOTES

At the Guard Room at Police Headquarters, members of Winchester's Auxiliary Police Department who had completed the required training course, were awarded certificates, on Thursday evening, June 12th. Exercises were under the direction of Sergeant Bowler, who has so ably conducted the course. Introduced by Auxiliary Chief, Herbert Johnston, he expressed his pleasure and satisfaction at the interest that had been given, despite some keen competition from certain questionable television programs.

He introduced a member of the Board of Selectmen, Harry Cheloff, who, representing the Board, expressed his appreciation and approval at the accomplishments of this year's graduating class also.

Lester Gustin, Jr., also spoke in praise of the group and the showing they have made when appearing in public. He read an excerpt, supposedly written in 1972, showing the value of the organization.

Police Chief Charles Harrold stated that he was proud to have the Auxiliaries associated with his department, and emphasized his desire to help them help the town.

He stated that assignments of the police cruiser would be made during the summer, to give all added valuable experience.

Following the presentation of certificates, the speaker of the evening was introduced. This was Charles E. Pelletier, a Special Agent of the F. B. I. stationed in the Boston office. A native of this town, Mr. Pelletier studied law at Suffolk Law School, and has served with the Bureau for seventeen years, during which time he has been stationed in various sections of the country.

After enumerating the composition of the F. B. I., the requirements for membership, and its development and manner of operation, Mr. Pelletier went over the various phases of police work, concluding with many illustrations of interesting cases. Contrast in coverage of suspected aliens in the two World Wars was particularly noteworthy, for during the interval, the Bureau really developed into the valuable agency it is today.

MOTHERS RAISED $2977.00

The combined Mothers' Associations of Winchester added a total of $2977.00 to the Winchester Scholarship Foundation during this past year, Mrs. Charles E. Wilson, President of the Executive Board, announced at the annual meeting held in the high school auditorium on Wednesday, June 4th. The Central Mothers' fund-raising event in November accounted for $1500.00 of this amount and the remainder of the amount was raised by the individual chapters. Punch and cookies were served in the courtyard of the high school before the meeting by Mrs. Alexander Clark and her committee. The members then adjourned to the auditorium, where the association's regular business meeting was held with reports of the secretary, Mrs. Herbert Ross; treasurer, Mrs. Richard Kepler; and the presidents of the individual chapters.

Mrs. Paul, presenting the Ways and Means report, paid tribute to the Program chairmen, Mrs. Herbert Mullen and Mrs. Clarence Donaghey. A report on the revision of the by-laws was given by Mrs. Ralph Webster.

Mrs. Wilson in her annual report reviewed the many activities of the Central Board throughout the year and paid tribute to the fine cooperation that had existed between the board members. She then introduced Dr. Forbes H. Norris, Superintendent of Schools, who spoke on the many contributions made by the Mothers' Association to the individual schools both in the field of providing equipment for the schools and teachers and in the development of cooperation between the parents and teachers.

Mrs. Philip Woodward of the School Committee spoke on the increasing need to have the parents translate the school program to the community and stressed the fact that many parents needed to become interested in the schools and their activities.

Miss Barbara Blackstone, dean of girls in the high school, then gave a most interesting summary of her first year's work as guidance director for the high school girls and stressed her wish to have both girls and their parents consult with her on guidance and vocational problems.

The nominating report was given by Mrs. Ronald Davis, chairman of the committee. The new officers are:

President, Mrs. Richard Bolster
First Vice-President, Mrs. Paul E. Nason
Second Vice-President, Mrs. Ronald W. P. King
Secretary, Mrs. Harlow Russell
Treasurer, Mrs. Clarence S. Donaghey
Ways and Means, Mrs. Ralph T. Webster
Publicity, Mrs. Paul O'Neil
Social, Mrs. Joseph Dollen
Nominating, Mrs. Harry L. Mueller
Membership, Mrs. Leonard C. Mead

Prior to the meeting Mrs. Herbert Ross entertained the Executive Board at luncheon at her home on Lakeview road, at which time Mrs. Wilson was presented with a beautiful pin.

Miss Esther M. Callahan, manager of the Brigham store in the center was the guest of her associates at the store on June 10 when she was given a supper party at Suntaug Inn, Lynnfield, in honor of her coming marriage to Mr. Lawrence Fisher of Woburn. She was presented with a purse and received the best wishes of all present. The marriage will take place in September.

COKE PARTY

Wednesday, June 11, the Winchester Mount Holyoke Scholarship Committee entertained with a coke party all High School Juniors taking the college preparatory course. The party, very informal to encourage discussions, was held at the home of Mrs. Walden B. Hersey, 29 Woodside road.

Sally Holmes, who has just completed her four years at Mount Holyoke and Dee Barrett, now entering her senior year were present with their albums of snap shots, and told vivid tales of intimate college life and customs, doing a fine job of answering all questions. A very lovely color film was also shown of the beautiful campus and many of the college activities. This film included a lovely shot of the new gym equipped with swimming pool, two indoor tennis courts, six badminton courts, several special rooms for dance instruction, a fully equipped kitchen with an adjacent lounge for the entertainment of guests, and all the other modern conveniences of which gym instructors dream. It is also interesting to know that in the basement is space reserved for future bowling alleys.

The Scholarship Committee consists of Mrs. Walden B. Hersey, chairman, Mrs. H. S. Lewis, Mrs. Hazen Ayer.

CAMP FELLISLAND OPENS
JUNE 29TH FOR THE SEASON

News has just been received by this office that Camp Fellisland, the Camp for all Fellisland Council Boy Scouts Executive on the 28th season on June 29th. This Camp is nestled in the pines of Amesbury on the Pow Wow River area and has had continuous use by the local boys since 1925.

The opening date of June 29th is the earliest that the Camp has opened but experience in the past few years seems to be that parents and the boys like the early start. This will mean that the Camp will open for six weeks and close on Sunday, August 10th.

The Camp will again be directed by Mr. Edward W. Nelson, the local Scout Executive who has been the Camp Director since 1935. Francis MacFeeley, the Field Executive, will be Assistant Camp Director and Program Director and this will be Mr. MacFeeley's tenth season at Camp Fellisland. With this kind of mature and experienced leadership the Camp has an exceptionally fine staff. They are also fortunate in having several of the camp staff who have been with them for a great many years.

Some of the Staff who are coming back are:

Charlie Sprout of Stoneham who works on the Waterfront — Henry Hooper of Winchester who is in charge of the Ranger Units — Mr. Steenbruggen who will serve as assistant cook — Ted Anderson of Stoneham who will again be in charge of maintenance service — James Daley of Medford on the Rifle Range — Mrs. MacFeeley as Nurse and Dr. Otis Mudge who has been the Camp Doctor since the Camp opened, as well as Jeff Beckingham the Waterfront Director.

Some of the old time Campers will be glad to hear that three new canoes have been added to the canoe fleet as well as one new boat and a new boat and canoe landing, that was donated to the Camp by the En Ka Society of Winchester. Two of the canoes were also donated by the En Ka Society. This makes a total of five canoes that the En Ka Society has donated to the Camp.

Church services for both Protestant and Catholic boys will be handled in the usual fashion by having either a Priest or Minister in the Camp and where this arrangement cannot be made transportation will be made to Amesbury where services will be held.

The Camp will have an addition that had been started last year and is now practically completed, that is the new winterized cabin that has been supervised by Mr. Earl Moore of Woburn and quite a number of his personal friends who have been giving their week-ends to this project. This winterized cabin can also be used during the summer to take care of any overflow that might come into the Camp. With the addition of this cabin it is now possible for the Camp to take care of 125 boys in addition to 26 or 27 staff members. Program at Camp will be just the same as it has been in the past few years with the morning given over to instruction and the afternoon to recreation and free swim periods.

Every boy coming to Camp Fellisland has the opportunity of either learning or improving themselves in swimming, canoeing, boating, fishing, handcraft, nature lore, archery, riflery, baseball, basketball, volleyball, hikes, photography and last but not least, the opportunity to advance in Scouting requirements from Tenderfoot to second class, first class, star, life and be well on his way to Eagle. He also has the opportunity to earn many of the special awards or medallions that include the Campers award for many of the camping activities, rifle medals, as the Camp is associated with the Humane Society and the American Red Cross Society. He may also earn the coveted Camp Fellisland award for outstanding service at the Camp itself.

The Camp is filling up very well but there is still room as the new cabin has been added making room for additional boys. Therefore, if you are one of the Scouts and plan to go to Fellisland be sure that you sign up immediately so that you can get the weeks that you prefer.

Mr. Stafford Rogers, who for many years was an outstanding Scout Master in Winchester and has now moved to New Hampshire, will be added to the Camp Staff this year. He will specialize in camping instruction and program work, which will mean that every Scout coming into camp will have expert advice in knowing how to prepare himself in the woods.

More special items will be issued next week, particularly in regard to Dunder the pure bred Dachshund that will be awarded to some Camper this coming season.

The University of Vermont and State Agricultural College at its commencement exercises on Sunday afternoon, June 15, awarded a degree to Nancy Terese Grant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael F. Grant of 11 Linden street. Miss Grant received the degree of Bachelor of Science in Education.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

Public Amusement Licenses

It has come to the Board's attention that public amusements sometimes have been held for which no license has been granted. This leaves the licensee liable to a fine if he cannot produce a license on demand.

Owners of public halls have been notified from time to time that they are expected to advise persons renting their halls of the requirement that they must obtain from the Selectmen a public amusement license whenever admission of any kind is charged.

Licenses are reminded that the Board meets regularly Monday evenings and that consequently any application for a license should be received at the office of the Selectmen on or prior to the Monday before the event is to take place.

Clothes For Korea
Chief James E. Callahan of the fire department has been designated by the Board to act as local chairman for the Clothes for Korea drive taking place this week. Donations may be left at the fire station.

SMITH GRADUATES FROM HARVARD
Included in the 1952 recipients of Bachelor degrees from Harvard University on June 19 was C. R. Mallory Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. B. Smith, former Dix street residents in Winchester and now residing in Larchmont, N. Y. Mallory majored in English Literature and in his senior year was privileged to be the only undergraduate in a graduate school course in which he received "honors" credit.

He was recently elected to the executive board of "Hasty Pudding Institute of 1770" and as a senior was Eminent Archon of Gamma Chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon national fraternity. He has accepted employment starting June 23rd in the New York office of Hemphill, Noyes, Gaston and Parsons, Investment Securities.

BADGE OF HONOR
Our license to engage in the practice of pharmacy is our Badge of Honor. It represents an achievement—the culmination of years of study and training culminated by the passing of rigid examinations. We are proud of our profession—proud of our license to practice pharmacy in this community. This pride is reflected in the size and completeness of our prescription laboratory—and in every phase of our compounding service.

THE CAMERONS FETED

On Tuesday evening, June 10, a large group of relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee W. Ralph, 158 Forest street, to honor Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cameron, who were leaving Winchester June 18 to make their home in Angelica, N. Y.

The Camerons were taken completely by surprise at the warmth of their welcome upon entering the Ralph home as they believed that they were going there for their usual weekly game of canasta.

When they had recovered sufficiently Mrs. Mabel Larson of Cambridge, formerly of Winchester presented "Arthur and Kay" with a beautiful chime clock, as a token of remembrance and esteem from those present and from others who were unable to attend the party.

The genuine words of thanks spoken by Mr. Cameron for himself and his wife left no doubt of their deep appreciation, both of the clock and coverage which was given to Mrs. Cameron.

Even the sudden electrical storm, which put out the lights, could not dampen the spirits of the party. Candles were lighted until the lights came on again and every one had a chance to finish the delicious refreshments.

The hostess, Mrs. Ralph, was assisted with arrangements for the party by Mrs. Alfred Cross, Mrs. Alfred Donley, Mrs. Clarence Donaghey and Mrs. Robert Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Cameron are graduates of Winchester High School. Mr. Cameron was one of the best athletes of his time developed at the high school, particularly in basketball, and Mrs. Cameron (the former Kathleen Morse) was also in athletic in her own right, having captained the 1919 girls' varsity basketball team that won the Triangular League Championship.

They have two children, Donald, who has just completed his freshman year at the University of Massachusetts, and Marjorie, a junior at high school.

The best wishes of their many friends for their future success and happiness go with the Camerons as they leave Winchester for their new home.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

JEBB — WOLSEY

The Unitarian Church was decorated with white gladioli and pinks, ivy, fern and baby's breath on Saturday afternoon, June 14, when Miss Joan Appryle Wolsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sven Christian Wolsey of Jefferson road, became the bride of Richard Pearson Jebb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Jebb of Merrimack, N. H. The Rev. Robert A. Storer read the service and the bridegroom was escorted by the church organist, Mary Ranton Witham. The particularly beautiful floral setting at the altar was arranged by the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Wolsey wore a gown of imported embroidered organza with an heirloom veil of silk tulle and carried a bouquet of ivy combined with baby's breath and stephanotis.

Miss Joyce Jeremiason of Plainfield, N. J., college roommate of the bride, was maid of honor and Miss Susan Jebb, small sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl. Two more sisters of the bridegroom, Miss Ellen and Miss Beverly Jebb, both of Merrimack, N. H., were bridesmaids, and Miss Gretchen and Miss Sandra Wolsey, sisters of the bride, were junior bridesmaids.

The honor maid wore a dress of white organza over orchid with a matching orchid maline halo hat and carried daisies with ivy and baby's breath. The bridesmaids wore identical dresses of white organza over buttercup-yellow with yellow halo hats and carried ivy and daisies. The junior bridesmaids wore aqua organza frocks with headbands of daisies and ivy and carried the same flowers. The flower girl wore a pink organza frock and her headband and flowers were like those of the junior bridesmaids.

Theodore Bellakoff of New York City was Mr. Jebb's best man, and the ushers were Justin Pastenna of Merrimack, N. H., and Bradley Whitney of Nashua, N. H.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the church. Mrs. Wolsey, mother of the bride, wore champagne silk shantung with a violet flowered hat and bronze braid orchids. The bridegroom wore a tuxedo. Mrs. Jebb wore yellow orchids with her brown nylon dress and white sailor hat.

Mr. and Mrs. Jebb went to New York City on their wedding journey. They will live next year in Plainfield, N. J., while Mr. Jebb completes his senior year at Norwich University.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School and of the Junior College where she majored in art. Before entering Norwich Mr. Jebb attended Florida Military Academy and Pratt Institute in New York.

MAZUZAN — JACKSON

On Monday, June 23rd at a wedding attended only by members of the immediate families, Miss Ellen Jackson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Jackson of 212 Main street, and Seasport, Me., became the bride of Mr. John Edmund Mazuzan, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Mazuzan of Northfield, Vermont.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Edward Foster in the Cathedral Chapel in Burlington, Vermont.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a frost-like ballerina-length bengaline dress. A wreath of white daisies held her shoulder-length veil in place, and she carried a bouquet of the same flowers. Miss Sally Jackson, sister of the bride and maid of honor, was dressed in pale green organza and carried a bouquet of white flowers.

The bride is a graduate of Smith College, a graduate of Boston College, a student at the School of Medicine, University of Vermont.

After a wedding trip to Maine, Mr. and Mrs. Mazuzan will live in Burlington, Vermont.

MISS BURR ENGAGED

Mr. Robert T. Burr of 314 Highland avenue and Mrs. Gregory S. Burr of Boston announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Virginia Farnsworth Burr, to James Bedford Carter, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Carter of Cambridge.

Miss Burr was graduated from the Knox School in New York and Cornell University. Mr. Carter is a graduate of Tufts College.

An October wedding is planned.

MRS. ROBERT GRAY COLBATH

The former Janet Briggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Briggs of Allen road, whose marriage to Robert Gray Colbath, son of Mrs. Henry Colbath of Tewbury, took place Saturday afternoon, June 14, at the First Congregational Church.

WILKINS — MIDDLETON

At 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, June 21, Miss Angela Joy Middleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lee Middleton of 60 Larchwood Drive, Cambridge, was married in Christ Church, Cambridge, to Herbert Putnam Wilkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sanger Wilkins, 25 Cabot street, son of Justice and Mrs. Raymond Sanger Wilkins. The Rev. Gardiner M. Day read the service, which was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Middleton was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of ivory satin with a full train and an antique veil. Her flowers were stephanotis and Eucharis lilies.

Miss Margaret Knapp of Baltimore, Md., was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Nancy Bird and Miss Ann Wood of Belmont. Miss Cynthia Clark of Andover, Pa., and Miss Roxanne Harrington of Worcester. All the bridesmaids wore ballerina-length dresses of pale blue organza. The honor maid wore a headband of blue iris and delphinium, matching the flowers of her bouquet. The bridesmaids' bouquets and head-dresses were of white daisies.

Miss Middleton, mother of the bride, wore a pink hat and a wristlet of small orchids. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Wilkins, was given a smoke-colored lace and wore a moss green hat and corsage of green orchids.

Raymond Sanger Wilkins, Jr., of Chicago, Illinois, was his brother's best man, and the ushers corps included John Lee Middleton, Jr., of Boston, William Nichols of North Haven, Conn., Judson A. Parsons, Jr., of Rochester, N. Y., William C. Sawyer of Cambridge, John A. Savage of Lincoln, and Thomas D. Tisworth of Rushville, Indiana.

After their wedding journey Mr. and Mrs. Wilkins will live in Cambridge.

The bride was graduated from the Shady Hill School, Concord Academy, and Smith College in the class of 1952. She made her debut in the 1949-49 season and is a member of the Junior League.

Mr. Wilkins attended Browne and Nichols School, was graduated from Phillips Exeter Academy and from Harvard College in the class of 1951. He has just completed his first year at Harvard Law School.

FITZSIMMONS — ALLEN

Miss Mary Louise Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Edwards Allen of 71 Church street, was married on Saturday afternoon, June 21, at the First Congregational Church to the Rev. Donald Bruce Fitzsimmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Forest Fitzsimmons of 4 Robinson Circle. The 4 o'clock ceremony was performed by Dr. Howard J. Chidley, minister of the church, and Rev. Russell B. Richardson, of the Second Congregational Church of Attleboro. Candles flanked the altar and candles wrapped with waterlilies were placed along the aisles. The floral setting was white stock, Madonna lilies and snapdragons.

Miss Allen was given in marriage by her father. She wore white nylon marquisette over taffeta with a bertha and panels of Brussels lace applique lace from her mother's wedding gown. Her two-tiered cathedral veil of imported silk illusion was caught to a cap of the same lace and she carried a gardenia bouquet.

Miss Sally Lou Kiner of Winchester was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Mrs. James H. Coon, Jr., of Winchester, Miss Liliane M. B. McDonald of Westford, and Miss Elizabeth A. Danenhow of Haddenfield, N. J.

All the bridal attendants wore ballerina-length dresses of sky-blue nylon net over taffeta with matching halo hats and shoes. The honor maid's flowers were sweet heart roses and blue delphinium. The bridesmaids carried blue delphinium and Havana roses.

Gordon F. Knight of Dearborn, Michigan, was best man, and ushers were John E. Allen, Jr., brother of the bride, and William Gustin, both of Winchester; Richard Durant of Cambridge; and Frederick H. Jones of Wellesley.

A reception was held after the ceremony in the church parish house. Mrs. Allen, mother of the bride, was given in French gray chiffon and lace over taffeta and wore a matching hat and corsage of Happiness roses. The mother of the bridegroom, Mrs. Fitzsimmons, wore a powder blue crepe gown with an orchid hat and a corsage of sweet peas shading from orchid to blue.

After a short wedding journey, Rev. and Mrs. Fitzsimmons will sail during early July for England, where the bridegroom will be the supply preacher at Radlett, Hertfordshire, England.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School and of Mt. Holyoke College. Mr. Fitzsimmons prepared for Dartmouth at Belmont High School. He is a graduate of the Yale Divinity School and a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity.

Early in September Mr. Fitzsimmons will assume his duties as associate minister of the Church of Christ in New Britain, Conn.

OF WINCHESTER INTEREST

The marriage of Miss Alice Louise Foster and Allan Ralph Shaw at the Newton Highlands Congregational Church on the afternoon of June 17 was of interest to older residents of Winchester because the bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Foster of Newton Highlands, is the granddaughter of Mr. Frank E. Rowe of Vine street. Her mother, the former Helen A. Rowe, is a Winchester girl and graduate of Winchester High School in the class of 1913. Incidentally, if memory serves, Mr. Foster still some substitute teaching at Winchester High while a student at Tufts College, from which both he and his wife received degrees.

At the marriage on June 17, the bride was attended by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Arthur Rowe Foster of Braintree, and the bride's brother, Arthur Rowe Foster, was one of the ushers.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph K. Shaw of Newton Highlands, is a graduate of Wentworth Institute, and the bride was graduated from the Newton Highlands Congregational Church.

They will live in Newton Highlands after a wedding trip to Maine.

VISITOR FROM ST. JOHN

The Star had a visit Tuesday from a newspaper man in St. John, N. B., Stuart Buckley of 79 Kennedy street, St. John, a press room and stereotype worker on the St. John Evening Times Globe.

Mr. Buckley is a nephew of Mrs. Robert Laverty of 15 O'Brien street, and has been spending a week in Winchester with his aunt and uncle.

After inspecting the Star press room and equipment he talked shop for some time with the Star foreman, Dick Hakanson, and members of the Star pressroom staff. He said the Times Globe runs 16 to 36 pages daily and has a circulation for its evening edition of 21,000. The morning paper prints 24,000. One hundred and fifty employees keep the plant in operation 24 hours a day.

CHARLES A. WERNER

Charles A. Werner of 19 Rangeley road died suddenly at his home on Monday morning, June 23, following a heart attack.

Mr. Werner was 53 years old and a native of Philadelphia. He was an ink specialist in the employ of Bensing Brothers & Deney of Wakefield and had made his home in Winchester for the past four years. He leaves his wife, Catherine Cratin Werner and five children.

The remains were taken to Philadelphia, where services will be held this Friday at the John J. McCullough Funeral Home. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, Darby, Pennsylvania.

FLAHERTY — ROGERS

There is Winchester interest in the marriage which took place at St. Joseph's Church in Medford on Tuesday Morning, June 17, when Miss Patricia T. Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Rogers of 62 Summit road, Medford, became the bride of John M. Flaherty, son of Mrs. Coleman Flaherty, of 209 Highland avenue, and the late Mr. Flaherty. The Rev. James M. Rogers of All Saints Church, Roxbury, cousin of the bride, performed the 10 o'clock ceremony in a profuse setting of white flowers and was also celebrant of the nuptial mass which followed.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Rogers and her sister, Miss Ella C. Rogers of Medford as her honor maid. Bridesmaids were Mrs. M. Christine McDonald of Winchester, sister of the bridegroom; Helen Barbara O'Brien of Medford; Mary Agnes Madden of Everett, cousin of the bridegroom; and Barbara M. Williams of Roxbury.

The bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace with streamers of green velvet and the ushers corps comprised Richard C. Rogers of Medford, brother of the bride; John J. McDonald, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; John B. Wyman and Dr. Robert J. Fahey, all of Winchester.

A reception was held after the mass at the Hotel Beaconsfield, the parents of the bride and the mother of the bridegroom assisting in receiving. Mrs. Rogers, mother of the bride, was given in orchid and straw hat and a pale orchid corsage. Mrs. Flaherty, the bridegroom's mother, wore a white dress with her pale blue gown and white straw hat.

After a wedding journey to Virginia Beach, Va., Mr. and Mrs. Flaherty will make their home in Medford.

The bride is a graduate of Medford High School. Mr. Flaherty graduated from Winchester High School and is a graduate of the Esso Standard Oil Company's Everett Refinery.

Mrs. Mary Eleanor Dunbar, widow of James Milne Dunbar and mother of Mrs. Chauncey L. Mitchell, Jr., of 45 High street, died Sunday, June 22, at her daughter's home in New Britain, Conn.

Mr. Dunbar was the father of Gamble and Mary Anne (Lindsey) Boyd. She was born October 27, 1877, in County Antrim in the north of Ireland, but had spent most of her life in this country.

For many years a resident of Hyde Park before coming to Winchester. She came to make her home with her daughter in this city 18 years ago, following the death of her husband. For given years she had spent her winters in Florida.

Besides Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Dunbar leaves a daughter, Mrs. Arthur Tobey, Jr., and a son, James Bryce, Dunbar, both of Harwich, and 11 grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Kimball Chapel with Dr. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church, officiating. Burial was in the Canton Cemetery, Canton.

Richard S. Leghorn, formerly of Winchester, has just been promoted to a full Colonel in the U. S. Army, assigned to the First Congressional District.

At the time of the theft young Seyferth was working for Mr. Roberts at his station and living in town on Church street. He had previously lived here on Hillside street.

After the theft the Police traced him in Florida and Iowa and finally in Chicago. He had the stolen car with him when he was picked up. Roberts had already been reimbursed for the theft by an insurance company. Young Seyferth's father lives in Chicago.

Dr. Andrew P. Cornwall was arrested in Chicago on Wednesday for the theft of the Pontiac sedan owned by Walter Roberts of Janssley Filling Station on Main street.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Cornwell leaves two sisters, Mrs. Seth B. Cole of Cape Elizabeth, Me., and Miss Ethel Richardson of Winchester; also three brothers, John, George, and William E. Richardson, all of Winchester.

Funeral services will be held at the Richardson home at 353 Cambridge street, with Dr. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, officiating. Interment will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

Dr. Andrew Payne Cornwall of 125 Pleasant street, a Boston orthopedic surgeon and former resident of Winchester, died Tuesday, June 24.

Dr. Cornwall was a graduate of Tufts Medical School and prominent in Masonic circles. He lived in Winchester for 24 years before moving to Arlington two weeks ago, his last address being 11 Fenwick road. He leaves his wife, a daughter and a brother and sister.

Funeral services were held Thursday at noon at Story Chapel in Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

A REMINDER FROM CHIEF CALLAHAN

Fire Chief James E. Callahan has asked the Star to remind residents of the town that fireworks, except caps for toy pistols, are banned in Winchester and that violations of the State law for lighting them will be prosecuted. The ban extends to sparklers, which many persons in past years seemed to believe are permitted.

D.A.R. PRIZE TO DIANE GREER

Committee of Safety Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, announces that its coveted D. A. R. Good Citizen Award was won this year by Diane Greer, daughter of Selectman and Mrs. Don S. Greer of 372 Highland avenue.

Diane, a 1952 graduate of Winchester High School, received the award as a result of being voted by her classmates and the school faculty "the most outstanding girl in the senior class". The award certificate should have been presented with the other honors awards at the high school graduation exercises June 8, but due to unforeseen circumstances it was not presented and few aside from Miss Greer's parents and a few intimate friends knew about it.

Miss Greer received her "Good Citizenship" pin on March 17 at a meeting of the Committee of Safety Chapter, held at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church with the Regent, Mrs. William Goodhue, presiding. On March 20 she attended the State D. A. R. Convention at the Sheraton Plaza in Boston where she met "Good Citizen Girls" from 211 Massachusetts cities and towns.

MRS. WILMAH D. CARDINAL

Mrs. Wilmah D. Cardinal of 1 Elmwood avenue, retired employee of the Arlington Gas Light Company, died Friday, June 20, at the home of her son, Arthur L. Cardinal, 48 Partridge avenue, Somerville, after a long illness.

Mrs. Cardinal was the daughter of Rev. Charles W. and Caroline F. (Golding) Dockrill. She was born in Warren, N. H., April 12, 1882, and had lived in Winchester for the past five years. Previously she had made her home in Arlington and she had been until her retirement two years ago in the employ of the Arlington Gas Light Company for twenty years, her last place of employment being the Company's Winchester office.

Besides her son, Mrs. Cardinal leaves a sister, Mrs. Edward L. Bennett, and a brother, Charles E. Dockrill, both of Winchester.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Bennett Chapel with the Rev. John Snook, Jr., pastor of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church, officiating. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

HORSE SHOW WINNERS

Alison and Stephanie Hersey added three more ribbons to their Horse Show collection by competing in the Rockingham Riding Club Horse Show at Highland Farm, Chester, N. H., on June 22.

Miss Alison, a 16-year-old, won a blue ribbon for her polo pony and a very responsive in show, especially to games, has slowed down so much that the girls have forgotten to take his place. However, the Show was a lot of fun with several games thrown in.

Alison won sixth place in the Junior Equitation, English Tack, and fourth place in the Fanny Ride, bareback.

Stephanie won first place in the Costume Class for the Most Original Costume. She represented the "Headless Horseman."

Guests of the Herseys for the week were Mrs. and Mr. Dick Norris and David Shiverick, both of Winchester.

CAR THIEF FINALLY CAUGHT

Leroy Seyferth, 18, alias Bodin, was arrested in Chicago on Wednesday for the theft of the Pontiac sedan owned by Walter Roberts of Janssley Filling Station on Main street.

At the time of the theft young Seyferth was working for Mr. Roberts at his station and living in town on Church street. He had previously lived here on Hillside street.

After the theft the Police traced him in Florida and Iowa and finally in Chicago. He had the stolen car with him when he was picked up. Roberts had already been reimbursed for the theft by an insurance company. Young Seyferth's father lives in Chicago.

MRS. FLORENCE M. CARDINAL

Mrs. Florence M. (Richardson) Cardinal, wife of Ralph C. Cardinal, died Tuesday, June 24, at the Pratt Diagnostic Hospital in Boston.

Born in Winchester, Mrs. Cardinal grew up in this town, being educated in the Winchester schools. She was a member of the First Congregational Church.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Cardinal leaves two sisters, Mrs. Seth B. Cole of Cape Elizabeth, Me., and Miss Ethel Richardson of Winchester; also three brothers, John, George, and William E. Richardson, all of Winchester.

Funeral services will be held at the Richardson home at 353 Cambridge street, with Dr. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, officiating. Interment will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

TO OBSERVE JULY 4

Program Arranged for Ginn Field

John T. Horn, past commander of American Post, VFW, announced yesterday that the town's annual Fourth of July celebration for children will be held next Friday afternoon at Ginn Field, commencing at 2 o'clock. This is the first time the celebration has been held at this field.

An entertainment featuring professional talent from the George A. Hamid Co. of Boston will include a dog act and a performance on the trampoline. Those who saw the Springfield College boys on the trampoline last winter will look forward to another exhibition.

During the entire program a "Kiddie Fire Engine," which was so popular at the En Ka Street Fair, will be at the field to provide rides for the young folks.

The ever-popular blueberry pie and watermelon eating contests for boys and girls will be held, as well as the bean-guessing contest, an entries for all contests can be made at the field. Mr. Horn announced that special arrangements are being made to enable the on-lookers to really see these contests.

All prizes will be sports equipment, including Little League gloves, bats and balls, tennis rackets, balls, basketballs and hoops.

As usual ice cream will be served free to all children. Winchester children only are eligible to participate in the various events.

POSSIBLE LITTLE LEAGUE PLAYOFF

A playoff for the first half championship of the Winchester Little League may have to be held at the Little League field on Monday evening, depending upon the results of last night's game between the Yanks and the Dodgers.

If the Yanks won last night, they will have ended in a tie with the Braves and a special one-game playoff for the first half championship will be scheduled for Monday night. If the Yanks lost last night, then the regular second half schedule will begin on Monday night with the Braves enjoying the enviable position of coasting through the second half while waiting for the championship final.

The Red Sox brought about this play off possibility by upsetting the Braves 6-3 on Wednesday evening. Joel Peckham pitched steady ball in the Red Sox in this upset and received great support from Charlie Carlson, Dave Toperzer and Mike Gray. Another great play in this contest was a sparkling catch in deep left-center by Jim Dwinell to rob Charlie Carlson of a home run. The Red Sox played good ball in upsetting the Braves and will be a definite contender in the second half if they continue to hustle as they did on Wednesday night.

As the first half draws to a close it is apparent that the teams are well balanced in spite of the mediocre record of the Red Sox. The managers have now had enough experience with their charges and that Queensie will have to be trained to take his place. However, the Show was a lot of fun with several games thrown in.

Alison won sixth place in the Junior Equitation, English Tack, and fourth place in the Fanny Ride, bareback.

Stephanie won first place in the Costume Class for the Most Original Costume. She represented the "Headless Horseman."

RECEIVED NORTHEASTERN HONORS

There is Winchester interest in the honorary degrees granted last Sunday by Northeastern University.

Among the recipients were Dr. Arthur S. Adams, president of the American Council on Education and a native of Winchester; and Judge Raymond S. Wilkins, a former Massachusetts Supreme Court, a former well known resident.

Dr. Adams, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Adams, formerly of Mystic avenue, addressed the crowd of 7,500 attending the commencement exercises at the Boston Arena, stating that "Because the Communists make the moves and we try to figure out the appropriate counter moves this country is in a defensive attitude which causes fear, confusion, contradiction and uncertainty." He and Justice Wilkins, a former Secretary and Moderator at Winchester Town Meetings received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

Dr. Adams, a graduate of Winchester High School in the class of 1913, attended Norwich University and was graduated from the United States Naval Academy. During World War I he commanded a submarine, later leaving the Navy when his health became impaired.

While recovering his health in the west he became a member of the faculty at the Colorado College of Mines, from which he went to Cornell University where he subsequently became provost. During World War II he administered the Navy's V-12 educational system with the rank of captain, and after his discharge accepted the post of President of the University of New Hampshire. From New Hampshire he went to head the American Council on Education.

Speaking on "Not Uniformity but Unity," Dr. Adams said "We know from our experiences in ordinary every day living that when we are fearful or apprehensive, our motives for action are likely to be selfish; we protect ourselves, we protect our interests, we make sure that the other fellow doesn't get any seemingly undue advantage. Whenever a nation is under attack or in distress, we note there is always a tendency to impose regimentation on society, either by martial law or otherwise.

"All this has special meaning for educated men and women. For the educated man or woman is the one who faces up to the issues of life and says 'What does this issue have to do with all of us?' and then says 'In what way can I contribute to the best advantage?' We had an example of this in our own country, immediately after Pearl Harbor.

But today by virtue of our sense of the oppressive burdens of the problems we face, we seem increasingly to put the question to ourselves quite differently. We seem to say 'What can I get out of this and how can I protect my interests?'

Continuing, Dr. Adams said that in such a frame of mind people are likely to believe that if every one conforms to an accepted regimen that all problems will resolve themselves and that when we are opposed by a communistic dictatorship we can best defend ourselves by another dictatorship, that of uniformity, in which every one thinks and acts alike.

Then it becomes necessary, the speaker continued, to have authority to tell people what to think and do, and in the end there is complete dependence upon this authority and consequent loss of the identity of the individual. This was the case in the feudal system of the Middle Ages.

"Now this is in direct contradiction to the vigor and vitality of the American idea. In fact I am quite certain that all thinking Americans have deep convictions that they do not want any kind of dictatorship. The strength of the American ideal is every phase of our life has been in its variety."

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Griffin and daughter are spending the summer in Mexico where Mr. Griffin, a widely known color photographer, will do series for several national magazines. They made the trip by car, there being little room, even for the riders, after the cameras and equipment were stowed aboard.

DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION

Dr. Hertig and Mrs. Lyng Speakers

Dr. Arthur L. Hertig, noted pathologist, speaking on "The Development of the Human Embryo," and Mrs. Mary Lyng of the Winchester Board of Public Welfare, giving a graphic word picture of local welfare needs and measures, were the two speakers last Friday, June 13, at the June meeting of the Winchester District Nursing Association, held at the home and grounds of Mrs. John Chipman, 19 Lorena road. Mrs. Theodore C. Browne presided, with Mrs. J. Joseph Tabor, education chairman, in charge of the morning and afternoon session programs.

The June meeting being the "half year mark" in the Association's work, reports were read from the various standing committee chairmen, followed by the May report from Mrs. Doris Wiklund, executive director. During May the three-nurse staff made 476 calls — and Mrs. Wiklund stated that the case load for that month was somewhat lighter than it had been, permitting the nurses to use the time for other pressing needs, for education, instruction, and to give time off to the nurses.

Miss Follen is now a permanent member of the nursing staff, and Mrs. Wiklund paid warm tribute to her ability, and to that of Miss Petersen who has long been associated with the Children's Hospital. The resignation of Mrs. Arthur Cameron, who is moving to New York State, was accepted with regret.

The morning session was then highlighted by a talk on Winchester's Public Welfare Department by Mrs. Mary Lyng, a member of the staff for the past 12 years. She asked for an old fashioned high backed porch rocker for a patient who needs one, and spoke of the welcome gift of $100 from "someone on the District" to the Comfort Fund. In thanking Mrs. Wiklund, Mrs. Browne expressed the appreciation of the entire board and membership to the nurses for "their job well done — a real job of good public relations."

Mrs. George E. Connor reported the most welcome gift of a new foam mattress hospital bed, given by Miss Nina Ramella of Cambridge, who has long been associated with the Children's Hospital.

The resignation of Mrs. Arthur Cameron, who is moving to New York State, was accepted with regret. The morning session was then highlighted by a talk on Winchester's Public Welfare Department by Mrs. Mary Lyng, a member of the staff for the past 12 years.

Today, Mrs. Lyng pointed out, there are four categories of assistance, namely Old Age, Aid to Dependent Children, General Relief, and the newest one, Aid to Permanently Disabled. Old Age Assistance is the largest, and most costly to the towns and cities. In 1945, Winchester appropriated $22,430. In 1952, this same need called for $50,000. Case loads had increased from 82 in 1945 to 139 by the end of 1951.

However, the case load has diminished since January of 1952 because of the new property lien law (today the town or city shall place a lien on all property of an O. A. A. recipient regardless of valuation or equity and the degree of recovery is based on the fair market value of the property at the time of sale). Since this new lien law, eight out of 14 recipients of O. A. A. have refused to allow such a lien to be placed on their property and removed themselves from O. A. A. rolls.

"Aid to Dependent Children is also a Federally subsidized program of assistance to children up to 18 years of age," Mrs. Lyng stated. "Children who are deprived of parental support for various reasons. A. D. C. enables the child to grow up in his own home under the supervision of parents or relatives." In 1945, $2,750 was appropriated in 1952, $9,000. In 1945 it cost the town $80.75 average per month for an A. D. C. family, while in 1952 that grant is $106.02.

For General relief (to aged non-citizens, unemployed, those in institutions, children in foster homes) $8,400 was appropriated in 1945 — in 1952, $14,500.

The newest category is Aid to Permanent and Totally Disabled Persons (D. A.). Eighteen years or older and at the present time Winchester has three cases of this type, with a fourth pending a medical report from the State Department.

"Public Assistance budgeting is based on sound logic and reasoning," Mrs. Lyng said. "The present budget is used almost exclusively throughout the Commonwealth... if cost of living increases 5%, these increases should be made available to the recipient... compatible with health and decent living." She added that "the basic items of food, shelter, heat, light, clothing are provided, but there is no provision for luxury items."

Mrs. Lyng's talk was straightforward and sincere, and she directed a bit to tell her audience about various cases — the "favorite people" being the elderly and shut-ins, and as she told her stories, the listeners glimpsed not only the official working of the Welfare worker, but her warm, human sympathies for those with whom she came into contact.

Dr. Hertig on "Embryology" In the afternoon, board and associate members of the Association were given one of the rarest treats of its program year, when Dr. Arthur L. Hertig spoke and showed slides on "The Development of the Human Embryo." And among his slides the audience was privileged to see the only single-cell in existence, and one which Dr. Hertig himself discovered and filmed. His slides were based on some 15 to 20 years of work at the Boston Lying-In and the Free Hospital for Women, and he presented his talk in a scholarly yet graphic manner.

The average report cannot possibly convey the wealth of information revealed in Dr. Hertig's talk, for the slides should be seen to be truly appreciated. The slides showed the youngest human in existence — 24 to 36 hours old, the size of a tiny pin point. He showed slides of a human embryo 3 1/2 days old with cells which form the embryonic mass, and half of which are the outer form.

Most of his listeners had had biology in college — and sat enthralled in his presentation of his rare slides. And a number of pertinent and thoughtful questions were asked, and fully answered by Dr. Hertig. In thanking Dr. Hertig at the close of the meeting, Mrs.

GEOGRAPHIC ODDITIES

AND BRIEFS

Bras d'Or Lakes, which cover the heart of Cape Breton Island in Nova Scotia with their "armies of gold," are so extensive that the island has been sometimes termed "a lake surrounded by mountains." The big salt lakes are really inlets of the sea, tapping the Atlantic through two narrow northern channels, says the National Geographic Society. Like the Mediterranean, however, they are almost tideless.

The cardinal is one of the comparatively few bird species whose females can sing.

Both dogs and wolves wag their tails to express pleasure, says the National Geographic Society. Similarly, when frightened, both animals tuck their tails between their hind legs.

Scores of islands ride the two-and-one-half-mile-wide brink of majestic Iguassu Falls, between Brazil and Argentina. In dry seasons more than 250 island-separated cascades of water have been counted along this rugged ledge.

Craters on the moon range up to 140 miles across, the National Geographic Society says. Some probably were made by volcanic explosions, while others may have been blasted out by huge meteorites.

If each one of the million people who enter the Library of Congress in Washington each year were to give it a book or other item, the total would be less than the number of holdings which are actually added, notes the National Geographic Society.

THE DISCOVERY OF THE SCIENCE OF CHRISTIANITY

as foretold in the Scriptures, will be brought out at Christian Science services, Sunday.

The Lesson-Sermon will be entitled "Christian Science." These words of Jesus are included in the Lesson-Sermon: "These things have I spoken unto you, being yet present with you. But the Comforter, which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you." (John 14:25-26).

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, the following passage will be read: "The Holy Spirit beamed the sick, practiced Christian healing, and taught the generalities of its divine principle to his students, but he left no definite rule for demonstrating this Principle of healing and preventing disease. This rule remained to be discovered in Christian Science." (p. 147).

VISITED NIAGARA

Leaving Winchester in a gentle rain on Tuesday, June 17, the following girl scouts of Troop 44, Natalie Bellows, Judy Cairncross, Gail Collins, Susan Pond and Jackie Snook, under the inspiring leadership of Mrs. Stanley Cairncross, headed for a five day trek to Niagara Falls and the earning of Pioneer badges.

Girl Scout Rules called for a second car with Mrs. Shepard Pond driving, and Mrs. Dwight Bellows along as the third adult. But no Girl Scout Rules could hope to cover all the perfect planning, perfect equipment and perfect happiness that Mrs. Cairncross's work ahead of the jaunt produced.

Here are a few of the incidents, the highlights, the hopeful wishes, that materialized, and the fun of travelling with our sister scouts, that all rolled together made our five day trip so laden with good memories: The visit to historical Sturbridge village . . . the air raid at Brimfield when all traffic was stopped and even the horses went into their barns for the first time.

There was a friendly, quiet charm, that made the Catskill Mountains, but made the countryside such a lovely green as well they should.

Point Lookout, below which sat most of New York State, and the Rip Van Winkle Bridge . . . sleeping in a five-bedded cabin in a government tent, the first time in the rain, with our scouts preferring its enormous sleeping porch.

Wednesday morning was bright and beautiful, and this was our weather for the rest of the trip. Again a government tent, this time at Seneca, one of the Finger Lakes . . . the candy kisses . . . the notes . . . changing cars . . . the "three yoker" egg, and the 50, cherries eaten by the first minutes. We reached a destination that night, and our address through Friday morning — the home of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Robertson of Lewiston, N. Y. The Robertsons, with their friendly, quiet charm, just about turned their beautiful home and grounds over us . . . even had a collie named Scout.

Mrs. Cairncross and we girls pitched our tent in their magnificent cherry orchard, but tenderfoots Mesdames Bellows and Pond enjoyed one of their lovely guest-rooms, with private bath — and pale blue sheets! A many coursed dinner, with chicken a la king, featured, was cooked and eaten on their back lawn.

Breakfast Thursday morning outdoors, and then off to the greatly anticipated tour of Niagara Falls and the city beyond. The wonder of them stilled, though not more than momentarily, the happy exuberance of we scouts . . . we took the Maid of the Mist boat trip seeing all sides . . . the carriage trip, and the friends of the trip, and while we didn't see Marilyn, we did see all the extras running around the bridges and rocks there. What excitement!

After a delicious outdoor supper with the Robertsons and their son, Philip, we toured old Fort Niagara at Youngstown, and used by French, British and American Troops since 1678. The drawbridge, stone blockhouses, breastworks and chambers, some 200 feet underground . . . the boat trip, and we girl scouts singing (if request) which the other 50 sight-seers found entertaining, too.

Dinner in Brookfield Saturday night, and our asking Mrs. Cairncross and Mrs. Pond to please creep home, because all of a sudden this wonderful trip was almost

WINCHESTER YOUNGSTERS TO PLAY

Rebecca Fish, 13, and Sarah Fish, 11, of 17 Sheffield West; Chris Wadsworth, 12, of 66 Oxford street; and Janet Woodruff, 11, of 8 Sheffield road; will appear twice in a quintet for strings Thursday, July 3rd, for the first presentation of the Magic Circle Theatre at the Tufts Summer Arena Theatre in Medford.

Programs of music and ballet for children, folk tale puppets, and three plays are being offered for the first season of summer entertainment designed exclusively for youngsters up to 14 years of age. Two performances every Thursday through July and a part of August are scheduled in the Magic Circle Theatre, the first at ten in the morning and the second at two in the afternoon.

Miss Dorothy White, one of the leading artists in musical entertainment for children, will open the new season of the Magic Circle Theatre, New England's first all-children summer theatre, on July 3rd. A gifted concert pianist, singer and story-teller, Miss White's program, "Fun with Music," will launch the Tufts Arena Theatre's newest venture into theatricals. With the assistance of local young musicians, Miss White will recite many classic and modern children's stories to the accompaniment of music by such composers as Chopin, Beethoven, Bach, and many modern composers.

Mr. and Mrs. John Worcester are spending the summer at Annisquam.

ELECTED TO PHI BETA KAPPA

Peter P. Sorokin, son of Dr. and Mrs. Pitirim A. Sorokin of Cliff street, was among the Harvard College undergraduates elected to the Harvard Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity. He was initiated on June 16 and on Thursday, June 19, was graduated magna cum laude with the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

Sorokin prepared for Harvard at Winchester High School, graduating in the class of 1948. He showed great promise scholastically while in school, being a member of the National Honor Society and the Permanent Honor Roll of his class as well as winning honors in mathematics at commencement. He was a speaker at his graduation, taking as his subject, "Benefits of Studying Science."

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Morison are vacationing at Wingaersheek Beach, Gloucester.

UNITARIAN COUPLES' CLUB

On Wednesday night the final meeting of the Executive Committee of the Couples' Club was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Eric Anderson.

The group discussed the various events held during the past season and all were in complete agreement that the Couples' Club had completed a most successful and happy season and that they themselves had thoroughly enjoyed working on the Executive Committee.

The following officers were elected for the 1952-1953 season:
Co-Presidents — Mr. and Mrs. David Wardwell.
Co-Treasurers — Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Totman.

Members of the Executive Committee
Mr. and Mrs. P. Eric Anderson
Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Black
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brotherton
Mr. and Mrs. Leo Danton
Mr. and Mrs. William L. Doten
Mr. and Mrs. Emmons Ellis
Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hill
Mr. and Mrs. Miller E. Miller
Mr. and Mrs. Allan Mowatt
Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Root

A meeting of this Committee will be held in September to make the final arrangements for a dance in October and to set-up a program of events for the coming season.

BEES BUZZIN' 'ROUND

Numerous swarms of bees have appeared in town recently. Swarms have been reported on Oak street, Washington street, Kendall street, Yale street, Glen road, and Symmes Corner section. Most of them have been captured and properly housed by local bee keepers. Not one person has been reported stung so far.

These bees are simply looking for new homes as their own homes become overcrowded. They make the flowers, apples, etc., more numerous and a better color by their pollination of the blossoms. Some farm products, such as cucumbers, cannot be raised without the aid of bees.

STAFF AND KEY SOCIETY

The Staff and Key Society held the last board meeting of the season at the home of the Misses Joan and Doris Zimmerman on Highland avenue Wednesday evening, June 18th.

Miss Marjorie McGaw, the president opened the meeting and, after reports by officers of the society, plans were discussed for next year, which promises to be a busy one. Refreshments were served by the hostesses at the end of the business meeting.

Miss Mary Alice Fitch is spending a week at the Northfield, East Northfield.

WINCHESTER OFFICER AT MITCHEL FIELD

Lt. Col. Charles P. Whitlock of 11 Francis Circuit is attending a 15-day refresher training course at Mitchell Air Force Base, N. Y.

The colonel, associate director of the bureau of study counsel at Harvard University, is enrolled in the fifth of five successive classes being taught by combat veterans recently back from Korea and by officers regularly assigned as professors of air science and tactics in Air Force ROTC detachments at leading universities.

As a pilot during World War II, he flew 57 combat missions and served 22 months overseas, winning the Silver Star, Distinguished Flying Cross with oak leaf cluster and Air Medal with two oak leaf clusters.

Colonel Whitlock received his A. B. Degree from Rutgers University in 1941, and his M. A. degree in 1947. He is a Phi Beta Kappa and a member of Massachusetts Psychological Association and American Association of University Professors.

His mother, Mrs. Rosena C. Whitlock, resides at 94 Lincoln avenue, New Brunswick, N. Y. One thousand Air Force Reserve officers from 15 northeastern states in First Air Force region will complete the course by July 1.

Anthony J. Perrone of 7 Alden Lane was elected vice president of "The Guild of Christ the King," a group of Malden and Medford men who regularly make retreats at Campion Hall, the Jesuit retreat house in Andover. Mr. Perrone was elected during a retreat held last week-end. Others from Winchester attending were Robert E. Maher of 165 Washington street, Arthur F. Myette, 235 Forest street, and Anthony J. NEWS OF THE WESTS

Mr. and Mrs. John D. West, formerly of Wedgemere avenue, were in town last week-end after spending some time on the West Coast. They were headed for Maine, where Mr. West planned to get in some fishing up around his old stamping ground, Reidfield.

The West's older son, Bill, a captain in the regular Army, has been training troops at San Antonio, Texas, and his latest company won the admiration of all who saw it for its perfection in drill and general soldierly appearance. From San Antonio "Bill" will go on to tank school at Fort Knox.

His brother, John, a pfc. who joined the Army after his graduation from Harvard, is presently studying Russian at a specially set up Army school in Monterey, Cal. The location is a beautiful one and the school is unique in that Army personnel of all ranks study there together.

What's The RIGHT PRICE?

There is a right price for everything that is made. To pay more, is to waste money; to pay less, is to invite trouble because seldom is it possible to lower a price without lowering quality. The right price for a prescription is one based upon the cost of the precise ingredients prescribed by the physician plus a nominal fee for the professional services of the compounding pharmacist. That is the method by which we determine the RIGHT PRICE for every prescription we fill.

The Fire Department was called at 11:45 last Friday forenoon to the home of Mr. Vito DiBenedetto, 31 Harvard street, where the neighbors reported a fire in progress in the back yard. The firefighters found an old discarded mattress had been set afire by sparks from a neighboring rubbish fire.

Mr. and Mrs. John I. Stevens and daughter Jane are spending the summer at Stanhope Beach, Prince Edward Island.

John Butler of Englewood road left last week with Rev. and Mrs. Donald B. Tarr of Battle Creek, Michigan, for an extended motor trip through the West. Accompanying them are Edward Tarr and Dan Eagles of Battle Creek. While in Oakland John will visit Dr. and Mrs. Donald W. Ash formerly of Winchester.

A Buick sedan, owned and driven by Americo C. Rusotto of 6 Arlington street, Woburn, while headed north on Washington street, collided with a Kaiser sedan, owned by Kenneth Titilash of 105 Spring court extension, Woburn, and parked on the southerly side of the road near 131 Washington street, facing north. Both machines were damaged but there were no injuries.

Two Winchester boys, Burton Edward Bailey of 3 Wildwood terrace and Richard B. Smith of 21 Jefferson road, both senior ROTC students at Norwich University, are taking a six weeks armor ROTC training course at Fort Knox, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Jones of Winslow road opened their summer home at South Wellfleet, Cape Cod with their neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Forbes week-end guests.

The Rev. Robert A. Storer, minister of the Unitarian Church, is spending four days at Rowe Camp in Rowe, where he is giving a course in dramatics to girls and boys of junior high age.

A lost boy was picked up by Officer James Flaherty in the center shortly before 3 o'clock last Saturday afternoon. A check identified him as Dean Burgess, 8, of Forest street, and he was taken home in a patrol car by Officer Thomas Parsons.

Last Saturday evening Sgt. John Dolan and Officer John Boyle went to Grove street in response to a complaint that boys were doing damage to property there and making insulting remarks to a girl. They picked up two Winchester boys and a Belmont boy, who admitted throwing a ball against an ornamental wall, but denied insulting anyone. They were warned to keep away from the property of the complainant.

Two twelve-year-old boys living in the neighborhood plastered the car of Mr. Jeremiah Moynihan, 64 Wildwood street, with mud last Saturday evening. Officer Roland Roy caught the boys and warned them about any further activity of that kind.

The police were notified Sunday evening that the 7-15 from Boston had been stoned by boys below Widemore Station. Sgt. John Dolan and Officer Irving Reardon found no boys in sight when they answered the complaint.

When Station Agent Ralph C. Cardinal arrived at Wedgemore Station Sunday he found the stolen electric light bulbs had been stolen from their places on the station platform. He reported the matter to the police.

The alarm from Box 211 at 11:15 Tuesday night was for a fire in a Studebaker sedan, owned by Vincent Scada, 21 Sanger street, Boston, and stopped on Main street at Ridgefield road. A short circuit caused the trouble and the damage was slight.

Fire Chief James E. Callahan responded Wednesday forenoon when a strong odor of gas was detected at the Bennett Funeral Home on Elmwood avenue. He found gasoline leaking from a car in the garage and ordered it topped up with sand.

A list of 45 unlicensed dogs has been given to the Chief of Police, who is sending the list to the town. Unless the animals are immediately licensed they will be picked up and destroyed.

A Mercury sedan, owned by Nicola Perritano of 25 Irving street, caught fire at noon yesterday while parked in the yard of the J. O. Whitten Company on Cross street. Box 331 sent the Fire Department to the scene but the fire had a good start and practically destroyed the car.

The alarm from Box 62 at the corner of Mt. Vernon street and Highland avenue at 12:25 Monday morning proved to be a false alarm. Officers John Boyle and James Noonan had to go to Leonard Field Beach last week Thursday evening and drive off a group of Medford young men who were making trouble there.

Eleven year old Irene Kearns of 32 Grove place, while riding her bicycle on Church street last week Thursday evening was pushed from her bike and shaken up by an older boy, whose description was given to the police.

Shortly before nine o'clock last week Thursday evening Officer John Boyle while checking at Leonard Pool discovered a 12-year old Winchester boy trying to tip over the life-saving boat which had gotten out in the middle of the pool. The Lifeguard reported the boat locked up when he left the beach. The boy was turned over to his parents.

Officer Clarence Dunbury discovered a light burning in the Field House last Thursday night and some damage done one of the windows on the east side of the building. Park Commissioner Ives reported that additional damage had been done the building during the night previous.

Miss Rita Coughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Coughlin of Forest street, has enlisted in the WAVES and is stationed at Bainbridge, Md. Miss Coughlin graduated from Winchester High School with the class of '52.

A 20 ft. three tier shelf was stolen from the outside of the building at Foley, Florists, on Main street during last Thursday night.

RAMSDALL — DAVIDSON

In Crane Chapel at Tufts College at high noon on Saturday, June 21, Miss Margaret Laurie Davidson of Cambridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Davis of Providence, R. I., became the bride of Robert Charles Ramsdall, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Ramsdall of Sumner, Me.

The bride was escorted by her bridesmaids, gladiolas and snapdragons, made an attractive setting for the ceremony which was performed by Dr. Eugene Ashton of Tufts College.

Miss Davidson was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of ivory satin, the bodice studded with clusters of pearls, and a halo hat trimmed with pearls and lace, to which was caught an elbow-length veil. Her flowers were stephanotis and sweet peas arranged in a shower bouquet.

Mrs. Ann K. Moody of Andover was matron of honor and the bridesmaid. The Miss Mary E. Crocker of Nonquit and Mrs. Lillian Adamian of Arlington.

All the bridal attendants wore white organza dresses imprinted with green and green satin belts. Their headpieces were of flowers matching those of their bouquets, the matron of honor carrying tall-man roses and bridesmaids roses of a deep yellow shade.

William C. Ramsdall, Jr., of Paquonock Bridge, Conn., was best man for his brother and the ushers were Richard H. Moody of Andover and Donald J. Fritch of Arlington.

A reception was held after the ceremony in Packard Hall at Tufts College. Mrs. Davidson, mother of the bride, was given in beige lace and chiffon and wore an orchid straw hat and a purple orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Ramsdall, also wore orchids with her dusty rose lace and crepe gown and white straw hat.

After a wedding journey to Nantucket, N. H., the bride and groom will live at 44 Garfield street in Cambridge.

The bride is a graduate of Pembroke College at Brown University and of the College of Business Administration at Boston University.

Mr. Ramsdall, a graduate of Winchester High School and of Tufts College, is a student at the Tufts Medical School.

HOT WEATHER

Blankets and quilts Sunday night, less on Monday and Tuesday, and nothing (probably) on Wednesday. Certainly nothing on Thursday night. Wednesday saw one of the hottest days of the year, with the temperature tracing constantly upward as the day progressed. Wednesday night was probably the most disagreeable of the year. However, yesterday, the glass registered close to 100 in the shade in the vicinity of the Center—and in other hot spots. It truly was a record breaker. You who have already "gone away" are lucky. Cooler weather is now promised and you can take your choice.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED

Tuesday night Richard Madden of 3 Central street notified the Police that a Pontiac sedan, in which he had taken his mother to the office of Dr. Harold Brown, had been stolen from where he had left it parked on Church street while they were in the physician's office.

Officers Henry Dempsey and James Noonan recovered the car at 1:45 Wednesday morning abandoned on Salem street around the corner from Main street. The dramatic drive of the machine had been damaged.

CONVENTION DELEGATES

Local delegates to the recent convention of the Sons of Italy at the New Ocean House in Swampscott included Carmine Frongillo, Dominic Provanzano, John Volpe and Frank Procopio. Assistants were Cosimo Simonetta, Philip Muraco, Victor Ficciello and Eugene Rondini.

Delegates from the Winchester Ladies' Lodge included Philomena Corby, Frances Errico, and assistants Mary Marchesi and Jeannette Garbino.

The Yanks won a Little League baseball game from the Red Sox Tuesday evening on Manchester Field, 12-2.

CONTI — DI BENEDETTO

The marriage of Miss Theresa Rose DiBenedetto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vito DiBenedetto of 29 Harvard street, to Joseph Agrippino Conti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Conti of 16 Sixth street, Medford, took place on Sunday afternoon, June 15, at St. Mary's Church. The pastor, Rev. Fr. Joseph P. O'Riordan, performed the 4 o'clock ceremony, and the bridegroom was assisted by Miss Mary Callahan, church organist. Arnold Callahan, lyric tenor, was soloist.

Miss DiBenedetto was given in marriage by her father. She wore a bodice and long pointed sleeves of lace and a skirt of nylon tulle over satin. Her veil of nylon tulle matched her gown and she carried a bouquet of white gladiolas and stephanotis centered with an orchid.

Miss Lucy Palermo of Haverhill, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, and Miss Barbara Ann Molloy of Winchester, maid of honor of the bride, was flower girl.

Miss Palermo wore a strapless dress of Nile green net over satin with a matching hat and carried yellow gladiolas and stephanotis. The flower girl wore a lavender net over satin frock with a matching headpiece and carried an old-fashioned bouquet.

Howard Molloy of Winchester, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man, and the ushers were Joseph Carmody of Chelsea, Joseph Zona of East Boston, cousin of the bridegroom; Gustavo Baldacci, Jr., of Winchester, and Salvatore Gazzo of Medford, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the Christopher Columbus Club. Mrs. DiBenedetto, mother of the bride, was given in orchid and wore black accessories. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Conti, wore white accessories with her silk print dress.

Mr. Conti and his bride went on a honeymoon trip through New York State.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School, class of 1948. Mr. Conti, after 18 months service in the Army, is now associated with a construction company.

FOR SAFE HOLIDAY DRIVING

At a meeting of the Traffic and Safety committee of the Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Association, plans were made to regulate and control traffic movement during the July Fourth holiday week.

All Registry Inspectors will be on duty, Friday, June 27th, through Monday, July 7th. Vacations and leaves of absence have been cancelled. 7000 enforcement officers will be on the highway to regulate and control traffic.

Driving after drinking will not be tolerated and any act of recklessness behind the wheel will be penalized.

Register King says:

1. "Obey traffic signs and signals — 'STOP' means more than 'slow down'."
2. "Driving to the beach, camp or picnic, start out for kids."
3. "Slow down at sundown. You cannot see as well after dark. Reduced speed and a clean windshield may give you an accident-free holiday."
4. "Traffic is heavy tonight. Tilt your headlights to the down beam. Don't blind the driver coming toward you."
5. "White lines are life lines. Don't straddle them."
6. "Never cross the solid white line in your lane."
7. "Do not leave your courteous manners at home when you are on the road."
8. "Heads up, pedestrians, during this period of heavy traffic."

No accidents, no deaths, no arrests, no heartaches, no headaches. A perfect score for Winchester to shoot at.

Charles J. Harrold, Chief of Police, Winchester Police Dept.

ATTENDED LEGION CONVENTION

Commander Arthur W. Collins, Commander-elect Charles W. Meek, Jr., Robert F. Murphy, John H. McCarthy and P. T. Foley were delegates from Winchester Post to the Legion State convention at Gloucester last week Thursday, Friday and Saturday. From the local angle the highlight of the convention was the election of Post Commander "Sam" Murphy of Winchester Post to the office of County Commander, he being unopposed.

Other Winchester Legionnaires seen at the convention were Tom and Joe McKee, Al Gant, Hinkiah Griffin, Al Lynch, Charles McKenna, Herbert Froberg, Victor Forberg, Ken Colgate, Jake Horn, Charles Tedesco, Bill Carroll and Norman Noonan.

YANKS TOOK SOX

The Yanks won a Little League baseball game from the Red Sox Tuesday evening on Manchester Field, 12-2.

LEFT FOR MEXICO

Miss Joyce Haggerty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Haggerty of 2 Russell road, and Miss Arlene Weafer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Weafer of 170 Mt. Vernon street, left Wednesday for Mexico City where they will be guests of Miss Olivia Ramirez and Miss Marta Segura, Mexican girls who have been in Winchester for the past two months as part of an exchange program arranged by Dr. Gabino Palma, professor at the University of Mexico, and Mr. Robert B. Taylor of Phillips Andover Academy.

While in Winchester Miss Ramirez was the guest of Miss Haggerty. A business school graduate, Miss Ramirez is employed by one of the bureaus of the Mexican Government.

Miss Segura, Winchester guest of Miss Weafer, is studying at the University of Mexico to be a public accountant. Both Mexican girls were daily visitors at Winchester High School during their stay in town, and though older than the girls in school, were very popular.

In Mexico, Miss Haggerty will stay with Miss Ramirez and Miss Weafer, with Miss Segura. Both Winchester girls were in this year's graduating class at Winchester High School and will go on to college in the fall. Miss Haggerty to Regis and Miss Weafer to Boston College. They will be in Mexico six weeks.

BIKE RIDERS INJURED

Two brothers, Frank Varian, 11, and Kenneth Varian, 7, of 40 Town Way were thrown from the bike that both were riding when the machine was in collision with an automobile, owned by Building Special and Hardware Corporation and being driven by J. Stewart Chaffee of 7 Warren street.

The accident took place on Everett road, the automobile being headed south and the bike proceeding in an opposite direction. The bike, which hit the left front fender and bumper of the auto had a badly bent frame and a broken front wheel.

The two boys were attended by Dr. William F. Hickey, Jr. They were not taken to the hospital and were not reported as being badly injured.

DYNAMITE SCARE

Last Saturday forenoon Frank Milyan, building contractor, called the Central Fire Station, reporting he had found a large boulder at a development on Bellevue road, off Forest street, beyond Forest Circle, apparently charged with dynamite.

Chief James E. Callahan investigated and found that the boulder had been wired for dynamite but that the explosive had not been placed in position to be set off. An expert from Reading, who was called to check, confirmed the chief's judgment.
